Although his plans for a confederacy of Indian nations with the land belonging equally to all tribes were never to become a jects of this great humanitarrealtiy, Tecumseh spent his life trying to attain his goal and maintain peace between white man and Indian in this country.

He died at the age of 44 at the last battle of the War of 1812, dressed not in his uniform of Brigadier General of the British Army but as a Shawnee chief.

The club members will use this and other research material in an effort to create an accurate impression of the famous Tecumseh.

Hoopsters Face Dundee in Dec. 5 Opener

Local basketball fans have waited nearly 10 months for the 1964-'65 season to begin for the Tecumseh Indians.

Last year, the Indians under the tutelage of Vic Lawson enjoyed one of the school's finest teams. This season could be even better — at least, it looks that way on paper.

At this stage, about two weeks before the season starts, practically every opponent on the Tecumseh schedule will be gunning to knock off the Indians—they'll be rated high from every corner.

Although Coach Lawson will have only five letermen back, those returning should form a pretty good nucleus, with some fairly good help ready to step in.

GREGG Allen, 6'4" senior, and Terry Alcock, a junior just a shade under the 6'4" mark, will give Tecumseh a height advantage over most clubs.

Don Hughes, tallest on the squad at 6'6", also is high on the coaches' list and could be a comer. He played Jayvee ball last year.

Senior Jim Lawson, 5'11" son of the coach, is a certain starter, based on his superb play against River Rouge in the state's quarter finals.

Two other likely starters are Dave Tilton and Jeff Osburn, who will have to make the switch from the gridiron to the hardwood.

★

WITH the exception of the footballers, the squad has been working out regularly since Nov. 5. Seven from the football team reported for their initial practice last Monday.

Tecumseh's first game is less than two weeks away at Dundee. Those who reported late have ground to make up, but several, along with some others, are being counted on for varsity ball this season.

They include Don Baird, Steve Derby, John Goodman, Gordon Gibson, Ron Rentschler, Phil Barber, Bill Bartenslager, Doug Goldsberry and Jerry Hale.

The Tecumseh mentor will get a better idea of his squad Tuesday when the Indians scrimmage Jackson St. John's at Jackson.

St. John's had a better-than-average club last year, but is not rated quite so high for the '64-'65 season.

This is also true of the Dundee Vikings, who edged the Indians twice last year to cop the Huron League title. Dundee lost five of its first six men via graduation in June, but had a hot Jayvee team in reserve.

★

ALTHOUGH the Vikings are no longer in the league, there are five other clubs and all expect to have better-than-average well be powerhouse.

Flat Rock, Milan, Airport and Grosse Ile are all returning lettermen at practically every position. The Indians may have to scrap to win the title.

Blissfield, which suffered heavily from the graduation, will have a big club, possibly the biggest in the league, even bigger than Tecumseh.

Three other teams on Tecumseh's schedule will be far from pushovers. In the annual ABHT Holiday Tournament at Adrian, the Indians will bump up against Hudson and its 6'9" center, the big Blissfield club, and the Maples.

Adrian almost lost heavily via graduation and certainly is a question mark at this time of year.

Tecumseh tangles with Hillsdale twice in February, and the Hornets have four of their five starters back.

It's a long way to the district tournament in March, but Tecumseh should boast of a pretty good record by then — not undefeated however—and perhaps a high rung in the Huron League's final standings.

VETERAN HOOP STAR — Greg Allen, veteran 6'4" Tecumseh forward, will be peppering away again this winter as he did last year to help THS win the regional championship. Greg goes up with a one-hander in that title game in which THS stopped Milan, 54-53. This excellent action picture was snapped by Ricky Duffin, former Herald lensman, now with the Lapeer County Press.

Whitetails Frolic on Michigan Farms

LANSING — About 87% of the state's population, seven percent of its deer herd and 100,000 farms are found in southern Michigan, according to the Conservation Department.

This would seem to be a reasonable mixture of whitetails and people. Deer are welcome additions to the scenery. They are providing more and more recreation, both for hunters and for people who just like to see them.

But these whitetails are like hot pepper — a little is good but too much can give you fits.

The southern herd is growing, and right now it has reached the trouble stage in many localities. Deer damage to crops, orchards, and ornamental nurseries amounted to well over $333,000 last year.

On top of that, more deer are killed by cars in southern Michigan than in either of the state's two northern regions.

★

BROWSE LINES on trees and shrubs, once seen only in the north country, are now showing up in several southern areas.

The history of this booming deer herd goes back to the early 1900's when restocking efforts by private individuals, escapes from various deer "parks," and the slow expansion of the northern deer range brought whitetails back to the southern half of the lower Peninsula.

By 1943, there were deer in every county. Five years later, southern Michigan had its first general deer season in modern times. Only bucks were legal and high powered rifles were taboo. About 1,500 deer were killed.

Buck kill jumped to 3,500 in 1958. Last year it reached a record 6,800. In the last 11 years, the number of deer hunters in this area has increased from 15,000 to 58,000.

★

SO MUCH for the past. This season, hunters are expected to take more than 8,000 bucks in southern Michigan to set a new high mark in kill. By itself, the anticipated buck harvest would not begin to do the job of controlling the region's fast-growing herd.

Happily for farmers who have suffered heaviest crop damage from deer, buck hunting is going to be companioned by the largest antlerless shooting season ever held in this part of the state.

As a starter in meeting the southern deer problem, sportsmen with special permits are expected to take 1,850 antlerless animals in 12 of the region's biggest trouble spots.

The special season will not be a one-shot answer to this problem, but it will provide relief where it is needed most.

★

HOPEFULLY, the day won't be too far off when the Conservation Department will have authority to extend antlerless shooting areas to reduce car-deer accidents.

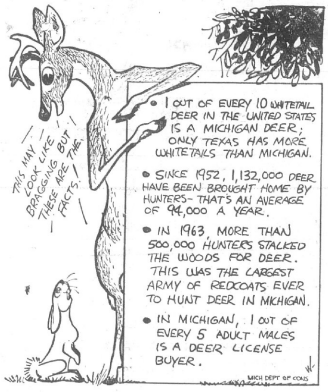
Until that time comes, the threat to human lives and property and the waste of whitetails on southern highways will increase pell-mell.

Getting back to this season, some of the best deer hunting in Michigan is right in the middle of the farm country.

Farmland deer are bigger, healthier and better-looking specimens than their counterparts in the North.

teams. The Huron League could well be powerhouse.

Deer Facts and Figures



Collins Ranked Among Scorers

Tim Collins of Tecumseh finished seventh in scoring among 1964 Lenawee County football players, topped by Clinton's Roger Poore.

Roger Wilkins, a Tecumseh youth attending Adrian Catholic Central, was tied for fifth.

Moe Jacobs of Boysville ranked 10th.

RAISIN TOWNSHIP

They also argued that Tecumseh had been given the seat only because it was the only settlement in the county at that time.

Tecumseh circulated a cross-petition, and both factions obtained signatures from a wide area, but largely from Raisin, which was split almost evenly between the two.

★

THE COUNCIL, which was friendly toward Tecumseh, refused Adrian's request, but two years later, when the new State Legislature came into being and there was a change of personnel, Tecumseh's influence waned and the county seat was awarded to Adrian.

Records were moved in 1838 and Tecumseh was left with a court house on its hands. To be sure good use was made of it as a branch of the University of Michigan and, later, as a private school, but the individual donors were not reimbursed for its construction.

Considerable bitterness was engendered in both Tecumseh and the northern portion of Raisin, echoes of which have lingered for many years.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

There was the wheeze of the storm door at our house Wednesday about 6:15 a.m. and suddenly for us the newspaper strike was over.

After 134 days, The Friendly Free Press was back at our house — and the homes of half a million other Michigan families.

Right up to that moment, there had been four months of mental gymnastics in which I had tried to placate myself into thinking the Detroit papers weren't really a necessity to sustain life.

The idea was almost swallowed — almost.

With the Free Press on the breakfast table — and the knowledge that there would be a Detroit News for evening reading — all was at last well with the world again.

Being a constant reader of both the Free Press and News, since about the Year One it seems, it's a real cross to bear not having them each day.

Nothing is so dead as yesterday's news, but nothing is so deadly as not being able to have it at all.

This week, I'll add another item to my list of things for which I'm thankful: the return of the Detroit dailies.

★

To non-Catholics, who have sat through a Mass, the result is usually the same — confusion.

There was standing, kneeling, sitting and nearly all spoken and sung words in Latin.

When visitors walked out of Catholic churches, the natural reaction must have been, "What happened?"

If these same folks would drop into a Catholic Church some Sunday beginning this weekend, they'll be in for some surprises.

Thanks to the learned minds of several thousand bishops from all over the world at the two Ecumenical Councils, revolutionary changes are being made.

Celebration of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass came in for some of the most interesting. The central theme is still the same: Christ's giving up His life for mankind.

Among the "new" features:

► Large parts will be in English.

► The congregation will respond with hymns, psalms, prayers and processions.

► There will be a new "prayer of the faithful".

► On special occasions, both bread and wine will be received in Communion.

► Three Biblical readings, instead of two — one from the Old Testament and two from the New.

Laymen will take more active parts, serving as commentators and musical directors. Three people from the congregation will bring a ciborium of unconsecrated altar breads and the water and wine into the sanctuary during each Sunday Mass.

On certain days, a portable altar will be set up near the front pews and the priest will face the congregation as he says the Mass.

These changes are monumental, but only a portion of those taking place in the Catholic church. Basic theology remains the same, but its implementation — some customs reaching back 2,000 years — is being given a modern look.

Officials Conferring on Project

A proposal offered Tuesday night by the Raisin Township Board may lead to a settlement of a dispute with Tecumseh over construction of the new sewer to GM's Fisher Body Plant on Occidental Rd.

Council will consider the proposal at a special meeting Friday morning.

In general, the proposal is:

► In consideration of township consent for construction of the sewer, the city will not for a period of 25 years, permit any resident of Raisin Township to use the sewer, other than GM or its successor.

► GM will be the sole user of the sewer.

► If the township builds its own sewer system, the township will have the option to purchase the sewer line at the depreciated value.

★

IN EACH RESTRICTION in the proposal, changes may be made if the township approves. Such would be the case, as township officials pointed out at the meeting, to allow another industry to tap the sewer.

The Raisin board also asked the city to halt construction of the sewer now, and to reply to its proposal by Saturday.

City Manager Cal Zorn, Mayor Harold Easton and James Beardsley, city attorney, met with the board and refused to stop construction of the sewer. They did, however, agree to reach a decision on the proposal by Saturday.

SELDERS EXCAVATING already has laid pipe about one-half mile south of Russell Rd. into Raisin Township, along N. Raisin Center Hwy.

Although Tecumseh has received right-of-way permission from the county highway department, Michigan's new constitution also requires approval from the township for such construction.

Magazine Sales Net Is $200

Mrs. Vern Manwaring reported a profit of $200 from the magazine drive when members of the American Legion Auxiliary met recently.

Mrs. Otto Baaske told members that $123 was realized from the General Telephone banquet. She spoke also of the cookbooks made up by auxiliary members throughout the state and sold by local members.

Mrs. LaVern Seizert reported the purchase of 35 gifts for the gift shop at Veterans Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Seizert, Mrs. Albert Bagshaw and Mrs. Baaske will go to the hospital Dec. 8 to help veterans select and wrap their gifts.

An open house to view the gifts will be held at the hospital Dec. 6 from 2 to 4 p.m.

A Christmas party for Post and Auxiliary members and their families will be held at the Post Home Dec. 13.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Orville Laidlaw, Mrs. Paul Maves and Mrs. Roger Williams.

Service Club Seeks Plans for Charity

"We want to know your holiday plans for needy persons", Mrs. Arthur Geisenhaver said Monday.

If she seems inquisitive, she has good reason to be so. Mrs. Geisenhaver works with the Tecumseh Service Club, an agency of the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation in aiding those in need the year around.

At holiday time an effort is made to see that every family has just a little more than usual.

★

CLUB MEMBERS welcome the names of those being assisted to avoid duplication so that efforts may cover a wider area.

"In the past," Mrs. Geisenhaver continued, "much has been accomplished when groups planning assistance to the needy have given the information to the Club so that this type of charity may be co-ordinated."

★

THE GROUP welcomes also the reporting of needy families for further investigation.

By informing the Service Club, several organizations will not be helping the same family while another goes without.

Information may be given to Mrs. Earldean Roe, 423-2660, Mrs. John Thompson, 423-2831 or Mrs. Geisenhaver, 423-2971.

Bandsman Injured by Student Attack After Football Tilt

By MARGIE MARSH
Special to The Herald

EAST LANSING — Tom Dickinson discovered Nov. 14 how dangerous it can be to play in the Michigan State University marching band.

Tom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dickinson, 514 W. Pottawatamie St., suffered a bloody nose, split lip and broken clarinet as a result of an attack by Notre Dame University students after the MSU-Notre Dame football game.

Tom was marching past in the last row as the 150-member Spartan band left the stadium at Notre Dame. He said they were followed closely by Notre Dame students, who had heckled the band members during the game and made some attempts to grab the band members' plumed hats.

TOM EXPLAINED that his hat and that of the Assistant Band Director Bill Moffet were snatched almost simultaneously as the band passed between two dormitories on the Notre Dame campus.

Other attempts were made to snatch the white plumed hats of the MSU bandsmen. A scuffle followed efforts to reclaim the hats and reform the band's lines. Band members were injured, though none seriously.

The Notre Dame students were known to be high-spirited and some hat swiping attempts were anticipated, Tom explained.

"No one expected physical violence," he said.

★

THE NOTRE DAME band sent a telegram to the MSU band apologizing for the incident, Tom said.

"The Irish bandsmen said they would have escorted us to our buses if they had known what would happen," Tom said in explaining the telegram.

Tom is a sophomore at Michigan State majoring in pre-med. This is his second year in the marching band.

The Notre Dame game was the first away tilt which the band attended this year. Tom, the MSU band and the football team journeyed to Champaign, Ill., Nov. 21 for a match with the fighting Illini.

"Illinois seemed dead compared to this weekend," was Tom's comment.

Accident Cuts Cables Near GM

Two telephone cables were accidentally cut by Fisher Body construction crews Tuesday, isolating Tecumsehland for nearly three hours.

Exchanges at Tecumseh, Britton, Tipton and Clinton all lost outside service from noon until about 3:30 p.m., explained Ken Conway, manager of the Tecumseh office.

The two toll cables contain 150 circuits, as well as direct lines for industries and teletype hookups.

Six weeks ago, the toll cable between Adrian and Detroit, running under the GM plant site, was also accidentally severed.

Building Council Presents Findings

A special Methodist Church quarterly conference and church conference will be held Thursday, Jan. 21, at 7:30 p.m.

The purpose of the conferences to be held on the same evening will be to hear the detailed findings of the building council.

Class Wants To Buy Building

The Rev. and Mrs. Paul Brantingham were hosts Saturday evening, for the November meeting of the Power Class of the Tecumseh Friends Church.

Mrs. Charles Huber was in charge of the devotions for the evening. The group joined members of the Welcome Class for a series of travelogue films, shown in the church.

During the business session, the class discussed helping financially with the project of putting a building on the recently dedicated church property known officially as "Friendsfield".

The December meeting of the class will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Butler, Ternes Rd., at which time the treat for the children of the Sunday School will be packed for the Christmas program.

Ira Haas of Ohio, was a guest for the evening. Mr. Haas is the father of Mrs. Brantingham.

Cars Slide on Ice

Snow Friday and Saturday were largely responsible for several accidents investigated by the Tecumseh police during the past week.

Five of eight accidents checked came on slippery streets.

Friday, Paul F. Burns, 40, of 905 River Acres Dr., was cited for failure to yield the right of way when he turned in front of another car to enter a driveway. The other vehicle was unable to stop in time on snow-covered N. Maumee St.

Ronald J. Forsythe, 16, Britton, lost control of his car Friday and damaged the bottom of his car after turning around on the railroad tracks on N. Evans St.

★

THE STREETS were slick Saturday when Steve Buku, Jr., 24, of 201 N. Ottawa, slid into Larry E. Chase at the intersection of Shawnee and Pearl. Buku was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

William Slade, 27, Hillsdale, was unable to stop on Adrian St. and hit the rear of an automobile driven by Hazel Winters, 30, rural Adrian.

Austin E. Robison, 19, Saline, was cited for violation of the basic speed law after his car hit the Tecumseh Motel sign on N. Evans St. It was the second time within two years the sign has been clipped.

A DEFECTIVE hand brake was blamed for a minor accident Tuesday when a car owned by Willard E. Birdwell, 49, Russell Rd., rolled back across S. Maumee St. from Welch's Cleaners into a car, just parked by Charles Trickey III, 17, of 9431 Tonneberger Dr.

Birdwell was cited for defective equipment.

Michael Jurkowski, 53, of 603 Center Dr., was cited for failing to have his car under control after he sideswiped a parked car belonging to Joseph Roman, 38, Detroit.

Bernard E. Rickard, 18, Britton, was charged with improper backing Friday after an accident involving Helen M. Jewell, 30, St. Clair, behind the Strand Theatre.

Lambs Eat Out

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lamb were Thanksgiving Day guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wright. Mrs. Lamb's mother, Mrs. Irene Fritz of Adrian, was a guest also.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

Len Barnes of AAA Motor News commenting on our editorial blasting football report of Adrian-Tecumseh game in nearby daily: "Good! That goes double for what passes as political reporting in much of Michigan's press."

Happiest guy in town after Michigan's Off-to-the-Rose Bowl victory was Jack Hanna, the insurance guy. Asked if he would take in the Pasadena classic, Jack grinned, "Can't do it and there are 500 dollar reasons why."

Deposited on our counter just before the big snow arrived, "Public notice — the sidewalk in front of The Tecumseh Herald office is the most dirty looking in town. J. R. Garno." Thank goodness for the turn in weather.

Right family but wrong location.. In a recent newcomers column Mr. and Mrs. Russell Crawford of Forest, O., were featured with their three children. They came from Ohio, not Adrian, and moved to 702 Winonah St., not 607½ W. Chicago Blvd. They attend the Church of Christ, not Christ Church. How do these gremlins get into that type?

Want to help the Post Office Department during their busiest time? The Tecumseh Public Library has the complete zip code directory for the United States. Phone directories with addresses are available for most Michigan cities and many out-of-state large cities. Mrs. Jule Fosbender, librarian, said Monday, "We will be glad to help with one or two over the phone but not a whole list."

Like a lively rubber ball, Mrs. Arch Wray bounced right back after a minor auto accident in which she sustained bruises and a cut lip. Mrs. Wray popped right back at her work for the Daughters of St. Peter's Church. She folded stationery, which pictures the new church and is presently being sold at a bazaar.

Persistence paid dividends. Dr Harold Ocamb has been going out early each morning since venison season opened and Monday morning luck was with him. He shot a four-point buck, his first one, east of the city.

Tecumseh has a winner. Wade Van Valkenburg, a 1938 graduate of Tecumseh High School, was elected recently as Kalamazoo County's third Circuit Judge for a term of six years. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Devillo Van Valkenburg, of Tipton, and a graduate of the University of Michigan. He practices law in Kalamazoo, is married and has two children. He has been a member of the House of Representatives for 10 years and speaker for four years.

Tecumsehites Attend Meeting

TEEN TALK

By DEBBIE EARLING

Linda Carol Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Perry, of rural Tipton and an Onsted High School senior was chosen Lenawee County's Junior Miss Saturday night in Walsh Hall, Adrian College.

Debbie Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Crawford, and a Tecumseh High School senior, was runner-up.

The contest was the third arranged by the Adrian Jaycees. Miss Perry will represent the county in the state contest in Pontiac Jan. 29-30.

The girls were interviewed individually and as a group as well as taking part in on-stage competition.

Special emphasis was placed on such areas as character, personality, intelligence, scholarship, community service, achievements, personal ambitions and religious interests.

Linda was awarded a trophy, a $100 savings bond and a bouquet of Junior "Miss" roses. Debbie received a trophy and a camera.

Linda played a French horn solo, "Two Outdoor Scenes".

Congratulations also to Kay Becker, Linda Easton and Diane Ries who participated in the contest.

The contest was open to single Senior girls between the ages of 16 and 19. At 4:30 p.m. Saturday 21 girls from all over Lenawee County were divided into three groups and interviewed by the judges. The girls were quizzed on current events and the background of their city and county. They were asked also to give their opinions on world issues. They were judged on scholarship, poise, talent and personality.

At 7:30 p.m. competitors were introduced to the audience. Each made a quick change into sportswear. After they had modeled their outfits the girls displayed their particular talent.

Kay presented a convincing impersonation of Louie Armstrong singing "Hello Dolly" and "Rosie". She concluded with her own version.

Linda confirmed that she was a "delightful nut" as she sang "I Enjoy Being a Girl" interpreting it by portraying a conceited sophisticate.

Diane presented a combination modern dance and skit to "Alley Cat". The three girls were accompanied by Dexter Bailey at the piano.

Debbie Crawford touched everyone's heart with her moving recitation of Edna Vincent Milay's "The Ballad of the Harpweaver". She was presented with a trophy and a camera.

The girls modeled formals for the finale of the program.

The Latin Club wishes to express their thanks to Rev. Thomas J. Collins for his informative talk in connection with Latin and its relation to the Roman Catholic Church.

The Teen Club will sponsor a dance Friday, Nov. 27, from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m., featuring a "live" band. Freshmen will receive price reductions.

SMORGASBORD

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

"I will lift up mine eyes to the hills; from whence shall my help come? My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth." Psalms 121; 1, 2.

What better time to life up one's eyes than in Thanksgiving Week — to give thanks for spiritual and material blessings.

Today, in this column, I am declaring why I am thankful. Whether or not I am offending good taste in revealing my innermost thoughts the reader must decide.

For what am I grateful?

I should say first — that I am thankful my help DOES come from God — and from His Son. The knowledge that this is true has carried me through more periods of heartache than I want to remember.

I am thankful for the Holy Spirit which can join me in fellowship with loved ones scattered about the world and which has provided help and strength to me and those I love.

★

I AM THANKFUL for the Bible and its revelation.

I am thankful for a loving and wonderful family, a Christian heritage and a Christian home.

I am grateful for citizenship in a country of which I am proud.

I am grateful for health and the chance to work at a job I love, in a profession which offers opportunities for service, and self-expression and, at times, excitement.

I am grateful for understanding co-workers who overlook my mistakes and who are a constant source of helpfulness and inspiration.

★

I AM THANKFUL for friends who continue to be loyal and loving in spite of shameful neglect on my part.

I am thankful that my material needs have been met.

I am thankful that now, at this moment, I realize how happy I am in this most wonderful of worlds.

PATTERSON SCHOOL PATTER

By SHERRIE LEE HART

I guess what we received from the weather man last Thursday and Friday could be called "Instant Winter". The Patterson scene made a quick change from basketballs and skate boards to slides and saucer-sleds. From the looks of things last Saturday morning you would think winter had been around for a long time.

Kindergarten

Mrs. Bill Powell's kindergarten children are studying Indians. They have made teepees, totem poles and Indian masks. They have a small Indian village in their show case and many children have brought Indian things from home to show. They have also made headdresses and a real arrowhead.

Fourth grade

The children in Mrs. Buttolph's room are writing poems, and doing a very good job. Here are a few:

THANKSGIVING
By Wendy Cunningham

On this day of thanksgiving and prayer
In our home we gather there,
To give our thanks to God above,
For his blessing, of food and love.

When the Spices Smell the Nicest
by GinnieOusterhout

When the spices smell the nicest,
In the turkeys and on pies.
And the relatives are arriving,
From way off and near by.
Then is the time of counting,
Our blessings large and small,
Like the farmers with his harvest,
All things are good in fall.

THANKSGIVING
By Nadine Crawboy

We are thankful for this holiday,
There's a lot more to say.
The Pilgrims started years ago,
For old folks things have to be just so.

Turkey dressing and pie in the oven,
Most everything is ready for all the cousins.
The house will be full of all the relation,
For that's Thanksgiving in our nation.

THANKSGIVING
By Laurie Lundquist

Thanksgiving Day is set apart
From other days in the year,
When gratefully we give our thanks
With friends from far and near.

Turkey, stuffing and pumpkin pies,
Which you and I enjoy,
Are only part of the blessings that
We've received throughout the year.

And let us not forget one thing.
In observing this special day,
That all good things we eat and drink,
Are sent from heaven above
We thank the Lord for all we have
And especially for his love.

Sixth Grade

● CHEESE!!!

Students received their pictures Thursday.

"Oh, yours are darling," and "Gee, I look terrible," were some of the remarks of the students after seeing them.

Most of the students, pleased with results, traded with each other.

● CHRISTMAS PLAY

Christmas is beginning to ring in with practice for the annual play getting underway. There will be a full choral group, dancers from the lower grades and a verse choir participating.

By Cynthia Caterina

● HAIKU WHAT KU?

The eighth grade English class has been learning about a Japanese form of poetry called Haiku. The Haiku usually contains between 13 to 17 syllables in the arrangement of three lines.

After several selections were read, the class tried their hand at composing and came up with some interesting and original pieces.

By Linda Young

● BOY GETS DEER

One week ago Saturday, the deer hunting season opened. Eighth grader Bradley Brown went with his father on that first hunting season week end and came back with quite a prize, his own four-point deer.

By Lawrence Cote

● DECORATIONS

Fourth grade class of Sister Mary Constance is busy making Christmas wreaths. The children are cutting plastic bags into small squares, which they will attach to a round frame made from a coat hanger.

They will then sprinkle the wreaths with stars and glitter and take them home to display on front doors during the Christmas season.

● MASS IN ENGLISH

St. Elizabeth School has been quite active these days getting ready for the Mass in English. Discussions and instructions have helped the students understand the true meaning of the reforms and changes taking place in the Church's liturgy.

The first Sunday in Advent will be the date for the first Low Mass in English. This new Mass being conducted in English will be easier for the people to understand.

By Charles Fitch
and Thomas Rohrer

● ART CLASS

In art class with Sister Angelica, the eighth graders made a crayon drawing of the different kinds of fruit for Thanksgiving. After it was completed they took water colors and painted over the entire picture.

Since the crayons were made out of wax, the water colors would not harm or change the picture of the fruit. After the water colors dried, the pictures, many of which were suitable for framing, had a dark background encircling the vivid arrangement of fruit.

By Anthony Davilla

● STUDY ATOMS

As a conclusion to study of atoms, eighth grade students at St. Elizabeth School made molecular models of some common elements and compounds.

The class had been learning about the protons, neutrons and electrons in the structure of the atom.

They then made a study of some of the more common elements and their characteristics. From there it was an easy step to arouse their curiosity in combinations of elements or compounds.

They quickly discovered that when elements combine to form compounds the resulting combinations have characteristics which differ greatly from those of the original elements.

To show these combinations in various compounds, students used clay, wooden and styrofoam balls, beads, toothpicks and a variety of other materials.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

I would like to make a few suggestions in regard to the joint problems of Tecumseh and Raisin Township.

First of all, please have a lot of sympathy and forbearance for the officials of the area who are up against some big problems.

There will not be any increase of taxes immediately on the new property. Anything new after March 1, 1964, cannot be assessed until next Jan. 1, so will not pay taxes until after Dec. 1, 1965.

Also the increased tax receipts will mainly go to the schools, not for township projects such as roads, water and sewers, etc.

I would hope that the State Highway Dept. could be persuaded to provide new and better roads on the basis of demonstrated need rather than on present traffic counts.

Also I would suggest for consideration, the planning of a sewage disposal plant somewhere south of Sutton Rd., which could take care of all the probable need from the extreme southern part of the present city and the whole area of development to near the Adrian area.

I cannot see how our present disposal plant can be expected to take care of much more, and should it, anyhow, so near the river and above the largest and best of the possible developments?

My congratulations to the Raisin Township Board, the City Council and County for their work so far and may they succeed in the bigger jobs ahead.

Demonstration of Christmas Crafts Planned

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Pickard, Mrs. Albert Todd or Mrs. Cecile Smith, general chairman.

Recreation Activities

By DON MOFFATT, Superintendent

GOLF INSTRUCTION

Interest shown concerning the indoor golf instruction has been great, which leads us to believe that this would be a worth-while winter program. As mentioned earlier, these golf lessons would be taught by Ormond Eldredge, one of the Tecumseh area's well-known golfers and an excellent instructor.

Plans are to hold these lessons in the Community Center one evening each week starting late in January. The six-week course would be set up for the beginner golfer as well as the troubled golfer who might like to correct his faults and improve his score.

The evening lessons will be offered at a low fee of $1.00 per lesson, with a pre-enrollment special of $5.00 for all six classes. More information will be announced later.

SANTA'S HELPERS

The Tecumseh Senior Citizens have taken as one of their drop-in center projects, that of being helpers for Santa Claus. Last Thursday, 17 attended this newly-arranged program for them, and welcomed the idea of helping with any projects that others might need help with.

They set up an assembly line, and started to box candy that would be given away by Santa to all the little ones visiting him in the downtown area in the next few weeks. They plan to box over 2,000 boxes of candy, and have already completed 1,000 in just two project meetings. Besides meeting last Thursday, they met this week Tuesday and will meet again next Thursday, Dec. 3.

At these drop-in days, everyone is on their own, with no planned program. Some may just enjoy visiting with their friends, others enjoy playing cards or checkers, and then of course these special projects seem to be of great interest to the group, and I might add, "a special help to our community-wide programs and projects".

$7,222 Steel Garage Houses Seven Buses

By KAREN HARRIOTT

A steel portable bus garage and storage building has been built at the Britton-Macon School. This 40 x 98-foot building cost $7,222.20 and was constructed by Harold Every and Company, Inc., of Tecumseh. It will house seven buses and contains a 12 x 40-foot storage room. The building is 12 feet high.

Why was such a building needed? Art Vanwormer, a custodian at Britton, can answer that.

"This school bus garage and storage building is a worthwhile addition to the school. It will protect the finishes on the buses, and as a result, the resale value will be increased.

Bus drivers will not have to scrape frost off the windows, so the windows will not be scratched. The enclosed portion supplies a much-needed storage room for materials which are used only from time to time. This includes desks, lumber, pipes, and canvas," he said.

Driving the buses at Britton this year are: Gary Lovett, George Hawkins, Charles Bigelow, Vern Neidlinger, Andy Crutchfield, William Heilner, Howard Rhora, Veril Lidester, Robert McCrate and Kenneth Zeemer.

Mr. McCrate believes the bus shelter is "a good deal. It will keep the frost off the windows and moisture off the ignition."

Mr. Bigelow, who is in his 14th year of driving a bus at Britton, agreed and added that "It will sure help keep the snow and ice off the buses in the winter time."

The main trouble that the drivers have with the students riding on their buses is littering. Gary Lovett, social studies teacher at Britton, remarks, "Students do not respect the buses. They are forever throwing papers, apple cores, and gum wrappers on the floor of the bus. They are a great bunch of kids, or shall I say a great bunch of litterbugs!"

Mr. Crutchfield is in his third year of driving a bus at Britton. The students on his bus are also "a good bunch of kids, quiet and everything, but they are always littering the bus floors with paper."

Britton students started out a busy week with an Open House on Monday night at 7:50 after the PTA meeting.

The seventh grade choir, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Bush, was asked to entertain the members of the Britton Women's Club at the home of Mrs. Elmer Eberhardt on Nov. 17.

The selections presented by the choir were "Green Cathedral", "Climb Every Mountain" and "Sour Wood Mountain".

Property Set Over by County

BRITTON — Members of the Board of Education have reluctantly conceded defeat in their attempt to retain a piece of Holloway Rd. property within the district.

The district has been notified that the Lenawee County Board of Education has authorized the transfer of the Maude Gibson and Oliver Mueller properties from the Britton-Macon district to the Deerfield Public School District.

The transfer had been opposed by the Britton-Macon board because of the loss of the $13,000 valuation and the distortion of the present district lines.

William Saxton, superintendent of the Britton-Macon district, said the transfer was sought to give the children of David Woods, who lives on one of the pieces of property, transportation into Deerfield, where his children attend St. Alphonsus Catholic School.

Women's Club Hosts 7th Graders

BRITTON — Mrs. Donald Bush, accompanied by 30 seventh graders, entertained the Britton Women's Club Nov. 17 at the home of Mrs. Elmer Eberhardt.

"Green Cathedral," "Sour Wood Mountain" and "Climb Every Mountain" were the selections of the choir. Mrs. Mildred Wiggins was in charge of this program.

The Thanksgiving story was presented by Mrs. Robert McCrate, followed with a tribute by Mrs. Bert Moore.

Mrs. Verl Sanch and Mrs. Walter Prill were in charge of refreshments which were of a fall arrangement and theme.

Mrs. Elmer Eberhardt said the program was "simply lovely".

The Women's Club plan to take gifts to the Youth Center in Adrian from personal contributions.

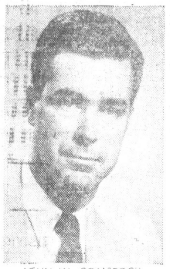
Extension Staff Divides Duties Through County

The Cooperative Extension Service is on "extension" of Michigan State University's education program. Each of the six Lenawee County staff members has a part in this teaching responsibility.



JOHN W. COMSTOCK

John W. Comstock, county extension director, is responsible for the over-all business administration of the county program. He also co-ordinates and integrates the county staff and all phases of the County Cooperative Extension program. This includes interpreting and identifying the needs and wants of the people in Lenawee County.

The deep interest he has shown and the leadership he has given the River Raisin Watershed project reflects this attitude.

He is concerned with all people and all industry in the county.

Norman H. Bless, county extension agent in agriculture, works with Lenawee farm families and related agricultural industries. He strives to acquaint the farmer with new farm management programs such as Tel-

NOMAN H. BLESS

Farm. He works to improve mechanization and production efficiency and to introduce the farmer to the ever-increasing agricultural knowledge.

Frances C Snow, county extension agent in home economics, assists the family to recognize the best use of its money, time and abilities in securing food, clothing and shelter. This involves increasing the homemaker's skill in decision making and home management and to provide current information on home economics and family living.

Willard McLeod is district livestock marketing agent. In 1954 eight new extension positions were created. The people fulfilling these positions are called district marketing agents. Each marketing agent specializes in the marketing of a specific commodity and is officed in that area in which that commodity is produced in greatest abundance. Mr. McLeod is responsible for conducting educational programs in livestock marketing. He receives and reviews large volumes of technical information and statistical data, much of which is not available to livestock producers. He then condenses and disseminates this information to those in the livestock business.

Ray Gillespie and Elizabeth McPherson work as county extension agents in 4-H. Four-H is a program designed to serve and to educate all youth between the ages of 10 and 18. It also is a program designed to encourage leadership responsibility and citizenship development. In a broader sense, the agents strive to guide and to aid today's youth into tomorrow's adults. The core to the 4-H program is the willing and able adult leader. Lenawee County has a tremendous force of over 350 volunteer adult leaders.

Cold Car Care Myths Exploded

Do you really know how to care for your car in winter? Should you warm it up by driving it or idling it? How about preventing the engine from flooding? Do power brakes work better on icy roads than conventional brakes?

A driver seeking advice on winter car care can find plenty —most of it incorrect.

To help drivers steer clear of bad winter driving advice, DISCOVERY, official publication of the Allstate Motor Club, lists some winter driving myths and compares them with what automotive engineers and fleet operators say:

1—"An engine should idle and warm up before the car is driven, especially in cold weather." Not so, say the experts. The best way to warm up an engine to peak operating efficiency is to drive the car easily. Just idling the engine keeps the choke closed longer and raw gasoline washes oil off the cylinder walls.

2—"Pump the accelerator a few times before using the starter so the engine will start the first time and prevent flooding." Pumping the accelerator more than once on cars with automatic transmissions may flood the engine. The proper method is to depress the pedal slightly, hold it there and start the motor.

To overcome flooding, a motorist should floor the gas pedal and hold it there while it starts the engine. This method should be repeated every few minutes until the car starts.

3—"If you can find one, the ideal used car is one owned by a little old lady who only drove it once a week." Such a car may be a clunker. Short-run, low temperature driving is hard on engines. Engine combustion is poor with carbon and sludge forming to cut engine life.

4—"Power brakes make your car safer; you can stop quicker." Not necessarily, say the experts. Power brakes make you stop with less effort, but not in less distance. They give some drivers a false sense of security, because like power steering, they don't give the driver enough feel of the pavement. On wet or icy pavement this is dangerous.

5—"Cars don't need as much maintenance as they used to." Despite the improved oils and lubricants developed by the car manufacturers, drivers still are advised to change their oil more often under severe driving conditions. City driving and winter driving may require a driver to change his oil more frequently than his manual provides.

★

IF THE CAR is not serviced regularly, more than just an oil change and a lubrication is ignored. Brake fluid in the master cylinder, the oil filter, the under-carriage and the muffler may be neglected unless frequent inspections are made.

Car owners must beware of bad advice, warns the Allstate Motor Club magazine. Talk is cheap, but repair bills resulting from taking bad advice are not.

Traffic Safety Urged in Church Services

The Good Samaritan coming to the aid of an early roadside casualty was remembered in many pulpits Sunday when ministers of many faiths honored Governor George Romney's proclamation of a Traffic Safety Sabbath.

The event, originally scheduled spontaneously at various times in communities in the state, has been unified by action sponsored by the State Safety Commission and a committee of pastors of various Protestant, Catholic and Jewish denominations resident in the state.

The governor's proclamation said, in part. "We readily abhor crime and violence, but have little realization that highway occurrences causes four times as many deaths. I urge the cooperation of all our people — and particularly clergy — in a Sabbath week end dedicated to the Commandment "Thou Shalt Not Kill' — on our highways."

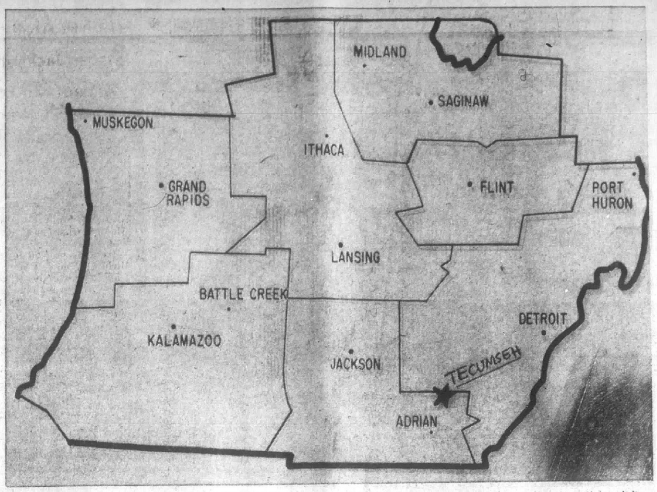
★

STATE POLICE Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, commenting on the Safety Sabbath said, "A single thing like obeying traffic laws might not seem like a great moral issue — but that is just the trouble. In 85% of the accidents which cause deaths on the highways some infraction of the traffic laws has been noted. These deaths are just as sad to the grief-stricken family as if they had resulted from an armed robbery or some other reprehensible crime."

Secretary of State James M. Hare, chairman of the State Safety Commission, said, "Files containing the records of dangerous drivers who have caused or seem fated to cause some serious or fatal accident show evidence that many people have no feeling of moral responsibility for their actions on the highway. They could appreciate that stealing money is dishonest, but taking reckless chances in traffic is just sport. Enforcement officers and ambulance drivers take a different view. So do the families of the victims."

Power of Truth

The power of Truth over illusion will be a central theme at Christian Science churches this Sunday. The hypnotic nature of evil will also be described in a Bible lesson on the subject: "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced."



SERVICE IMPROVED — Tecumsehland residents will get "scheduled" parcel post service five days each week, area postmaster have announced. Mrs. Grover Swarts, Tipton postmaster, said parcels mailed before 5 p.m. will be delivered promptly within the 22,000 square mile area shown on the map above.

Parcel Post Goes Overnight

A new "Scheduled Delivery" system now permits overnight delivery of ZIP Coded parcel post five days a week between Tecumseh and all post offices within a 22,000 square mile area of southern Michigan, Postmaster Jack G. Metcalf announced today.

The delivery area includes all of southern Michigan from the line Bay City — Mount Pleasant — Muskegon except the counties of Huron and Sanilac in the northeast and a portion of Berrien county in the southwest. This area includes over 460 post offices and over 7,200,000 people — nearly 90 percent of the state's population.

Deputy Postmaster General Frederick C. Belan discussed details of the plan and demonstrated the actual operation at a luncheon meeting in Detroit last Monday.

Extensive testing has assured the success of this new program, which in effect offers "first rate service" for fourth-class mail, according to Postmaster Metcalf.

Mailing deadlines for the service will be 5 p.m. in Tecumseh, the time when lobby windows close.

"The Post Office Department found through extensive study," Postmaster Metcalf said, "that one of the major problems of the parcel post service has been the lack of dependability of delivery. For many mailers, it is often more important to know when a parcel is to be delivered than it is to get it there in a hurry." For these reasons the Post Office Department developed the concept of Scheduled Delivery.

In Michigan Scheduled Delivery area, parcels will be transported to the destination post office overnight and will be delivered to the addressee on the next scheduled parcel delivery. In most cases this will mean next-day parcel service, Mr. Metcalf explained, because parcel post deliveries are made five days out of the week.

STAUFFER FROM AIR — This is the way one of the new Stauffer Chemical buildings appears to migrating birds winging their way south these days. At top of the photo is the historic Sutton Place, which has been renovated and now serves as general offices. West of the construction shown here are several more buildings going up in a complex, which eventually will be valued at $20 million.

Rates Will Go Up Toll Will Go Off,

Telephone calls will be going toll-free between Tecumseh and Adrian, Clinton and Britton.

Rates will go up, too.

Approved after public hearings by the Michigan Public Service Commission, extended area service will start within the next 18 months, as soon as the necessary installations can be constructed, according to General Telephone Co. officials.

Tecumseh's new monthly rates will be:

Private business — $11.80, up $1.10

Private residence — $7, up 70c

Residence four-party — $5.10, up 45c

For Britton and Clinton, new rates will be $10.70 for private business, $6.30 for private residence and $4.65 for four party.

Clinton's rates presently are slightly lower than Britton's.

Adrian's rates will rise less than Tecumseh's, but will now match the charges here.

The commission denied a request for extended area service between Adrian and Britton and Adrian and Clinton, because of insufficient volume.

As soon as volume of traffic between communities reaches at least three calls per month per customer, it is considered large enough to warrant extended service.

Auxiliary Plans Sitter Clinic

Plans for a Baby Sitting Clinic to be conducted by the Jaycee Auxiliary were made at the meeting held Nov. 18 at the city hall.

The classes will be held in the Senior High School cafeteria starting Jan. 27. They will be held from 3 to 4 p.m. Wednesdays and Thursdays, for three weeks.

Registration may be made in David Dick's office at the Junior High School after the holiday recess.

After successfully passing a written test, students will be presented diplomas at an evening commencement with parents welcome.

There is no charge made to the students for the course.

Mrs. Douglas Osworth is chairman of the Christmas gift project, with the auxiliary furnishing gifts for the Lenawee Institute party.

The Jaycee children's Christmas party will be held Dec. 16, with Mrs. James Rundell as chairman.

The calling committee for the next three months wil linclude Mrs. Gerald Miller, Mrs. Gordon Robeck, Mrs. Walter Elwartowski and Mrs. Osworth.

Mrs. Richard Creswell, District 3 vice-president, made her official visit to the club.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By MARTIN WHITAKER

An anticipated Junior class trip to the campus of Notre Dame University was postponed a second time. Brother James Reese, CSC, moderator of the class, attributed the postponement to poor weather conditions in northern Indiana, and to the fact that the varsity basketball team, which has several juniors on it, was to practice the day of the proposed trip. No definite rescheduling of the trip has been announced yet.

The Boysville Fighting Knights basketball team takes the floor this season dressed in newly - purchased uniforms. Thanks to the generosity of a benefactor, 12 new blue, gold and white uniforms have been acquired.

Some 16 upperclassmen vied Nov. 10 for a place on the varsity basketball team. In the course of several days, Joseph Fortunato, head basketball coach, narrowed his choice down to 12. Five of these include lettermen from last year. Returning are Ron Klos, Moe Jacobs, Norris McFarland, Jim Williams and Jim Fedorko.

Boysville's first game, scheduled against Deerfield, will be played Tuesday, Dec. 1.

Patrick Conners, junior varsity basketball coach, has narrowed his selection down to 13 players. These include eight of last year's lettermen.

Nov. 19, five members of the Photo Club went to Detroit's Cobo Hall with their moderator, Brother Aloysius Glombowski, CSC, to attend the ninth annual photo show.

They saw the latest ideas and equipment for both the amateur and the professional photographer.

The Photo Club's future plans include a trip to the Ford Motor Company and to the Enterline Photo Finishing Shop in Plymouth.

The cubicles of the upperclassmen residing in Cardinal Mooney Hall are now festuring new bulletin boards. These boards were constructed by Bill Dettman and the Boysville maintenance staff, and were installed above the bed of each boy. They will enable the boys to display monograms, pictures, and athletic and scholastic achievements.

On Wednesday, Nov. 19, the varsity football team's efforts were rewarded with a party. The festivities took place on Vineyard Lake in the Irish Hills at the home of Mr. Claxton. The boys were treated to a dinner of fresh-baked ham and other popular dishes. The meal was followed by the ever-popular "bull session", card playing, and television.

The students of Boysville are having their Thanksgiving vacation. The boys are due back for check-in at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Hunters Share Six-Point Buck

CLINTON — Robert LeBarron and Keith Waters couldn't get off their jobs, so they had to settle for a weekend hunting trip.

The two went to the Vanderbilt hunting cabin of Mr. Water's father-in-law, Charles Kirchner.

Within an hour after they started hunting they saw a six-point buck running across a field. Mr. LeBarron was the lucky hunter whose shot downed the deer.

They split the animal down the middle and, according to reports, were as proud as though each had gotten a buck.

Royal Neighbors Enjoy Dinner

CLINTON — Fourteen members of the Royal Neighbors met recently in Roumell's Dining Room for their annual Thanksgiving dinner.

After the dinner the members went to the home of Mrs. Bertha Nungesser for a business meeting.

Mrs. Ben Mahrle II presided. Plans were made for the traditional Christmas giving to unfortunate in the area.

A box social will be held at the Christmas party to be held Dec. 16 at the home of Mrs. Hattie Feldkamp.

The lucky neighbor gift was won by Mrs. Leo Smith.

Fruit Cakes Will Help Buy New Band Uniforms

CLINTON — A skit "Dollars Worth of Love" was presented by Mrs. Hazel Barnard and Mrs. Robert King at the meeting of the United Church of Christ Women's Fellowship.

Have you priced a tiger lately?

Take the GTO, for instance. The greatest tiger of them all. Even real tigers cower when this baby speaks. It loads 335 horses under that hood. Plus bucket seats. Carpeting. Real walnut dash. And like that. Yet it sells for less than a lot of pussycats with imitation stripes. And of course the GTO's optional 360-hp engine puts it so far out in front of the pack that it gets kind of lonesome. Then there's the LeMans. Same kind of pizzazz. Same kind of crackle. Only with slightly smaller teeth. But don't worry. It can still handle the pussycats. If you haven't priced a tiger lately, you'd better. Now.

OLD ENOUGH!

Not old enough for a novel, a dictionary, an encyclopedia.

But old enough for the Bible!

For in these very years before she fully understands its truth, a child learns to respect God's Word. Reverence is born. A sense of the importance of religion develops.

The passages must be short . . . and sensibly chosen. Childish but searching questions must be answered. Mother and Dad will soon discover that explaining Truth to their child deepens their own comprehension.

Take advantage of a parent's most sacred privilege. Introduce your child to God. Make the Bible part of the family. Participate in and cooperate with the Church's program of religious education.

A child grows spiritually whose parents grow spiritually!

THROUGH MY WINDOW

BUSINESS AS USUAL

During the past few weeks, when we have been trying to share a bit of our vacation fun, activity has not been standing still here along the bank of Evans Creek. In fact, just the opposite is true — there has been so much happening that I hardly know where to begin. The most welcome, but surprisingly long, Indian Summer had our birds in a regular tizzy!

The summer visitors, robins and grackles primarily, long ago packed their bags and headed for the sunny south. At least most of them did — we were still seeing an occasional robin, who looks a bit ragged and very unhappy, and two or three grackles. The black ones are completely different than the red-breast — they are sleek, shiny and trim. They are also having a ball and, I suspect, secretly laughing at their brethren who missed all of the lovely warm weather. That is to say as long as the nice weather lasted they had a ball.

The creek was a great attraction; after feasting on the plentiful weed seeds and insects they spent hours bathing and just plain playing in the water.

★

BUT KEEPING us from drifting too far into warm weather thoughts was the appearance of the many winter birds. Cute little bouncy things who are perfectly at home when Old North Wind starts huffing and puffing, they nevertheless had fun and enjoyed the balmy days. So far we have counted three tiny black-capped chick-a-dees and there is a whole flock of the black helmeted, gray vested juncos.

Other cold weather regulars, who are not strictly migratory, but who do show up in greater numbers during the winter, are beginning to appear in force. The pert little gray tufted titmice and the up-side-downers, the nuthatches, are more than busy at the bird feeding stations. We laugh at the nuthatches stealing sunflower seeds from practically under the bluejay's nose — or should we say bill?

Hanging head down on the post at the corner of the tray, a little nuthatch will stretch to reach the top of a sunflower head, pick out a seed and fly away — all this before Mr. Bluejay tumbles to what is happening. The nuthatches are quite elegant about their thievery, too; very daintily they hold the black seeds with the very tip of their long, slender bills.

★

BY THE WAY, a small flock of obviously migratory birds kept us busy for several days. Dickcissels! Just before setting out on a short Sunday afternoon ride, we noticed that the walnut tree out in back was full of sparrow-sized birds. The light was strange but it did look as if their breasts were yellow. However, at that distance and moving about as they were, we could not be sure of exactly what we saw.

The next day, though, we were sure — just outside our window, hopping on the ground and looking this way, was not a sparrow but something quite similar. The yellowish breast and yellow strip just above the eye was unmistakable; the dickcissels were spending a few days with us before pushing on to their winter quarters.

But getting back to the regulars and I have just time to tell you about the three bluejays who are making regular gluttons of themselves. They are gobbling sunflower seeds so fast it is a wonder they don't choke. One morning we watched as Mr. B. J. crammed ten seeds into his mouth. Such greed — such fun to watch.

So it is that vacation is over and things are back to normal; from now on it will be business as usual.

Beans Go to Needy

Michigan beans are needed for overseas feeding programs of Church World Service, according to Russel Hartzler, Michigan Director of CROP.

He also says that the need for food is as great as ever in the underdeveloped countries of the world.

A contribution of $7 will buy a 100-pound bag of Michigan beans which will make 365 good servings, enough for one serving a day for a whole year for one hungry child.

Send a gift to CROP, care of Willis Moore, Courthouse, Adrian, or leave it in the CROP Account at the United Savings Bank in Tecumseh.

PTA Hears of Special Education

RIDGEWAY — Lynn E. Marvin, Lenawee County director of special education, spoke to members of the Ridgeway-Macon PTA Nov. 18 in the Ridgeway school. Some 30 persons attended.

At the business meeting, the PTA was thanked for the new drapes in the library.

It was decided to sell sweat shirts and T-shirts this month for a money-making project. Either "Ridgeway School" or "Tecumseh Indians" will be printed on them. These are for the children and adults.

A party was won by the afternoon kindergarten for best participation in the membership drive.

The fourth grade won the PTA banner for attendance.

Refreshments were furnished by the Fourth grade.

Highway Program Is Gloomy

By DUANE DeLOACH
Special to The Herald

No expressways or other highway construction are planned for Lenawee County until after 1972, Howard Hill, managing director of the Michigan State Highway Department, told a group of interested citizens at a conference in Adrian last week.

The session was held for two specific purposes:

► By-pass of M-52 around the city of Adrian is desired to end a bottleneck, and county seat officials asked widening or rebuilding.

► Better routes to Detroit and Toledo are sought, either by a US-223 expressway or some alternate by-pass.

William Burchfield, county highway engineer, said he and Clifford Miles, Adrian city manager, were pretty well armed with facts and figures, "but we got bombed."

Mayor Walter Bohn and Chamber of Commerce officials also participated in the talks and Edward Ballenbaum, chief planning engineer for the State Highway Department.

★

MR. BURCHFIELD said that Lenawee County is the 18th in Michigan, out of 83 counties, in the amount of revenues collected for the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund, yet has received less than other counties.

He pointed out to Mr. Hill and Mr. Ballenbaum that out of 25 top counties in Michigan, in revenues collected, Lenawee County is the only one without an expressway.

Mr. Hill claimed there was no money for new highway construction in Lenawee, and that volume of traffic over highways in Lenawee County did not warrant it.

Mr. Burchfield said he attempted rebuttal to both these statements, adding: "I don't know how well we did, but we sure tried."

He pointed out that M-52 has heavier traffic than any other two-lane highway, and that there are no adequate connecting routes with any of the existing expressways to Detroit, Toledo or Lansing.

★

("WHAT DO WE have to do to get relief?" Mr. Hill was asked.

The managing director of the State Highway Department explained that new highway construction in Michigan is scheduled on a system of priorities.

Roads are built, he said, as they can be financed in areas proving the greatest need.

"You can change the picture in Lenawee," he added, "if you can establish a priority greater than those now in the planning stage.

"A long-range plan of Lenawee County's development is needed," Mr. Hill said, "and we work with County Planning Commissions which can prove necessity, and back it up with detailed studies of planned growth and traffic movement on main arteries which requires relief."

★

SUPERVISOR GEORGE Kunze of Madison Township, said he would propose to the Lenawee County Board of Supervisors the establishment of a planning commission.

Mr. Burchfield summed up the conference with State Highway officials by saying, "Maybe we haven't got too much action out of Lansing so far because we haven't hollered loud enough. But if the squeaky wheel gets grease, we're going to make a noise from now on."

VOICE of THE HERALD

$312,921 in Building Permits

When the topic of construction in Tecumsehland comes up, people tend to think of items like the giant Fisher Body layout or a new home that is going up down the block.

One-room additions, new porches and garages scattered here and there, don't seem too awesome, but wait just a minute. Total worth of such jobs can be mighty impressive.

The issuance of building permits at city hall began to jump late in July and has continued at a brisk pace ever since.

Fifty-eight projects — from a $15 fence to a $50,000 home — have gone into the works since mid-summer. Their total worth hits a staggering $312,921, which means about $150,000 more taxable valuation within the city limits.

City Manager Cal Zorn points out that since 1956, there has been nearly $500,000 annually added to tax rolls in new building or personal property. This total will probably jump steadily in years to come.

When a building permit is taken out, the contractor or property owner states the estimated value. This is not the figure which is used for tax purposes.

After work is completed, City Assessor Lynn Noble will make a complete examination of the property and set its market replacement value based with a formula used by the Cleminshaw Co., which did a complete re-appraisal of each piece of city property eight years ago. Assessed valuation is approximately 50% of this figure.

Within a few weeks, the plat for Tecumseh's newest subdivision, being planned by Marsh Coulter for an area immediately west of Occidental Hwy., will go before the City Planning Commission for final approval. This is going to mean about 50 more homes for the city.

It also has helped trigger — along with Fisher Body — an enlargement program for the Tecumseh Wastewater Treatment plant, which has just about reached designed capacity.

Another Vote

Harvey House Motel will soon be the newest silhouette on the horizon.

In the biting cold Monday morning, ground was broken for the 20-unit hostel by owners Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Carpenter.

Once more, a vote of confidence has been cast for the bright future of our community.

That 'Little Extra'

We hate to give free advertising to Adrian stores, but they're open 9 until 9 every night, because in case some local people hadn't noticed, Christmas is fast approaching.

Apparently, so far there are no plans for a Christmas promotion in town, or if so they're a well-kept secret.

The point of fact is that retail business has been so good in 1964, to get something special going takes extra effort and too many are content to let precious time slip by as they sigh, "Let someone else get things going".

It's our humble opinion that no matter how rosy receipts are, constant promotional activities are vital to retail business. Customers must always be reminded that they're welcome and that storemen are anxious to give them that "little extra".

Leaders Exchange Handicraft Ideas

Christmas crafts set the mood for one of the largest Girl Scout neighborhood meetings many could remember, when it was held Nov. 19 in the cabin. Leaders brought the crafts for an exchange of ideas.

The calendar holds exciting activities for the coming months.

The Cadette yule log hunt will be Dec. 2 from 5-7 p.m. at the cabin. Mrs. Jack Curtiss' troop will be the hostess.

Members decided that calendar money is to be turned in no later than Dec. 10 and that there will be a fine per calendar for money turned in at a later date.

★

CHRISTMAS CAROLS will be sung by the Brownies and Juniors from 6-7:30 p.m. Dec. 16. They will meet at the cabin. Each girl will bring a flashlight. Leaders are to bring cookies, chocolate milk, napkins and cups for their own troop.

They will be singing in open trucks, so leaders are asking that they come properly dressed.

There will be no December meeting. Another is scheduled for Jan. 21.

A skating party is being planned for Jan. 9, when the Clinton Girl Scouts will be invited. More details will be printed on this later.

★

AS SOON as new troops are given registration numbers they will phone Mrs. Bart Christman. They will be printed in a local directory for everyone to use.

Twenty leaders completed a successful four-day training session led by Mrs. Elvin Duvall, member of the board of directors and chairman of the Training Committee of the Lenawee Hills Girl Scout Council. The most memorable day was the last, when nine new leaders were invested as Girl Scouts.

Kids Get Unexpected Free Day

Approximately 500 youngsters at Patterson Elementary School enjoyed an extra-long weekend.

Classes were called off Monday after school officials discovered oil smoke damage there early that morning.

Blame for the accident has been placed on faulty ignition in the furnace. Wires were burned off and smoke literally blackened walls of the rooms and portions of the hallways.

Twelve custodians in the school system spent all day Monday cleaning up the mess. A representative from a Detroit furnace company repaired the ignition system.

—o—

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vollmar and family spent Thursday in Pontiac with her parents, Judge and Mrs. Goodloe H. Rogers. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Elton Kerr of Cincinnati, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Barrett of Bloomfield Village.

Sophomores Will Attend Career Day

Herbert A. Auer, managing editor of Michigan Medicine, will speak at 9 a.m., Dec. 15, to some 250 sophomore students of the Tecumseh High School.

The occasion is the general assembly of the career day to be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the guidance office of the school. Mr. Auer, in addition to his editing duties, is secretary of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers and the father of three college students.

Following the general assembly there will be two one-hour sessions at which time students will be alerted to the opportunities available to them in the professional fields.

Agriculture Scholarships Are Offered

Hayden Flour Mills, Inc., is joining with L. Teweles Seed Co. to offer scholarships to young men seeking a career in agriculture.

High school senior boys who are members of 4-H Clubs or FFA chapters are eligible. Scholarships worth $500 each will be offered by the seed company and its local dealers in six states, including Michigan, and a number of $150 scholarships will be announced later.

Full information will be made available to all 4-H leaders and FFA chapter advisors. Official entry blanks can be obtained at the Hayden Flour Mills office. Deadline for entry is March 15.

Cubs Hold Display

"Cub Scout Genius" was displayed Monday night when cubs of pack 4 of St. Elizabeth School and their fathers built such articles as cars, boats, robots, wagons, steam rollers, etc., of simple materials.

Albert W. Merz narrated "The Duck's Lament". Mrs. Merz led the group in singing.

Den 9 won the Cubby award for the best attendance. Den 8 conducted the opening and closing ceremonies.

Awards for Lion Badge were received by John Merz, Bob McKee, Frank Hawthorne, Mike Bates, Brian DesErmia, Scott Durkee, Bill Humphries, Bill Knapp and Jeff Mullins.

Under Lion Badge John Merz received a gold arrow. Ricky Disbrow was awarded a silver arrow under Wolf and assistant denner stripe and Jeff Adams, denner stripes.

Scott Durkee was awarded a gold arrow under Bear and Joe Burns a silver arrow under Wolf with his denner stripes. Jim Robideau earned an assistant denner award.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Up in Sanilac County, the brothers have formed a Romney for President group.

Apparently, they'd like to be first in what gradually will probably become a rather common thing.

It was interesting to learn just a few days ago that prior to the Republican convention, labor leaders were greatly concerned that the Michigan governor was going to be nominated to oppose LBJ last month.

They realize he would have been a vigorous candidate—with real class, of the variety that attracts people of all political faiths.

Apparently, the labor brass can keep right on being concerned because it's becoming more evident each day—witness the Sanilac action — that Mr. Romney will be a dynamic factor come 1968 in the race for the White House.

Anti-Romney people grudgingly admit that the fellow is well-versed in government, just as he was in industry. His ability to bring opposing schools of thought into agreement is a mite reminiscent of Ike running the Allied Forces during World War II, when he played major domo to the French and English commands as well as his own GIs — no small feat.

For now, I don't think I'll send my buck up to Sanilac, because it shouldn't be too long before Lenawee County will also have a Romney for President organization.

It may seem crazy to get moving on this project now, but as the man said, "Time flies." Enormous organizational details, nearly endless in scope, must be worked out between now and the next presidential vote. Some will take all of four years.

Darn those Detroit papers, printing such fat editions right off the bat following the blackout.

They keep a guy up half the night pouring over all the goodies in print and making certain not to miss a single one.

Probably one of the biggest changes made at The News was pulling Doc Greene out of sports and making him a back-page columnist.

One of the kookiest newspaper writers in the nation, Doc has always roamed all over the place in his musings, from gridiron to bar room, from pool tables to money rooms.

Confining him to a sports beat was impossible, so The News has made the only decision, let Doc do a general essay each day, even if the editors had to blanch with his first effort when Doc insulted the new, young publisher.

But that's Doc. And it helps point up the reason for his vast popularity.

Over at The Free Press, bet you didn't catch one of its alterations? Next time you look, note the name plate, done in rather flashy Old English lettering.

Looks real neat.

But then, so does the whole paper.

Concerts

The Music Department at THS has scheduled its Christmas programs.

The Chorus will carry the audience back in to the mid 1800's for an old-fashioned Christmas with "popcorn, candles and mistletoe" on Monday, Dec. 21.

The Cadet and Senior Bands' concert will be Wednesday, Dec. 23. Included in the musical selections are Toy Shop and Christmas Party, two novelty numbers. On the serious side is Allelula.

City, Raisin Hit Impasse on Sewer

A quick settlement of differences between Tecumseh Council and the Raisin Township Board faded Friday morning when Council rejected Raisin's proposal on governing the GM sewer.

Local objections were based on control of the sewer, which would have been in the hands of the township board if the city had agreed to the proposal.

Councilman Robert Bonner pointed out that one section of the township's proposal would give control to the township, whether the sewer was inside or out of the city limits.

Provisions in the proposal were over a 25-year period.

★

JAMES MITCHELL, Raisin Township supervisor, said Saturday he would contact his board members over the weekend. Some were out of the area, but he hoped to have a meeting by Monday afternoon.

Then, he added, John Riley, township attorney, would be told what course to take.

One course would be into court, to seek an injunction to halt construction work on the sewer.

★

"I CAN'T see that anything would be gained by another meeting with the city council," Mr. Mitchell said. "We have given all we can give, while the city has hardly budged."

The township at one time proposed that the sewer be owned by General Motors. This idea was abandoned, Mr. Mitchell said, when it was learned that GM did not want the responsibility.

"The only restriction we want is one to bar annexations," he continued.

"I've seen how it can operate by an example in Madison Township. A big subdivider came in and built a bunch of houses. He left town before the people in the houses found their wells and septic tanks wouldn't work. The people had to pay to build a treatment plant, and it was hard on them.

"I don't want to see this happen in Raisin Township."

He said the township would not object to other industries using the sewer line, if they built in the vicinity.

Veteran Councilman John Hamilton said the proposal was one sided and that township officials had changed their minds repeatedly regarding the GM sewer.

Officials sought attorney James Beardsley's advice. He said the proposal reluctantly satisfied him, and that the city was not giving anything away.

He suggested agreement to the proposal might maintain friendly relations with the Raisin Township Board.

Mr. Beardsley said the board inferred at last week's meeting that a court injunction would be utilized to halt construction of the sewer. He repeated a former opinion that the city was a near-certainty to win a favorable decision from an injunction.

Although Council did not object to all of the provisions in the proposal, some modifications — particularly in the realm of controlling the sewer — were suggested.

An attempt to arrange another meeting between Council and the board is being made.

Both groups have met jointly since last spring when they agreed to sponsor together a sewer for GM's Fisher Body Plant on Occidental Rd.

Since the original agreement, the township has made requests for changes, including GM ownership of the sewer. The corporation says it wants no part of ownership, but does want the eight-inch sewer to its plant operable by Feb. 1.

Cost of the sewer is approximately $112,000, which GM has agreed to pay for over a 25-year period.

ARTIST'S SKETCH OF RAISIN VALLEY SEMINARY

Early Raisin Township School Was Noted for Students, Goals

By CLARA WALDRON

Few areas of its size have had a more varied and colorful background than Raisin Township. Yet in many respects that is just what it is — background.

Most of the things that added character to its early history have vanished without a trace. For example, how many people now know of that excellent school, the Raisin Valley Seminary, that played so vital a role in the lives of so many people?

Established in 1850, its building stood in a grove of trees on the south side of Valley Rd., on the home site of Darius Comstock.

Its inspiration came from the spirit of that group of Quaker citizens known as the Adrian Quarterly Meeting of Friends.

It originated, as one of its historians has written, "because of the belief, that Friends have long held, that select schools are better adapted to guard children from temptation and consequent vice than our common public schools."

Its higher curriculum was that of a preparatory school and this was at a period when public education above the grade level was just being permitted in Michigan.

In fact, when Tecumseh built its first high school in 1856 it was not allowed to use tax funds to maintain it and had to charge tuition for several years.

★

ALTHOUGH THE Seminary was primarily a boarding school for Quakers, day pupils also attended and many students were of the "world's people," for parents appreciated the opportunities it offered.

In 1852, tuition was $3.50 for a term of four months and food was provided at cost, much being donated by parents. All students worked for a part of each day.

Later, board was $2 a week and many students were allowed to bring their own food and "board themselves" in their rooms. There were 30 pupils the first year and 75 seems to have been the peak in later years.

Naturally, with such low fees, the school had financial difficulties. It had started with the small sum of $1,125, raised among members of the Quarterly Meeting.

With this, a mortgage and much faith they purchased the 300-acre Comstock farm. Later all but 30 acres was sold at some profit.

They received help from eastern Quakers and from a visiting minister from England, who, on his return home, solicited more than $1,000 for the school.

★

IT WAS NOT until 1874, however, that the Seminary received an endowment fund. Then the will of Moses Sutton left $20,000, which with other gifts, enabled the Quakers to build the "Professors House," the brick home which is still standing.

Mr. Sutton also gave $2,000 for a telescope and observatory building, a gift that added much to the prestige of the school.

The telescope had a six-inch lens made by Alvin Clarke and Sons of Cambridge, Mass., and is believed to be still in use in a California observatory.

The teaching of astronomy with its attendant mathematics indicates the high level of scholarship.

★

GRADUATES WERE accepted without examination at the University of Michigan and other state colleges and among those who studied in this atmosphere of "plain living and high thinking" were:

► Frank Rodgers, the former state highway commissioner;

► Daniel Satterthwaite, professor at Canandagua College;

► Charles Croswell, son of Michigan's governor and editor of The Lenawee Record, later The Adrian Times.

Most of the students used the "plain speech" of their teachers and early ones even wore the plain dress.

But the local church discarded that method of dressing in 1879 and there were many modern inovations in the last years of the school.

Music was permitted at commencement about 1880 and after the turn of the century there was even a baseball team.

★

WHILE THE NAMES of the teachers mean little now, a few strike a familiar note, such as Chandler, Satterthwaite, Comfort and Harkness.

Most had college degrees and, in the close association of such a group, were a source of inspiration.

One individual not on the teaching staff made a lasting impression on many of the female students. Eliza Payne, the Negro cook for a long period, was friend, councelor and confidant of all and sundry.

Gatherings "up in 'Liza's room" were the favorite jam sessions of the period.

The last years of the Seminary were a losing struggle in competition with more "worldly" education, but it managed to survive until 1906, when it was closed and sold.

In 1921, the buildings were razed and now only the "Professor's House" remains — one building plus the high ideals left their descendants by its students.

Bank Branch Goes in GM Plant Area

United Savings Bank of Tecumseh has completed preliminary steps for locating a branch office at the intersection of Occidental and Sutton Rds., about three miles south of Tecumseh.

The bank has exercised its option — taken out last May 6 — and has purchased the northeast corner lot from Mrs. Barbara Carson.

Progress in the area, both industrial and residential, will largely determine the type of building to be erected.

Plans now are to erect either a bank-type trailer or a permanent building early next year.

★

LOGIC BEHIND the expansion program of the Tecumseh bank is obvious, as indicated in remarks by Pat Meadows, bank president.

"Our feeling is that this area will experience tremendous growth and development," he explains, citing a large residential district there now, and the proximity of the new branch to Birdsall, another sizeable section of homes.

The new office, which will be complete in banking services, also is near the Tecumseh Fisher Body Plant and Stauffer Chemical's Anderson Division, both multi-million dollar industrial plants now under construction with future, anticipated employment upwards of 3,000.

★

GRADING AND other preparatory work at the site for the office will start in the spring, when weather permits.

Application for the Tecumseh branch was made early in 1964 when industrial growth in the area first started.

The State Department of Banking has since given its approval, a prerequisite for all banks to establish branches.

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

Christmas has been commercialized.

Yes, but it doesn't have to be — not for you and your family.

If the great holiday has for you become a time of hurry, frustration and spending more than you can afford, perhaps you need to realign your thinking.

Perhaps you need to bring the real spirit of Christmas out from beneath the tinsel, the wrappings and the out-of-balance checkbook.

Do you observe traditions handed down in your family for generations? If you don't you are missing out on an opportunity of binding together your loved ones — past and present and those yet to come.

If you don't have any traditions you can be the one who can originate one or more customs your children and theirs will cherish.

The practice of family devotions during the Advent season, which incidentally, began this year on Nov. 29, will by Christmas time have helped you and your loved ones to understand the Holy Day's true meaning.

★

HOW ABOUT making a project of giving to others for whom a gift may mean a true blessing?

One of the most rewarding in which our family participated was during World War II.

As Christians we were concerned about the plight of innocent Japanese-Americans who had been herded from their West Coast homes into concentration camps in Utah.

We decided we could show a few of these children that not all Americans looked at them with hate and contempt. We wrote to one of the camps and asked for the names of children whose ages paralleled those of our own youngsters.

We became so enthusiastic that we talked to others about our project and by mailing time our whole Sunday School had participated. Gifts were wrapped as though they were going to personal friends and tags bore names of the givers.

We received letters from some of these children and an interesting correspondence developed between some of the youngsters.

★

IT IS INFINITELY more fun to participate in such a project than to write a check and mail it off to a charity — although that too is important.

Those persons whom you "remember" because of a personal relationship — do you choose a gift for them because they gave to you last year? And do you determine its value in accordance with what they gave to you?

Perhaps your friend "has everything" but can she make bread? Would a pan of your sweet rolls made in a slack time and stored in your freezer, not bring her as much happiness during Christmas Week as the vial of perfume you really couldn't afford and she didn't really need or want?

Have you thought of developing a continuity in your giving to youngsters? Among their presents under the Christmas tree our children always found at least a book for each.

They took their books with them when they left to make their own homes and now we are continuing the tradition with our grandchildren.

★

PERHAPS YOU are an older person who enjoys knitting. Wouldn't your grandchildren look forward each Christmas to a pair of Grandma's bright mittens — made warm with love knitted into every stitch?

Have you tried making your own cards — or ornaments — or decorations?

Do your children look forward to cutting out cookies and decorating gingerbread men as part of the fun of Christmas?

Do you make a trip to the city to see the lights and admire the beauty everywhere?

★

DO YOU TAKE them to hear the "Messiah" and encourage them to take part in the Christmas programs in church and school?

Have you considered cutting your own tree this year at one of the farms which offer such an opportunity? Decorating it with festoons of popcorn and cranberries can still be fun for youngsters.

Christmas is commercialized? This year why not determine to make it something sweet, exciting and lovely — and work at making it so.

HERALD PHOTO BY DELAPHENE SHELTON

TRADITIONAL — Popcorn graces this replica of a Christmas tree of the last century. Though old, the tradition is a good one, for the merry times had while mother pops the corn (no butter, please) and the children string the white kernels is a part of the Christmas season which should be kept foremost. Popcorn and bright cranberries make gala streamers, and are doubly valued when the tree is put outdoors after the holidays for the birds to use. Clothes lovingly fashioned for favorite dolls make treasured gifts with special value.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

Marsh Coulter says "you don't toot the horn very much, do you?" Then he grinned, "Why didn't you say 150 homes instead of 50?" Marsh referred to his subdivision, which was mentioned in an editorial last week regarding the growing construction boom in Tecumsehland.

We understand there's going to be a special award given at Tuesday night's Tecumseh football banquet, something about a trophy for the "Play of the Year." Wonder if Bootin's Fussy is mixed in this deal?

Comments on Monday editions from readers have been universally favorable.

As readers may note, The Herald is devoting more attention to the misdeeds of the County Board of Supervisors. Additional pages per week and new staff people make this possible. Keep watching, there'll be more.

Incidentally, we're a semi-weekly, not a bi-weekly (we blush) as we stated previously.

Among nice comments about our twice-a-week publication of The Herald was this one made by Mrs. Howard Haas of Britton who wishes we would go daily. She would like a lovelorn column.

Mrs. Helen Hamaker thinks her Tecumseh Motor Court Motel sign has been jinxed. For the second time in two years the sign has been damaged by motorists who crashed into it. The last incident happened the Nov. 21 weekend.

"You have been so nice about letting me hunt on your property," said Harvey Carpenter to Murray Day recently. "I want to return the favor. You are now welcome to hunt on mine". The Carpenters have purchased about 16 acres from the Days.

A new phrase has been coined by Hollis Farley, editor of the Clinton Local. He editorializes, "We have the Metropolitan Area, Greater Lenawee, Dynamic Washtenaw, Tecumsehland (this from The Herald) and others . . . so let's go them one better. Let's combine Clinton and Utopia, and come up with CLINTOPIA."

Between the great things we can't do and the little things we won't do, the danger is we shall do nothing.

An appreciation dinner will be held Wednesday, Dec. 2, at 6:15 p.m. in the social room of the First Methodist Church.

Honored guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Donald Porteous will be the choir members of the church, the choir director, Miles Cowdrey, and the organists, Mrs. James Hood and Mrs. Donald Bush.

The pastor and his wife are inviting all members of the choir to attend so that they may be shown appreciation for their faithfulness in giving of their talent.

Mr. and Mrs. David Younglove and daughter, Barbara, had as guests Thanksgiving Day, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Judkins of Britton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rutherford and sons of Manchester and Harvey Gatt. A decorated cake centered the table for the evening meal honoring Mrs. Rutherford, who was celebrating her birthday anniversary.

Laura Wright spent Wednesday evening as a house guest of her sister, Sara, in Taylor where she teaches in an elementary school.

A son, John Charles, was born Nov. 21 to Mr. and Mrs. John Sack in St. Joseph's Hospital, Phoenix, Ariz. Mrs. Sack is the former Kay Porter, who was employed in the office of Dr. Robert Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schooley spent the weekend in Cincinnati, O. and Kentucky.

Margaret Lowry spent Thanksgiving weekend with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lowry of Bloomfield Village.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Beaubien were Thanksgiving day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Pennington of Tipton. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Tulley of Waldron.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith of Britton left Saturday to spend four weeks in Cortez, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gunder and family were guests of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lehurry and children, of Jackson. Mrs. Minnie Gunder was also in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stephens, son and daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. John Stephens, with some friends of Toledo went again to Vanderbilt Thursday to hunt deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonal Bishop and family were served a goose dinner Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Smith and Mrs. Edythe Louden.

Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson recently attended a business convention in West Virginia. The Robinson boys stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Robert King.

Hay Riders Brave Cold For Outing

The Presbyterian and Methodist Youth Fellowships met at the Presbyterian Church Nov. 21 to embark on a hay ride. Two wagons were engaged and in spite of the 14-degree weather 39 determined (and maybe a little crazy) young persons and chaperons turned out all bundled up and eager to begin the festivities.

After a good 90 minutes exposure to the biting air, the party was hauled to the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Ousterhout where some lively games were played to revive circulations and hot dogs and cocoa were served.

After a short "Hootenany" everyone piled back into the wagons to be driven back to the church.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

THE SQUIRRELS ARE READY

There was an almost audible sigh of relief from beneath the trees. Finally the last walnut was stored away and the hard-working squirrels must have been overjoyed. Now a more leisurely and normal pattern for each day could resume — fall is nice, but it can certainly be a busy time for our long-tailed furry friends.

The fun of watching all the squirrely action begins when the first walnut drops. Soon the yard is full of the green husked nuts and the sight of so much good food laying around propels the squirrels into a regular frenzy.

Their instinct to gather and store becomes overwhelmingly strong and from dawn to dark we see them scurrying.

Grabbing a nut in their mouths, tearing across the yard and flying up a tree trunk, they streak along their own particular tree roads and are soon hidden from our sight by a mass of limbs and twigs.

We never know where the secret caches are, but with so many trees lining the creek, there are undoubtedly walnut packed holes in most of them.

★

NOT ALL OF the nuts are carried to tree hiding spots—some, quite a few in fact, are buried. This is fun watching too.

With lightning-fast front feet scratching, the squirrel scoops out a hole, then drops the nut in, pokes it down with his nose and carefully covers his prize. Using his front paws like hands, he pushes the dirt back into the little hole and when it is all filled up he pats it all down — it is almost impossible to see that any "excavation" work has been done, so particular is he about putting everything back as it was.

The squirrels forget all about playing, showing-off and even coming to the feeder during this frantic nut-gathering time. They are all business.

Well, this year's nut crop is now all taken care of — it has been painstakingly hoarded away against the long cold winter.

I am sure that after having worked so hard the squirrels must be relieved to have the annual nut gathering season finished.

★

BY THE WAY — the little red squirrels have a different way of handling the walnuts. Instead of hiding them like their big cousins do, they stick them around.

For a while several of our trees looked rather ridiculous—maple trees were growing walnuts. Wedged into the crotch of the smaller branches or simply laying on the branch itself was a walnut here and another there.

There were a dozen or so we could easily count from the window. Unfortunately the little reds' work was in vain. The pre-Thanksgiving winds were so strong that the nuts all blew down.

Both the fox squirrels and the little reds are preparing for cold weather in another way, too. They are all sporting new coats, thick and luxurious ones.

★

NOW THAT the big squirrels are patronizing the feeding stations we can marvel at how well outfitted they really are.

There is one squirrel in particular — although not too large — he is as broad as he is tall, his fur coat is not only long, but so soft looking. He has a tail which must be the envy of the neighborhood.

It is enormous and extremely bushy — a glorious thing and he flips it back and forth with elegant grace. Fat Boy is quite a character.

So it is that with December cracking the calendar, Old Man Winter may be brewing all sorts of miserable weather — you and I might not be prepared. But for almost anything which could be in the offing, the squirrels are ready.

Board of Education Enters New Home

By JUDY FIELDER

TECUMSEH — The Board of Education has moved its administrative offices from smaller headquarters to the old public library. The building was vacated in 1962 when the new Tecumseh Public Library was opened.

The former Carnegie Library, one block from downtown on W. Chicago Blvd. in a residential district, is centrally located between elementary and high schools.

A space shortage at the former board location prompted the move. The old library was owned by the school district. Renovation began last summer.

★

IN THE BUILDING are offices of Superintendent James McDowell, assistant superintendent Norval Bovee and three secretaries, Mrs. Margaretta Brisbin, Mrs. Russell Cooper and Mrs. Paul Vollmer.

A basement office will be used by an elementary coordinator, to be hired in the future. Also in the basement, desks are provided for eight teachers who have no home school base, such as elementary music and physical education teachers.

Both school officials and nearby residents are pleased by the move.

"We will be good neighbors," Mr. Bovee said. "Although the office is in a residential district, the school may use it. Local zoning regulations prevent a business or multiple dwelling locating in it and the structure was not particularly feasible for a single dwelling."

A NEIGHBORING resident commented: "I'm glad to see the building rejuvenated instead of being abandoned. I can't think of a better use for it."

The brick structure, built in 1904, is faced with pillars and large double doors. The reception room which is where the board meets — can accommodate a large number of persons.

"Cost of the renovation was about $7,000," Mr. Bovee said. "Outside contractors and materials involved $4,000 and our own maintenance staff used up $3,000."

"We're happy about the move," he added. "The insurance company has assessed the building at $50,000.

"The building's massive woodwork inside was dark, but we washed it with soap and water, then treated it with gloss cutter and it turned out to be a warm light shade, gumwood in appearance," he added.

★

IMPRESSIVE wood ceiling molding stands out. New acoustic tile has been installed throughout.

Three archways were replaced with partitions, making offices. In Mr. McDowell's and Mr. Bovee's offices, grass cloth makes a background for colorful pictures.

Texture paint covers imperfections elsewhere.

Wood furniture for the offices was made at Ionia State Prison by inmates taking part in rehabilitation programs. Metal file cabinets were purchased from Southern Michigan Prison, where they were made under the same system. The prisons sell goods to nonprofit institutions such as schools at an estimated 40 per cent savings.

Colorful paintings hang in the McDowell and Bovee offices.

Air conditioning in the building was maintained. Plans for restoration outside are in the offing. Some concrete has been replaced and driveway improvements made, but further parking facilities are a necessity.

"We like it here," said Mr. Bovee. "There's no problem of space."

Area Gets Center For Daily Care Of the Retarded

Three new day care centers for severely retarded children are scheduled to open during 1965 in Lenawee, Monroe and Washtenaw counties.

They will bring to 10 the number of such units opened by the Department of Mental Health during the last six months.

"The Department has entered into a contractual arrangement with Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic board to operate these Southeastern Michigan day care centers," said Robert A. Kimmich, M.D., director of the Mental Health Department.

The tri-county units will have a total capacity of 60 children and will be operated on a five-day, 30-hour week.

★

ALL COSTS, except transportation of children, will be supported through state funds administered by the Department of Mental Health, reported Dr. Kimmich.

A day care director will be named to work with the Guidance Clinic board and clinic director, Cora Shoecraft, to develop programs for each of the three centers and serve as tri-county administrator.

The staff of each center will include a supervisor and a training instructor for each six children.

Centers will be located in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area, at Adrian, and near Ida.

CHILDREN ELIGIBLE for the day care service are those who:

► Have rate of development below one-third that of normal children and have an intelligence quotient below 30.

► Are not eligible to participate in programs for the trainable mentally handicapped as defined in Act 221 (1962);

► Are ambulatory or capable of self-ambulation by mechanical means.

A child does not have to be on a waiting list for admission to a state institution in order to be eligible.

The state legislature during the 1964 session appropriated funds to establish 12 day care centers to meet the needs of the severely mentally retarded and the retarded with multiple handicaps.

"These day care programs have a dual purpose," said Dr. Vernon A. Stehman, assistant Department director in charge of services for mentally retarded, "to help the child reach his maximum of physical, emotional and social adjustment, and to help the parents maintain a more normal family situation."

LOCAL BUSINESS

News is the basic ingredient of a newspaper.

This is true of all newspapers. News is the commodity for which the public buys a newspaper.

News is the most important part of the largest daily newspaper; it is the most important part of the smallest weekly.

But news is not limited to reports on the front page. The most interesting and important news in the local newspaper is retail advertising.

More women read grocery advertisements than read society items if readership research can be accepted.

In a community newspaper, more men read Want Ads than read sports news. A man is more likely to read an automotive advertisement than an editorial dealing with national policies.

The intensive readership of local retail advertising is no reflection on the taste of the public. The news content of complete and well-presented local retail advertising touches directly upon the personal welfare of the reader.

For the news in retail advertising tells, or should tell, how money and time can be saved. It is news about products which will immediately enrich the life of the individual.

Story of Christmas Told in Art, Music at Museum

The story of Christmas will be told with original works of art in the Toledo Museum of Art's traditional Christmas program for area school children, beginning this week.

More than 10,000 youths are expected to take part in an imaginary pilgrimage through the Museum galleries to learn about the art and music inspired by the Christmas story.

The holiday program continues through Dec. 23.

Final station of each school child's tour of the art of the Christmas story will be in the Museum Cloister, decorated for the season and featuring the painting, "The Holy Family," by painter Giovanni Guardi. The children will sing early Christmas carols and songs from other lands while in the Cloister.

The program is scheduled at 9 a.m., 9:40 a.m. and 10:15 a.m. Tuesday through Friday and 1:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Yuletide Decorations Are Shown

Tickets for the "Yuletide Magic" demonstration sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club are available at Wright's Drug Store, Pickard Floral Shop, City Hall, Jean Colgroves and at the Watkins Shop.

Mrs. Harold Pickard will demonstrate Christmas arrangements for the holiday season at the Community Center Monday, Dec. 7, at 7:30 p.m.

Proceeds from the event will be used to purchase equipment for the Lenawee Institute.

Temperature Readings

These readings are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on the north side of the Tecumseh Wastewater Plant.

Key Club Artists Light Faces at Nursing Home

By MARJORIE COMFORT

Faces and hearts were lightened last Monday at the Herrick Nursing Home when a troupe of artists arrived.

Six members of the Artists Key Club, chalks and paper in hand, easels under arm, gathered at the home to sketch portraits of patients there.

The patients, many in wheelchairs, seemed fascinated by the artists at work, and the artists, in turn, found interesting faces to sketch, faces in which age has molded lines of character missing in younger visages.

All who wished had their portraits sketched, some by several artists, in charcoal, pastels and pencil. Most of the sketches now hang on the walls of the patients' rooms.

Members of the Key Club taking part were Mrs. Donald Cobb, club president, and Mrs. Joseph Galazzi, both of Tecumseh; Mrs. Harry Travis of Tipton, and Mrs. Francis A. Faulhaber, Mrs. Richard Goolian and Mrs. Gail Sanderson, all of Adrian.

The club has 27 members, and meets over Don's Beef Buffet. A mid-term membership drive is on, with openings in beginning, intermediate and advanced classes. The rate for the remainder of the year, through May, is $60, and covers cost of weekly lessons with Russell Steinke as instructor.

All mediums are covered, including oils, charcoal and pastels. Membership includes a key to the club rooms and an opportunity to work there.

PLEASED — Mrs. Alice Young, a patient at Herrick Nursing Home, seems pleased with a sketch made of her by Mrs. Francis A. Faulhaber, who holds the portrait. Meanwhile, Mrs. Joseph Galazzi (center) works on another sketch. Mrs. Young, whose spirit hasn't been dimmed by 96 years, has been a patient at the home since May, arriving from Adrian.

IMPROVISED — Mrs. Donald Cobb improvised an easel from two arm chairs as she made a sketch in the Herrick Nursing Home. She is president of the Artists Key Club, which visited the home as a club project.

Birthdays Marked

TIPTON — A delightful birthday party was held Nov. 17 in the gym for the second grade class of Mrs. Albert Tonneberger. This party was to celebrate the birthdays of Harry Bain, Chrisie Kreighbaun, Roxanna Cook, Beverly Hendricks and Cathy Downing. Each child was seven years old, except Harry who was eight.

The Happy Birthday song was sung to each birthday child and then each child sang back how old he was.

Mrs. Russell Downing, Mrs. Dean Cook and Mrs. Merle Hendricks then passed cupcakes, a soft drink and suckers.

Second graders saw three very interesting movies recently. One was on Switzerland, one on Indians and a third on Pilgrims. Mrs. Bailey's first grade class presented an exciting Indian dance, an Indian song and some information about the Indians which they had learned in one of their projects.

Miss Linda Kuney, a student at Adrian College, is the second grade student teacher.

Fraternity Initiate Goes Active

EAST LANSING — Bradley McCombs became an active member of Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity at Michigan State University in more ways than one.

Brad, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. McCombs, 207 S. Oneida St., was initiated into active membership in ZBT Oct. 21.

Later this fall, Brad volunteered for the job of fraternity steward, which entails ordering food and planning meals. The new duties certainly keep Brad active.

Brad is a sophomore at MSU and is majoring in zoology in a pre-dental program. He pledged Zeta Beta Tau last spring term with 10 other students. Brad's pledge class was then initiated this fall.

Though none of Brad's family belong to Zeta Beta Tau, Brad gained a "big brother" through his fraternity — Joel Serlin of Oak Park.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Youthful Mike McGuire, a new Toledo Blade staff member, whispered, "I'm going to sit out in the audience and watch the old master at work".

This was Tuesday's Tecumseh football banquet.

During the meal, Mike had been seated at the head table, next to main speaker Don Wolfe, assistant managing editor of The Blade.

Now Mike was going to get an audience-angle on his boss, regarded as one of the most entertaining speakers in these parts.

To the overflow crowd, Don was indeed "the old master".

It had been a lengthy evening even before he was introduced. Rightly so, the freshman, junior varsity and varsity gridders had been introduced and lauded by their proud coaches.

But sitting on hard chairs for nearly three hours was physically tiring to some of the moms and dads, not to mention the lads.

However, this all was forgotten as soon as Don went into his act. Laughter rolled from wall to wall and when he was done, the guest said this had been one of his finest groups.

Such a statement can mean a lot since Mr. Wolfe gives talks throughout northwestern Ohio and southeastern Michigan at the rate of about three or four a week.

Suffice it to say, Don Wolfe loves to visit with people.

He claims to have the best job on The Blade, columnist and speech-maker, more or less following the path blazed by Grove Patterson.

Don took his audience here on a tongue-in-cheek re-play of his sophomore football season at tiny Walbridge High School, where all 12 boys turned out for the team.

Someone had to be the substitute and Don made the grade. In the season's big road game, when Walbridge went two miles into another township, the crowd numbered 700, which awed the visitors, whose entire community included only 600 souls.

★

THE OTHER crew had a tiny quarterback who tossed beautiful passes all over the field and the touchdown parade began.

With the Walbridge defense crumbling, the coach said, "Wolfe, get in there and watch that quarterback".

"I did," Don drawled, "And you know, he was phenomenal."

By the half, Walbridge was behind, 40-0. Tears streamed down the coach's face as the tiny band huddled in the locker room. "You've got to get a hold of yourself," Don said he whispered in the mentor's ear, "Give us a pep talk."

"I figured I should get his mind off of whatever was bothering him and back onto the game," Don said as folks howled.

The coach shook Wolf and shouted, "Although we're behind 40-0, who is going to win this game?"

The burly substitute never faltered in his reply, "They are."

"Even then I had a talent for interpreting the sports scene," reported Don, who later was to serve as Blade sports editor.

At the annual Walbridge football banquet that year, the superintendent told the audience that the theme would be "Sportsmanship," adding, "These boys never hurt anyone."

It was at the banquet that Don got his letter. So excited, he rushed out of the building and sprinted the three blocks to his home. Bursting in, he shouted

SANITATION ENGINEER ALAI CHATS WITH NEW-HOME BUILDER RAY WEBB OF TIPTON

Sacking of Engineer May Backfire on Power Group

By TOM RIORDAN

Edith and Ray Webb are building a ranch-type home east of Tipton.

Being in a country location, it needed a well and a septic tank installed — the two jobs costing nearly $1,000.

With that sort of money involved, the Webbs have been mighty careful that the projects were letter perfect.

That's why on four different occasions, as work progressed, they invited Lenawee County Sanitation Engineer Farhang Alai to check things out.

★

MR. ALAI — known to associates as Frank — is presently under fire and may lose his position because of "personality conflicts."

But you'll have a tough time convincing folks like the Webbs that Mr. Alai isn't looking out for their good health and the welfare of area folks.

Thanks to Mr. Alai, as Lenawee's first sanitation engineer, householders like the Webbs have learned about the advantages of "pitless adaptor" wells.

PLEASE SEE EDITORIAL 2nd SECTION, PAGE 8

They are becoming more popular with drillers and home owners and are priced comparably to the pit variety.

With a pitless adaptor well, the electric pump is sealed into the casing. Should trouble brew, the well can be uncapped and the pump easily withdrawn.

But more important, this installation is a self-sealed water system which helps cut down the possibility of contamination.

★

SEVERAL POWERFUL supervisors have tried to have Mr. Alai dumped from his job because of alleged "personality conflicts," which apparently are "beefs" from disgruntled property owners who were found in violation of the County Health Code.

Until Mr. Alai joined the Health Department, there has been little opportunity to enforce the Sanitary Code introduced in 1961 because of a manpower shortage.

For instance, only a portion of the 400 county eating establishments had been inspected. Under Mr. Alai's direction, each was checked.

"It takes about five years to set up a program (of sanitary control in restaurants) and bring each one up to standards," he explained.

"Some owners have received notices (to correct code violations) and most are cooperating quite well. None have been closed up."

★

The county's nearly 25 trailer parks are now all licensed by the state, but the county has the job of checking the sites for any sanitation violations.

Nursing homes had never been checked before. When they were, a "lot of problems were found." Most have been solved now, reports Mr. Alai.

★

PLANS FOR NEW schools and restaurants are now being checked for confirmation with the Sanitary Code, thus avoiding mistakes in the buildings, which could endanger health and later require changing at great expense.

A qualified man in public health must have a varried background — knowledge, of medicine, civil and mechanical engineering, an ability to work with people.

That's a combination which takes years of study and field experience to develop.

Mr. Alai's background includes a degree in public health from the Institute of Terhan in his native Iran and a master's degree from the University of Michigan.

★

HIS EXPERIENCE contains about 18 months in New Zealand public health work and a stint as a sanitation consultant with an engineering firm in Jackson.

Married to a classmate at Michigan and the father of two daughters, Mr. Alai likes his post in Lenawee County and hopes to continue here.

He'll only get his wish if a Thursday night session of supervisors produces a change in an earlier decision that Mr. Alai was to be sacked.

Comments from citizens around the county indicate that this is exactly what may happen.

Rexall Drugs Will Double Floor Space

Lamb's Rexall is being doubled in size.

Owner Carl Lamb has purchased the old Candy Kitchen building, next door to his present location, from Pete Malonikos of Ann Arbor.

It will be completely renovated and archways cut through the wall at two places to link the two sections.

This will jump the store's space from 1,100 square feet to 2,300 and signal a new merchandising approach.

Mr. Lamb said that a greatly enlarged prescription section will be built in the new portion, near the front, along with a new cosmetics department.

★

A DISPLAY case, 40 feet long, will feature all types of greeting cards, while the magazine and pocket book section are to be doubled in size, both in the present store location.

A remodeled rear entrance will welcome customers from the off-street parking behind the building. Two entrances will be included up front.

Wayne Dunbar of Britton, representing the Revco of Deerfield, is in charge of fixture planning and layout.

★

A PHARMACIST for 15 years, following his graduation from Ferris State College, Mr. Lamb spent five years at Hodges Drug and one year running the Saline Corner Drug Store prior to buying the Rexall store from John Cameron in November of 1961.

Since becoming the Rexall owner, Mr. Lamb has been assisted by his wife, Mary, who is the cosmetics buyer.

Refurbishing work began this week and is scheduled for completion by January.

'Music Man' Tryouts Are Dec. 11, 12

Do you sing, dance, like to ham it up?

Well, the time has come for folks with such talents to step forward and go into their specialties.

Tryouts for "The Music Man" will be Friday, Dec. 11 and Saturday, Dec. 12.

It's the annual Tecumseh Players' musical with William McAnallan of Jackson as director. The Dec. 11 session starts at 7:30 p.m. and the next day's at 2 p.m.

The cast numbers about 50 people, children and adults. It will be announced Dec. 13, states Mrs. Dale Bowen, who is in charge of publicity.

Seven performances of the Meredith Willson smash will be given in mid-February.

Thug Operates on Physicians

This guy comes right out of "Ben Casey."

An ex-convict was arrested Monday at Bixby Hospital and readily admitted a larceny charge filed here for pilfering wallets belonging to three Tecumseh physicians.

Horace Edward Ruffin, 33, a salesman from Detroit, told Tecumseh officers that he took more than $100 — all in large bills — while the three doctors were in surgery at Herrick Memorial Hospital on Nov. 23.

★

DRS. MERLYN Blanden, Carlton Cook and Al Phelan first thought the theft was a prank and did not have Orrie Gilbert report it to the police until Nov. 24.

Ruffin, neatly dressed and carrying a brief case, walked into the local hospital, took the elevator to the second floor where he found the doctors' locker room.

He went through the wallets, taking $95 from Dr. Blanden, $10 from Dr. Cook and $20 from Dr. Phelan.

★

RUFFIN waived examination before Justice Ernest Oliver here Tuesday and was placed under $7,500 bond, which he failed to post. He's being held in the county jail.

The prisoner has a record dating back to 1952, and has been in and out of trouble since. In September, he was released from Jackson State Prison after serving 18 months of a two-to-four year sentence on a previous larceny charge.

Rotary Party Offers Ladies

Surprise entertainment has been planned by President Bob Karle for the Rotary Club Ladies' Night, Tuesday, Dec. 8.

A buffet supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. at the Tecumseh Country Club with 50 couples expected to attend.

Corsages, favors and door prizes will add to the festivity.

Meetings of the Rotary Club in the months of January and February, while the Country Club is closed, will be held in the parish house at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Goes to Hospital

Leroy Montgomery of Blissfield is a surgical patient at Bixby Hospital.

Threats Fail, Sewer Work Continuing

Construction work on a new sewer to Tecumseh's Fisher Body Plant is continuing, although the threat of a court injunction from the Raisin Township Board remains.

Last week, the board inferred an injunction would be taken out to halt construction unless Tecumseh City Council approved a proposal submitted to the city.

Council rejected the proposal, and ordered work on the $65,000 eight-inch pressure line sewer to continue.

Selders Excavating has installed the sewer almost one mile south of the city along N. Raisin Center Hwy., and should be at Ives Rd. by the end of the week.

Work has begun on the installation of casing under the DT&I railroad tracks at the intersection of Ives and Green Hwy.

If an injunction is filed against Tecumseh, city officials feel confident that a favorable decision will result. The township board signed an original agreement with Tecumseh to provide the GM plant sewer facilities.

A fear of annexation of township property by the city is believed to have caused the Raisin board to object to the sewer, unless GM owns it or Raisin Township has complete control over its use.

According to the state's new constitution, the township must approve construction of this type.

Bike Licenses Placed on Sale

New 1965 bicycle licenses are on sale at the Tecumseh Police Department.

Owners of two-wheelers must have their bikes checked and registered at the station by March 1, 1965.

Police Chief Murell Clark says the department will run a thorough check of bicycles in town during March, and will impound those not registered and not licensed.

Fee for the license is 50c.

He's Coming

This weekend kicks off the Christmas shopping season for downtown merchants who have completed plans for welcoming Santa Claus, seasonal music for on street shoppers and new store hours.

Santa Claus will be brought into town at 4 p.m. Saturday with the Tecumseh Fire Department hearalding his arrival.

He'll be greeted at the "four corners" by the Tecumseh High School Band and, in all probability, by hundreds of eager youngsters.

Paul's Trailer Sales again is providing a trailer for Santa's headquarters. Hours for which youngsters may visit Santa will be posted on the trailer.

At a meeting Monday morning, merchants approved new store hours for the shoppers. This weekend, Friday and Saturday, downtown stores will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Effective Dec. 11, the stores will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m through Dec. 23. All businesses will close about 5:30, the day before Christmas.

The city has about completed erecting decorations for the downtown, giving the area a festive appearance for the holidays.

Polio Clinic Is Sunday from 11 to 3

Tecumsehland residents will be served their second "polio sugar cube" Sunday. The clinic, sponsored by physicians and pharmacists of Lenawee County will be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Community Center, the Tecumseh Acres School, the Clinton High School and the Britton-Macon High School.

The make up clinic for those persons unable to take part Sunday will be Sunday, Dec. 6.

Those attending are asked to take with them the small medical identification card issued at the first clinic Oct. 4.

Mrs. Cobb Is Selected

Dr. Wallace May of Adrian Township was selected as 1965 Republican chairman for Lenawee County Monday evening.

The 30-member executive committee made the selection.

Other officers:

Vice-chairman — Mrs. Donald Cobb of Tecumseh

Secretary — Harvey Koselka of Adrian

Treasurer — Duane DeLoach of Blissfield

In early January, the officers and executive group will again meet to name a full county committee of 102 persons, two from each voting precinct.

Annual county convention will also be held in January, preceding the state gathering in February.

Connie Harrison, Douglas Michling Marry

MRS. DOUGLAS MICHLING

Connie Sue Harrison and Douglas L. Michling were united in marriage Saturday evening in a double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Blair Bashore performed the ceremony before the altar decorated with white gladioli and chrysanthemum blossoms and red carnations.

Traditional seven branch candelabra were fronted with the same blooms and the pews were marked with white satin bows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Harrison, 1140 Sunset Dr., and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph O. Roberts of Kaiser Rd.

Dennis Harrison, the bride's brother and Phil Smith seated the guests as Mrs. Veregene Smith played a prelude of nuptial music. She also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Jr.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father. She was dressed in a modified sheath gown of white peau de soie and Chantilly lace.

The bodice featured a scalloped neckline trimmed with sequins and pearls and long sleeves ending in points over the hands.

The sheath skirt had a bow at the back waist with a peacock train of lace.

She carried a crescent shaped bouquet arrangement of white roses and red carnations centered with a white orchid.

Carolyn Loar was maid of honor in a street length gown of red velvet carrying a white heart shaped fur muff topped with a cluster of red miniature carnations and holly tied with velvet ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Kathy Inda and Christine Bates both attired as the maid of honor.

Little Debbie Harrison, sister of the bride, was the flower girl in a white satin floor length frock.

She was escorted to the altar by the ring bearer, Ricky Hooten of Adrian.

Ray Goodwin served as best man for his cousin.

Red and white flowers carried out the wedding colors at the reception for 260 held at the VFW Hall following the ceremony.

Following a wedding trip the couple will make their home at 301 E. Logan St.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Tecumseh High School and is employed at Meyers Aircraft Corp.

Her husband is a 1963 graduate of Clinton High School and is employed at Ford Motor Company, Rawsonville.

A rehearsal dinner was served Friday evening at Don's Beef Buffet.

TEEN TALK

By DEBBIE EARLING

Try-outs for girls JV and Varsity basketball squads are being held. Both teams are scheduled to compete with other schools as soon as they are organized. For the last five weeks GAA has been involved in volleyball activities.

The annual Spanish Club Banquet was held Nov. 18 in the High School cafeteria. Attendance numbered almost 100. Various Mexican foods were served including enchillados, tacos, tamales, and pastry. The atmosphere was enlivened by the presence of the third year Spanish girls dressed in colorful Mexican apparel. After dinner the preparation of the various Mexican dishes was explained by Mrs. Federico Vera Cruz. The next meeting will be an annual Spanish-style Christmas party.

Madrigal and the Girls' Ensemble, two selected vocal groups from the THS Chorus will present a short program for the Senior Citizens Thursday, Dec. 10, at 2:00 p.m. in the Community Building. Tuesday, Dec. 15, at 7:30 p.m. the two groups will perform for the residents of Herrick Nursing Home. The Chorus Christmas concert will be Dec. 21 in the High School gym at 8 p.m.

Nov. 17 an opportunity was made available to all girls interested in nursing who had maintained at least a 3. or B academic average. This plan, offered by the Army, is called the WREN Plan. Under it a girl may attend the nursing school of her choice for 2 years. Then her third year of training may be obtained at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, D. C.

During the first three years the girl receives $99.37 a month with all expenses paid. Then after becoming a Registered Nurse and receiving the rank of second lieutenant, she is required to serve 2 years of active duty with the Army.

Jaycees Need Disabled Toys

Do you have a little red wagon, a three-wheeled tricycle or a mama doll your family has outgrown?

This is the question being asked by Fred Judson and other members of the Tecumseh Jaycees.

Members are repairing items to give as Christmas gifts to needy youngsters. The young men always need more. Citizens may leave articles at the rear of fire barn.

This year they are doing the repairing themselves and would appreciate early contributions so that all may be in readiness for Santa's big ride Christmas eve.

Highways Were Once Just Trails

Mildred Netcher of Onsted was the guest speaker Monday evening at the Business and Professional Women's Club meeting at the Tecumseh Grange.

"Indians of Michigan" was the theme of her talk. She said the present main highways follow the route of Indian trails that led to water.

She spoke about the scholarship for American Indians that is sponsored by the Lenawee Federation of Women's Clubs and presented an exhibit of jewelry, pottery and scarves.

She distributed literature about the Indians and one pamphlet which gave the Indian version of the 23rd Psalm.

A contribution of $10 was made to the Lenawee Youth Center and members decided to sponsor the Girl Scout Cadets troop this year.

They also voted to send a girl to American Legion Wolverine Girl's State and to give $5 to help with the Interlochen scholarships.

The club is sponsoring the "Yuletide Magic" demonstration at the Community Center, Monday, Dec. 7. Proceeds will be used for a donation of equipment for the Lenawee Institute.

Mrs. William Wright reminded members that Dec. 6 is "sugar cube" Sunday.

the news to his parents. "Then I handed it to them — and they read it to me. To whom it may concern, Don't ever let this boy get mixed up in football again."

This brought down the house.

WHILE MR. WOLFE'S talk touched the lighter side, there were serious moments as Coaches Tom Fagan and Fig Newton complimented their charges, who won the Huron League title, knocked off Adrian and posted an 8 and 1 record.

Don Baird was voted by his teammates as the most valuable back of the season. Last year, as a junior he had been selected the most valuable lineman.

The 1964 Lineman of the Year was tackle Larry Merz, who is heading for Adrian College next fall.

Tri-captains announced for next season are Ron Blot, Ron Forsythe and Mark Blatchford.

In a final bit of whimsy, defensive tackle Tom Elliott was given the first annual Bootin' Pussy trophy for the Boy of the Year — his lone turn as an offensive quarterback in an unsuccessful extra-point attempt following the last touchdown against Adrian.

Let's face it... Christmas gift giving can be expensive. But it doesn't have to be.

Not when you can give beautiful Caravelle® watches for as little as $10.95. The Caravelle line of Ladies' and Men's watches will completely change your ideas about watches. Because here, for $10.95, is a watch that doesn't grind itself to pieces, it's a finely machined, precision, jeweled-lever watch that keeps accurate time. Time after time.

You get a lot more than just another pretty face. In fact the most expensive Caravelle only costs $29.95. And it's a 17-jewel, self-winding, waterproof,* calendar watch.

So make this Christmas a Caravelle Christmas. With all the money you'll save you'll be able to treat yourself to one too.

Gloria Dei Bells To Be Dedicated

The new bells of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church will chime for 60 seconds during dedication ceremonies held at the 10:30 a.m. worship service Sunday.

The electronic bells, were purchased by the Layton Memorial Fund in memory of Joseph Layton, whose death occurred in April.

The pastor, Dr. Laszlo Gero, said, "Every time our bells call us to worship God, we give thanks to Him for giving us Christian stewards. We ask His continual blessing and care for those who are still waiting His coming. May God bless Mrs. Layton, her daughter, Marilou, and relatives."

The adult choir will sing under the direction of Mrs. Junior G. French.

After the service a brief congregational meeting will be held to discuss the 1965 budget and elect three councilmen.

The addition of a building for educational purposes was started last week and it is hoped that it will be completed before 1965.

Colonial Touch Is Given Rear Entrance At Our Drug Store

A bit of the past was used in constructing a new rear entrance for Hodges Drug Store . . . and we think it is quite attractive. Inside this door is Tecumseh's biggest and most complete drug store. We might also add, that it is the newest, too! Hodges has remodeled, departmentalized and redecorated for its thousands of patrons. UNIQUE DISPLAY — Mrs. Arch Wray displays her wares at the bazaar sponsored by the Daughters of St. Peter's Church last weekend. Mrs. Wray made nine of the little apes and used an unwanted wild plum tree from her lawn to display them for sale. Mrs. Anna Haughn (left) Mrs. Glen Driscoll and Mrs. Lynn Hubbard are others of the Daughters who worked on the event which netted $150. Mrs. Harold Sisson was the general chairman.

Snowballs Are Cause of Crash

Two youngsters tossing snowballs indirectly caused one of four accidents investigated by Tecumseh police during the past week.

Last Wednesday, two 13-year-old boys let fly with a snowball at a car driven by Erno Ivan, 34, Ann Arbor, on N. Union St. Ivan stopped but Marie Elaine Kohler, 17, of 302 Iroquois St., did not.

The Ivan car sustained rear end damages, and the Kohler automobile, front end damages. Miss Kohler was cited for violation of the basic speed law.

Also Wednesday of last week, Lothair Q. Hardesty, 39, of 1006 River Acres Dr., was charged with improper backing after hitting a car, parked by Michael D. Rice, 19, of 610 W. Pottawatamie St.

Charges of failing to yield the right of way and failure to report an accident were filed against Charles E. Hull, 84, Blissfield, after a collision at Ottawa St. and E. Chicago Blvd. with Ernest Neumeister, 61, Dayton, O.

Mr. Hull apparently became excited and drove after the accident.

Two passengers in the Neumeister vehicle, Mrs. F. N. Neumeister, 59, Dayton, O., and Mrs. John Wittich, 63, Cleveland, were injured slightly.

A hit-skip accident Monday was solved when Adrian police followed up a Tecumseh request to be on the lookout for a particular car with three occupants.

Robert C. Lycans, 32, Adrian, was charged with leaving the scene. He sideswiped a car belonging to Eva Maxine Penney, 40, of 110 Muscody St., while she was in the laundromat on S. Ottawa St.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

The spirit of Christmas came early to The Tecumseh Herald this year. In the hurry scurry of getting two papers in print, personnel in the office were gladdened by the thoughtfulness.

A lovely second grade teacher stopped in to pay for her serviceman son's subscription and insisted that we accept a full $5, though Tom and Jim have been giving men and women in the armed forces the home town paper for only $1 per year. This, of course, doesn't pay the postage in many instances.

It's the unexpected gift of thoughtfulness that has so much meaning in today's busy world.

The teacher, whose son is now Lt. J. G., remarked as she left, "It is only right. For two years he has had the paper for $1. Now we want to pay full price. We receive so much more than we give to The Herald."

√

"We have so much to be thankful for this year," said Mrs. Henry Howard as she called to tell of a family gathering of 38 held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Sr., Thanksgiving Day.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Moore, nee Sandra Howard, and five-month-old son, Douglas, of Rochester, N.Y., who were houseguests of her parents over the weekend.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gallant and family and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gallant and family of Adrian, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Baldwin and family of Williamston, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Graham and son and Mrs. David Merillat and family of Tipton, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Jr. and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rebottaro and son and the Henry Howards and son, Hank, of Tecumseh. Mr. and Mrs. Rupel Cornelius of Adrian were afternoon callers.

Others besides Mrs. Howard have remarked of this Thanksgiving Day, "It was the nicest we have ever had."

On Sunday the Howards joined the Moores in Sparta where they were visiting his parents and little Douglas was baptised at the Methodist Church.

Others attending the ceremony were Mrs. Gallant, Sr. and Kay Swaney. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Moore served dinner for the family.

√

Mr. and Mrs. William Schooley were told of the birth of their 21st grandchild Wednesday. Little Christine Schooley was born about 8:30 a.m. to Mr. and Mrs. Dan Schooley in the Herber Hospital in Fremont. The Schooleys live outside of the city.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Golat were Thanksgiving Day guests of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Woller of Adrian. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morgan were also guests in the Woller home.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Kerby and daughter, Marla, expect to spend Christmas with his sister's family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dawson and children, in Yuba City, Calif. New Year's Day they will fly to the Rose Bowl parade and game.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hawkins and Nancy, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Stotler and son, Mr. and Mrs. George Hawkins and family and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Crittenden attended the Harden family reunion Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Whichello in Belleville.

Chris Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kelley, was home from Bronson Methodist School of Nursing over the weekend.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Lonal Bishop and family entertained a family gathering Sunday. Her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gregg, and Mrs. Helen Lang of Ann Arbor were guests.

Miller, Mrs. Gertrude Miller and Judy Noble of Pittsburgh, Pa., Charles Mullen of Defiance, O., Mr. and Mrs. William Aebersold and family of Pontiac, Mary Gregg and Gerald Aebersold of Ann Arbor.

TECH-TRADE NIGHT PLANNED — Mrs. Barbara Speerstra, Tecumseh High School counselor, discusses the technical-trade school night planned for 7 p.m. Monday in the school. With her are (left to right) Mary Lickfelt of Tecumseh, Ronald Bolz of Tipton and Glen Bow of Tecumseh. The "clinic" will be sponsored by the Lenawee County Guidance Association and will be open to county high school juniors and seniors and their parents. Representatives of 26 schools and the Armed Forces will discuss opportunities offered in their fields and by their schools. Sessions are scheduled for 7 p.m., 7:45 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Mrs Speerstra suggests persons arrive by 6:45 p.m. since no one will be allowed to enter a room after the session has begun.

Please Don't Break Your Auntie's Heart

By DELAPHENE SKELTON

Aunt Suzy received a vial of perfume from a favorite niece last Christmas.

She was pleased at the sentiment but she would have been happier if the bottle hadn't been smashed and the scent dispersed.

The niece hadn't realized that her poorly-wrapped gift might end up in a truck under 20 pouches of heavy mail.

★

TO AVOID such a "catastrophe" Tecumseland postmasters, like those throughout the nation, are advising Christmas mailers to:

► Choose a strong corrugated box for mailing — —one large enough to permit plenty of packing around the gifts.

► Address the box before wrapping and tie securely or use tape for sealing.

► Wrap the box in heavy paper and tie or seal securely.

► Address carefully using the ZIP Code if available. Place return address in upper left hand corner. Address only on one side. Avoid seals which might cover the address.

► Insure package.

► If possible, get all out-of-town parcels in the mail by Saturday, Dec 5. They may be marked, "Don't Open Until Christmas."

★

AVAILABLE AT the post office are labels for "local" and "out-of-town" mail. Christmas letters and greetings will move more efficiently if mailers will sort their own into the two categories and enclose them with the bands.

Rural carriers, particularly, will appreciate such a service. They appreciate, too, when the patron buys his stamps in advance and has them on the greetings before they are put into the rural mailbox.

Tecumseh Postmaster Jack Metcalf announced this week that there will be delivery of parcel post daily during the holiday season. Usually there is no package delivery Tuesdays.

Dec. 12 and Dec. 19 the Tecumseh office will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. for receipt of mail.

★

MRS. ROVER SWARTS, Tipton postmaster, said her office will be open Saturday afternoons Dec. 5, 12 and 19. She said there will be a dispatch of mail at 11:50 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 13 and 20.

The Clinton Post Office will have extended hours during the holidays, Postmaster Robert Mohr said.

The office will be open until 5 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 12 and Dec. 19, he said.

DAR Chapter Meets Dec. 11

"The Influence of Christmas" will be the theme of the program presented by Mrs. Hoyt Whelan at the meeting of the Abi-Evans Chapter DAR Dec. 11.

Mrs. Neil Pearson will be the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Edwin T. Armstrong and Mrs. Roy Whiting.

Ladies' Activities

The Ladies Activities Group of the Tecumseh Country Club will hold its annual Christmas luncheon and bridge party at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 16 in the Club House. There will be an exchange of $1 gifts.

Reservations must be made by Monday, Dec. 14.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Plans for Tecumseh's first senior citizens Christmas Party are near completion, and offer a special fun-having time for all area senior people who attend this get-together at the Community Center from 2 to 4 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 10.

One of the special attractions planned for this party will be a short program presented by two selected groups of the Tecumseh High School Chorus, under the direction of Frances Moran, chorus director for Tecumseh public schools. The girls' ensemble of the high school will sing a selection of favorite Christmas carols.

A special invitation has been sent to Santa Claus, who, we hope, will be able to stop in to visit with the many helpers he has acquired from this senior group.

As usual, refreshments will be served at this free party. Any persons in need of transportation, may call City Hall, 423-2107, and leave their name, address, and phone number, and we will see that they are given a ride to and from the party.

FUTURE RECREATION PROGRAMS

Not forgotten, and still being planned to start after the first of the new year are the following recreation programs: Adult recreation classes (basketball, volleyball, etc.); bridge lessons for beginners; tap and ballet dance lessons; art classes and golf instruction.

More information about starting dates, fees, and times will be printed in two weeks.

Indians Seeking Revenge in Dundee Cage Opener

By JIM LINCOLN

How good will Tecumseh be this basketball season? This question will be partially answered Saturday night when the Indians tangle with Dundee on the Vikings' floor.

Coach Vic Lawson will have a touch starting five — one that should improve through the season — and stand an excellent chance of revenging a couple of Dundee defeats from last year.

Saturday night's game probably will not parallel the two Tecumseh-Dundee thrillers of the 1963-64 season. The Vikings copped both by two points, one in overtime.

Lettermen will start at all five positions, despite the loss of two starters from the Lawson team which gave River Rouge a battle in the state quarter-finals at Ann Arbor.

★

BIG 6'4" GREGG ALLEN will start at center and alternate on offense at the high post with Terry Alcock, 6'3" junior. Relief for the big boys will come from Don Hughes, 6'6", and Steve Derby, 6'1".

Joining Allen and Alcock on the starting five will be Jim Lawson, Dave Tilton and Jeff Osburn. All three were starters at different stages last year.

If Lawson can pick up his pace from the Rouge game, he should be one of the outstanding players in southeastern Michigan. Coupled with Tilton and Osburn, the Indians will have fine speed.

★

THE 5'8" TILTON is probably the quickest Tecumseh starter. Osburn, 5'10", was probably one of the most underrated players from the '63-64 team and should be even better this season.

The Vikings are expected to give the Indians a tussle in the opener, but graduation riddled their fine team, which won the Huron League title last year.

The Vikings are expected to match Tecumseh's big men, but boast some fine shooters which could make Saturday's game close.

The Jayvee game starts at 6:30 with the varsity tilt slated for about 8 p.m.

Ginger Frazier Asked to Sing with Jackson Choral Society

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hall of Britton are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Lou, to Robert O. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill of rural Deerfield. Mr. Hill is presently employed with Muellers, Inc., of Britton. The wedding will be an event of Saturday, Dec. 19, in the Ridgeway Nazarene Church with the Rev. Wade Roberts officiating. The young couple became engaged in July, 1963.

BRITTON — Ginger Frazier, a senior at Britton, will be the first high school student ever to perform with the Jackson Choral Society as she takes part in their Christmas presentation. It will be Dec. 6 at 7:30 in the Congregational Church of Jackson.

The Jackson Choral Society is directed by MacWilliam Disbrow, head of the Music Department at Jackson Junior College.

All other members of the group have trained voices and come from such professions as ministry, engineering, teaching and homemaking.

Mrs. Donald Bush, who is the organ accompanist for this group, teaches music at Britton. She took Ginger to audition for the choir because of Ginger's "exceptional sight reading ability and pleasing voice."

The Jackson Choral Society will sing Bach's Christmas Oratorio. Millard Cates, Professor of Voice at the University of Michigan, will be the soloist and sing the part of the narrator.

The program tells of the birth of Christ, the visit of the shepherds, how He was named Jesus, and the visit of the Three Wisemen.

The Oratorio, divided into six parts, used to be performed at worship services in the church during the days of Bach. The services took place on Dec. 25, 26, 27, New Year's Day, the Sunday following New Year's, and Jan. 6, the Epiphany.

Interspersed in this Oratorio are many German Chorales harmonized by Bach.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Bush or Ginger or at the door. Prices are $1 adults and 50c students.

Eleven Years Produced 'Fab' Record

BRITTON — The basketball Tories hope to build on their league record of 42 consecutive victories against River Raisin foes this year.

The Tories open their league action Friday at Ida after dropping a non-league opener to Madison, 47-44 last week.

In the last three years the "Tall Tories" have compiled an amazing 66-2 over-all record, with a perfect 23-0 season in 1962-63.

In the 1961-'62 season the team enjoyed a 20-1 record and in 1963-'64 a sparkling 23-1.

Last year's graduation saw five regulars on the team receive their diplomas with only one experienced player coming back.

Generating of Ozone Dangerous

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, commissioner of the Michigan Department of Health, this week warned against the continuing use of ozone generating equipment.

He pointed out that such equipment is being offered for sale to nursing homes, hospitals, schools, restaurants, service garages and residences. It is recommended by salesmen for "controlling odor, inhibiting the growth of bacteria and fungi, controlling carbon monoxide and freshening the air".

Dr. Heustis pointed out use of such equipment is dangerous when persons are exposed to it over a period of time and that no unnecessary or avoidable exposure of humans to any concentration, however small, is desirable.

"The benefits presumed to be derived from the use of ozone for control of odors or bacteria in air are not commensurate with the potential for undesirable health effects," he added.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dunny and daughter, Dian, and Lora Hastead spent Thursday evening with the Robisons and Stolls.

CHEVROLET

Impala Sport Coupe

'65 Chevrolet This one's the year's handsomest surprise. It's longer, wider, lower. Swankier, more spacious, smoother riding, too. Everything about it smacks of expensiveness except one thing—its Chevrolet price.

Malibu Sport Coupe

'65 Chevelle A brand-new idea last year, it's even newer now. Fresh styling. V8's available with up to 350 hp. A softer ride. But it's still an easy-to-handle size. After all, that's one of the things that make a Chevelle a Chevelle

Nova Sport Coupe

'65 Chevy II Looks less than ever like a thrifty car but keeps on saving like one. Clean new styling, fresh new interiors, V8's available with up to 300 hp! Here's the liveliest, handsomest thing that's ever happened to thrift

Corsa Sport Coupe

'65 Corvair It's a new kind of Corvair. It's longer and wider. It's racier, roomier, flatter riding. With quicker steering, surer stopping and more power available—up to 140 hp in Monzas and 500's, up to 180 hp in the new Corsas.

Watch For Bogus Checks Officer Warns

Busy merchants have been warned by Det. Sgt. George C. Craft to be alert to bad check passers during the busy holiday season. Sgt. Craft pointed out that last December his section processed 145 bogus checks totaling $6,758, about 1 per cent of the state total, he said.

He suggested that it is wise always to demand that strangers present adequate identification. A driver's license or car license numbers may not always suffice.

He advised merchants to safeguard check blanks, cancelled checks and deposit records to prevent theft and fraud. Any check law violation should be reported to the local law enforcement agency, he said, and the merchant should follow through on prosecution.

Museum To Show New Acquisitions

One hundred works of art will be shown for the first time in Toledo in a special exhibition, "Treasures for Toledo", which opens Sunday, Dec. 6, in the Toledo Museum of Art's new exhibition area.

Included will be art objects acquired by the museum between 1949 and 1964 and spans 30 centuries from ancient Egypt, Greece and Rome to Renaissance and Baroque Europe and on to the 19th and 20th centuries in Europe and America.

MASTERPIECES include works by Primaticcio, Courbet and Cezanne.

Other objects in "Treasures for Toledo" are two Egyptian reliefs from the days of the Pyramids, Greek vases and a Roman marble torso of a young god. Furniture from 17th century England, Holland and Flanders are included.

Many of the new acquisitions were acquired through funds from the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Libbey.

In conjunction with the exhibition, the Museum is planning a series of special tours on Tuesday and Thursday evenings during December except Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

God the Creator

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Bible Lesson to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday. Golden Text: "Have we not all one father? hath not one God created us?" (Mal. 2:10).

PATTERSON SCHOOL PATTER

By SHERRIE LEE HART

All is quiet on the Patterson front. I guess it must be caused by the mounds of turkey and dozens of pies consumed over the Thanksgiving holiday. The fourth graders are still in rare poetic form and we have for you today the finalists from Mrs. Oleg Michajlenko's room.

Fourth Grade

The fourth grade class of Mrs. Michajlenko have been writing poems about what it feels like to roll down a hill. The children selected the four following poems to be put in the paper.

ROLLING
By Beth Ann Curtiss

Rolling, rolling down the hill
When I stop I feel quite ill,
I keep quite straight,
Just like a wooden crate.

Walking, walking up the hill
Now I don't feel quite so ill
Yes, yes, I'm to the end,
Ready to start all over again.

ROLLING
By Greg Greshem

Rolling over stones I go,
Hippity hop, ho, ho,
It doesn't feel so good, I know,
But still you have to say oh.
Oh, oh, there is a stump,
I know, I know, I know.

ROLLING DOWN THE HILL
By Sharlot Bailey

When you go rolling down a hill,
It's best to stay alert,
For if you don't watch where you are going,
Someone could get hurt.

Rolling down the hill is fun,
With all the girls and boys,
You should be around sometime,
And listen to all the noise.

ROLLING
By Sally Records

When I went rolling down the hill,
I never thought I would stand still.
Sticks and stones I went past,
And I was going way too fast.

But when I was done,
Up I went in a run.
And it was so much fun,
That I rolled and rolled again,
Then I was done.

See you next week. S'long.

The Alai Case (Continued)

A new twist may develop later this week in the proposed sacking of the Lenawee County Sanitation Engineer.

With action focused on Farhang Alai, who has held the post since last winter, more and more county residents are asking, "What's this thing all about?"

The Herald first presented the facts Nov. 23 with an editorial, followed three days later by articles in the county seat daily.

We explained that via political blackmail, Mr. Alai was being asked to leave his job here, despite the fact that his boss, Dr. Eleanor Skufis, was pleased with his work.

It seemed the finance committee of the Board of Supervisors let it be known that if the Health Department wanted an increase in operating money, Mr. Alai must go.

The four-man group was careful not to come right out and say so, just trot gently around the bush — but the message got through.

When The Herald told the facts—and no one has denied them—the general public once again heard of the "funny business" that surrounds some actions by a power group in the Board of Supervisors.

★

IF THE OPINION OF Dr. Skufis were not enough — and she is the one who is supposed to hire and fire people in her department — two of three Health Department committeemen, Supervisor Mills Swick and John Hamilton, have agreed that Mr. Alai is doing a good job.

The few who want Mr. Alai out have said that a "personality problem" existed between Mr. Alai and the public. Beyond this point, no one has made any specific charges of inefficiency by the engineer. It's our opinion that there are none worth the energy needed to set them on paper.

What supervisors should do before giving the gate to an eminently qualified man, is to weigh the importance of such action.

To begin with, Mr. Alai is the first sanitary engineer the county has had. As he goes about the job of attempting to improve health conditions in Lenawee, he is often touching territory never before investigated.

When he finds a septic tank incorrectly installed, one too close to the supply of water for a home and a situation which could produce disease, he tells the owner of the violation. In some instances, apparently, residents are angered and complain to supervisors, who don't for a moment consider the danger of possible contamination, which could touch many people.

The labors of Mr. Alai are already starting to pay dividends in better health protection for county citizens and earn cooperation of well drillers and septic tank installers. No craftsman wants knowingly to violate sanitary codes.

Beyond that, there is the consideration of who would replace Mr. Alai, if the firing is carried to its conclusion. Few sanitary engineers are available since only a handful of public health majors graduate from college each year.

When Monroe County sought a sanitation engineer, it advertised, offering a salary of $6,000. Only one qualified man applied and when negotiations were concluded, the stipend was $10,000 annually, a fair wage for the background and experience required for such a position. Mr. Alai is presently earning $8,000.

Supervisors should go into this case more deeply before putting their stamp of approval on what a few hastily instigated.

Was This the Right Action?

Anytime a college or university drops its football program, fans everywhere have just a twinge of regret.

Latest to take the dive is the University of Detroit, which at one time was a top drawer club, playing a major schedule. But fortunes changed and the Titans fell on hard times, leading to the inevitable announcement.

One old grad philosophized that it was like the small independent store competing with the big super markets — U of D trying to attract fans while Michigan and Michigan State were offering top attractions nearby.

We think the Jesuit School brass moved in the wrong direction on the gridiron decision. There was another course, which should have been considered, one similar to that taken by Wayne State University.

Wayne tried the Big Time for a while right after World War II, but decided it couldn't compete. Instead of dumping the sport entirely, Wayne de-mphasized and went Ivy League, ending scholarships and playing a moderate schedule.

As the hardened sports fraternity might say, "They started to play the students." Well, there is a grain of truth to this ironical remark.

Our question is: Why doesn't U of D follow a similar plan, schedule schools like Wayne, Hillsdale and other institutions which would offer competition on a fairly even plane (Hillsdale followers might rebel at our including the Dales on this level, but we think they'd soon discover a fine mutual relationship with a Titan "student" eleven.)

But we're afraid Detroit football is dead and we fear the corpse will never be exhumed — although there always is a million-to-one possibility.

New Kitchen Plan Offered

About 18 months ago, civic organizations joined hands to stage a circus under the banner of "Operation Kitchen."

The venture netted somewhat more than $1,100 and a check was promptly drawn and given to the city Recreation Commission, earmarked for an eventual kitchen at the Community Center.

At first, the thinking was that the Center should have a vast stainless steel layout, which would run about $10,000. Now folks are wondering if that thought shouldn't be tempered.

Why not have one of those self-contained deals with a sink, stove and refrigeration unit tucked neatly into some corner of the building, several people have asked?

Various firms market these at costs running between $700 and $800. This sounds like a reasonable approach to the kitchen plan — while $1,100 sits unused.

Of course, this arrangement would not be suitable for preparing large meals, but it would be ideal for small gatherings and these seem to be popular, the coffee and donut variety.

We'd like to suggest that the Recreation Commission confer with its Community Center director and the folks who raised the money to see if they might agree on such a kitchen setup.

EDITORIAL IN PICTURE

It won't be long now. The whole countryside will be looking like this, loaded with snow. Youngsters love the winter weather with its zero temperatures, but the oldsters and soon-to-be-oldsters are not so enthusiastic about the departure of Indian Summer. But even the dissenters have to admit, under a blanket of snow, backlighted with a soft afternoon sun, there is nothing like a winter setting for striking beauty.

DOLLAR and SENSE FARMING®

BETTER DAIRY BEEF FEEDING METHODS have improved the uniformity, quality and profitability of dairy beef steers and bulls. Retail cutout values now favor dairy beef enough to offset the lower dressing percentages. Selling fed steers on some type of carcass basis has helped. Economics of feeding dairy beef shows up best when fat cattle prices are operating under a narrow range from Choice to Standard. Holstein steers can be fed a concentrate-to-roughage ratio of 1:1 without lowering gains.

AVOID ELECTRIC CIRCUIT OVERLOADS. During fall and winter, electric needs increase and circuits easily become overloaded. Overloading can result in power failure, fire and lower motor power. To know total wattages a line can take safely multiply volts times amperes. A 120-volt 15-amp circuit equals 1800 watts. Compare this to total watts required by appliances or motors on the line.

BUY CORN NEEDS NOW. Corn prices have firmed since harvest-time lows and should continue to improve into January. Look for prices to reach about $1.25 before slackening into February. In 1965 prices should average a few cents higher than 1964. Storing profits should be better than in 1963-64. Total supplies are estimated at 347 million bushels below last year, and exports are running 17% ahead of last year.

HOG CHOLERA. USDA estimates that the net profit from one pig out of every five marketed goes to say for hog cholera control. Be sure to have your pigs vaccinated when five to seven days old. Follow shipping rules when buying or selling. Don't feed table scraps to hogs.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Rumors have been flying for many months regarding that one-time Kuhlman potato farm.

In recent days, several from different sources once more indicate that Ford Motor Co. would build there.

Jim Robideau of Tecumseh Corrugated Box was in the office as the latest rumor was dissected.

"The people who know the most about new industries are the power companies," Jim allowed.

A little light flashed on in my slow-moving brain.

"Why just the other day there was this Detroit Edison crew setting a pole right across the road from the Kuhlman farm at the new fertilizer plant and I stopped to snap some pictures," I told Jim.

At the time, the question for the Edison foreman was, "Aren't you fellows out of your territory?"

"It's a borderline case," the lad grinned, pointing out that Consumers Power and Detroit Edison territories touched right about Staib Rd.

Edison was a stop for this scribbler over a three-year period, that was my company magazine era, and a phone call to a former associate there seemed in order.

With his fifth floor (that's top executive level) desk practically at Walker Cisler's elbow is William Sanders, who, if facts were known really runs the vast electrical generating concern — well almost. (Yes, Edison still gives light bulbs to customers in exchange for burned-out models.)

★

"IS THIS The Tecumseh Herald's Detroit correspondent?" was the opener.

Bill fell into step, being the smooth operator that he is, and after a few pleasantries we got down to the nub of things.

Would Mr. Saunders do some bird-dogging for The Herald? "Certainly," was the quick reply and with that he ignored some priority stuff to seek out an answer to this proposition: Is Ford planning a plant for the Kuhlman property — or an area near Tecumseh land.

After checks with Edison's industrial development people and some others, Bill came up with a blank.

The one item in his investigation which held out a fascinating flicker of interest was that the Big Three auto makers are definitely putting up 24 plants in Detroit Edison territory.

One, Flat Rock's Ford stamping layout, has already been announced, but most of the other 23 are unrevealed as to type and location.

Is it possible that those rumors may one day become a fact?

Court Hearing Called

Initial steps to secure a court injunction that would halt construction of the sewer to Tecumseh's Fisher Body Plant were taken by Raisin Township last week.

A deputy from the Sheriff Department served court papers on James Beardsley, city attorney, for a hearing Wednesday at 8:30 a.m.

This action by the Raisin Board accentuates the disputes between Tecumseh and Raisin over the city providing sewer facilities to the new GM plant.

Members of the township board had been threatening the city with an injunction for the past two weeks. When Council rejected a Raisin proposal at a special council session Dec. 4, court action became a certainty.

Raisin officials have requested that either GM own the sewer or the township have control over its use. Controlling the sewer was the principal issue in the proposal rejected by the city.

★

MR. BEARDSLEY has voiced confidence in winning a favorable decision in court and cited numerous reasons at recent Council meetings to indicate that Tecumseh has little to fear from a hearing or an injunction.

Hidden reason for Raisin's objection to the city building the sewer is possible annexation of township property, which could realize use of the sewer.

'It Looks Good,' Supervisor Says

FARHANG ALAI

Chances seem excellent that Farhang Alai — under fire for the past three weeks — will not lose his job as Lenawee County sanitation engineer after all.

"It looks good," confided a supervisor following a secret meeting of the Health Department committee Thursday evening.

The five-man committee, plus Dr. Eleanor Skufis, director of the County Health Department, and Wallace Benzie of the Michigan Department of Health, huddled in the Court House at Adrian for more than two hours.

Mr. Alai's future was the lone topic of conversation.

The seven in attendance agreed not to reveal what happened, although one, who has backed Mr. Alai, did let slip the lone optimistic comment.

First public report on the session will come Wednesday morning at 10 when Health Committee Chairman Walter Bohn, mayor of Adrian, informs the Board of Supervisors of the Thursday decision.

Trouble for Mr. Alai first came to light when The Herald revealed in an editorial Nov. 23 that Dr. Skufis had been informed by the health committee that the sanitary engineer must be fired.

She opposed the idea, expressing satisfaction with the efforts of Mr. Alai.

Mr. Alai's prime responsibilities have been with water supplies and installation of septic tanks, making certain they are at least 50 feet apart — according to the Sanitary Code.

Apparently, he encountered some difficulties along these lines and property owners, who have been cited, in turn have complained to their supervisors "to get rid of the foreigner".

However, this attitude has been vigorously countered by citizens who support Mr. Alai's efforts and have been making their feelings known via letters to county newspapers.

Now the scale is tipping in favor of Mr. Alai.

Sewage Addition To Cost $450,000

Preliminary engineering plans for expanding Tecumseh's wastewater treatment plant indicate costs of approximately $450,000.

The city has promised the State Health Department that plans will be completed by May 1 and construction to start by July 1 of next year. Construction will take about one year.

The original figure of near half-million dollars is considered high, and officials hope that detailed plans will lessen the total cost.

Cal Zorn, city manager, and John Seeley of McNamee, Porter & Seeley, consulting engineers from Ann Arbor, will meet Dec. 16 with Wallace Benzie, an engineer from the State Health Department.

The present plans call for doubling the plant's capacity, hiking it from 700,000 gallons per day to 1,400,000. A capacity increase is necessary to handle new subdivisions and new industry, including Tecumseh's Fisher Body Plant.

The present disposal plant was completed in 1952 at a cost of about $250,000.

During most of this year, the plant was operating at, or near, design capacity. However, in the past two months, the flow of sewage through the plant was decreased slightly.

Don Moffatt Wins Election to State Post

Don Moffatt, director of Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department, has been elected chairman of the public agency section of the Recreation Assn. of Michigan.

Election to the year-long term was by some 200 of his fellow-workers in municipal, private and institutional recreation organizations in some 70 cities throughout Michigan. The group met Thursday and Friday in Lansing.

Major activity of Mr. Moffatt's new job will be spring and fall meetings to arrange tournaments in dozens of indoor and outdoor sports.

Indians Swamp Dundee in Opener, 68 to 53

A sputtering, but convincing, Tecumseh five opened the basketball season Saturday night with an easy 68-53 triumph over Dundee.

Only frequent substitution by Coach Vic Lawson prevented the Indians from rolling up a bigger victory margin over the Vikings, who whipped Milan by 15 points the night before.

Big 6'4" Gregg Allen and Jim Lawson paced the Tecumseh attack with Allen netting 22 points on seven goals and eight free throws. The senior center canned eight of 10 attempts from the foul line.

BOX SCORES PG. 7

Lawson, who sat out part of the game, picked up most of his points on jump shots around the key and lay-ups on drives to the bucket.

Midway through the first period, the Indians tallied 14 points while holding Dundee to three. The burst gave Tecumseh a 20-12 lead at the quarter's end.

Coach Lawson's veteran club upped its margin to 11 points at half time, and then completely routed the Vikings in the third period.

Shortly after the intermission, Tecumseh rolled up a 19-point lead, and then held a 15-point or so margin the rest of the way, despite Lawson clearing the bench to give his reserves some experience.

Only some remarkable shooting by Bob Kroeger and Ron Boldt of the Vikings kept the score respectable. Kroeger collected 21 points and Boldt, 16.

The short, scrappy Dundee five got into foul trouble early, trying to stop the taller Indians. The Vikings' biggest cager, 6'2" Butch O'Lone, fouled out as did Frank Trinacty, 5'11"

Although the Indians were ragged in their openér — as expected — the potential of the club was clearly evident and in the margin of victory over a better-than-average Dundee club.

Hoffman Empties Bench

The Tecumseh Jayvees completely outclassed their Dundee opponents Saturday night, winning, 62-39, in the season's opener.

Coach Jim Hoffman played his entire bench in an attempt to keep the scoring down. Eight of the 13-player squad scored in the rout.

John Goodman led the Jayvees with 20 points, while 6'4" Lee Hannibal collected 12. Scott Edwards made 11.

Tecumseh led 31 to 17 at the half, and then netted 15 more in the third stanza while holding the Vikings to just five. A splurge late in the game gave Dundee 17 points against the reserves, who still dropped in 1f points for the Indians.

Santa Claus' Hours Set For Visitors

Santa Claus will be in town from now until Christmas Eve, and youngsters hoping for a chance to chat with him will have plenty of opportunities.

91-YEAR-OLD ANN McCLURE ATTENDS TO HER BRAIDING AND STAYS YOUNG

Braided Rugs Are This Gal's Specialty

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Mrs. Ann McClure, 1150 W. Monroe Rd., is a master at braiding wool rugs.

For the past 10 years, the 91-year-old farm woman has been making rugs in both oval and round shapes from worn coats and men's suits.

She has made 150 for friends and family — and she has some family, 10 children in all. Seven are still living, including Herbert, with whom she lives.

She has 14 grandchildren, 25 great-grandchildren and 2 great-great-grandchildren.

★

MRS. McCLURE braids the rugs by hand. She says, "I don't use a braider, when you fold them by hand, you know they're turned under."

Perfectly uniform and sewn together with nylon fish line for sturdiness, these rugs are not only beautiful, but extremely functional and the worth of them can only be judged when one sees them.

When queried about her long years, the chipper Mrs. McClure commented, "The good Lord gave me the strength to live. I have had some pretty hard work and it's the strength from Him that counts."

"If people would get out and do hard work they would have better health. I used to use a cross-cut saw, shock wheat and husk and cut corn. One day I husked a whole wagon load," she continued.

"We were surer of a living than people are today. We had our own pork, flour, chickens and eggs and I canned everything I could get from our large garden. We had 40 head of cattle, nine I milked myself.

"I miss the sugar-cured meat and the home-made bread of years ago. When we lived on the Keeney farm, I made as many as 40 loaves of bread each day when we had apple pickers. We often had 19 men for dinner."

Mrs. McClure has lived on the farm at the northwest corner of Billington's, west of the city for 48 years — lacking just three months.

She and her husband, with eight children, came to the Tecumseh area from McClure, O.

★

THEY SPENT one year in the Colvin brick home on Green Hwy., about three years on the Keeney farm and two years on the Wilson celery farm, before moving to the present residence.

When Mrs. McClure was eight years old she went to Kansas with her mother by train and her father drove a team of horses. They expected to make their home there, but the hot winds soon swept that hope from their hearts and they returned again to Ohio.

Traveling has been a great pleasure for the talented rug-maker. She has made several trips to Florida, Arizona, Saskatchewan, Canada, Niagara Falls and she liked the sunset on Pike's Peak.

She also likes to play hymns on the piano occasionally.

A year ago in October, the McClure family held an open house for their mother on her 90th birthday anniversary. It was a festive event as have been many of the family gatherings over the years.

Usually the children come back for the holidays at the McClure homestead.

A daughter, Mrs. Frank Hoekstra, lives at 505 N. Pearl St. Others are Mrs. John Snyder of Springfield, O., Mrs. William Hicks of Monroe, Mrs. Marvin Moody and Mrs. Howard Ypson of Kalamazoo and another son, Donald McClure, of Yarnell, Ariz.

★

THE JUNIOR Mrs. McClure speaks affectionately of her husband's mother, remarking about her spryness, good eyesight and ability to help about the house even though she does have some arthritis.

The 91-year-old lady is highly-respected by her neighbors, too. Some, including Mr. and Mrs. Dean Van Valkenburg, are most appreciative of the rug they received from her on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary recently.

Of course, gold was the predominant color in it. Color is of prime concern to the master rug-maker as her deft fingers braid the heavy materials into superb floor coverings.

Raisin Institute Gained Fame in Civil War Era

By CLARA WALDRON

It was by an especially happy chance that the new Lenawee Institute for children was located on Sutton Rd. in Raisin Township, for a short half-mile south and 127 years earlier, another Institute had been established there with nearly identical aims and ideals. This one had almost no financial backing, no endowment and no school tax dollars. It had only the vision and indomitable will of one woman.

Laura Smith Haviland, or Aunt Laura, as she has become known to everyone, began her "Raisin Institute" in 1837 but the idea had been born a year earlier when she had taken nine children from the "poor farm."

Appalled at the complete lack of training and education available for these boys and girls, she had taken them into her own home, taught them with her own children and allowed them to be somewhat independent by working part of each day. Thus was begun one of the first industrial schools.

She was the daughter of the first Quaker minister in Raisin Valley and her entire life was devoted to helping the unfortunate. Obviously her family was of the same mind for her husband cooperated until his early death and, when she decided to open a school which she hoped would eventually train others to teach, her brother sold his farm to help erect a suitable building near her home.

★

THAT SCHOOL included both day and boarding pupils and not only the indigent and retarded but negro children and adults as well, for many ex-slaves had found refuge among the Quakers. The "work and learn" policy was now continued on a larger scale and, because she was able to obtain some excellent teachers from among those who shared her high aspirations, many students were attracted from more well-to-do families.

The school did so well that at one time it had 63 pupils, and the association between white and negro young people must have had far-reaching results. Even by modern standards the Institute was advanced in its methods, for in addition to boarding facilities, it had small cabins for the accommodation of married students.

Several of the teachers were from Oberlin College, and it was from this association that the school received its second name of "Graham Town School."

The head of Oberlin at that time was a Dr. Graham, an advocate of the use of coarse flour in the diet, a flour that was given his name. Because Mrs. Haviland used this so extensively in the school meals, it became known as "Graham Town" and was so remembered, affectionately, by many who attended.

★

THE INSTITUTE might have been more of a success financially and otherwise if Aunt Laura had devoted all her time and energy to it. But she felt a higher call and she and her friend, neighbor and co-worker, Margaret Chandler, were frequently absent on work for the underground railway. They led what were very practical "freedom marches" for runaway slaves, although their activities were shrouded in the deepest secrecy.

Probably every Quaker home was a more or less active "station," and many of the "world's people" also helped. Certainly slaves were hidden in the caves that have been found in the hillside south of Aunt Laura's home, although she had to be especially discreet since she was under constant suspicion of the authorities.

For a time there was a price on her head, offered by southern slave-owners.

★

BECAUSE OF its many-sided character, the school had many critics and experienced many vicissitudes. It closed in 1849, reopened in 1856 with new buildings and prospered for a few years. The close of the Civil War saw its end as a school, but it was kept open for some time as an experimental "freedman's home" and then as an orphanage for negro and white children.

Finally this was taken over by the State of Michigan and is credited with being the nucleous of State Industrial Home, now at Coldwater. A memorial boulder in the roadside on Wilmouth Highway, erected by the Lenawee Historical Society, now marks the former home of Charles and Laura Haviland which was the site of the Institute.

At its height, the Raisin Institute compared favorably with its neighbor, The Raisin Valley Seminary, and the two have frequently been confused. Although noted chiefly for its inclusion of negros the Institute was also known for its excellent curriculum and many prosperous citizens were proud to have studied at "Aunt Laura Haviland's Graham Town school."

TINY MONUMENT ALONG WILMUTH RD. IS LONELY SENTIMENT TO AUNT LAURA'S MEMORY

Karen Cox, Jerry Trull Pledge Vows

A 35-branch candelebra arch decorated with huckleberry foliage and clusters of stephanotis formed the background at the altar of the Raisin Center Friends Church Saturday for the wedding of Karen S. Cox and Jerry E. Trull.

Single candelabra with the same greenery and satin bows marked the pews along the carpeted aisle.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Buford Cox of 2518 Wilmoth Hwy. and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Trull of Adrian.

The Rev. James Brantingham performed the ceremony and Mrs. Brantingham was the organist accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Shreve, who sang three selections.

The 200 guests were seated by Arthur J. Gamboe and Jessie Lee Cox.

On the arm of her father, the bride entered the church in a gown of bridal white taffeta and Chantilly lace with fitted bodice and Sabrina neckline trimmed with seed pearls and sequins.

A chapel train of lace extended over the skirt.

Her elbow length bouffant veil of English illusion was secured to a crown of pearlized orange blossoms and she carried Eucharist lilies centered with Snow Song Supreme roses.

Mary Lee Cox was her sister's maid of honor, gowned in gold and Kelly green brocade. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Trull and Mrs. James L. Trull, sisters-in-law of the groom. They were dressed in gold brocade. All wore gold bow hats and carried baskets of mums.

The flower girl, Pamela Trull, was in white brocade with a Kelly green sash and bow hat.

Best man was Ronald Trull, brother of the bridegroom. Gene Trull carried the rings on a heart-shaped pillow.

Some 200 guests were greeted at a reception in the church parlors. The bride's table was covered with emerald green banded with gold, and held a four-tier cake baked by Mrs. Laurence Nichols.

Guests came from Arizona, Florida, Detroit, Tecumseh, Adrian, Blissfield and Clinton, Eaton Rapids and Willis.

Pouring at the reception were Mrs. Garnie Morton, Dorothy Demlaw, Sue Money, Dora Money, Mrs. Charles Cubberly and Mrs. Dick Mitchell.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a green velvet dress with red accessories.

The couple will make their home in Davisville, R. I. The bride is a 1963 graduate of Adrian High School and formerly was employed at Bummies Restaurant. The groom, a 1960 graduate of Adrian High, is serving in the Navy.

Gentlemen from the city garage wound the lamp poles with wide red ribbon and greenery just in time to catch the first snowfall of the holiday season.

With two men wrapping the poles, the procedure reminded one of winding a May pole. With the use of a large crane enabling them to climb high enough to hang the red lanterns and Santas, the job wouldn't have been a bad one at all except that it was cold and ice formed on the wiring.

Their efforts are appreciated by the city folk. The lighted Christmas decorations certainly "pretty up" the town, especially with the snow.

We won't say a thing about the slush that caused so much trouble over the weekend.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

AND THE SNOW CAME DOWN

It was not the first snowfall of the year nor the heaviest. It was, however, the kind which produces all sorts of "good looking." When the drapes were first opened, we peered out on a semi-dark world already lightly frosted by a fine sifting of snow.

As the light increased so did the storm — although, really, it was more of a snowfall than a storm. There was no screaming wind, just a heavy "dropping" of small snow flakes. It did not pile up quickly, but what an explosion of bird and squirrel activity it triggered.

Before struggling out of boots, jacket and scarf Ida replenished the bird feeding station's bill-of-fare. With full ears of corn, a big fat sunflower head, a chunk of suet and a small pile of scratch feed in place, the stage was set.

It wasn't long until the actors arrived, then the curtain was raised on a fun-packed morning.

★

THREE FAT squirrels were the first act — of course, they were actually in and out of the picture all of the time. Their basic arrangement was one on the feeder, one in the corn tree and one on the fence.

There was much changing back and forth though, and with squirrels, a change of position means chasing. There were many mad dashes and the snow was flying as they cut around the yard.

Fat Boy settled down for a while around 10 o'clock and did some serious sunflower seed eating. He sat hunched up and moved only enough to pick off the seeds. Snow piled up on his back, head and tail 'til we had a snow man on the feeder, not a squirrel.

★

A PAIR OF blue jays were most unhappy at sailing in and finding their breakfast table already occupied. They sat in the wren tree screaming with indignation — they looked pretty, their brilliant blue showed up so well against the snowy gray, but the sound was far from soothing.

One of them tried eating a few of the kernels which had been dropped from the corn tree, but they didn't hit the spot. Soon both birds left in a huff and went over to Marshes, where I assume they were treated better.

The creek was not completely frozen over. In the swifter running spots a narrow channel was open. It was a twisting and turning channel to be sure and the stretches of running water were not very large.

In fact, they were extremely small, very narrow and varying in length. Gertie's big white duck was not troubled. He didn't even show up, but the two mallards were very perturbed.

In a fast-running waddle they went from one open spot to another, the ice was definitely not their medium and we laughed at how quickly they dropped into the little water they could find.

★

THE DUCKS were still "on" when Papa Cardinal took over the stage. Unfortunately his appearance was brief and consisted mainly of pretty flights back and forth across the creek.

As always, he rated rave notices — nothing, but nothing, can beat a flaming scarlet male cardinal in a snow storm. Mrs. C. was far more co-operative — her act was played right on the feeder itself. She was a lovely creature, one of the best looking ladies we have ever seen all fall.

Completely out of place and uncomfortable in his role of winter visitor was a grackle. He was fluffed up and ragged and probably wondering what was going on. A pretty little downy woodpecker was also a bit mixed up in his role.

Ignoring the suet, he kept stealing sunflower seeds and flying away with them. Mourning doves, titmice, nuthatches, chickadees and, the always present sparrows completed the cast.

So it is that we enjoyed a marvelous early morning show, the birds and squirrels performed for us and the snow came down.

OUR READERS WRITE

TO THE EDITORS:

The Lenawee County Health Department is doing a wonderful job. It is necessary that proper and specific size sanitary facilities be used. Lax control of sanitation would be a serious health hazard for every person in the county.

Also the requirements of the board of health concerning the distance from the water supply to septic tanks and drain fields are reasonable. Enforcement of these rules and regulations are highly desirable.

In building our trailer court they were very helpful with the inspection and suggestions for the well, the gitless adaptor, and the two jet pumps that supply water to 30 families.

Also the traps, the correct size electric wiring and 100 amp service to each trailer. All these things would not have been performed correctly or worked so well without the advance planning, the wonderful help and final approval of our Lenawee County Board of Health.

Farhang Alai should be retained in his position if he is well qualified and educated with a master's degree from U of M in sanitary engineering. We believe that Mr. Alai has proven to us that he is fulfilling his position very ably as a sanitary engineer for Lenawee County.

He is available with his education, and the sanitary code "know how" for everyone's benefit. So use the service they have, and you will be surprised at the trouble-free facilities you will enjoy.

Robert Allen,
Clinton.

—o—

TO THE EDITOR:

I wish to say a few words in defense of the county sanitary engineer, Mr. Alai.

Laws and rules were made for the good of all the people. Such rules were made to be kept not broken. Too many times we are too quick to criticize when we feel our toes have been stepped on. We should recall the benefits we have reaped because of this man's devotion to his job — that of safeguarding the county's health. To name only one service performed by Mr. Alai: the stopping of detergent suds in one of our resort lakes. You can recall other such benefits without difficulty I know.

It's about time our board of supervisors stop playing "tin gods" and keep the welfare of all the citizens in mind. This goes far beyond the "tiff" with Mr. Alai. Let's get on the ball and start building our fair county — not tearing it down.

Dorothy L. Breckel,

Adrian.

Mrs. Herbert Dillon read several portions of the Christmas Story from the Bible. This was followed by a colored filmstrip and recorded story from "The Life of Jesus — The Nativity" shown by Mrs. William Powell.

Mrs. Robert Bagdon presented two solos, "Prayer" from "Hansel and Gretel" and "Lo, How a Rose." The refreshment table was decorated for the holiday season by the hostesses, Miss Vera Gilbert and Mrs. Robert Leathers.

During the busines ssession, conducted by the president, Mrs. Vaynard Close, the women heard reports on the success of the Fall Festival, the work with migrants, and the program of the Youth Fellowship.

Announcements were made concerning the Christmas Tea, and Circle programs.

THE TOWN CRIER

He used to be the bearer of news—both good and bad. And he announced the merchandise available in the various places of business. Newspapers have long since replaced him.

He would cry the hour night and day for he was timekeeper to the town. Clocks and wristwatches crowded him out of our life.

But when he announced the hour he liked to reassure his neighbors: "'Tis three o'clock—and all's well!" Why has no one taken up this function in our modern world?

Probably because no one is certain that all is well. And because merely saying that all is well doesn't calm our fears or lighten our concern.

More and more we are coming to realize that our crucial need is spiritual. Men are seeking truth and power in the faith and worship of our churches. With each passing hour it becomes more evident that all will be well only when ALL discover God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL · ALL FOR THE CHURCH.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Legion, Auxiliary To Buy Flags

CLINTON — The American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Hattie Feldkamp for their annual Christmas potluck dinner.

Mrs. Feldkamp's home was decorated in the Christmas theme. Adding to the festivities of the occasion were special table favors made by junior members and a gift exchange.

As a community project, the Legion and auxiliary met Monday evening at the Community Center and decided to combine to purchase flags for the walls at the high school.

Plans were made for a bakeless bake sale to raise funds for the women's part in the cost of the flag project. Mrs. Wendell Smith will be chairman.

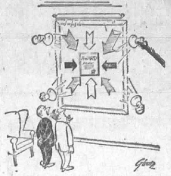
Mrs. Ray Newton of 722 Joseph Kies St. was introduced as a new member, coming here from Jackson.

Mrs. Carl Garrison, chairman of the rehabilitation committee, announced the Clinton auxiliary will have charge of the gift shop at the Veterans Hospital in Ann Arbor, Dec. 8.

Four junior members who attended were Barbara Bowman, Nancy Schwab, Marilyn Bartram and Penny Voll. Other guests were Mrs. Henry Treat, president of Clinton; Mrs. Dorthy Hill, secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Martin, first vice-president and membership chairman and Mrs. Calor McArthur, past president, all of Jackson.

The Jan. 5 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Robert Gillespie of Tecumseh. She will be assisted by Mrs. Maurice Heath and Mrs. Dorothy Frolich.

My Neighbors



"I was hoping you'd ask me about that."

SMORGASBORD

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

Americans particularly young persons — are on the move.

A new job opportunity opens up in a distant city. Employers transfer a man or woman to an out-of-town plant. Armed Services inexorably remove their members to places far from home.

Students seek education in colleges and universities which may be many miles away and parents retire to warmer climates.

My husband and I are part of that pattern of change. Our five children live in five different states.

A son is a student in Chapel Hill, N. C. Another moved to Phoenix, Ariz., in a successful search for relief from asthma. A third lives at Newport News, Va., when he is not cruising the Atlantic in a Navy nuclear submarine. A fourth attends the Michigan School for the Deaf at Flint. Our daughter lives in Baltimore, Md. where her husband was transferred by a former employer.

All except the youngest son are married and have children.

★

RECENTLY A woman whose children live near her said of her grandchildren, "They're nice, but when they get together, it's awful."

How many parents, like us, yearn to have all their grandchildren "together" and know it's not likely ever to happen?

The struggle to keep up relationships by letter seems unending and when answers from children, too busy to write, fail to arrive there is, inevitably, disappointment and sometimes misunderstanding.

A son and daughter-in-law have solved our correspondence problem for us. At Thanksgiving they gave us a tape recorder.

Within a matter of days we had purchased recorders for our other children and now the tapes are flying back and forth each reel filled with up to 22 minutes of news, anecdotes, children's songs and jokes.

★

A DAUGHTER-IN-LAW tells of her child's school work and in the background there is the stir of a busy household.

A man who left the "writing" to his wife talks about his job and an unexpected pay raise.

A grandchild recites a poem learned for a Christmas program at church and a 10-month-old baby, after a long, breathy pause and muffled background voices urging him to talk, jabbers "dadadadada."

A daughter sheds a few tears as she hears her father sing the nonsense song that delighted her and her older brothers 20 years ago.

Now her children who are some 450 miles distant from grandpa and their cousins, who are 2,000 miles from him, are equally thrilled with "Come a hoot, toot, toot, come aheigho," sung in a voice a little huskier but still as dear.

"I LOVE YOU, GRANDPA!" VOICE TELLS HOLLIS SHELTON

THOSE OF OUR readers who are parents of children far away — or who are sons and daughters too busy to write, might consider a transistor tape recorder as a Christmas gift this year.

They may be bought for as little as $15 and tapes can be had for about 35 cents and are reusable. A 10-cent stamp will carry a reel, first class.

Perhaps you will be thrilled as we were, when, unexpectedly, five persons closed a recent message with "Happy birthday, dear Grandma, happy birthday to you."

POWER LINES INSTALLED — Detroit Edison overhead linesmen were "on location" at the site of the new Anderson Fertilizer plant, on Staib Rd., last week, installing new power lines. The plant is almost at the border line of Detroit Edison and Consumers Power Co. territories. The plant will cost $100,000 and have 15,000 square feet of floor space on a 1½-acre plot. Land was purchased from Merle Mellott and abuts the New York Central spur running between Tecumseh and Clinton. Four or five persons will operate the facility, which is a branch of the Anderson Co. with its main plant in Riga and other setups in Dundee and Moreni.

FIGURES COLORED FOR CRECHE — Larry L. Co ates places figures in magnificent nativity scene in the lighted window of the Coates residence at 1301 E Monroe Rd. Motorists are treated to the colorful scene as they pass by in the early morning or evening.

Colorful Scene Of Bethleham Lit For Passersby

Ceramics have become a family affair for the Hearold Coates family at 1301 E. Monroe Rd.

Mrs. Coates became interested in the colorful hobby first, learning the art from a friend at their lake cottage.

Then her son, Larry, picked it up last November and has become a real enthusiast.

He took some lessons on the Jacqueline stain technique and last spring started a project which seems to be unique in this area.

He has spent 96 hours completing 14 pieces of a nativity scene with figures considerably larger than those usually seen in Christmas creches.

Wisemen are one and one-half to two feet in height and a recumbent camel is about two feet wide.

Using the Jacqueline stain method which is without the aid of brushes, he has rouged the beautifully colored animals, wise men and the child with his fingers.

At present he is working on a goat which will be added to the set before Dec. 25 arrives.

An employee of the Tecumseh Products Co. Mr. Coates is joined in his hobby by his father and sometimes his sister, Ruth Ann, who is an elementary teacher at Oscoda.

The family has a kiln in which to fire their ceramics.

4-H Club Dairy Projects Start in Winter Months

The best time to get a 4-H dairy club started is in the winter months, says J. Ray Gillespie, Lenawee County 4-H Club agent.

Members of 4-H Clubs are concerned with acquiring information about dairying, developing skills essential to the successful operation of a dairy enterprise and practicing the methods learned. Many youths today are vitally concerned with the "why" as well as the "how to do it" aspects of the 4-H dairy project. Mr. Gillespie says the leader's role is to help the members reach these objectives.

He advises 4-H Club leaders to follow the lesson plans in the new 4-H Dairy Leaders' Guide. Interesting outlines are available on all phases of dairy production.

It is important that 4-H members learn some of the factors involving selection, feeding and management of dairy animals, he says. If winter meetings are conducted to teach about dairying, then the members can be much farther ahead in the spring.

Individual 4-H dairy members can carry on a dairy science project during the winter months, too. The new publication, 4-H Dairy Science, points out the scientific principles involved in the functioning of the cow's body. It also contains many questions to answer and simple experiments to conduct.

For a copy of these publications, contact your county extension office at the Adrian Court House.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

One of the greatest gimmicks that television has come up with in covering sports is the delayed camera.

Video tape is made of all the action. When the play-by-play announcer deems it desirable, he casually calls for the screening of a play which happened seconds before.

And there it is—even a little more spine-tingling the second time through.

The technique on the re-play is to follow the key man, often a flanker who nabs a pass with a near-impossible grab, then gets racked up by an unhappy safety man, who always wants to break the catcher in two for doing the deed in that zone.

As the viewer watched the play while it actually happens, the pass catcher usually isn't seen until the last second. His journey to the point where he snatched the pigskin may have been fraught with peril.

A corner man might have elbowed the guy, then as the flanker cut, a wet spot of turf gave way and he slipped momentarily, leaped up and plugged along. All of this, missed the first time, is seen during the re-play sequence.

Potential pass-catching young men can learn the "moves" of these pros during the video tape showing.

Here's a toast to the TV guy who came up with this device. It just about makes sitting in the stands obsolete — the $5 ticket holder sees the action once and that's it. Besides, he misses out on all those grand Marlboro Country movies that so thrill the at-home fans.

★

SINCE THIS seems to be developing into an essay with a TV flavor, it might be well to make mention of a Sunday offering called "Day of Infamy."

Beautifully done, the 60-minute show should be preserved and re-run each year in early December for the enlightenment and education of Americans—not to wish ill will to the modern Japanese, only to warn ourselves as to what can happen when we forget to be prepared.

What I imagined would be a shoot 'em up version of the Pearl Harbor bombing turned into a crisp historical documental reaching back to the Thirties when the Japanese war lords got a strangle hold on their government.

To keep this power, they had to have conquest. Manchuria was the first step, then the attack on China. Fat with success, the generals and admirals asked one another, "Why not the whole Far East?"

The United States' Eighth Fleet was the only thing standing in their way. "Destroy it!" was the decision. Actually, that's what happened, but the Nips didn't realize this and failed to follow up their advantage fast enough. In the few hours after Pearl Harbor was struck, a diverse America was solidified as one.

"Day of Infamy" was a great program. Like the delay re-play deal, here is television at its best.

★

IN CLOSING, let's consider the proposal by Bill Ford, owner of the Lions, made for a city-owned stadium to seat 80,000.

What Mr. Ford wants is Detroit to build a playground on which his behemoths can romp, as the turnstiles click merrily to rack up more profits for his football company.

A noble proposal, Bill, but instead of the municipality sticking its neck out, how about some private individual, or concern, like, say, Ford Motor Co. erecting a giant stadium?

There would be a locked-in deal for Lions' games and then the management could ring in the Tigers, plus assorted other athletic endeavors.

If building a sports park, primarily for privately-owned professional teams, is good business for the city, it would probably be good business for Ford Motor.

That the Lions and Tigers need better facilities is agreed. These should be ultra-modern, offer comfortable seats, eliminate supporting poles (now about every 30 fans up in the grandstands have one to look through) and ample, convenient parking, maybe an escalator or two and some good restaurants right in the park.

To regress, the present Tiger Stadium is a re-make of Briggs Stadium, which is a re-make of Navin Field, which is a re-make of Bennett Park (if I'm not mistaken) — and there we are in the era of World War I.

And who wants to drive a 1920 Model T Ford these days?

Apparently, not even Bill of the same last name.

Injunction Plea Denied by Court

By JIM LINCOLN

An injunction against the City of Tecumseh to halt construction of the GM sewer was denied Wednesday morning at a hearing in Circuit Court at Adrian before Judge Rex Martin.

The controversy between Tecumseh and Raisin Township will be continued, however, as the jurist set Dec. 29 as a pre-trial date and Jan. 12 for a trial.

Judge Martin's ruling does not prohibit the city from continuing construction of the sewer.

Following a 25-minute recess and after informing the principals of his decision, he said any continuation of laying the sewer would have to be done at the city's risk.

★

CITY OFFICIALS after the meeting said work would continue and were hopeful that an out-of-court settlement could be reached with the Raisin Township Board before the pre-trial date.

Judge Martin said the problem is a case of law, and not what is reasonable or fair, and that the city should have obtained the township's permission before starting the sewer.

Attorney James Beardsley represented Tecumseh, and cited the original resolution signed jointly by the city and the township to assist in providing a sewer for GM.

In questioning James Mitchell, township supervisor, the local attorney brought out that the Raisin Township board felt that the increase in size of the original planned sewer — from six inches to eight inches — opened the door to city annexation.

★

THE SUPERVISOR also stated upon questioning that the installation of the sewer was not hurting the township, although he had signed an affidavit to the effect on Dec. 3.

John Riley, Blissfield lawyer representing the township, read a section of Michigan's constitution which requires township approval for construction such as a sewer, by a municipality within the boundaries of a township.

After the two attorneys presented their arguments, Judge Martin recessed with them and Cal Zorn, city manager, and Mr. Mitchell.

Mayor Harold Easton attended the hearing as did Councilmen John Hamilton, Gene Tuckey and Robert Bonner.

Trailer Park Proposal Is Still Studied

CLINTON — Growing bigger can be expensive, this village council is learning.

That's what slows down a decision to approve a 400-unit trailer park, which has been proposed by John Nuding of Toledo.

It would be located on a 60 acre plot, directly across from the Clinton State Police Post on land owned by Mrs. Chalmers Campbell.

Councilmen discussed the project at length Tuesday night and will continue to delve into it and probably have a special session to formulate a final decision.

★

THE MAIN PROBLEM centers on sewage.

The trailer park would be tied into the city's system and when all 400 spaces are filled, the present wastewater treatment plant would hit designed capacity, necessitating an addition.

This might mean a bond issue for all village property owners. The question is, how much should the developer be asked to pay for sewer hookups?

Water and storm sewers would also be tied into the Clinton system, meaning additional costs to be borne by developer Nuding.

New 75-Home Sub Underway

What eventually will be a 75-home subdivision at Occidental Hwy. and Russell Rd., is now underway.

Being planned by Lavoy Builders of Temperance, the first three basements are now being dug by Arthur Brady.

The homes will have three bedrooms and be in the $15,000 price range. Models are expected to be ready for showing in late January or February.

Covering a 40-acre plot, the new subdivision was formerly the Carroll Frost farm.

New Police Car Collides with Pickup

A new Tecumseh Police Department patrol car was badly damaged Dec. 5 when it collided with a pick-up truck on Oneida St., immediately south of E. Chicago Blvd.

The accident happened when Patrolman Fred W. Judson, 28, of 713 Seneca St., made a right turn onto Oneida St. from Chicago Blvd.

The car slipped on the ice and skidded into a pick-up truck being driven north by Irwin W. Keilman, 28, of 17291 Milwaukee Rd., Dundee. The left front corners of both vehicles were damaged. The police sedan had been driven but 3,500 miles.

Mr. Keilman was cited for driving with an expired operator's license by Dep. D. W. Davis of the Lenawee Co. Sheriff's Dept.

Polio Make-up Days Friday and Saturday

Persons who failed to receive their anti-polio sugar cube Sunday may do so during regular store hours Friday and Saturday, Dec. 11 and 12, at Hodges, Lamb's and Wright's drug stores in Tecumseh.

At the regular feeding Sunday, 4,788 persons took the vaccine.

HERALD PHOTO BY TOM RIORDAN

SHE'S QUITE AN ARTIST — Mother Nature sure knows how to make things beautiful, although when she goes into her act, for us mortals, it means slippery roads and sidewalks. Under her brush, weeds are transformed into shimmering silver jewels. Whole fields sparkle as though they were loaded with a billion fireflies.

Alai Given Boost by Board, Raise

By TOM RIORDAN

Farhang Alai will keep his job as Lenawee County sanitary engineer — and be given an annual raise from $8,000 to $8,592 to boot.

The pay increase was a happy coincidence for Mr. Alai and had nothing to do with the squabble of the past three weeks.

Raises of 11% for almost all county employees — including Mr. Alai's $592 — were approved by the Board of Supervisors at Wednesday's meeting, the same session at which Mr. Alai was given solid backing from the group.

Two statements were presented by Adrian Mayor Walter Bohn, chairman of the Health Committee. The first was signed by him along with John Hamilton of Tecumseh, Mills Swick of Macon Township and Charles Waid of Adrian Township.

It read:

"We, the members of the Health Committee, after weighing all the factors carefully, firmly believe that Mr. Farhang Alai shall be retained as Sanitary Engineer for Lenawee County for the good of the health, welfare and public safety of the people of Lenawee County."

★

THE OTHER was written by Mr. Alai and stated:

"I wish to express my sincere regret if I have offended anyone in the course of my duties as Lenawee County Sanitary Engineer. If there are any such misunderstandings at the present time, I wish to have them brought to my attention so they may be reviewed and clarified."

When he finished reading them, Mayor Bohn jumped in the routine of presenting the bills for his committee. It seemed for a moment if no discussion would be made on the Alai case.

However, George Kunze of Madison Township, broke the silence with blasts:

► At the Health Committee for "vacillating" on the handling of the Alai situation.

► At newspapers "for running county government" with special vitriolic mention of "The Tecumseh What Ever It Is."

But Mr. Kuntz's time in the spotlight was quickly snuffed out when other supervisors took the floor.

Barney Zonkers, city manager of Hudson, said that Mr. Alai was highly respected in his area and this week a septic tank installer, Terry Yeager, told him "I'll stand by him (Mr. Alai.)"

This was the opinion of others around Hudson who are in this same business, Mr. Zonkers added.

Tecumseh Mayor Harold Easton told the board he would like to "congratulate the Health Committee."

★

MR. HAMILTON explained, "The newspapers had nothing to do with the decision (to retain instead of sack the engineer). He added that the committee traced statements made about Mr. Alai and "found many to be lies."

"We are concerned with all of Lenawee County and this is what we based the decision on," the Tecumseh man pointed out.

Mayor Bohn told the group, "This has been good for the county and good for us as committee people. When we have an appeals board, a lot of talk will be squelched.

He said that people had called and written him, who now admit they were wrong in their first appraisel of Mr. Alai's decisions, but admit that adhereing to the County Sanitary Code, as he insisted they do, was the proper action to have taken.

Jim Mitchell of Raisin Township, one-time Health Department Chairman, stated, "I'll back the Health Department and Committee clear through."

★

CLINTON'S ED HULETT added, "It seems time to quit feuding with the Health Department and give a vote of confidence for the doctor (Dr. Eleanor Skufis) and the engineer."

By this time, Mr. Kunze was on his feet again and said he was weary of "all this oratory."

With that a motion was made to adjourn the morning session and the subject was closed for the day — probably for some time to come.

It's Free Parking

Council approved free off-street parking from Dec. 17 to Dec. 24 for Tecumseh merchants, who will pay the city $100 for the grant.

Laura Seager Rated Among Nation's Best Students in English

Laura Seager, a Tecumseh High senior, has been cited as one of the outstanding students of high school English in the country.

The National Council of Teachers of English has named her a 1964 national winner in its annual Achievement Awards competition.

Last spring a committee of English teachers from the high school nominated Miss Seager to represent Tecumseh in the competition.

Nearly 8,000 students vied for the NCTE citation. Of that number, 860 finalists were chosen.

They represent 620 schools from 50 states, the District of Columbia and American Preparatory Schools Abroad.

★

IN ANNOUNCING the winners, James R. Squire, Executive Secretary of National Council of Teachers of English, said that the Council recommends these students for college scholarships in 1965.

The names of these students are sent to every college and university admissions officer. In previous years, 99% of the Awards winners entered the college of their choice.

Approximately 80% of those applying for scholarships received financial aid.

★

THE NCTE SENDS to all winners and runners-up scrolls of recognition. It honors their high school departments with certificates of merit.

Mrs. Irene Boltz and Mark Renfro have been Laura's English instructors at Tecumseh High School.

Laura's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Allan Seager, 309 W. Chicago Blvd.

S. Van Buren St. Gets Curb, Gutter

A petition for curb and gutter for the 100 and 200 blocks of S. Van Buren St. was accepted by Council Monday night.

It was referred to the city engineer for scheduling.

Home Decoration Prizes Total $40

Long known as a beautifully-decorated city during the Christmas season, Tecumseh will surpass earlier efforts this year.

The Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department is expecting many home owners will enter the home-decorating contest it is sponsoring. The contest was last held here in 1961 when it was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The Department is offering three prizes:

FIRST — $25 savings bond
SECOND — $15 gift certificate
THIRD — $5 gift certificate.

The United Savings Bank is donating the bond. The certificates are being contributed by towntown merchants.

Lighting and general decorations will be judged on the basis of originality, artistic merit, lighting technique and general composition. Expense of materials and elaborateness will not be taken into consideration, a spokesman for the department said.

Judges will be members of the Senior Citizens Group which meets in the Tecumseh Community Center.

Deadline for entries is Dec. 21 and judging will take place that night and Dec. 22. Entrants are asked to have their displays lighted from 6:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. the nights of the judging.

Entrants must fill out and mail the form (left) in order to be eligible.

Home Fans Get First Look at THS Cagers

Tecumseh's home basketball season opens here Friday night when the Indians meet a visiting Flat Rock five.

The Jaycee game is scheduled for 6:30, with the varsity tilt slated to get underway about 8.

Although the Rams were victorious in their opener, a win here would be a big upset. The Indians are considered the favorite for the Huron League championship.

Last week against Dundee, Coach Vic Lawson cleared the bench and still won by 15 points. While the Vikings have no team to compare with last year's, they're better than average.

Probable starters for Tecumseh are Gregg Allen, Terry Alcock, Dave Tilton, Jeff Osburn and Jim Lawson.

Allen and Lawson topped the Indian scorers in the opener with 22 and 21 points respectively. However, a well-balanced scoring attack is likely, with any of the Tecumseh starters apt to crack the double-figure scoring column.

The Tecumseh-Flat Rock game is the only home tilt this month. The Indians will travel to Milan next week and then participate in the ARHT Holiday Tournament in Adrian during Christmas vacation.

Two pictures of the THS win over Dundee appear on the first page of the second section.

Weather Is Culprit

Snow and ice were instrumental in most of the nine accidents investigated by the Tecumseh police during the past week.

Last Thursday, slippery conditions prevailed when two fender-benders occurred.

Anrf L. Cairns, 35, 602 Division St., was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way after an intersection collision with Barbara Knisely, 31, 106 S. Maumee St.

The accident happened at the intersection of Maumee and Shawnee Sts., when the Cairns vehicle was unable to stop.

Strelsa M. Heberlein, 43, of 144 W. Logan, skidded in the N. Evans St. bridge and damaged the left front-end of the car. A charge of violation of the basic speed law was made.

Friday, Harold C. Easler, 48, Hillsdale, was cited for violation of the basic speed law after sliding into the rear of a car driven by Alfred J. Brown, 21, of 706 W. Chicago Blvd.

Jerry Dean Dowling, 18, Adrian, slipped off the road Saturday on N. Evans, near the Macon Rd. intersection.

That afternoon, cars driven by James Brown, 18, Clinton, and Rosa K. Miller, 21, Palmyra, backed into each other in the laundromat parking lot on S. Ottawa.

Monday, Joseph P. Caterina, 16, of 8800 Newburg Hwy., was charged with violation of the basic speed law after skidding into the rear of an auto operated by Gerald L. Snead, 19, Onsted.

A similar accident and charge was made Monday against Elizabeth M. McKnight, 27, Adrian, after an accident involving a car driven by David C. Henning, 22, of 215 Burt St.

Howard L. Cavin, 42, of 412 E. Logan St., was cited for improper backing Monday after a scrape with a car driven by Sue Ann Hammack, 17, of 410 W. Brown.

Two out-of-towners were involved in a minor accident Wednesday of last week. Edward C. Kanous, 54, Britton, was charged with violating the basic speed law after colliding with Chrystal I. Fuller, 50, Jackson, on slippery E. Chicago Blvd.

"It's old but it's mine, No finance." What a joy to know there are others who believe in a "pay as you go system". This proud little sentence was seen on one of the more experienced cars about town Monday.

"Baby, it's cold outside and windy, too." Kim Dabe in Alaska wasn't kidding when he sent this little note on his Christmas card to The Herald office employees. He added that winds were up to 100 miles an hour up there in the 49th state.

Diane Kay Spohr is urging Santa Claus to bring her two front teeth for Christmas, but she is making it clear that isn't ALL she wants. See Letters to Santa.

Did we get any calls about that Santa letter in which a child asked for a girdle for her Mama? Nary a one. Apparently no one questioned that we'd sfretched the truth. We didn't.

Herrick Nursing Home, just one year old this month, is filled to capacity with 25 residents and there is a waiting list, explains Orrie Gilbert, administrator. First one to enter was Mrs. Allan Seager, who checked in Dec. 5, 1964 and still lives in the Nursing Home.

Letters to Santa have been arriving at a brisk pace with some youngsters including their pictures, which we've run and will do so as long as there is room. Another twist, sending original drawings with letters. We're using several this week and hope to have room for others — however, no promises.

Incidentally, we became a little suspicious when several Santa notes got over-zealous with commercial plugs for local business places and requested that Jolly Old St. Nick bring them "that cute checkout boy from Kroger's."

Our teen-age photo apprentice, Jim Wilbar, said his illusions were shattered when he noted that Santa's beard was a chinzy cotton. "From that time on, I didn't believe," he told us. We couldn't resist, "When was that, Jim, last year?"

If you'd like to be interviewed regarding our early-week edition in coming Herald survey, please call 423-2174 or drop us a note. We're getting a questionnaire together and will be checking readers prior to Christmas.

Folks who wish to select a Christmas greeting ad for the annual Yule edition may do so now. (The publishers want to vacation in Florida the week between holidays.)

"Yes, my son is getting married," said Mrs. Lester Ruhl at the Kroger Store, then with a side-long glance at the Cities Service Station across the street, "But his name is Larry, not George and his fiancee is Nancy Goodin. Some people are giving me the wrong daughter-in-law."

He's a fine boy — er, man. His Christmas card, picturing the Naval Hospital at Camp LeJeune, N.C., warms the cockles of The Herald's heart. Donald McCrate is a most considerate subscriber and we appreciated his thoughtfulness.

Tryout Days Are Changed

Tryouts for "The Music Man" have been moved back one week.

They'll be Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 19 and 20, instead of this weekend as previously announced.

Both sessions begin at 2 p.m.

The change was necessary since Director Bill MacAnallan of Jackson was tied up in New York at a theatrical workshop.

"The Music Man" will be presented seven times in February by the Tecumseh Players. The cast will number about 50 children and adults.

Tryouts will be held in the Players' new little theatre, Odd Fellows Hall on Green Hwy.

READERS WRITE

TO THE EDITORS:

I much prefer the paper coming as before once a week with all the news at one time. I always looked forward to the paper coming on that day, would get a thrill in looking it over and reading it. But coming so often becomes tiresome with out the thrill of receiving it.

I am afraid you will lose a lot of your out-of-town subscriptions if you decide to continue with it this way.

Sincerely,
Detroit Reader

Junior High, Cadet Bands Plan Concert

About 200 students will participate with Miles Cowdrey directing the Cadet Band and Donald Johnson, the Junior High Band.

Among selections presented by the Junior High Band will be a Christmas March, "Santa's Holiday", "Greensleeves", "Yuletide Sketches" and "Nativity Overture".

The Cadet Band will present "The Christmas Story" interspersed by carols.

All of the flutes will be featured in the concluding number, "Silent Night".

Anti-Polio Makeup

CLINTON — Residents of Clinton who failed to get their second anti-polio sugar cube Sunday may receive it between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the Ehnis and Steffens Drug Stores.

'Compulsive Urge'

Horace Ruffin, 33, of Detroit has found out it doesn't pay to monkey around with the wallets of Tecumseh physicians.

The ex-convict, who severed the doctors from their cash while they worked in surgery at Herrick Memorial Hospital Friday, pleaded guilty to grand larceny.

He admitted to stealing $95 from Dr. Merlyn Blanden and agreed he had also taken $10 from Dr. Carlton Cook and $20 from Dr. Al Phelan. The wallets were in the doctors' coats in the physician lounge at the hospital.

"I have a compulsive urge to steal," Ruffin told Circuit Judge Rex Martin at his arraignment. He's confined to the Lenawee County Jail on $7,500 bond pending his sentencing.

The pickpocket was apprehended as he attempted to enter the doctors' lounge in Bixby Hospital last week. An Adrian physician halted him and asked for his identity.

At his trial Ruffin admitted about $5,000 in similar thefts in hospitals in Wisconsin, Texas and California.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Unusual is the appropriate word for describing the four generation family affair held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Westgate on East Kilbuck St.

Door swags of turpentine pine with 12 inch needles and six or seven inch cones were used by the Westgates who brought them from South Carolina.

Following a week-long Thanksgiving holiday with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson in St. Matthews, S.C., the couple brought boughs home so they might have a "part of the Wilsons" here for Christmas. Red pyracantha berries, holly and mistletoe were also among their treasures.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Westgate, formerly of Morenci, who have moved to their farm home on Labardee Rd., were the honored guests Sunday. Others were Mr. Westgate's children, Mr. and Mrs. Cassius Johns, nee Pearl Westgate, and five children of Adrian; Mr. and Mrs. Gail Staup and three children of Blissfield, nee Marion Westgate; and Mr. and Mrs. William Westgate and two children of rural Adrian.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Cheever expect to leave Dec. 22 for Fort Worth, Texas to spend Christmas with her son, Lt. Col. James B. Clark, and family. Other guests in the Clark home will be Mrs. Cheever's grandson, James B. Clark, II, who will leave Jan. 10 for Puerto Rico to be stationed with the coast guard.

A daughter, Amy Lynne, was born Dec. 4 in Woman's Hospital, Ann Arbor, to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hathaway. The baby weighed 7 lbs. and 14 oz. and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Hathaway and the Rev. and Mrs. Wade Roberts of Ridgeway.

Scott David, 7 lbs., 9 oz., was born at 7 a.m. Monday morning in the William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hendershot. Brother Michael is spending some time here with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Witt and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gove.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Day entertained Saturday evening. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stone, Mr. and Mrs. William Fishlock of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Day and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Grigg.

Babies born in December must be especially blessed since they arrive so near to the birthday anniversary of the Christ Child. Readers will be interested in these newborns. Lisa Lee, 7 lbs., 11 oz. was born Dec. 4 to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hooton in Dusseldorf, Germany. The baby's dad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gale Hooton and his wife is the former Lorena Baldwin of Clinton.

Parents Announce Coming Marriage of Nancy Goodin

The engagement of Nancy J. Goodin to Larry J. Ruhl is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Goodin, 11888 Macon Rd.

Mr. Ruhl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ruhl, 302 W. Kilbuck St.

Both young persons are members of the class of 1963 of the Tecumseh High School.

Miss Goodin is employed at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. Her fiance is employed in Rawsonville.

Plans are being made for a summer wedding.

Jack Escorts Girls

"Jack Frost nipping at your nose" was part of the excitement of the annual Yule Log Hunt for Cadette Girl Scouts December 2. There was fresh snow and really crisp air to hurry the girls along the routes laid out by Mrs. Jack Curtiss and Mrs. Art Baaske's troop 178.

A roaring fire greeted Mrs. William Rohweder's wrong troop as they returned to the cabin. Finding the yule log this year makes them hostesses for the hunt next year.

Noses and toes were warmed while they enjoyed barbecues and hot chocolate. The Christmas tree was made of cupcakes, a dessert creation by Mrs. Bart Christman.

Assembly of God To Present Film at Sunday Service

"Conflict," a sound color film which depicts the struggle between the forces of good and evil, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 13, in the Assembly of God Church, 13093 Allen Rd., Clinton.

"Conflict" is produced by Lester Sumrall, evangelist, world traveler and missionary, and includes scenes actually filmed by him as they happened.

It presents heathen life and practices and the miracle power of the gospel.

"Conflict" will be introduced by the Rev. Marion Dye, a LESEA representative. The film will be followed by prayer for the sick.

The public is invited to attend by the pastor, the Rev. C. M. Butler.

Water Line Is Rejected

A special assessment for construction of a water main on Clark St., which extends north off the east end of Burt St., was rejected by Council Monday night.

Denial was based on three reasons:

► Street right-of-way not dedicated to the public

► Probability of well-drillers furnishing water

► Objections from property owners.

TEEN TALK

By DEBBIE EARLING

The Art Club held its second meeting of the year Dec. 5. Initiated were Carol Cook, Georgia Meads, Janet Sinkey, Carol Hamilton, Lavern Stites, Donna Rinehart, David Woodby and Marilyn Solarski. A group picture for the annual was taken. Christmas displays were discussed and a display committee was set up with Tim Rinehart as chairman. Membership pins were discussed, but no decision was made. Refreshments were furnished by the initiates.

Science Club met Nov. 18. The discussion was centered on the annual Science Fair coming up in March. The guest speaker was Dr. Harold Ocamb who talked on the history of surgery.

Future Nurses Club members made favors for the hospital trays last month. Plans are being made for a bake sale for Christmas. Each of the girls is expected to help furnish. The club received a letter from the organization through whom they are supporting an orphan. They were informed that there is no specific information available about her. The club feels that their money is being used for the benefit of other children and not for the benefit of their own orphan. They are thinking seriously of dropping the aid.

Due to difficulty in finding dates on the busy calendar the THS Band, in cooperation with the Chorus, will present its program Dec. 21, sharing the evening with the Chorus.

Fire Damages Painting Plant

Fire, presumably started by an overheated drying oven, Wednesday damaged the roof and some equipment at the R & S Industrial Painting Co. plant at 6301 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd.

Mrs. Roy Kyle, co-owner with her husband, could give no estimate of the loss.

The firm paints auto parts and cosmetic boxes and employs seven persons.

Toy Sale Plans Made by MYF

A project designed to give a helping hand to Santa Claus will be conducted by the members of the Tecumseh Senior Methodist Youth Fellowship Saturdays, Dec. 12, and 19 in the Social Room of the Church.

The sale of packaged toys, reasonably priced for stocking stuffers, children's exchange gifts, and novelty gifts, will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Profits from the sale will be used for the Methodist Youth Fund and scholarship aid to students in Monrovia, Liberia.

Kirk Lucas and Dennis McClure are co-chairmen of the project.

Kiwanians Collect Gifts for Institute

Fred Nash, Lt. Gov., Division 7, Kiwanis, is appealing for kitchen utensils, workshop tools and gym equipment to be used in the Lenawee Institute.

Mr. Nash pointed out donations of such articles and Christmas packages for the pupils may be sent to him or directly to the school.

The family night Christmas dinner of the WCTU was held Dec. 8 at the Friends Church with 34 members and 21 guests attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker Tagsold, Sr. of Hillsfield were among the guests. Mrs. Tagsold is the newly elected state president.

After a potluck chicken dinner, a program was presented in the auditorium with Mrs. Paul Brantingham presiding.

She introduced her own children, Paula 9, and Sammy, 7, who played a piano duet, "Joy to the World" and sang two selections, "Dear Santa, Have You Had the Measles?" and "O Come Ye Children."

★

MRS. BRANTINGHAM presented the Rev. Donald Porteous, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who stressed the effect of alcohol upon the nation and how the liquor interests use every advertising means to convince the individual to drink.

He said 55 per cent of the people of the nation partake of alcohol in some degree, and added that drinking has increased enormously in the last decade.

Mrs. Tagsold spoke briefly about a book, "Does Beer Belong" that may be published March 1 and may be offered for usage in the schools.

Mrs. Tagsold warned of possible legislation that might permit Sunday sale in the United States.

She said that she wrote to Presipent L. B. Johnson asking him "to countermand the order of the Department of Defense which permits the installation of packaged liquor in army posts across the country."

In a letter from Mable Fisk, WCTU National legislative director, it was stated that the Army has said that they were doing this for the boy's own good but "we feel that many more young men under 21 will be exposed now than would have been tempted otherwise."

★

MRS. TAGSOLD urged that members write to congressmen and the president urging countermanding of the order.

Paul Speer spoke of his WCTU-sponsored trip to Caseville to the WCTU camp last August.

He told of classes of instruction regarding alcohol and its effects on the brain, and of an other on parliamentary procedure.

Swimming, playing musical instruments and other camping events were participated in by 80 attending.

Preceding his talk, Paul, and his sister, Mary, accompanied themselves on electric guitars as they sang a duet, "I Cannot Find The Way Alone."

Right to Bank

For the convenience of all Tecumseh area churches, organizations, and individual contributors, a CROP account has been opened at the United Savings Bank. The bank will also accept money sent in by mail if the contributor will indicate, "For CROP Account."

Cash gifts received by CROP during the 1964 campaign will be used to purchase navy beans for overseas feeding programs. Milk powder is also on the list of urgently needed foods.

All churches have been asked to give their members an opportunity to contribute to the feeding of the world's hungry through a special offering using CROP envelopes which are available from Robert Ries, local campaign chairman.

CROP is the food collecting agency of Church World Service, sponsored in Michigan by the Michigan Council of Churches.

The goal for Michigan for 1964 is $150,000. One small town of less than 1,500 people has already contributed over $4,000. A $7 contribution will buy approximately 100 pounds of beans which will furnish 365 servings to some starving family overseas.

Cancer Is Topic by Dr. Bagshaw

Dr. Malcolm Bagshaw of Palo Alto, Calif., formerly of Tecumseh, attended the Radiological Society of North America meeting in Chicago recently. He presented a paper on the treatment of Cancer of the Prostate with High Energy X-rays.

He gave a demonstration stating that this kind of cancer can be cured in many cases if caught in the early stages.

Dr. Bagshaw also presented an exhibit on treatment of mycosis funzoides with high energy electrons. This is the type of skin cancer which strikes all of the skin of the body at the same time.

The exhibit won a citation of honorable mention. Dr. Bagshaw is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bagshaw, 615 W. Chicago Blvd.

Officers at Meet

Sheriff Richard Germond, Sgt. Wilbur Vogel, Sgt. Rollin K. Pontious and Deputy Roy Heineman were among 57 law enforcement officers attending the 14th biennial school for sheriffs and deputies held last week in East Lansing.

4,788 Take Sugar Cubes

Their second anti-polio vaccine was given on sugar cubes Sunday to 4,788 persons in Tecumseh. This compared to 5,369 who took part in the initial feeding during October.

In Britton, Sunday's total reached 1,069 and at Clinton 1,555 persons were on hand for the second feeding.

For residents who missed Sunday, make-up days will be Friday and Saturday, Dec. 11 and 12, at Hodges, Lambs and Wright's drug stores in Tecumseh during their regular hours.

Although no one is turned away, a donation of 50c per person is asked to cover costs.

★

BRITTON RESIDENTS will be included in the make-up days at the Tecumseh drug stores. Clinton residents may make-up the second feeding at either of the two drug stores there Friday, Dec. 11. Ehnis and Steffen's Drug Stores will accommodate people for this feeding between the hours of 11 a.m. and 5 p.m.

For those who received their first feeding Sunday, the second one may be obtained from their family physician in two months' time.

Officials believe those taking the first feeding in October included persons in town for the Fireman's Field Day. These persons would have taken their second feeding in their home communities thus accounting for the reduced number of doses given Sunday.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

Churchill, Lincoln and others have called attention to a dangerous deficiency in our free societies: the inability to secure fundamental reform without a crisis.

The reluctance of public officials and candidates to discuss controversial issues for fear of losing votes denies the public the knowledge required to support action before events themselves produce such knowledge and support.

One question of our times that cries for an answer is:

How do we get the modernization of state and local government without a crisis? . . .

In a crisis, basic changes and improvements can be made more easily than if things are going along smoothly. But if there is no crisis, most citizens and most officials prefer not to rock the boat.

Just as you cannot make an omelet without breaking eggs, you also cannot make fundamental improvements in government without rocking a few boats.

★

BUT FOR government to be forced into a crisis situation before improvements can be made is not only inefficient but also dangerous. We are all familiar with cases where the crisis arose, but the governmental structure could not respond fast enough to meet the crisis.

We must find an answer to this question. We must discover how to make improvements without being forced into a corner by crisis conditions.

This is a goal to which we must all put our shoulders. It is a task for citizens as individuals, for voluntary groups and, importantly, for political parties.

It is a process that must begin with education, greater citizen responsibility and involvement, and requires the spelling out of alternatives to secure action without a crisis.

WHEN CITIZENS are aroused, and informed, and know what to do, they can accomplish anything on earth. A crisis, unfortunately, usually must arise before such motivation and determination are created.

We must develop the means and methods to get people informed about shortcomings and involved in their solutions before these shortcomings lead to crisis and disaster.

The political parties can play a vital and determining role in this new process. Today neither party on a broad scale fills this role.

There is no doubt in my mind that Michigan would still have its old, horse-and-buggy constitution if it were not for our political and financial crisis that resulted in payless paydays back in 1959.

The crisis of 1959 woke up people to the fact that there were some fundamental shortcomings in the way their state government was doing business and that the tools that the Constitution provided its public officials were simply not honed for the job that they were expected to do.

The most important of these deficiencies were in hamstringing state and local government, and in bad legislative apportionment.

★

THE AIR OF CRISIS, in my opinion, was directly responsible for the success of our efforts at constitutional reform in Michigan.

Our times are marked by an ever-growing concentration of power in big government. And it seems that the federal government never waits to rush in where state government fears to tread.

If state and local governments continue to abdicate their sepsonsibilities, they have only themselves to blame when and if the federal government assumes authority over what should be state and local responsibilities.

Through its provisions for effective state and local government, Michigan's new Constitution is an important example of what can be done to halt the dangerous trend to centralism. It is an example of aroused and informed citizenship.

MEMENTO OF NORTHLAND — Mrs. Eugene Skinner of 611 N. Union St., arranges a realistic centerpiece which recreates some of the beauty she found in the North while on a recent hunting expedition with her husband near Lewiston. Mrs. Skinner collected the many varieties of moss, wintergreen and pine seedlings from a private hunting preserve. She keeps the plants well watered and they have continued to grow. A small toadstool has popped up among the greenery. Her husband is as proud of her work as he is of the deer he brought home.

OES Drops Gift Exchange

Members of Tecumseh Chapter 51, OES, decided this year to abandon their own 50c gift exchange for Christmas, instead giving the money to the Eastern Star Villa, for use by the children there.

A public pancake supper is planned by the chapter for 5 to 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 11, in the Temple dining room. Price is a dollar.

The chapter met at the Temple Thursday, with a potluck supper preceding the meeting at 6:30 p.m. There were 40 members and their families present.

MRS. ROBERT Bonner, chairman of the Villa Committee of the Grand Chapter of Michigan and Historian of the Lenawee-Monroe County Assn. was introduced and welcomed.

The altar was draped in a memorial for Mrs. Mary W. Covell, past grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Michigan, who died in October at the age of 95.

Mrs. Paul Gilliland, Jr. was installed as the point of Electa. She was unable to be present for the regular installation.

Christmas greetings were read from the Worthy Grand Matron and Worthy Grand Patron.

FOR PROGRAM, "A Christmas Star," the room was decorated with a lighted star and a lighted Christmas tree. The Worthy Matron read a Christmas poem, a solo was presented by Mrs. Marion McRae. The program included readings by the chaplain and the Star points as they lighted their candles, and duets by Mrs. McRae and Glenn Driscoll of "Silent Night," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Joy To The World" and "O Come All Ye Faithful."

The School of Instruction was again announced for Dec. 15 at Clinton at 7:30 p.m.

The officers party is Dec. 12 with a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ruettinger.

The next meeting will be Jan. 7, a regular meeting and initiation.

Refreshments were served in the dining room, decorated in keeping with the holiday season, by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Eberhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hoagland and Mrs. Kenneth Johnston.

Tom Edison's Talking Doll Is Part of Toy Display

DEARBORN — A fabulous exhibit of toys and games from America's past is now on display at the Henry Ford Museum.

Row upon row of picturesque china dolls, exciting mechanical games and novelty toys recall the joy and magic children experienced at Christmas from Colonial times through the early 20th century.

Set in the mood of an early American Toy Shop, the exhibit includes hundreds of precious toys once popular in America.

Among them is the ingenious Edison Talking Doll, personally constructed by the great Thomas A. Edison, which has a phonograph device concealed in it that plays the musical rhyme "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star."

★

OTHERS INCLUDE the famous "Pipsqueak Birds," colorful toy birds that produce melodious tones when their cloth bellows are depressed.

There are bright metal fire engines, wagons and other pull toys that will widen the eyes of any child, miniature houses, stuffed and papier-mache dolls, and hundreds upon hundreds of other fascinating items.

This special exhibit, open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days weekly through Jan. 3, is included in the regular admission charge to Henry Ford Museum.

Lime Fields Now

Fall and early winter is the best time to apply lime to fields intended for legume seeding in the spring, says James A. Porter, Michigan State University soil scientist.

Lime requires several months to breakdown for full effectiveness, he says, and unlike fertilizers does not have significant losses from leaching.

Thus, good time to apply lime is on the old sod before it is plowed. This allows sufficient time for full benefits to the legume seeding a year or more later. At the same time it gives some benefit to the immediate crops.

The MSU scientist says that applied at such a time, the soil is apt to be relatively dry or frozen. So there would be little damage from soil packing by the heavy spreading equipment.

★

HE GAVE THESE rules for the most efficient use of lime:

► Do not apply lime where it isn't needed. It does little good and may even prove harmful.

► Sample and test each field every three or four years.

► Whenever soil tests show a need for lime, apply it as soon as field and crop conditions permit.

► Use the government ACP cost sharing funds if available. But don't delay in applying lime just because funds are not available.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By MARTIN WHITAKER

"Miracles don't come in pairs" is the saying. But victories do, as demonstrated Dec. 1, by the Boysville Fighting Knights. The varsity cagers proved victorious in their first venture of the season, as they triumphed over the Deerfield Minutemen in an overtime contest, 56-49.

An underrated Knight team took the floor and sprang into an early lead. The first quarter ended with Boysville leading, 17-10. In the second period Deerfield narrowed the margin, then went ahead just before the half by one point, 25-24.

The third quarter, proving to be a see-saw battle, saw the Minutemen clutching to a narrow 36-34 lead. With only sixteen seconds left in the game, and Deerfield ahead by 44-42, Ron Klos found the hoop on a layup and tied the score seconds before the buzzer ended the regulation game time.

During the course of the three-minute period, Boysville limited the Minutemen to four points while scoring 11.

Scoring honors went to Ron Klos with 19, and Tom Blaney and Pascal Brown with 10 each.

A Minutemen junior varsity team bowed to the Junior Knights of Boysville 56-38. Scoring honors went to Harvey Ball, a two-year man, with 17 points.

Boysville's winter intramural program has begun. Brother Aloysius Glombowski, C.S.C., intramural director, has posted various teams to compete in basketball and volleyball. These Sunday morning activities are designed to offer physical activity for all boys not participating in varsity or junior varsity basketball, and to instill a competitive spirit in the boys.

Winners in the Thanksgiving essay contest sponsored by the CAMPUS INFO, Boysville's bi-weekly mimeographed newspaper, have been announced. They are Junior class members Joe Pawlus, Dave Levites, and Bill Kayl. Their themes varied from Joe Pawlus' commercial aspect of Thanksgiving and Dave Levites' comparison of our modern day Thanksgiving to that of old, to a more humorous note in Bill Kayl's "Thanksgiving in the Eyes of a Turkey."

As a reward for their efforts, their contributions were printed in their newspaper, and they received a prize of several paperback books.

Boysville has added another chef to its cooking staff. He is Arthur Gaul of Detroit, Mr. Gaul was employed on the culinary staff of such places as the Detroit Yacht Club, the Orchard Lake Golf and Country Club, and the Huron River Hunting Club. He lives on the Boysville campus.

The 11 boys who took the preliminary scholastic aptitude test have received their results. This nationwide test, taken about a month ago, tested the participants in two main fields, math and English. Perhaps special note should be given to Dave Levites, who finished in the ninety-ninth percentile in math. This means that Dave placed in the top one per cent of all students who took the exam in math.

The weeks before Christmas promise to be busy ones for the Glee Club, under the direction of Brother Philip Armstrong, CSC. Among their scheduled appearances are St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor, a Knights of Columbus party in Manchester, another Knights of Columbus party in Wayne, and two taped television shows on Channel 2. The latter engagement is in connection with the Rev. Father Raymond Schlinkert's weekly program, "With This Ring." The Glee Club will appear on Sunday, Dec. 13, and Sunday, Dec. 20, on Father's program. Father Schlinkert is pastor of St. Mary's Church in Manchester.

The Senior and Junior classes are to purchase their class rings in the near future. As of this date, no word has been given on the design of the rings or the date they might be received.

Boysville's annual Candlelight banquet" will be held in the dining hall on the evening of Monday, Dec. 21. The banquet is the traditional "sendoff" to the boys for Christmas vacation.

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

Q. I have been disabled and unable to work for over 6 months, but my employer is continuing to pay my full salary for 1 year. Can I get disability payments when I still get my full pay?

A. Yes. The fact that your employer continues to pay you has no bearing on your disability claim as long as you are not performing any work.

Q. You often suggest to your Inquirers that they get in touch with the social security office before retiring. I'm still not too clear on the advantages on doing this. Would you explain again, please?

A. The most important reason for calling early at the social security office is to obtain definite information about what you can expect from social security. This information will have a bearing on your planning — that is: when you may retire — at 62, at 65 or later; also, what steps you might take in advance to assure yourself of a more adequate income — such as the purchase of annuities or arranging for a part-time job, completion of time payments while still working, etc. Also, if you are about to retire, you may make application for social security benefits as much as 3 months ahead of time, so your checks will start promptly.

Q. I have had tuberculosis for over 6 months but I may be able to go back ot work before long, although my doctor can't tell for sure — it could be several months yet. Should I file for social security disability benefits anyway?

A. By all means, get in touch with your nearest social security office. Many people put off filing, because even though they've been disabled 6 months, they expect to return to work shortly. In some cases their recovery takes longer than expected and they later find out that they have lost benefits by not filing sooner.

Q. From time to time, I hear that people have "lost" social security benefits. How does this happen?

A. The loss of social security benefits occurs because the person concerned is not aware of his or her rights under the law and does not get in touch with the social security office until after the loss has occurred. Social security benefits can be paid retroactively for as much as — but no more than — one year. Because of the technical workings of the retirement rule, it is often possible to pay a husband and wife some benefits for a year in spite of earnings as substantial as $3,400 or $3,500 in that year. If the worker waits too long, he may lose some of these payments. It is best to call at the social security office several months before you reach retirement age, even though you are working full-time, and at any time between the ages of 62 and 65. You avoid "losing" some of your social security benefits.

Do you have a question about Social Security? If so, write to your Social Security Field Representative for Lenawee County, James C. Hushion, 536 N. Jackson Street, Jackson, Michigan. All letters are confidential and you will receive an immediate reply.

Ida Tops Tories by 88 - 31 Count

By KAREN HARRIOTT

Saturday night the Britton Tories were as cold as the weather as they lost to the Ida Bluestreaks, 88-31, on Ida's home court. For once the tall Toris were on the short end of the height department for the Bluestreaks starting line-up averaged a tall 6'3".

Walt Korican and Gary Dunham were high point men for the Tories with seven points each while Gary Anderson scored 16 for the Bluestreaks.

Ida captured the lead in the first quarter of the game, 24-6, and at half-time, led 43-18. In the third quarter the Bluestreaks added 27 more points against Britton's four. Again Ida outscored Britton in the final quarter and gained 18 points to Britton's 9, thus winning by a margin of 57 points.

"They (Ida) are real big and move well," said Coach Sam Hamilton after his Tory team dropped their first league game in two years. "They will be hard to beat this season."

Tory reserves also witnessed defeat as Ida beat them, 50 to 20.

RUSH BEGINS — Postmaster Ronald Cheever of Britton welcomes J. V. Ferman, 118 W. Chicago Blvd., Clinton, as the latter presents Christmas boxes for mailing. Britton Post Office will be open all day Saturdays until Christmas from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.—photo by Becky Bigelow.

'Please Mail Now,' Postmaster Pleads

By BECKY BIGELOW

BRITTON — Have you done your Christmas mailing yet? If not, please hurry. It is especially important that out-of-town parcels be mailed early. The post office is very busy during the Christmas season and asks your co-operation.

Two things to remember when mailing your cards and packages are: always use the Zip Code, and be sure to wrap your packages securely. Be sure to pad breakables. Another safety check is insurance.

Although many persons believe that it is just as well to use 4-cent stamps on Christmas cards they are wrong. Envelopes with 4-cent stamps on them may not be returned if the address is wrong. The post office has put out some very decorative five cent stamps for this Christmas season. It would be a good idea to use them. Besides making the envelopes attractive, they will assure you of delivery.

Postmaster Ronald Cheever announced that the post office hours have been extended until Christmas. The office will be open from 7 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday beginning Monday, Dec. 14.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

There was an unusual flurry of activities in the staid old Lenawee County Board of Supervisors room at the Court House last week.

It was this writer's first visit to the austere quarters to see the men who run our county government in action. Frankly, this scribbler was quite thrilled.

Lo and behold, here was one George Kunzie, tall and dignified, on his feet, to utter in rolling prose, a slashing attack on man in general.

And whom should he bring in but Lenawee County's Oldest Newspaper. Mr. Kunze's age is unknown to me, but this Ole Gal is 114 and he seemed a little flippent in his references, not the least respectful to such a Grande Dame.

However, Mr. Kunzie is such a fascinating chap, it's excusable. In fact, his chiding of "The Tecumseh What Ever It Is" — which was because George was all atitter and couldn't remember her last name — made some fascinating listening.

Personally, nothing has been so much fun for me since the time about eight years ago an irate crowd decided no nosey newspaperman should be attending a board of education meeting and a wild-eyed man suggested, "Let's throw him out."

George became a trifle irate as he wound up, accused the newspapers of "running county government."

★

THIS TOUCHED a tender nerve because George gave the distinct impression that the Supervisors' Health Committee had reversed its field because The Herald and The Adrian Telegram (following at a discreet four-day pace), by reporting some political shanigans to oust the county's sanitation engineer, had dictated to the committee a course to follow.

This prompted John Hamilton of Tecumseh, a member of the Health Committee, to counter-battery. He emphasized that the group did considerable investigating and discovered that "facts" reported about the engineer in many cases turned out to be lies.

"The newspapers didn't make the decision," John told George.

It might be good to inject at this point, we agree with John. The role of the press was simply to reveal for public consumption what was happening behind closed doors and obviously George didn't care at all about this.

When the public got hold of the information, it began to react — in most instances in sharp reproach of the proposed sacking and in support of the engineer.

The publicity helped show the committee it better check out all aspects carefully. When this was done, the members realized it would be an error to dump the engineer, already well recommended by his boss, who also heads up the Health Department.

So they reversed their field 180 degrees, standing up straight and acting like men. This action deserves the congratulations of Lenawee County folks, who actually are the real winners.

Museum Offers Free Movies for Christmas

Two free Christmas films will be shown separately in the Toledo Museum of Art's Cloister on the Sundays before and after Christmas Day, according to Museum director Otto Wittmann.

The first film, "Christmas in Sweden," will be shown at 2 and 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 20, together with the animated cartoon, "Christmas Cracker."

The film is a story about the vehicle weight.

customs and celebrations of the holiday season in that Scandinavian country. "Christmas Cracker" is directed by Norman McLaren, who uses toys as his actors.

The second film, to be seen Sunday, Dec. 27, at 2 and 4 p.m., is "Big Downtown Christmas," a story based on a child's view of the vast Christmas window displays of Chicago department stores. "Christmas Cracker" will also be shown.

Restaurant Expansion Program Tops $35,000

Credit Mary Alice Powell, food editor for The Toledo Blade, with a speed-up in the beautification program for Don's Beef Buffet.

Several mentions by Miss Powell in Blade stories concerning the local restaurant, including one feature story, have done wonders for out-of-town business, states owner Don Smith.

Continued increase in trade had prompted Mr. Smith to telescope what originally was a 10-year enlargement plan into five years.

Next step will be a complete new front, extending the entire three stories of the building. It will be installed this spring.

★

THE STRIKING new front, designed by Buz Betzoldt of Tecumseh, and shown in a rendering at right, follows closely a major interior change completed a week ago.

This included removal of the half dozen booths in the front portion, and their replacement with a long row of upholstered seats, done in striking black Naugahyde.

Another row was added along the east wall, which was stripped down to the original brick. This alteration helped increase seating capacity by 20, from 96 to 116.

Mr. Smith, who is assisted by his wife, Edna, in management of the popular eating place, estimates his Five-Year-Program will cost $35,000 when completed with the new front.

Already done, besides the new seating arrangement, are the enlarged kitchen, altered rest rooms, new rear entrance, refinished floors and striking new tables and chairs.

★

"WE TRY to be three to five years ahead of the demand," Mr. Smith stated, "And we're preparing for the GM boom."

The Smiths will continue to feature artwork by Tecumseh artist Russell Steinke, but they'll have to discontinue the evening organ music after the holidays.

Their organist, Michael Dempsey of Adrian, and his brother are taking over the accounting business of their father, who died this fall.

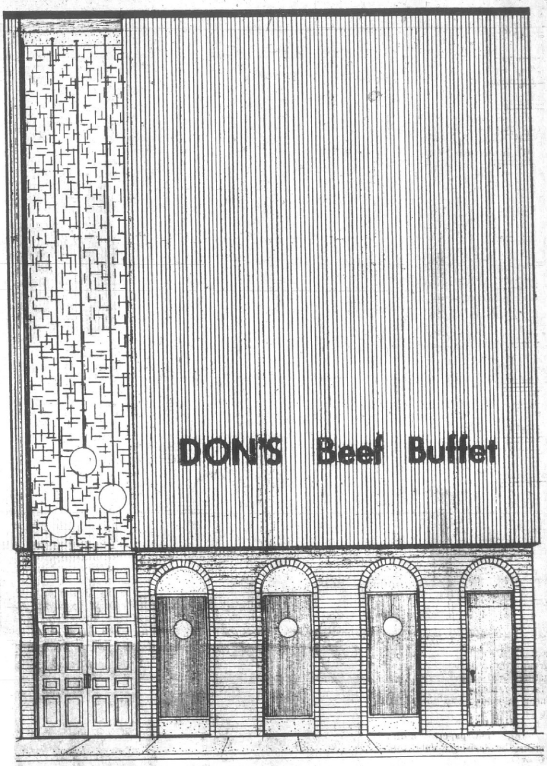
Miss Powell can't draw enough praise from the Smiths for the part she has played in spurring them on in their beautification and enlargement endeavors.

★

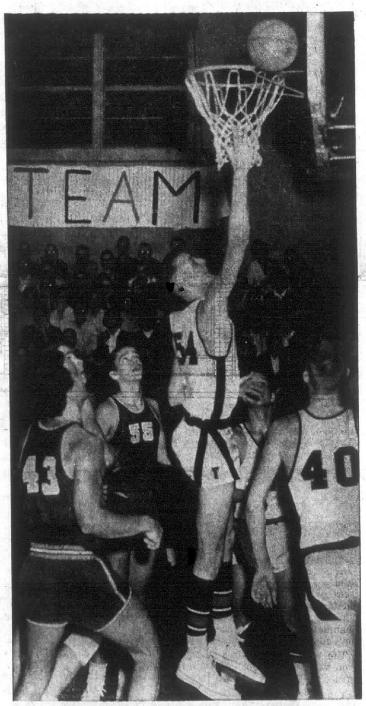
THANKS to The Blade articles, Toledo area people have been seeking out Don's Beef and then returning because they enjoy the meals, the atmosphere and apparently the moderate pricing.

Although a picture-feature on Don's appeared more than a year ago in The Blade, people continue to pop in, saying they saw the article and have been meaning to give Don's a try.

It's interesting to note that the Smiths employ 16 people, quite a jump from the tiny staff they had upon opening their restaurant here in 1953.



NEW FRONT — This will be the facade of Don's Beef Buffet, at the completion of an extensive remodeling program. The current work is designed by Buz Betzoldt, who prepared this sketch.



GOOD DRIVE — Tecumseh senior Greg Allen lit the scoreboard with this toss in the Indian's victory over Flat Rock Friday. Allen, who left the game in the third period with 14 points, will be Tecumseh's big gun in future tilts, representing 6' 4" of the Indian's assets.

Fouls Bother Tecumseh Five

A foul-prone Tecumseh five survived a third quarter scare by Flat Rock here Friday night, whipping the Rams 65-53 after the visitors tied the score at the end of three periods, 44-44.

Although Flat Rock had won its opener last week, a fairly easy game for the Indians had been expected. After an 18-11 first quarter for Tecumseh, an easy win was still in the offing, only to have FR come back strong.

Coach Vic Lawson found himself relying largely on his bench, and the two subs — Gordon Gibson and Don Hughes — came through.

Gibson played enough against Dundee in the opener to indicate his worthiness on the varsity.

The 6'6" Hughes, ill for the Dundee game, played in his first varsity game and helped Terry Alcock hold the Indians together against FR.

Although Hughes tallied only one goal, he repeatedly blocked FR shots and grabbed numerous rebounds.

ALCOCK turned in his finest prep game, controlling the boards and netting 15 points to pace the Tecumseh attack. The 6'3" Tipton junior dropped in two straight buckets to break the third-quarter tie and wound up the final period with 10 points.

The Indians started the tilt with a rush and seemed certain to rout the visitors.

Jeff Osburn tossed in three early goals, Dave Tilton two and the Indians eventually held an Survivors include his wife, father, and three daughters, Pamela, 16, Janelle, 14, and Connie, 13. Also surviving are two brothers, Rex of Munith and Kenneth of Osseo, and a sister, Mrs. Gale Leece, nee Virginia Berlin, of Litchfield.

Camera Club Is Formed

A camera club is being planned in Tecumseh, with the first meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 15, in the general science laboratory of the high school.

Encouraging local camera enthusiasts is the new darkroom facility which was included in the new high school wing.

All persons interested in photography are invited to attend the meeting. The type of camera equipment used is not important.

Guest speaker will be Bill Hancock, owner of the Photo Lab in Adrian.

Clinton Fetes Industry

CLINTON — Optimism and good cheer radiated from the faces of some 70 persons present last Monday for an appreciation dinner sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce for Clinton's new and old industries.

The diners filled Roumell's, even without a special effort to attract participants.

The newest industry, Budd Co., was represented by Charles Straight, plant manager; Richard Tarske, his assistant, and Joe Kelly, public relations manager for Budd.

They told of the development of a pilot plant for Budd's manufacture of disc brakes. This type of brake, long in use on foreign and racing cars, is coming into general use in the U. S. automotive industry.

The Budd Co., organized in 1912, has been making automotive products since 1916, and now has six divisions with plants in several locations. It has diversified into chemical, paper and railroad products.

Fast-expanding operations of Dearborn Steel Co. were outlined by Steve Cappucio and Robert Wilson.

When they moved into the old Clinton Woolen Mill building two years ago, they had 15 employes. With 204 on the rolls now, and doing a $4 million business last year, the firm has moved into larger quarters.

Peerless Gear Division, brought here this year from Ohio after purchase by Tecumseh Products Co., now has nearly 200 employees in the manufacture of transmission systems for small power units.

Other industrial representatives telling of growing activities were from Richards Engineering Co., the Thomas Co., Tipton Tool and Die Co. and Simax Engineering Co.

Progress reports also were given by Village President George Bowman, Postmaster Robert Mohr and School Superintendent Richard Wegner. Mrs. Rena Fitzpatrick was program chairman.

Beach Bros. Incorporate Business

Chet and Clarence Beach incorporated their Beach Bros. petroleum jobber firm here Dec. 1 with Ray Dollison, of 402 Herrick Park Dr.

The 32-year-old oil concern is one of the oldest businesses in Tecumseh and one of the largest of its kind in southeastern Michigan.

Mr. Dollison, 46, has 28 years' experience in the business, the last six as Fleet-Wing division manager for all of Lower Michigan.

He has worked from the office of Fleet-Wing Corp. at Cleveland, O.

He has been a resident here for the past two years with his wife, Virginia, and two children, Virginia, a sophomore at THS, and Lee, in junior high.

The new firm will be known as Beach Bros., Inc., with Mr. Dollison as general manager.

Accountant, Daughter Escape Injuries in Crash

James Mull, 35, of 212 Maple St. and his seven-year-old daughter escaped serious injury Thursday when their car was extensively damaged in a rear-end collision on W. Chicago Blvd.

The local accountant was waiting for traffic to clear to turn into his office parking lot when an auto driven by Harold R. Joseph, 64, Taylor Rd., crashed into the rear of the Mull vehicle.

Mr. Joseph was cited for failure to have his car under control.

In an accident Friday, Janice T. Mumaw, 22, Adrian, was charged with failing to stop within a clear assured distance after running into the rear of an auto driven by Irene McVay, 36, of 306 N. Van Buren.

A hit-skip accident was investigated by Tecumseh police Thursday after Mary Lou Fairbanks, Dinius Rd., reported her car damaged while parked on W. Pottawatamie.

The other unidentified driver scraped the left rear door of the Fairbanks car.

Costs Being Determined on Project

A petition from William Mackey to Council for sewer and water to his building on E. Russell Rd. was turned over last Monday night to the city engineer for construction costs per property owner.

The building is now being leased by the H. W. Tuttle Co., which plans to use the site for a new assembling plant.

A public hearing, the second scheduled for the facilities, will probably be held in January.

In November, Council denied the petitioner after objections from a principal property owner,

Jaycees Entertain

Twenty-seven couples attended the Jaycee dinner-dance Dec. 3 at the Tecumseh Country Club.

Thomas Morgan and Richard Creswell made arrangements for the party and individual corsages for the ladies.

A brief business session was held by the Jaycees following the dinner.

Robert Meadows Attending Albion

Among the 547 freshmen now attending first semester classes at Albion College is Robert Meadows, son of Mr. and Mrs. "Pat" Meadows, 1104 North River Ct.

All gold bulbs on a natural Christmas tree were used to enhance the Robert Bonner residence for the Past Matrons annual turkey dinner Wednesday evening.

Nearly 25 were seated for the meal served on red linen covered tables in the recreation room. Every window in the home was lighted with an electric candle and the dining room was handsome in pink.

Games were played following the dinner and a gift exchange made.

Judging from the exclamations of those attending the social evening was a huge success.

A 2/c Elwyn Bailey III, son of M/Sgt. and Mrs. Elwyn Bailey, Jr. of 503 Murray Dr. is spending a 38-day leave with his parents before going to Anchorage, Alaska. He has been stationed at Selfridge Field for two years.

The William Fielder family attended the funeral service Saturday in Jackson of Mrs. Julia Faulkner, 74, who died at Ford Hospital Wednesday. Mrs. Faulkner was the sister of Mrs. Fielder. James and Richard Fielder acted as pall bearers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Ruhl and other friends of Clinton accompanied Mr. and Mrs. James Fielder to the holiday ball Saturday evening. The Jim McKennas were there with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Osburn. A reindeer's head with tinsel in the antlers viewed the partygoers from the east end of the cocktail lounge. Red and green lights were used on the natural green giant Christmas tree and on the wreath over the fireplace. Santa dropped his bag down the chimney and was himself descending, at least his boots were showing in the chimney of the big fireplace.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert King, Jr. entertained preceding the holiday ball. Guests were Mrs. Peg Lindke, Keith Moline and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Logan of Dearborn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

Dr. E. E. Davis of 205 S. Pearl St. tells us he reads The Herald to learn who has been hatched, matched or dispatched.

Sanders candy canes are um-m good — even when a year old. Mrs. Gordon LaLonde at Wright's Drug store can attest to this since her grandchildren found a box hidden in a closet and forgotten since last year.

Mrs. Bob King said, "You really have a masterpiece in Mrs. McClure's picture. I loved it." She was speaking of The Herald's front page photo of 91-year-old Mrs. Ann McClure on a recent early-week issue. We love it, too, and it's nice to hear that readers appreciate efforts.

Remember Walt Nichols, former Strand Theatre manager? Well, the little guy, now running a spiffy show in Avon Lake, O., suffered a "serious heart attack" in mid-November, not too long after visiting Tecumseh (Did we cause it?), and is now in St. Joseph Hospital, Loraine, O. He expects to be home by New Year's. Walt would enjoy cards, but please no flowers (he states.)

Doesn't that Dave Beck fracture you? Upon his release from prison for conviction of income-tax violations, the former Teamster boss said he wasn't guilty, adding, "I hope my mother, who died while I was in prison, goes to hell for eternity if what I say right now isn't true. That's how sure I am I'm not guilty."

Dave is delighted to let Mom take the rap.

There's a guy who loves to see his name and picture in the paper, namely one Mario Savio, leader of the "student revolt" in California and now touring the country creating more unrest. He hit Ann Arbor the other day and was greeted by a most sensible sign held aloft by one of the crowd: "Who sent U?" Who is financing this trip to foment chaos and distrust in orderly methods to solve student grievances." Mario and his friends follow the age-old pattern established by the commies. Could they be Red?

Stores were open Friday evening downtown — but no Santa. Hate to report, but there was unhappiness.

Don't be too surprised if you read in a future edition of The Herald more rumpus on county government.

GM's 1965 film catalog lists 37 sound films which take the audience behind the scenes in industry.

They cover a variety of other subjects, too, ranging from safety and driver education to sports and the fundamentals of science and mechanics.

GM films were viewed by 461,000 audiences last year, totaling more than 18 million persons. In addition, there were 128 television showings.

Films are available upon request.

THE GM CATALOG lists two new color films this year:

► "Safety First-Second-Third" (27 minutes), which shows full-scale vehicle safety testing in progress at the General Motors Proving Grounds

► "Metro-Mobility" (22 minutes), a film based on an exhibit in the GM Futurama at the New York World's Fair.

"Metro-Mobility," which offers serious scientific approaches to the problems of urban transportation, is recommended for highway planners, civic committees, traffic control bureaus and college-level transportation studies.

Two from Tecumseh Take MSU Farm Tax Course

EAST LANSING — Carson House, Jr. and Paul Kruse recently participated in the first Farm Income Tax Short Course at Michigan State University.

The course provided the latest information on the preparation of farm and individual income tax returns. It was offered by the MSU Department of Agricultural Economics and the Continuing Education Service, in cooperation with the U.S. Internal Revenue Service.

Workshop sessions emphasized the practical application of the principles involved in income tax preparation. Each participant prepared sample federal returns using new tax problems developed by IRS officials specifically for this course.

Providing the instruction were IRS representatives. Each participant received a reference booklet containing a summary of material covered in the course.

Cook Book Helps Support Island

ANN ARBOR — The Mackinac Island (Mich.) Medical Center is undoubtedly the world's only health facility supported by a cook book. Odder still, the recipe collection was compiled and edited by a University of Michigan dentist.

It all began after World War II, when, according to Dr. Ralph Sommer of the U-M School of Dentistry, several of the island folk organized a bake sale to raise funds for a medical center. Seven heaping banquet tables netted a profit of $126—and thus the medical building got its start.

Subsequently, bake sales gave way to community suppers, and eventually a white frame, fully-equipped medical clinic was erected to house a year-round physician, a part-time dentist, their assistants, and a public health nurse.

►

THE IDEA to maintain the center through funds from an "Historical Mackinac Island Cook Book" came from Miss Stella King, the community's public health nurse.

Dr. Sommer, who practices dentistry in the clinic from June to September each year, and his wife, who assists in the office, were largely responsible for assembling the 226-page recipe collection.

In addition to a section of favorite recipes of President and Mrs. Johnson, the late President and Mrs. Kennedy, Governor and Mrs. Romney and former Governor and Mrs. Williams, the book contains hundreds of old family recipes from the island's permanent and summer residents.

►

PHOTOS of key spots of interest, as one would view them on a carriage tour of the historic island, and advertisements for local shop keepers, are intermingled among the recipes, many of which were prepared for that original, fund-raising bake sale.

Proceeds from the sale of the book have provided "a steady source of income" to support the center's clinical and public health programs, Dr. Sommer says.

The cook book, which will soon be in its third edition, is available for $2.50, plus 25c mailing charge, from the Mackinac Island Medical Center, Mackinac Island, Michigan.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING

November 27, 1964

Absent: Councilman McCombs, Tuckey.

The meeting was called to order in regards to the agreement with Raisin Twp. for the sewer to General Motors.

Motion by Hamilton seconded by Puffer the following offer by Raisin Twp. be declined.

WHEREAS the City has entered into negotiations for the furnishing of a eight inch, forced main sewer line to the General Motors Factory at Occidental Hwy. and Gady Roads within the Township; and

WHEREAS the City desires the consent of the Township to install said line; and

NOW THEREFORE THE CITY OF TECUMSEH AGREES:

1. In consideration of the giving of such consent by the Township, that the City will not, for a period of twenty-five years from and after this date, permit the sewer line to be used by any resident of the Township other than the General Motors Corporation or its successor occupying the same site; unless the Township Board gives its express approval for any such exception.

2. That the General Motors Corp. or its successor occupying the same site will be the sole user of the eight inch sewer line South of Russell Road for a period of 25 years unless the Township Board gives its express approval for an additional user.

3. That in the event the Township of Raisin installs a sewer system at a future date, said Township will have an option to purchase said sewer line at the depreciated value for a period of 25 yrs. from the date hereof, and at the time of any such purchase, said sewer line will be disconnected from the Tecumseh sewer system.

Motion carried unanimously.

THROUGH THE CENTURIES . . .

Through cold, snow-covered fields, underneath ice-encrusted trees, the river runs its course.

This brings to mind the Christian Church. It was founded upon the teachings of Jesus who lived His life and did His work unperturbed by the coldness of many of His fellowmen and of the ruling officials. He knew that His work would stand because it was founded upon truth. It not only stood, but has flowed steadily on for centuries. It is still going on today in His churches.

If you do not attend church services why not go this coming Sunday, and identify yourself with this steady flow of the best for which life stands?

There is always room in the river for one more drop of water. There is always room in the Church for one more worshipper.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SMORGASBORD

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

Few of us view the world today without a feeling of disquiet. We see emerging nations, hungry for self-rule, floundering in their ignorance and turning in increasing numbers to the Communist cause.

We attempt to woo them with food and other material means and wonder why they continue to dislike us. We build greater stockpiles of armaments and prepare to throw more and more of our finest young men into a maelstrom of conflict which may at any moment erupt into a world-wide conflagration. Many of us are wondering if it may not all be in vain.

Lenawee County was host last week to a remarkable man who pointed out the exciting truth that the world may yet be saved.

He is Dr. Frank Laubach, who for 40 years has worked with the world's poverty-stricken as a Christian missionary and who, in the last 35 years, has been credited with teaching, by a simple method he devised, many millions of persons to read and write.

He is traveling throughout the nation in an effort to create interest in, and to raise funds for the Laubach Literary Fund, Inc., a non-profit organization whose goal is to teach the illiterates of the world.

★

"THROUGHOUT the world the educated get richer and more powerful — the ignorant get hungrier. These latter people, many of them still living in a Stone-Age culture, are filled with an intense desire to better themselves, a determination to end the poverty which sends millions of them to bed hungry.

" "The Communists are finding it easy to win these hungry people by promising them education and progress. A half-million Communist missionaries are down among these illiterate people, saying:

" "The Americans deceive you. Chase out the capitalists. Go Communist and all of you will become educated like we are in Russia and none of you will be without a job. You will never go hungry again.'

"If we sit on our hands four or five years more, we shall have passed the point of no return. The world will cave in on America. But I do not think that will happen, for we are not going to continue to neglect the world.

"American officials think in terms of strategy and the danger of losing countries. But over there I hear the groans of hungry men and the moans of starving children. Our illiterate brothers and sisters call to us for compassion and understanding and some help. These are the people who are now making up their minds to hate us or to love us, to kill us or to follow us.

★

"IF ALL the Communists in the world died tomorrow, the evil root which produced Communism would still be there and would rise again under some other name.

"There is one and only one way out. That is for us to go to those nations and help them meet their basic needs. Basic to these needs is education — education beginning with three R's — and then practical how-to-do-it books, newspapers, magazines, all the simply written facts which they must have to rise up, prosper and be truly free.

"The task is colossal. We must teach a billion people to read and so enable them to rise out of their dreadful poverty. We must or we shall go down, and God will be against us for our refusal."

Dr. Laubach devised a teaching method which already has taught people to read in 101 countries and in 300 languages. He and members of his group have helped to make primers and graded books that will help them raise better crops and have better homes. By the 'each one teach one' method these people are able to learn to read in a few months, sometimes within a few weeks.

★

DR. LAUBACH'S mission is to make more money for books and materials and more teachers available through the formation of "companies of compassion."

By last Wednesday some 25 families had indicated an interest in joining such a company in Lenawee County.

Readers who would like to learn more about the movement may contact Robert B. Tuttle of 2980 N. Adrian St., Adrian, who is spearheading the movement in the county.

As Dr. Laubach points out, "Christians are eager to do something for the world besides wringing their hands in helpless frustration. This is the Christian answer. It is the will of God."

VOICE of THE HERALD

Greeks Have a Word for It

Editor's Note: The following editorial was printed in a magazine published by Associated Cement Companies Limited in India, and was brought to the attention of The Herald by Mabel Lockwood of Tecumseh Products Co. It proves that human nature doesn't change much over the centuries or the continents — especially when the natures are politically inspired.)

Once upon a time, two thousand and more years ago, some senior politicians in Greece decided that they must do their utmost to suppress one of their younger colleagues who they thought was too pushing and much too ambitious.

So they used all their influence and had him appointed Public Scavenger. And they used all their power to force the younger man to accept the post.

But the younger Greek fooled them. He set out determined to show everybody just what could be done in what was considered a most degrading appointment. He began by getting rid of the frightfully unsanitary conditions — he started out on an inflexible drive to promote civic cleanliness and to stimulate civic pride.

He put so much of all that was best in him into that job that it was not long before the post of Public Scavenger became an appointment of great responsibility which bestowed much honour and distinction on its holder — a job eagerly sought for by the best people.

Wool Growers Will Be Busy Gathering 'the Facts'

Wood growers must complete all details of marketing wool and lambs not later than Dec. 31 in order to receive payments for the current marketing year.

Chairman Leland Bush of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee points out that marketing completed after that date will be eligible for payments for the 1965 marketing year.

Since the wool marketing year now is on a calendar-year basis, the sale will not be considered as taking place in the 1964 marketing year if any part of a sale of lambs or wool is not settled by the end of 1964.

★

UNDER PROGRAM regulations, wool is not marketed until title has passed to the buyer, the wool has been delivered to the buyer either physically or through documents.

Payments for the 1964 marketing year will begin about April, after the program payment rates are determined, based on the average prices received by producers for shorn wool sold in 1964.

Wool producers may file applications for payment for the 1964 marketing year with the ASCS County Office.

Troopers Fight Holiday Toll

With Michigan near the end of one of its worst years for traffic deaths, Commissioner Joseph A. Childs is appealing for all-out driver and pedestrian co-operation in good safety practices to help special State Police patrols hold down accidents over the 78-hour Christmas and New Year holiday weekends.

The 33 persons killed in the two 30-hour periods a year ago—17 at Christmas, 16 at New Year's — gave Michigan two of the highest hourly death rates for these holidays.

The Christmas rate of one death every hour and 48 minutes was topped only by that of 1955, when 50 were killed in 78 hours, an average of a fatality every one and a half hours.

The New Year rate of one death every hour and 52 minutes topped the previous high mark of 1959-60 when 36 were killed in 78 hours, an average of one death every two hours and 12 minutes.

Records show average tolls for the last five 78-hour holiday periods are 35 for Christmas and 18 for New Year's.

State Police patrols will be in effect on the Christmas weekend from noon Thursday, Dec. 24, to midnight, Sunday, Dec. 27, and for the New Year period from noon Thursday, Dec. 31, to midnight Sunday, Jan. 3.

Maximum patrol coverage will be provided from 1 to at least 9 p.m. each day. Principal attention will be devoted to state trunkline highways and primary county roads with high accident rates and high traffic volume.

Detectives, where available, will take over desk assignments to relieve uniform officers for patrols.

Patrol officers have been instructed to be especially alert for persons driving under the influence of intoxicating liquors because of the high incidence of drinking during these holidays.

Assisting the State Police will be 106 members of the Michigan National Guard who will serve as second men on two-man patrols or on point control.

Jayvees Swamp Flat Rock, 49-36

The undefeated Tecumseh Jayvees tallied their second lopsided victory of the season here Friday night, 49-36, over Flat Rock.

Frequent substitution by Coach Jim Hoffman narrowed a one-time 45-22 Tecumseh lead to a final 13 points.

John Goodman was top scorer with 11 points. Dean Hebb collected nine, and Phil Barber and Scott Edwards, eight each.

Dave Kennel scored five, Henry Mensing, four, and Lee Hannibal and Jim Goodman, two each.

Car Bumpers Batter Jewelry Store Addition

An unidentified motorist extensively damaged a rear wall of the new Gaston & Son jewelry store.

Mrs. Sally Pope, shop owner, says repair costs will run between $500 and $1,000 with replacement of between 83 and 92 concrete blocks.

The store, which underwent extensive remodeling and enlarging three months ago, also has had other cars back into the new section, chipping and cracking bricks.

Mrs. Pope says steel posts will be erected soon to prevent further damages.

In the last accident, the building was hit so hard that a stairway to the upstairs was cracked and splintered into three sections.

Teens Write To Santa

Editor's note — This Letter to Santa business is getting contagious. It appears as though we're going to have to have special space devoted to requests from teen agers who still believe. Others are welcome.

DEAR SANTA,

I am in the first grade this year, and my name is Tommy, do you think I have been a good boy this year? If not I'll be good in the future.

My brother would like a set of Hollywood Mag Wheels. Two Racemaster Dragslicks, and a Muncie four speed transmission, Hurst floor shift and a Hurst Swifter Shifter. An Engle Cam to shove the push rods. A GM blower connected to a Craeger manifold which is bolted to a 425 Chevy Mill. Would you please put some Grant piston rings in the mill along with some Jahn pistons and Champion Spark Plugs. You wouldn't mind adding some chrome trimmings would you?

As for myself all I want is a five speed '65' Harley Sprint that is guaranteed to run the quarter in ten flat, and a wheelstand in any gear.

Sincerely,
Tommy

"Christmas" was the theme for the December meeting of the Tecumseh Music Club.

The group met Dec. 8 at the home of Mrs. James E. Danforth.

Mrs. Louis Caterina presented Betty Burkert, Vicky Biscupski, Paula Meuller and Cindy and Patty Caterina who sang.

Cindy also sang "Jesu Bambino," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Caterina.

Mrs. Fred Oberlin accompanied Mrs. Caterina as she sang "Cantique de Noel."

* * *

A RECORDING of the "Hallelujah Chorus," from Handel's Messiah was heard by those present.

Roll call for the evening was answered when each member told the way in which her family celebrates Christmas.

During the business session, money was collected to purchase music materials for the Tecumseh library.

Mrs. Norman Bailey assisted Mrs. Danforth in serving refreshments in keeping with the Christmas season.

Mrs. Truman Rentschler was a guest for the evening.

CURIOUS — A curious lad takes a closer look at the Holy Family in the Nativity diorama being offered for public viewing at the Monroe novitiate of the Sons of the Sacred Heart. The diorama covers 400 square feet, in which moving figures are lighted as they tell the Biblical tale.

Moving Figures Tell of Birth

A moving enactment of the Nativity is being presented during the Christmas season and into January at the Monroe novitiate of the Sons of the Sacred Heart.

In an eight-minute performance, the Verona Fathers' 400-square-foot diorama unfolds the Biblical story of the Christ-Child's birth.

Children especially are fascinated at the appearances of the angels, marvel at the real waterfall and river, and are puzzled at the sudden shining of the star.

The figures are lighted dramatically as they move.

The diorama can be seen from noon to 9 p.m. Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays now through Jan. 10. There is no charge, and ample parking is available.

All work on the diorama, which has drawn an estimated 10,000 viewers in the last two years, is done by students of the Verona Fathers. The students are working toward academic degrees before being sent to foreign missions as Catholic priests and brothers. Hundreds of hours went into the building of the diorama, with seven walls demolished to form an enclosed, all-weather facility.

The novitiate is located at Nadeau and War Rds. just north of Monroe, and can be reached via either US-25 or Interstate-75. Signs noting "Nativity Scene" are located along the route on Nadeau Rd.

Refreshments were served by the committee. Mrs. Thomas Bruce and Mrs. Ambrose Clay poured.

The remainder of the evening was spent in making Christmas gifts for the patients in Ypsilanti State Hospital.

J. E. Stockford Is Given Fine for Recklessness

Jesse E. Stockford, 32, Brooklyn, was charged with reckless driving Thursday night after he lost control of his car on N. Evans St., just south of Macon Rd.

Stockford, driving north, veered east off the road, went through the Jack Smith yard, barely missing a tree, came back onto the street and then into the east ditch again. The car travelled 490 feet from the first loss of control.

He just missed some cars parked at Airport Bowl, coming to a stop against a concrete culvert in front of the bowling allies.

The Brooklyn man suffered slight injuries and was treated at Herrick Hospital where he was belligerent with the attending physician. He was released after treatment.

Justice Ernie Oliver fined him $50 plus court costs.

Carols Planned

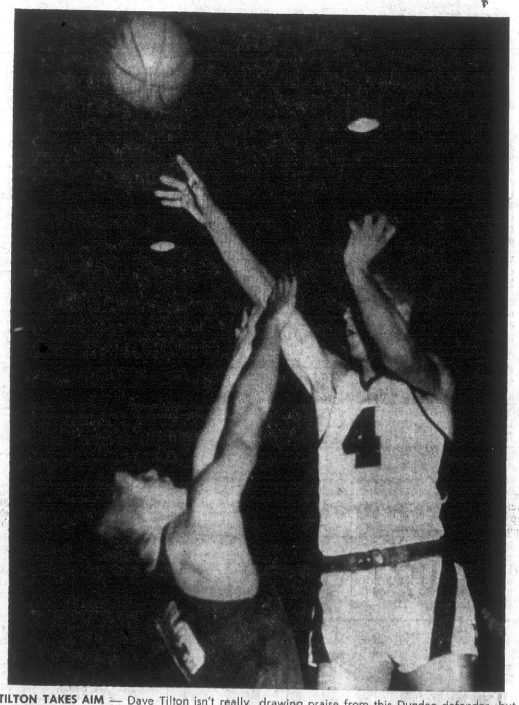
The sound of music will be heard in the halls of Herrick Park School starting at 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 17.

Helen Bendis, music director, will direct each class from the first grade to the sixth grade in Christmas songs.

Mrs. Richard Fielder, membership chairman, reports that the afternoon session of Kindergarten was the winner of the contest for new PTA members.

The prize for the winners will be announced at the Get-Acquainted meeting Jan. 28.

Refreshments will be served after the Christmas program.



TILTON TAKES AIM — Dave Tilton isn't really drawing praise from this Dundee defender, but the spunky senior did turn in a fine performance in the Indian victory Friday. Tilton showed his value with good moves and a 10-point to tal.

Fouls Fuss Indians

18-11 lead at the end of the quarter.

Gregg Allen started hitting in the second stanza, scoring eight of the team's 16 points.

★

TECUMSEH held a 10-point lead at the half but was in foul trouble. Allen had four fouls, as did Jim Lawson. Allen picked up his fifth infraction early in the third period, while Lawson sat out the quarter. Osburn also had three fouls in the first half, but then had no further trouble.

Flat Rock closed the final minutes of the third period with a rush, scoring 10 points to Tecumseh's three and evening the count at 44-44.

Main cog in the Flat Rock drive was John Laird, 6' forward, who took advantage of the Tecumseh zone defense with long shots from the side.

★

THE INDIANS ended any doubts in the fourth quarter as Alcock and Lawson poured in the points. Lawson, without a previous goal, connected for two and dropped in five of six free throws for nine points in Tecumseh's big 21-point surge.

While the Indians boast a world of potential, Tecumseh fans can be thankful there are still 14 games left on the schedule before the District Tournament.

Balanced with good height, speed and fair shooting, the Indians have yet to jell. At this stage, they don't rate a comparison with the '63-64 club which went to the state's quarterfinals.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Am I tetched (don't answer that) or does a disc jockey really make a difference when it comes to the sort of music a radio station offers?

The return of the "prodigal" J. P. McCarthy to WJR has created an unusual amount of publicity, even giant ads telling that "we have set radio back 18 months."

What it is all about, before you are lost entirely, is that this chap named Joe McCarthy has returned to Detroit, after nearly two years in San Francisco.

Nobody has confirmed my hunch — maybe J. P. will — but I figure the reason he took off in the first place for the Golden Gate was because of a song.

Playing the recording of it, again and again, gradually built up such a yearning, that poor Mr. McCarthy decided there was only one thing to do — desert Detroit and embrace that California city.

Fact is, lot of folks have been moved, not as far as J. P. though, by this ballad — the rendering of "San Francisco" by Tony Bennett, a powerful covey of lyrics, strong enough to pull a guy 2,500 miles to be "where little cable cars reach half way to the stars."

Probably, others might have wished to do the same thing, but that takes courage and a deal lined up on the other end to mention two contributing factors before making such a zestful take-off.

Anyway, the fact of the matter is that Mr. McCarthy is back at his old stand, namely the early-morning disc show and then one later in the afternoon.

★

DON'T BE kidded, this fellow is good. His patter is timely and amusing, even the commercials sound good when J. P. does 'em.

But that's only part of it and here is where I wonder if the man behind the turn table really is all-responsible for the selections he airs.

Radio music at dawn, followed by the 7 a.m. news, are the best thing to get me up and moving, sometimes to the consternation of my dear family. WJR has long been my favorite spot on the dial.

But a few months back, the old percolator wasn't sounding as well as before, too much slambang music. This was prompting me to sooth a riled wife with, "Don't worry, it will be better with the next number. This is WJR."

Unfortunately, the station kept making a lousy predictor out of me.

Then suddenly, that all changed and it paralleled the return of the wayward lad with the throaty voice. The numbers have class, nice orchestration, catchy words, old favorites, like stuff from "South Pacific."

Is this guy really that good?

NOW FOR the apologies department.

An old and true friend, jeweler Dick Eggleston called Tuesday to say he was unhappy with a few digs at merchants that The Herald has recently run.

"They hurt," Dick said.

"Well, maybe I shouldn't have said them. But at the time I was irritated and unhappy with downtown."

Dick allowed as how he didn't

Council Asks Twp. Board to Meeting

An invitation to attend Monday night's Council meeting has been extended by the city to the Raisin Township Board.

Purpose of the meeting is to solve differences regarding construction of the city sewer to Tecumseh's Fisher Body Plant on Occidental Rd.

Unless there's a solution and agreement, both Raisin Township and the city will go to court. A pre-trial date in Circuit Court is scheduled for Dec. 29, and the trial for Jan. 12.

Last week, Judge Rex Martin denied the township an injunction to stop sewer construction, which has now reached the DT&I railroad tracks on Ives Rd.

The sewer could be completed installed to the GM plant prior to the pre-trial date. All construction, including that at the present, is being done at the city's risk, since township permission has never been given to Tecumseh officials.

Tecumsehland Blows Off Construction Lid

By JIM LINCOLN

Construction, new and remodeling, has boomed in and around Tecumseh during 1964.

Industrial and commercial paced the drive although there were more new homes built than most people realize. Two subdivisions, Indian and Tecumseh Acres, have been busy inside the city limits, and the Tonneberger area just north of town has also been bustling.

Tecumseh Products again led the industries with a pre-cast concrete oven building. The Products also completed a new 85,000-square-foot plant for Peerless Gear, just south of Clinton.

Early this year, General Motors announced a tremendous 290,000-square-foot plant for Tecumseh's Fisher Body, and Stauffer Chemical began construction on a $20-million dollar complex for the Anderson Chemical Division.

★

H. W. TUTTLE CO. just last month announced plans to take over a 5,000-square-foot plant on Russell Rd. for assemblying operations.

A huge $400,000 addition was constructed for Tecumseh High School and a new school, Lenawee Institute, was built on Sutton Rd. Both new facilities were possible through gifts.

In downtown Tecumseh, more remodeling has taken place, or has been announced, than in many years.

Don and Edna Smith, owners of Don's Beef Buffet, are in the midst of a $35,000 remodeling program. Considerable work has already been completed inside, and a three-store front will enhance the restaurant in the spring.

Mrs. Sally Pope at Gaston & Sons jewelry completed remodeling, which altered and beautified her shop, making it one of the most attractive in this area.

Cal and Helen Damon are well underway in their remodeling program at the former Brandt 5c & 10c store in the downtown. An Early American theme in decor promises to give the new Cal's Tog Shop as fine a setting for ladies fashions and sportswear in southeastern Michigan.

Hodges Drug Store underwent extensive remodeling, adding about 1,000 square feet of retail area, a new pharmaceutical department, departmentalizing the liquor and greeting card sections and new rear entrance.

Wright's Drug Store also erected new pharmaceutical department, and in so doing, added more retail and display area in the store.

Eggleston's Jewelry redid a portion of one wall, increasing his display area.

Big Red Five Next for THS

Tecumseh Indians invade Milan Friday night and are odds on favorites to hand the Big Reds their third straight loss of the season.

Coach Vic Lawson's undefeated eagers will be playing their last regular game before the ABHT Tournament, which starts Dec. 22, in Adrian.

Milan, trounced twice in its first two games, including a 15-point loss to Dundee, is somewhat of a surprise. Pre-season expectations had placed the Big Reds near the top of the Huron League contenders.

Rex Plasters is Milan's top star and is rated one of the best players in the loop. He's hit in the double figures in both of Milan's games and is the team's top scorer.

Fans had a chance to look at Tecumseh's bench in Friday's 65-53 win over Flat Rock. Surprises were Gordon Gibson, who had turned in a fine game in the opener against Dundee, and Don Hughes.

After the Milan tilt, the Indians open the ABHT tourney next Tuesday night against Hudson. They'll play a week later against Blissfield, and then close the tournament against the Adrian Maples on Dec. 30.

The 6'6" Hughes missed the opener due to illness. Against FR, he repeatedly blocked shots and grabbed his share of the rebounds while subbing for Gregg Allen in the final two quarters.

"FUJI MUSUME" — The flower dancing doll (above) on display at the Tecumseh Public Library is the work of Mrs. David Simpson, 4020 Allen Rd. A native of Tokyo, Masako Simpson does the hand sewing of the tiny authentic garments for the 18-inch dolls in the hope of preserving a heritage for her youngsters, Sandra and Robert. A feature story about the little lady from Tokyo will be printed in a future issue of The Herald.

Children Give Instead of Get This Christmas

Sunday School children of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church participate in the celebration of Christ's birthday every year.

Their 1964 Christmas program is being held on Sunday at 7 p.m. with Mrs. Kenneth Goldmann in charge.

One part of the children's Christmas activity is the Toy Tree. The children have been asked that instead of exchanging gifts to bring a small toy, which will later be taken to the Lutheran Social Service in Detroit.

Band, Chorus Plan Christmas Music Concert

The Tecumseh High School Chorus and the Band will present a combined concert of vocal and instrumental music Monday, Dec. 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the gym.

Don Johnson will direct "Christmas Party" and "Christmas Suite" and a novelty number entitled, "The Toy Shop."

Miles Cowdrey will direct the playing of "Alleluia" by the band.

Frances Moran, director, will present the chorus in three selections, "Sleep Holy Babe," "The Hallelujah Chorus" and "I Heard the Bells On Christmas Day" with two ensemble groups.

A flute ensemble will be featured in "Silent Night."

Cash Is Given to FFA Group

Mrs. Edmund Mueller, on behalf of the Future Farmers of America Mothers Club presented the Tecumseh Chapter of the FFA with a cash gift to be used to purchase aquarium accessories.

At a recent meeting the Mothers Club discussed the annual FFA Parents banquet. Members who have not yet paid their dues were requested to do so.

Chimes To Play Carols at 'Live' Nativity Scene

Real Christmas spirit comes to Tecumseh Saturday, when the "live" Nativity Scene at the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church is set out for the holidays.

This traditional presentation features live animals and life-size figures representing the Holy Family, shepherds and wise men.

It is an attraction for adults as well as for children. This year an addition will be given to the scene — Christmas carols from the newly-installed Gloria Dei chimes.

On Christmas Eve, a special Candlelight Service will greet in prayer, meditation, song and anthems the New-born King, at 11:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend this service. The Luther League choir will sing a special anthem.

Holy Communion will be administered on the last Sunday of the old year, Dec. 27, when new members also will be installed.

A New Year's Day service is planned for Jan. 1, at 10:30 a.m.

Neighbors in Accident

Two neighbors had a minor accident Monday morning on Russell Rd.

Alfred Dotson, 43, of 901 Russell, was backing from his driveway when an auto driven by Edith E. Rutherford, 41, of 905 Russell collided with him.

Dotson suffered a slight injury but did not require any treatment.

GIANT SWAG FROM S. CAROLINA — Mrs. Ralph Westgate arranged South Carolina turpentine pine with 12-inch needles and 7-inch cones, in an unusual door swag for the Westgate residence at 212 E. Kilbuck. The Westgates brought the unusual boughs from the south after a recent trip there to visit her son, John Wilson, and family. Red pyrocantha berries, holly and mistletoe brighten the doorpiece.

Library Displays Mobiles

Majestic mobiles grace the Tecumseh Public Library this Christmas season. They were made by members of the Junior High School Art Class under the direction of Mrs. Rita Blake, instructor.

Two huge angels, dressed in blue and gold lace, blowing golden trumpets, hang from the ceiling of the north room.

Carolers with lamp posts and Christmas trees are placed on the shelves along the wall.

★

THREE KINGS in statuettes parade upon a case in the center of the large room and colorful gingerbread men mobiles, in a variety of shapes, are hung in all the rooms.

Also enhancing the library this week are the colorful authentic Japanese displays of Mrs. Masako Sympson and Mrs. Kiyako Freshcorn.

The Japanese exhibit will be removed from the display case Saturday of this week.

Last Chance To Win $40

Your neighbors are telling you how wonderful your outdoor Christmas decorations look and you "modestly" agree? Well, then, why not enter them in the home decorating and lighting contest sponsored by the Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Dept?

So far seven householders have indicated to the department that they are competing for the three prizes being offered this year.

Your Christmas scene or house lighting might win a $25 savings bond, a $15 gift certificate or a $5 gift certificate. The United Savings Bank is contributing the bond. Downtown merchants are giving the certificates.

There's just one catch — entry blanks must be in the hands of Don Moffatt, Recreation Dept. superintendent, no later than Monday, Dec. 21.

★

THAT NIGHT, between 6:30 and 10 members of the Senior Citizens Group which meets in the Tecumseh Community Center will drive about the city and judge the entries.

Entries will be judged on the basis of originality, artistic merit, lighting technique and general composition. Expense of materials and elaborateness will not be taken into consideration, Mr. Moffatt said.

"Hello, Santa, This Is Me!"

Using a mail order house catalog for reference, one six-year-old made a real project of calling Santa Claus last year.

In fact it took 20 minutes for the jolly old man to make a list of all the wants of the little girl.

Santa is making time for phone calls again this year, in between painting the toy soldiers and putting the voice boxes in dozens of dolls.

A direct line is available to his North Pole workshop through the cooperation of the Jaycees assisted by the auxiliary.

Tecumseh area youngsters may call Santa Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 21, 22 and 23 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Numbers for Santa Land is 423-7444.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

Only a guess can be made at this point as to how many dollars are involved in the list of Tecumsehland construction jobs started or announced during 1964, told about in our front-page story. But a person wouldn't be too far off to offer about $30 million, give or take a mill.

That's right, dad, Christmas is next Friday.

In case you missed Monday's Behind Page One, Walt Nichols, for so long of Strand Theatre fame, had a heart attack and is now bedded down in St. Joseph's Hospital, Lorain, O. The Buckeye carrier pigeon which brought us the news chirped that Walt didn't care for any flowers, but would love cards from the ole gang in Tecumseh. We quickly dispatched one of our genuine Tecumseh pigeons with a note telling the Old Sandlotter to quit faking and get to work so Jet won't have to support him indefinitely.

On the world of show business, Cinema I and II have opened in Toledo with a lavish publicity barrage. Part of their deal will be an art gallery above the joint lobby. We mentioned Walt Nichols above and did you know that one of the first things he did when taking over the plush Avon Lake movie house two years ago was to set up a gallery of oil paintings done by a chap, who lives nearby. Don't suppose Cinema I and II got their idea from Walt, do you?

Hey, Eve, you forgot to tell us that tryouts for "The Music Man" are Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Tecumseh Players' new location, Odd Fellows Hall.

Emily Post says when a married woman's name appears in print, it is most proper to be "Mrs. John Smith", not "Jane Smith" or "Mrs. Jane Smith". We like to do the right thing by all the gals in Tecumsehland, so please, in giving us names for stories, use the correct style.

How sad to have to say goodbye to some of the nation's great comedians. But on the other hand, how wonderful it has been to have had the privilege of seeing and hearing actors like Percy "Pa Kettle" Kilbride, and William "Riley" Bendix. Both died of pneumonia this month.

"I like kisses more than onions," remarked the 19-year-old man about town Sunday as he looked a bit longingly at the succulent vegetable his mother was incorporating in a tossed salad. Seems his dream boat won't have a thing to do with oniony osculation.

Motorists on the Ridge Rd. in the area of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church are treated to an inspiring view of the huge cross fronting the building. Lighted with sparkling blue bulbs, the cross is truly lovely, according to Hamilton F. Moore.

"Wish I had a small game license," said Son No. 1 as he gazed at two squirrels playing in an oak tree outside his bedroom window Sunday morning. "Aw, you wouldn't shoot 'em, would you?" asked Son No. 2 from the opposite bed. "You'd have to clean 'em and think of the mess of trouble you'd be in if you ever shot a deer."

disagree with the expressions, just that they lumped the "good guys" in with the fellows who are always ready and willing — to let George do it.

Dick and maybe five others can always be counted on to help organize and follow through city tales promotions. Unfortunately, this number is too small, especially when there are two dozen more who could be sharing the burden.

A business row cannot forever expect a Loyal Six to shoulder the load from sale to sale.

We should have said this when we put the arm on the merchants for not blasting off with a Christmas promotion back before Thanksgiving.

In a Monday edition, we slipped in a needle about Santa being absent Friday. As it happened, Dick explained, he and fellow merchants were unhappy about Santa, but there was a good reason.

Besides making toys at the North Pole, Jolly Ole Saint Nick has an insurance business and a big deal developed Friday that had to be handled immediately.

★

SANTA ASKED permission to slip out of his bright red suit and into grey flannel. Naturally, there was but one decision to a question. After all, doing the Santa bit is a real favor to storemen and it's not a year-round occupation. Selling insurance is.

So there was grousing by some folks, who didn't realize the situation — including me.

Here's hoping the fellows will not take personal offense when we get on the prod. It's done with one intention — to keep Tecumseh business row on its toes.

And remember, good people, our stores are here to serve you, promotions or not. Always try Tecumseh first.

If you have a gripe about a local place, don't hide it, tell the merchant.

shelving and fixtures for display.

United Savings Bank has announced plans for a new branch at the corner of Occidental and Sutton Rds. Work is expected to start there in the spring.

Lamb's Rexall, owned by Carl Lamb, will double its size adding the Candy Kitchen building's first floor to the present layout, joining the two by arch ways. This work is now in progress and should be done by early 1965.

★

IN THE WEST of town, Louis Schneider is doubling the size of his automobile agency with a large cement block addition, mostly for servicing cars and trucks. Some remodeling will also be done within the present building.

Harvey and Doris Carpenter's 20-unit Harvey House Motel will be started shortly and should be completed by April 15, marking their 10th anniversary in Tecumseh.

Rusty's Drive-In was built during 1964 at the corner of W. Chicago Blvd. and Occidental Rd.

Out north, Fabricare erected an attractive cleaner-laundry facility, said to be one of the nicest and largest anywhere.

Jerry Coffy remodeled the front of Jerry's Market during the summer months.

Near E. Chicago and Maumee St., Barbara Brown and Del King both put up additions. Mrs. Brown added to her beauty salon and Mr. King built a storage section to the Party Shop.

A lavish mobile home subdivision off Gady Rd., south of GM, was announced shortly after construction began on the upholstery trim plant. No date for its completion has been released.

Whether this happy lineup can include the city's new post office as a 1964 accomplishment is debatable. It was started in 1963 and at first seemed certain to be occupied during '64, but with work delays, this may develop into a 10-year project before mail is ever canceled there.

Recreation Activities

By DON MOFFATT, Superintendent

Tecumseh's first senior citizens Christmas Party was held at the Community Center last Thursday afternoon, which was enjoyed by 45 of our seniors in attendance.

The holiday decorated main room of the Center made a perfect place to hold this special get-together, and the group really got into the Christmas spirit during the wonderful program presented by Tecumseh High School Chorus. High School Chorus representatives under the direction of Frances Moran, entertained with the singing of several favorite Christmas songs, which included a sing-along chorus of Silent Night.

A special thanks to Miss Moran and the students for their very entertaining program. Thanks also to the High School Officials for their cooperation in allowing these students to be excused from classes for this worthwhile program.

It might be of interest to note that five of the chorus members were grandchildren of some of our seniors in attendance.

All senior citizens were presented with a holiday corsage or bow-tie, compliments of the Parks & Recreation Dept. Four winners of a drawing were presented with floral arrangements, compliments of Pickard Floral Shop, Tecumseh Greenhouse & Floral Shop and Tecumseh Parks & Recreation Dept. A special arrangement was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Oren Feight, who were celebrating their 50th Wedding Anniversary. (Interesting to note: During 50 years of marriage, the Feights have had four Feights, who now have Feights of their own).

The most surprised person at the party was yours truly. I was given a gift in a card signed by 50 of our senior citizens. And then, if this wasn't enough of a surprise, my mother and father from Grand Rapids walked in to join the activities of the day.

Other special guests of the day included Councilman Don Sunderland; and Santa Claus, Frank Sandhoff. Both gentlemen spoke briefly to the group, thanking them for being such fine community leaders, and helping pave the way of adjustment for other citizens approaching the retirement age, who will now know that they have a definite role in all community functions, and have a place to enjoy their leisure hours. A special thanks came from Santa, for the seniors help in boxing the Christmas candy for him to give to his little visitors.

All area senior citizens are invited to drop in at the Center during the hours of 2 to 4 p.m. on each Thursday. The group's activities on these days include: working on various projects to help others where they can, table games for their own pleasure, T.V., reading, sewing, knitting and just good conversation.

● MARVIN F. ZORN

Services will be held Thursday at the St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church in Dundee for Marvin Zorn, 43, who was dead on arrival at Herrick Memorial Hospital Monday.

He was a half-brother of City Manager Cal Zorn.

Mr. Zorn was stricken while at work at the Tecumseh Products Company. His home is at 674 Strawberry St., Dundee. He was also employed as a substitute driver for the Dundee Community Schools.

Born in Monroe County April 3, 1921, he was the son of Alva and Emma Zorn and a lifetime resident of the Dundee area.

He was raised from the age of six or eight weeks by a foster mother, Mrs. Alma Lerch, of Monroe.

He married Dorothy Ott April 15, 1943. She and Mrs. Lerch survive as well as eight children and two grandchildren.

The four daughters are Mrs. Alice Berg and Mrs. Larry Miller of Dundee, Ann 12, and Shirley 10, at home and four sons, Gerald 16, Lyle 7, Alan 5, and Kevin 23 months, all at home.

Also surviving are a foster sister, Mrs. Joan Bondy, and a foster brother, Fredrick Lerch, both of Monroe, two sisters, Mrs. Juanita Brossia of Monroe, and Mrs. Hazel Brossia of Morenci and three brothers, Lewis Zorn of LaSalle, Ivan Zorn of Ida and Alva of Monroe and two half sisters, Mrs. Bonnie Wilcox of Dundee and Mrs. Jeanette Hoffman of Monroe.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

"What Dorothy wants, Dorothy gets." That's what the editor photographer of The Herald said this week when he was trying to make time to snap one more picture. We only suggested that he take his camera while on another errand, and snap a picture of those huge cones and needles that Mrs. Westgate brought home from South Carolina.

Probably there are those of our readers who might like to see the size and shape of those big ones and won't have the opportunity unless they see them in The Herald.

She also brought home citron, which looks like a faded watermelon, and cotton right out of the field, just for the education of us kids.

Now if Tom's right about that first statement, I ought to get my letter to Santa off post haste in the next mail.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Graf left Tuesday for Miami, Fla., to spend the winter months with their daughter, Mrs. Curtis Schilberg, and her family. Mrs. Schilberg has been visiting her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Graf and her parents and will accompany her parents to her home in Miami.

A baby girl was born Dec. 5 to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tingley, Jr., in Salem, Ore. Mrs. Dale Tingley, Sr., here is the baby's grandmother and Mrs. Ernest Van Vleet is great grandma. Guests in their home Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Baird and family of Gaylord en route to Florida for the Christmas holidays. While they were here the family celebrated an early Christmas.

The Rev. and Mrs. Blair Bashore will be Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Jr., to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mary Beth Gallant who will be nine years old Dec. 22. The Gallants will entertain Tuesday at a children's party for their little girl.

Mrs. Clifford Brown of Ridge Hwy. and Mrs. Clyde Brown, Britton, were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goetz and family of Ann Arbor. They attended the Christmas carol service of the First Presbyterian Church where Mrs. Goetz is a member of the chancel choir. The service was performed by 250 members of five choirs, one a handbell choir directed by Mrs. Eleanor Hart.

Gordon LaLonde, Sr., was admitted Dec. 2 to Henry Ford Hospital for observation.

John Dewey arrived home Sunday morning from Fort Polk, La., for a two week holiday.

Clara Waldron was up about her home Tuesday after an illness of 12 days with the flu.

Wow, two of 'em. A boy and a girl were born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. James Hite. This makes W. D. Hite and Phyllis grandparents again.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Michajlenko entertained a family group Saturday in honor of the birthday anniversary of their two-year- son.

Christmas Influence Is Theme

Mrs. Hoyt Whelan presented a program on "The Influence of Christmas" for members of the Abi-Evans Chapter, DAR, Dec. 11 at the home of Mrs. Neil Pearson.

The nominating committee was elected with Mrs. Purnell Osburn as chairman.

The Pearson home was decorated in keeping with the Christmas season including a centerpiece for the tea table. Christmas cookies and fruit cake were served with tea.

An election of officers will be held at the Jan. 8 meeting.

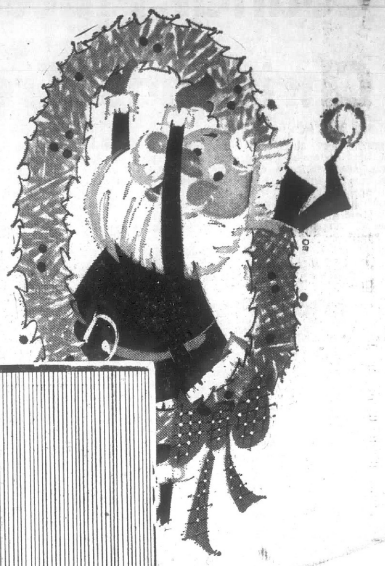
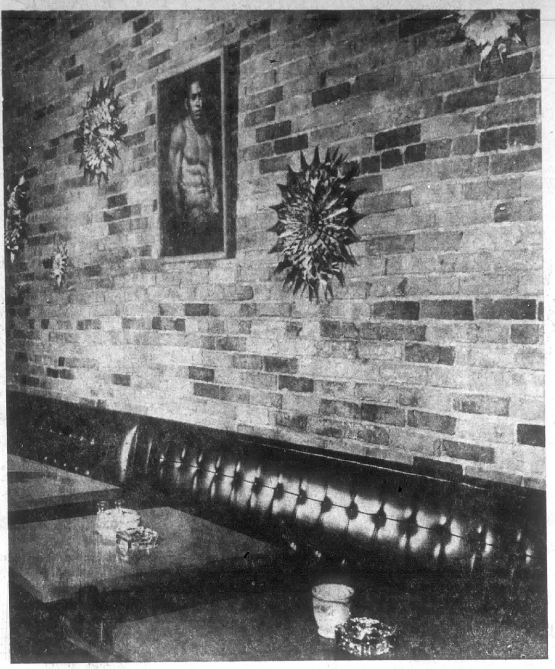
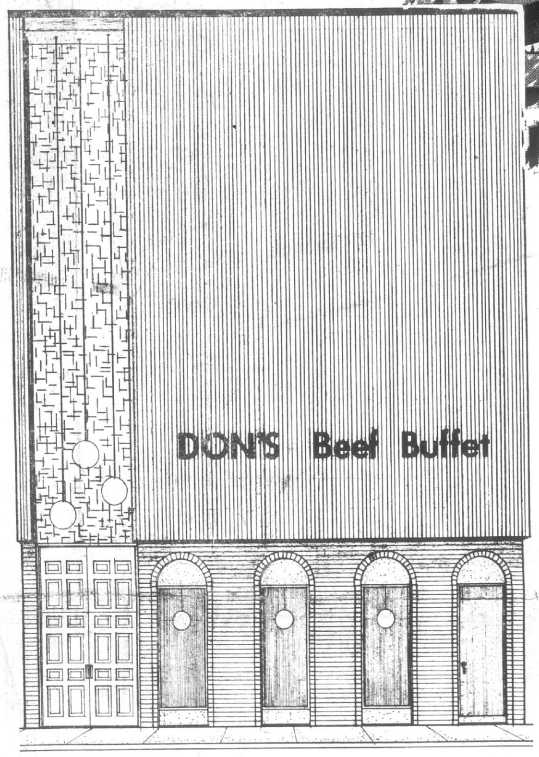
We're giving ourselves a present





ABOVE — A large section of the east wall now shows the original brick, making a perfect backdrop for oil paintings by Russell Steinke and our Christmas decorations.



Here it is, a brand new three-story front

This New Front Was Designed By Leroy Betzoldt

ABOVE — All tables and chairs are new, with the latter featuring delightfully soft upholstered seats covered in ebony Naugahyde and restful slanted backs.

Oil Paintings and Organ Music

Russell Steinke and Mike Dempsey are two names that regular guests at Don's recognize immediately. Russ for his striking oil paintings and Mike for his talented organ playing. Just this week, Russell will hang six new oils, some of them will be for sale. Mike is at the console to bring you dinner music Monday through Thursday evenings from 5:30 to 7:30.

YES, we're giving ourselves a present — in fact, several — and we want all our friends to enjoy them as much as we will. The biggest item is to be our new three-story front, scheduled for installation in the spring. This should transform our entire Chicago Blvd. face. Inside, a lot of wonderful things have been happening, too. We can now seat 116 patrons, many on the sleek new wall settees upholstered with Naugahyde. All of our tables and chairs — the seats are Naugahyde, too — are brand new and extremely comfortable. Our lovely, old hardwood floor has been completely refinished and a portion of the east wall stripped back to the fascinating original brick. It was just about a year ago that we began this vast modernizing plan, constructing a new kitchen, rearranging rest rooms and fashioning a back entry.

Council Places Christmas Tree

BRITTON — The Britton Village Council decided at its last meeting to decorate Britton with a Christmas tree in front of the Post Office.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. William Gibbs and Wayne Dunbar who were concerned with the granting of a right of way to the Gibbs property on Oak St. The Gibbs, with Mr. Dunbar as an easement from an adjacent end of Oak St. without securing the builder, built a house at the farm owner.

They have since been unable to buy the right of way. Council at its meeting agreed to gravel the one lane available to the homeowners.

Mrs. Roy Hicks was present for renewal of a house trailer permit for six months.

A communication was received from the Liquor Control Commission concerning a request for transfer of ownership of Britton Hotel to Clyde and Betty Burleson for S.D.M. license. The transfer was recommended by the village.

The Village Council could take no action regarding the students' petition as to the playing of pool by teen-agers since this is regulated by state law.

Bills allowed for the general fund were $630.12. Fines and costs of $97.90 were accepted. A fine and costs order was issued to M. E. Hammond for $25.80 justice fees.

J. J. Walper of J. J. Walper and Son Elevator will be invited to the Dec. 21 meeting to explain his plans for reducing the residue from his elevator during the corn harvesting season. Petitions have been submitted to the Council protesting dust and littering from the elevator.

The council transferred $3,255 in the land and interest redemption fund, Detroit Bank and Trust Company, to the coupon paying division for payment of land and interest on the water account.

A transfer was made of $1,120 from the receiving fund to the Detroit Bank and Trust Company for quarter year interest and principal for the last quarter as per ordinance.

Ridgeway Sunday School Presents Christmas Pageant

RIDGEWAY — "The Little Shepherd" was the title of the Christmas pageant presented by the Ridgeway Methodist Church Sunday School members Sunday. The program featured selections by the junior and senior choirs, solos by Mrs. Warren Benham and Diana Bishop, and songs by a group of small "angels."

The lighting of the 12 candles on the birthday cake for Jesus closed the program. As each candle, representing the month, lighted persons born in that month placed their offerings on the altar. These offerings will be given to a children's home in Detroit.

The evening was ended with a fellowship candlelight service and a solo, "O Holy Night" sung by Cynthia Frayer.

Tories Are Clobbered by CC Five

BRITTON — The Britton Tories were beaten 64-31 on their home court Tuesday, Dec. 8, by a hot shooting Adrian Catholic Central quintet. At times Britton showed flashes of yesteryear but the Central attack always managed to quell the Tories and widen the margin.

At halftime the score was 41 to 15 and although Britton played well in the second half it couldn't surpass the Irish's well balanced scoring.

High for Adrian was McAuliffe with 16 markers. Korican, with 12, led the Tory attack.

Tuesday proved to be an all-around bad night for the Britton fans as the Junior Varsity suffered a loss to Adrian by the score of 43-14. High for Britton was Jerry Korican with eight points.

The Tories dropped their third consecutive game in as many starts Friday to the Bobcats of Whiteford High School by a score of 93-53.

The Tories played excellent basketball in the first quarter be a close as though it would be a close game, but some shooting by the Bobcats and foul number five called on Britton's Tom Smetka hurt the Tory attack.

Britton had oen last spurt before the final buzzer, but it fell far short of victory. Whiteford had well balanced scoring with Koppleman high with 18 points, followed by Aldrich with 17 and Philabaum and Kiefer both getting 16.

Britton had one last spurt beproving sophomore, Larry Ash and senior, Walt Korican with 14 and 13 respectively.

Russia Described by World Traveler

BRITTON — Britton students from grades seven through 12 Dec. 11 heard John D. Shiraef tell of his visits to Russia. Mr. Shiraef has been behind the Iron Curtain seven times and on more than one of these he walked many hundreds of miles visiting the poor farmers on the collective farms in order to get a true idea of this Socialistic country. The students learned many interesting facts about the Russian people (mainly the teenagers) the way they live and the food they eat.

Mr. Shiraef has traveled in 49 states and in Austria, Belgium, Czechoslavakia, Canada, England, Finland, France, Germany, Holland Italy, Mexico, New Guinea, Norway, Poland, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, and Yugoslavia.

He has taught citizenship classes in Detroit and worked for the Detroit Times. He speaks fluent Russian and understands the Slavic languages.

After the assembly, Mr. Shiraef attended the American Government class to answer questions and to discuss his travels with the seniors.

WHERE'S THE WATER? — Ducks on the pool at the David Ousterhout residence on N. Occidental Hwy. seem to be expecting the skaters to spud a hole down to the water just for them. This is because the family has been making a special effort for their pretty white feathered friends since the pond froze over. Mr. Ousterhout and his children are pictured in the background trying their hands at hockey.

Not Just Applause

The five-day, 40 hour work week is a myth for members of Wayne State University's Classic Repertory Company, now rehearsing for the second season of the University's new Hilberry Classic Theatre. As regularly enrolled Wayne State students, the 29 actor-scholars must attend classes, usually in the morning.

Then, with five plays in production, they meet this rehearsal schedule: 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. each day; 7 to 10:30 p.m. each evening, and 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. on Saturdays. This will be their minimum schedule until the season opens Wednesday, Jan. 6.

The result of all this hard work will be a series of four programs to be done in repertory through June 12. The season will begin with "Macbeth." Another Shakespearean favorite, "The Taming of the Shrew," is scheduled for Jan. 13. On Feb. 3, the theatre will introduce a double bill, Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex" and Moliere's "The Ridiculous Young Ladies." The full repertory will be completed Feb. 17 with the first presentation of Bertolt Brecht's "Galileo" in Detroit.

★

FOR ITS SECOND season, the Classic Repertory Company has 15 returnees from last year's company and 14 newcomers. New members were selected from 150 applicants on the basis of experience, recommendations and auditions.

The 22 men and 7 women in the company have been awarded University fellowships and grants-in-aid. Only two in the group are undergraduate students; 18 are working toward master's degrees and nine toward Ph.D. degrees. The company was drawn from 15 states and 21 universities, colleges and professional schools. Eight in the group are natives of Michigan.

Wonderful way to communicate the Christmas spirit

No other gift speaks so well of your thoughtfulness as a bright little STARLITE® phone for someone in your family. It's especially convenient for the bedroom because it has a dial that glows in the dark for easy dialing, and comes in a variety of decorator colors.

We've made the STARLITE phone easy to give, too. Take one home now to put under the tree, and we'll install it right after the holidays.

Another nice thought—spread the spirit of Christmas and New Year's by phoning faraway friends and relatives. And make those calls a day or two ahead of the Holiday, when folks have more time for relaxed conversation.

Auction Aids Mather

The auction for Mather School in the south highlighted the meeting of the Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church Monday evening.

The $70 realized will be sent to the high school and junior college for negro students which is sponsored by the American Baptist Convention to promote better understanding between the races.

Mrs. Eddie Kirkland, as the hilarious auctioneer, added to the merriment of the group as they purchased gayly wrapped gifts they had donated.

★

PRECEDING the program, Christmas cookies for servicemen and shut-ins were wrapped by the members.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Orville Bishop, Mrs. L. N. Sisson presided.

Mrs. C. O. Bailey opened the program with a prayer.

Mrs. Blair Bashore reported a large canister has been purchased and donated to the Girl Scout Troop sponsored by the Society. It will be used for cook-outs.

She also reported on gifts taken to Maple Lane Manor.

Mrs. Harry Travis accompanied group singing.

★

MRS. TRAVIS led the devotions and a love gift offering of $24.30 was dedicated.

She read a spiritual message from Mary Murray, a Michigan Baptist Missionary, formerly of Milan, now working in Wisconsin.

Tracy Brooks sang, "Mary's Baby", accompanied by Mrs. Travis.

Mrs. Bashore was the hospitality hostess. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Richard Lask and committee.

"If machines get too powerful we can organize them into committees—and that will do them in."

Macon Notes

By MRS. HAMILTON MOORE, JR.

Sunday School Christmas program practice will be held at the Methodist Church on Saturday, Dec. 19, at 1:30 p.m.

The Couples Club and the MYF groups will go caroling Saturday evening, Dec. 19. They will return to the church for a party afterwards.

Sunday, Dec. 20, at 7:00 p.m., the Sunday School Christmas program will be presented. The public is invited.

Both the Senior and Junior Choirs are busy practicing for the Christmas Cantata, that they will present at 7:30 p.m. Christmas Eve.

The Rev. Ronald Corl, took the many Christmas gifts that were brought to church last Sunday, to the Methodist Children's Village in Redford, this week. He took also a complete layette, made by the Joy Circle and several pairs of terry cloth house-slippers, baby quilts and other articles donated by the Macon Hobby Club.

During the Sunday School opening last Sunday, Mrs. Harold Ruhl told about the Methodist Children's Village and Melvin Travis showed several interesting slides on the village and its 78 acres of grounds. Special music during church service, was sung by Misses Mary and Sylvia Williams. They chose "There Were Shepherds".

√

A pre-Christmas gathering took place last Sunday, at the Tecumseh Grange Hall. Forty-five members and grandchildren of the late Bert Bruder, enjoyed a ham dinner. Afterwards the group gathered around the Christmas tree and exchanged gifts.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bruder and family, of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Straub, Keith, Kathleen and Dawn Bruder, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown and three children of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Carey, Sr., and daughter, Luella, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Carey, Jr., and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Bruder and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Furlong of Ypsilanti, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Moore and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Moore and son, Rodney, of Tecumseh, and Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore of Macon.

David Bruder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bruder, who is with the Marines and stationed in South Carolina and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moore, of Luke Air Force Base, Arizona, were unable to attend. Christmas decorations were used in the dining room.

√

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Moore was beautifully-decorated in the Christmas theme, last Saturday evening. They and the Hamilton F. Moores were hosts for the annual Christmas turkey supper of the Macon Hobby Club. The members treated their husbands.

Following dinner, the men spent the evening playing cards and visiting. The women gathered around the lighted Christmas tree and exchanged gifts and memories of other Christmas parties. The names of their secret sisters were revealed. It was decided that next year they would just exchange gifts, instead of having secret sisters. Mrs. Russell Van Valkenburg and Mrs. Carl Hawkins also assisted in serving the dinner. There were 27 present.

Mrs. Charles Gorton, Sr., will be the hostess for January.

√

Miss Myrna Bugbee is a patient at Jackson Osteopathic Hospital.

John Hewlett and Donald Davis are patients in Herrick Memorial Hospital.

James Vershum of Saline, formerly of the Macon vicinity, is a surgical patient in Herrick Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Melvin Travis and Mrs. Leland Rohn were hostesses for the Macon Woman's Club last Thursday. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Arthur Hill conducted the business meeting. Gifts were exchanged. Mrs. Charles Gorton was assisted by Mrs. Ronald Corl and Mrs. Charles Gorton, Jr., in presenting a Christmas program. The latter two sang several Christmas songs. Mrs. William Gibson gave the devotions.

√

Mrs. Carl Hawkins served as leader for the Prayer Circle meeting last week Wednesday afternoon. Several suitable articles were read and discussed.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hill spent Saturday evening in Manchester.

MYF Will Go Caroling to Shut-Ins

The Rev. Donald C. Porteous, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will speak at 10 a.m. Sunday on the topic, "The Anthem that announced His birth."

The Junior and Senior High Methodist Youth Fellowships will meet at the church at 6:30 p.m. Sunday and go in separate groups to sing carols for the sick and shut-ins.

The Junior High group will return for refreshments to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Zorn of 806 River Acres Dr. Group members planning to carol are asked to notify their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meads.

Mr. and Mrs. Aden Mead of 128 W. Brown St. will entertain Senior High MYF carolers. They should notify the group's sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. William Steele.

A Christmas Eve candlelight service will be held at 10 p.m. Dec. 24. The public is invited, the Rev. Porteous said.

Legion Auxiliary To Present Flags to High School

The American Legion Auxiliary members at a recent meeting voted to provide flags for the class rooms in the new addition of the Tecumseh High School.

Mrs. Paul Maves spoke and presented pictures of the trip she and her husband made to the Holy Land.

An exchange of Christmas gifts was held preceding the serving of refreshments by Mrs. David Higgins, Mrs. Donald Woods, Mrs. John Zarnoch and Mrs. Charles Howe.

HEY, SLOW DOWN — That running boy is heading for trouble, with ice coating everything. That's the way it was recently as the second bad winter storm struck the area.

Get Started Now on Science Projects

ANN ARBOR — Over 300 area high school students will put their science talent to work in competing for hundreds of dollars worth of prizes in the Seventh Annual Southeastern Michigan Science Fair next April 9-11.

The Science Fair coordinating office announced the date and said the fair would again be held in The University of Michigan's Intramural Sporth Building. Tecumseh is always represented with displays from local students.

Prizes will include scholarships, books (including two sets of encyclopedias), medals, ribbons and citations. In addition, the top boy winner and top girl winner in the senior division (for grades 9-12) will be awarded expenses-paid trips to the National Science Fair to compete against winners from all over the United States.

The National Science Fair, with which the Southeastern Michigan Fair is affiliated, is to be held in St. Louis, Mo., May 5-8.

The local competition is open to high school and junior high school students in six counties, Hillsdale, Jackson, Lenawee, Livingston, Monroe and Washtenaw.

Last year, 282 such students took part — nearly double the number at the first fair in 1959.

Materials informing students how to prepare their projects have been sent to science teachers and administrators in every junior and senior high school in this fair's region.

The Southeastern Michigan Science Fair is sponsored by three organizations, The Ann Arbor Exchange Club, the Ann Arbor News, and the University. Its entire support comes from contributions raised by Exchange Club members from business and industry in this area.

Coordinating work and judging is voluntary and is done by businessmen, scientists and engineers from nearby organizations.

Potential entrants are urged to get their projects under way. They were also reminded by the coordinating committee that only one exhibit may be entered by each student and that group projects are not permitted.

It was also emphasized that live animals may not be exhibited.

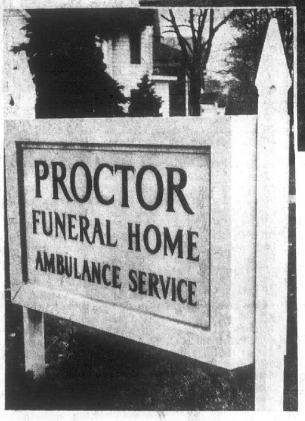
Dignity, Service and Professionalism



As newcomers to the growing area of Tecumseh, we would like to express our philosophy of the funeral business. Three words best describe our feelings . . . dignity, service and professionalism. They have always been paramount in our thinking since coming to Lenawee County in 1951 to assume ownership of Clinton's funeral home. They will continue to be guidlines in our Tecumseh operation. If at any time, you have any suggestion for us, please feel free to telephone or drop in at either of our establishments. There are direct phone lines between both funeral homes and when our Tecumseh number is dialed, our Clinton phone will automatically ring along with the one in Tecumseh.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By MARTIN WHITAKER

This past Friday night the Boysville Fighting Knights performed a feat that may well prove to be the upset of the year as they triumphed over a top-rated Ida team by a score of 54-51. The Bluestreaks, taking the floor in anticipation of an easy victory, were a bit surprised when in the first quarter the Knights matched them point for point.

Time left Boysville on the short end of the stick as the quarter ended, however, with Ida clutching a slim 11-9 lead. In the second quarter an enthusiastic Knight team limited the opportunistic Ida team to an eight points while scoring 16. As the teams left the court for the locker room at the half, the 24-13 score was in favor of Boysville.

In the third quarter the Bluestreaks, out to awaken the first-half surprise, narrowed the Boysville margin to one point. That period ended with Boysville leading by a score of 39-38. And then during the fourth quarter the Knights gradually increased their lead, finally going on to win 58-51.

This game is significant inasmuch as it demonstrates that Boysville will be a strong contender for league honors. It also served as a booster to team confidence. Special notice should be given to Ron Klee, a senior on the Boysville squad, who with 37 points broke the school's scoring record for a single game set by his brother, Stan, in 1962, when he pumped in 32.

The Junior Varsity team of Boysville, like their counterparts, the Varsity, have not been reluctant to display their talents and potential, as demonstrated in their 46-30 victory over Ida's J.V.

Ida jumped to an early first-quarter lead of 12-8, but they were soon surpassed by Boysville, as the first half ended with Boysville ahead 24-17.

Throughout the third quarter Ida matched Boysville basket for basket, but in the final quarter Boysville surged ahead and went on to win handily, 46-30. High point man for the Junior Knights was Harvey Ball with 14, followed by Dick Kayl with 9. The Junior Knights now boast a perfect 3-0 season.

The varsity and junior varsity take on the Irish of Adrian C. C. next Friday in Adrian.

The Boysville Glee Club, under the direction of Brother Philip Armstrong, CSC, has taped two fifteen-minute television appearances on the WJBK-TV presentation of "With This Ring". During the shows the boys sang several different Christmas carols which correspond to the text of the religious talk given by Father Raymond Schlinkert of Manchester, the principal speaker on the program.

The first program was shown last Sunday and the second is scheduled for this Sunday, Dec. 20, at 9:00 a.m. on Channel 2.

The Glee Club also sang at Father Schlinkert's parish hall on Sunday, Dec. 13, in connection with a Christmas Party sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. Those in attendance enjoyed the 45-minute concert put on by the Glee Club, and by the "Keynotes", a vocal group consisting of Greg Gard, Max Phelps, Armando Lopez and Tom Klavon.

Tuesday, Dec. 8, the Photo Club, under the guidance of Brother Aloysius Glombowski, CSC, made a tour of a photo finishing plant in Plymouth. During the course of this tour various methods of printing and processing film were demonstrated and explained.

Dec. 8 the efforts of the staff of the CAMPUS INFO, Boysville's bi-weekly mimeographed newspaper, were rewarded with a movie in Ann Arbor. Accompanied by their moderators, Brother Robert Fillmore, CSC, and Brother Thomas Friel, CSC, the boys viewed the feature, Roustabout", starring Elvis Presley.

During the past few weeks there have been several new additions of plant life in the biology department. These additions include a banana tree. These donations are through the courtesy of the Hidden Lake Gardens, a branch of Michigan State University.

Wednesday, Dec. 9, Juniors and Seniors were measured for their class rings. The ring is an original design by Brother Jeffrey Michels, CSC, principal of Boysville High School and moderator of the Senior Class. The band is made of 14-carat gold and contains a smooth blue stone. On one side is a figure of the Fighting Knight and on the other side the cross-and-anchors emblem of the Congregation of Holy Cross, with the words inscribed, "Persevere in the Faith". No word was given concerning the time the rings might arrive.

FREAK POTATO — Roscoe Hewlett, 4508 Macon Rd., raised this spud in an old blackberry patch. He gave potatoes to his son, John, and family on Penninglon Rd. and John's wife, Marilyn, found this strange looking one, which had grown through a link in an old pump chain. Roscoe said that the chain was possibly used in the 40-foot well now on his property. If so, it would have to have been a "double chain" 80 feet long. Water was raised through a wooden pipe by turning a crank, which in turn moved the links to which were attached rubber cups at intervals. He has found links with cups on numerous occasions — now here's one through which a cobbler grew.

Arts Workshop Set

An Arts Workshop for all leaders, program consultants and senior Girl Scouts of the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Jan. 8 in the City Hall Building, 132 E. Washington St., Jackson. Announcement of the meeting was made at a board meeting of the Council by Mrs. Lola C. Thyne of Jackson, chairman of the Arts Exploration project.

Mrs. Thyne has appointed Mrs. John K. Ahrens of Napoleon, as coordinator of the workshop. Ralph McCormack of Spring Arbor will be master of ceremonies.

The purpose of the workshop is to train leaders and consultants in the use of various art media so they may assist their girls in learning to be creative.

During Girl Scout Week in March, each of the 35 neighborhoods in the council plans to have an art exhibit of work done by local Girl Scouts.

The Scouts in each neighborhood will choose one or two entries to be displayed in Jackson during Michigan week in May.

Otto Fancher, Leslie, is in charge of arranging for places and displaying the various original and creative Girl Scout entries.

Mrs. Lee T. Lincoln, presiding vice-president, announced that a new structure of the organization of the committees of the council will be adapted at a special board meeting Jan. 14, at the United Community Services Building in Jackson.

★

SHE ALSO announced that Shirley Hutchinson, council adviser from the Girl Scout National Branch Office in Chicago, will be a consultant at this meeting.

She will guide the organization in four functions: public relations, personnel, program and training.

Howard Griffith, treasurer, reported that the Albion Community Chest has granted the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council an additional $500, since its fund drive has gone over their goal.

This will raise their allocation to the Girl Scouts from $1500 to $2000.

102 Girl Scout Leaders Attend Training Class

Mrs. Elven Duvall, Jackson, announced that Basic Group Leadership Training Courses for new leaders for the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council were held this fall in Jonesville, Albion, Jackson, and Tecumseh.

Of the 102 enrolled, 25 had perfect attendance at the five sessions, including an overnight at Camp O' The Hills, the Council's resident camp at Wampler's Lake.

Those from Tecumseh who were enrolled in the training were Mrs. Donald Escott, Mrs. John Graham, Mrs. Rudy Grua, Mrs. Lothair Hardesty, Mrs. Carl Kerns, Mrs. Avery Lee, Mrs. John Long, Jr., Mrs. Jerry O'Brien, Mrs. Seaman Packard, Mrs. John H. Robinson, Mrs. William Rohweder, Mrs. Lloyd Slagh,, Mrs. Maurice Tuckey, Mrs. Harry J. West, Mrs. Arthur Baaske, Mrs. Richard Dustin and Mrs. J. L. Curtiss.

Mrs. Glenn Donaldson, Jr., Mrs. Robert Hauth, Mrs. Carl Yoder and Mrs. Donald B. Ward of Adrian and Mrs. Lou Wardwell, Tipton also took the training.

What kind of a tiger do you want under your hood?

(Have you priced a tiger lately?)

If you're handy with a whip and chair, you could go for the 360-hp GTO. It bites. But then, even the 335-hp GTO bites. So it all depends on how much you think you can chew. If you want a slightly more civilized package (but with all the growl and lots of the muscle of the GTO), try the LeMans. You can get it with a six or either of two V-8s. They all have magnificent interior appointments that make you feel you're languishing in luxury. Like bucket seats. And full carpeting. Yet they cost less than some very tame cats that go around trying to pass themselves off as tigers but who can't even manage the growl. How do we do it? That's our secret. See them all in captivity at your Pontiac dealer's.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

ABOUT WOODPECKERS

Today's topic is woodpeckers, not specific ones but just woodpeckers in general. According to The National Geographic's new bird book, which, by the way, is a bird-watcher's dream come true, there are about 175 species of wood pecking birds and 22 of these are native to our country and Canada.

Through our windows we see, or have seen, five different kinds — not bad, really. One is a regular, two are off-and-on regulars, another is an infrequent visitor and, unfortunately, there is one we have hosted only once. They are little downy, the big hairy, and the flicker, the yellow-bellied sapsucker and the handsome red-headed woodpecker, respectively.

If ever a bird were tailor-made for a particular job, a woodpecker is it. His primary food is nasty, destructive wood-boring insects. To climb around on trees and dig out dinner is the duty for which these birds are ideally designed. From the end of his blunt tail to the tip of his sharp bill, the woodpecker is the very personification of efficiency.

★

TO DEMONSTRATE my point, let's do a bit of dissecting. For example, the tail is blunt, as we said before, very stiff and each feather is almost spine-like at its end. Leaning back, the bird can use his tail as a prop. It sup ports him in an upright position and what could be better for banging away on a tree trunk?

For climbing and clinging to trees, these birds have short but exceedingly strong legs. They also have big feet — long toes and sharp claws. Although there is a three-toed woodpecker most of the gang has four. Two point forward and two point backward, a perfect hanging-on or grasping arrangement. Once our friend has searched over a tree and found a likely looking spot, he starts digging.

Now his exceptionally strong bill comes into play. Muscles send it flying into the wood in almost unbelievably fast trip-hammer-like thrusts. Being long and sharp, it workes like a chisel. Once the hole is bored, the runway of his prospective dinner discovered, the woodpecker's most amazing feature goes to work.

His highly-specialized tongue stretches out, runs along the insects' tunnel and snares the tasty tid-bit. (Ugh!) Seriously, this tongue is something — it is very, very long, tipped with a hard point and barbed along the sides.

Once the unwary grub, worm or what have you is impaled, it is an easy thing for the bird to suck in his tongue and bring dinner along, too. How long is his tongue? Well, in some species it can be more than twice the length of the head!

OUR BELOVED flickers are, in several ways, exceptions to the rule. They obtain most of their food on the ground, showing a decided liking for wiggly crawly ants. Their bills are comparatively weak and as for their tongue, it is long, but instead of being barbed, it is coated with a slimy sticky substance.

Oh, Marda, this is turning into a most unappetizing article. To end on a happier note it is nice to report that woodpeckers are almost wholly beneficial. They consume uncountable numbers of tree-killing bugs. They also dearly love suet and are easily attracted to feeding stations.

So it is that we put 30 to this discussion about woodpeckers.

PATTERSON SCHOOL PATTER

By SHERRIE LEE HART

Everyone at Patterson is as busy as Santa's helpers getting ready for Christmas Open House, Dec. 23. Each class has chosen a different theme to decorate their room, everything from Santa's workshop to a lovely nativity scene.

Strains of Christmas carols and happy winter songs ring throughout the building as Miss Helen Bendes and the children prepare the Christmas Open House music. The one thing that would spoil it all is RAIN! So PLEASE! Let's have SNOW!

5th GRADE

Theme for Christmas Open House in Mrs. Russell R. Raymond's room is Santa's Journey From the North Pole. Above the blackboard is Santa in an old car full of packages. A Christmas tree is dragging behind the car. On the front bulletin board is Santa going down the chimney of a house. On the back board is a big fireplace. The boys and girls designed their own Christmas stockings out of felt. There is a line of 33 stockings. Then there is Santa resting after his long trip.

In Social Studies class they are starting a booklet on the mid-western states. The booklet is due December 22.

In science class the children are studying fossils. They are learning how fossils are formed.

Theme of Mrs. Keith Swain's room is Santa's workshop. Each boy and girl is making his own project to help decorate the room.

They are starting a new chapter in Math class. It is on fractions.

2nd GRADE

Mrs. Raymond Puffer's room made a big white Christmas tree. Each child brought a branch to decorate. The children had a lot of fun stringing popcorn to put on their branches.

3rd GRADE

Mrs. Lasky's room is making a lovely nativity scene. Each child brought an empty detergent bottle and scraps of material. These were used to make the figures in the scene. Santa wasn't forgotten as each child fashioned the jolly old fellow from bottles and bits of belt scraps.

School work goes on as usual with the children starting to learn division and mulitplication in Math class.

By the way, Herald, beware! Mrs. Raymond's fifth grade class is about to publish a one-issue newspaper.

"Most butchers would rather wait on newlyweds— they don't remember what prices used to be."

FORECAST FOR FUTURE — It's going to be cold and Christmas. That's no secret as everything around Tecumsehland points in these directions. Downtown is aglow with decorations, including this spangled tree atop the Adrian Federal Savings and Loan. Even the time and temperature arrangement is decorated — with icicles.

DOLLAR and SENSE FARMING.

SEMI-LIQUID MANURE can be pumped efficiently using a 4-inch grain auger with a one-horsepower motor. This is one low-cost way to get satisfactory pumping action from your liquid manure holding tank. Auger must be run at a speed of at least 1400 rpm's. Ordinary housing develops fatigue cracks at this speed. Make sure to get one with rigid pipe housing. Set at a 45-degree angle, an auger will pump about 40 gallons a minute.

USE MULTIVISCOSITY OIL, such as 10W-30, if you want prompt winter-time engine starts. You need a lighter oil for cranking speed. The heavier the oil, the thicker it gets in cold weather. Starting an engine with heavy oil often requires more than twice the normal cranking speed to start. It's a good idea to use an engine heater, too.

CONTROL CATTLE LICE. Numbers of lice multiply by the thousands in the winter-time when an animal's coat is thick and the skin is dry. Clean, well-ventilated housing helps control infestations. If you use chemical controls — sprays are more effective than dust where temperature permits. Recommended sprays are: lindane, toxaphene, methoxychlor and malathion. DDVP and dioxathion. Dusts include lindane, methoxychlor and malathion. Limit treatment of dairy cows to clordrin and pyrethrin as a spray or rotenone as a dust.

TEST WELL WATER. If you haven't had your water tested in the last six months for coliform bacteria better have it done by your local Public Health Department to safeguard your health from possible contamination. They will provide direction for sample collection.

Don't Walk on Thin Ice

With Michigan drownings already numbering 286, the worst toll in five years, the State Police are cautioning youngsters, ice fishermen and other outdoor sports followers that early winter ice can still be treacherously thin on many lakes and streams.

Of the water deaths this year, at least 10 victims drowned in falls through ice. Two occurred recently when youngsters broke through and drowned under thin river ice.

The State Police emphasize that freezing temperatures generally have not yet been prolonged or severe enough to produce ice about four inches thick, which is considered the safe minimum for bearing the weight of humans.

Drownings caused by falls through ice have averaged nine annually in the last four years, with a high of 13 in 1961 and a low of five in 1963.

Parents of youngsters are advised to remind their children often o fthe hazards possible in playing or skating on ice surfaces of outdoor lakes and streams. Even where such activity is approved, there should be provision of rescue equipment to include a long pole, branch, ladder or rope for reaching the victime of an ice breakthrough.

Though the practice isn't recommended, ice fishermen who drive their cars onto ice are cautioned that the frozen surface often o fthe hazards possible in thick to be considered safe for should be from one to two feet

Area Gets $83,773

Tecumsehland's share of the $237 million Motor Vehicle Highway Fund is $83,773 according to the Michigan Trucking Association. Lenawee County collected $1,395,720 in the fiscal year ending June 30, the report said.

Of this amount, trucks paid $427,090, the association pointed out. The fund is divided so that counties receive 35 per cent, cities and villages, 18 per cent and the State Trunk Line Fund, 47 per cent.

★

THE RECEIPTS, which have been steadily rising the past few years, come from motor fuel taxes paid by highway users, and vehicle license and weight taxes.

Tecumseh received $65,071, Clinton, $12,844 and Britton, $5,858.

Amounts received by other Lenawee County communities were:

Adrian, $152,148; Blissfield, $25,430; Hudson, $25,279; Morenci, $20,483; Deerfield, $10,172; Addison, $7,890; Cement City, 7,251; Onsted, $7,035; and Clayton, $6,285.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

The challenges we face today in education, in Michigan or any of the other 49 states, must be met head-on at the state level. Our nation's 30,000 school districts cannot cope adequately with the mounting educational demands of our age without strong, properly-directed state leadership and support.

The responsibility also cannot be foisted upon or assumed by the federal government. In the recent words of James B. Conant: "It is not in Washington but in our state capitols that efforts are most urgently needed to correct the shortcomings of our schools."

But the proof of this theory is in the readiness of our states to accept the challenge — to recognize current problems, and to seek slutions. It is a challenge that must involve everyone, citizen, educator and public official.

★

LET ME CITE a few problems facing us here in Michigan.

► 1. The population explosion we hear so much about is really a school population explosion. We have felt it first at the elementary and secondary school levels. Now that crop of post-World War II babies is beginning to storm our college and university doors. In 1954, we had in our nation 22 million young persons between 15 and 24 years of age; in 1974, we will have 38 million. This 73 percent increase is by far the largest of any segment of our population.

► 2. More and more of the 17, 18, and 19-year olds are demanding something better than a high school diploma. Higher levels of educational and technical competence are demanded by our changing society. In Michigan we boosted higher education spending by 20 percent this past year, partly to prepare for an avalanche of about 100,000 new students expected between now and 1970. Even more is being asked by them for next year.

► 3 Another problem involves our need to adequately cope with the school dropout and the high school graduate seeking only advanced vocational training. The dropout problem will reach critical proportions in the next two years. In the next two years alone the teenage labor force will go up by about three-quarters of a million. And that graduate seeking some additional training has increased in such numbers that in Michigan our community college enrollment jumped 384 percent between 1953 and 1963, and will probably double from its present rate by 1970.

► 4. And then, money. Education demands more money than is available. Many states have both a sales tax and a personal income tax, and yet they can't keep up with the demands. And many states lack an adequate formula for school aid that will properly spread the financial responsibility for education between state and local government and at the same time insure equal opportunity for every child regardless of the district in which he goes to school.

★

THESE ARE only a handful of the crucial problems before us. And the solutions? Well, I believe that no particular solution will ever be adequate until we apply ourselves to the meeting of three major goals.

First, we must put our state educational houses in order. We desperately need statewide planning and coordination of all levels of education. Our new state constitution establishes a state board of education charged with the responsibility for the general planning and coordination of all education, including colleges and universities. The objective: to offer direction that will insure best and most prudent use of tax dollars and professional energies.

Second, we must establish as states what our relationship is to be with the federal government. We need to determine as states a sense of direction in dealing with Washington. Coordination is as badly needed between the states and Washington, D. C., as between each state and its composite units.

Third, and most important, we must have more citizen and educator involvement. Citizenship responsibility is as sorely needed in education as any other field of endeavor. Equally important, however, is the role of the educator. Educators must become involved in developing public understanding, participation and action. They have a much bigger responsibility than just tossing problems on the desks of public officials. They must be prepared to offer solutions and then join the battle for their resolution. Only if educators become properly involved in education will citizens do the same.

EXCEPTION TO RULE — The cardinal rule of photography is shattered with the camera pointed directly into the sun. The reason was simple, it's the best way to get back-lighting through a tree covered with ice. At best, no film can capture the stark drama of a whole countryside in its winter dress.

Witnesses Plan Forum

Richard Krebs, Jr., Rt. 2, Petersburg, presiding minister of the Tecumseh Michigan Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced that plans are completed for a three-day Bible forum to be held at the Dundee High School in Dundee January 8-10.

More than 1,000 delegates from 16 congregations in southeastern Michigan, including 50 from Tecumseh, are expected to attend the three days of activity and Bible instruction.

To care for the needs and comforts of the delegates and to ensure smooth operation of the convention 21 departments have been organized. There will be first aid, music, refreshments, cafeteria, public address, platform, baptism and even a cleaning department to make sure that things are kept neat and clean. Departments will be staffed entirely by volunteers, most of whom are professionals in their respective fields.

J. W. ELY, circuit minister of Michigan circuit No. 8, has been caring for program matters. Nineteen ministers from Bryan, O., Milan, Flat Rock, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Dundee, Adrian, Hillsdale and Tecumseh will appear on the program.

The principal speaker will be J. W. Filson, of Brooklyn, N.Y. He will address the assembled delegates at 3 p.m. Jan. 10, on the subject, "Our Divided World — Is It Here To Stay?"

One of the most interesting features of the gathering will be the water baptism Jan. 9 of newly dedicated ministers. It will follow a talk on "Dedication and Baptism" by Mr. Filson.

All sessions are open to the public and no collections will be taken. The program will begin at 6:45 p.m. Friday.

Ray Sharp Takes Part in Pacific Fleet Operation

USS JOSEPH STRAUSS — Commissaryman Seaman Ray L. Sharp, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Robey of Countyline Highway, Britton, participated Dec. 9-12 in a large scale fleet training operation in the Western Pacific called "Operation Tall Back" He was serving aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Joseph Strauss.

The exercise, under the direction of the Commander of the Seventh Fleet in the Far East, was designed to increase the readiness of Seventh Fleet units in strike, anti-aircraft and anti-submarine warfare.

Twenty-three surface ships, three submarines and several land-based Air Force and Naval air units participated in the exercise.

Two task forces, each with an attack aircraft carrier as its hub, opposed each other. The operation was conducted to test and evaluate Seventh Fleet units under the most realistic operating conditions.

Mercury Sales Soar and So Will Production

Soaring sales have caused Lincoln-Mercury division of Ford Motor Co. to almost double production of its Mercury cars for the next two months, Paul F. Lorenz, general manager, reported today.

He said output for December and January has been scheduled at 25,000 units, an increase of 83 percent over the 30,000 built in the same two months last year.

The 1965 Mercury had its most successful introduction in the 25-year history of the company and is the best of all lines of the Lincoln Continental.

Lorenz said the backlog of unfilled orders was almost three times the volume of a year ago. Moreover, that because of the success of the Mercury Cougar and Comet, the division's sales for the first quarter will be at an all-time peak.

Mercury is truly one of America's great cars—always has been a champion, as far as we are concerned. We especially love those 1965 models, which so closely resemble the Lincoln Continental look. Long and Short

(Readers may recall a column two years ago by Anthony Riordan, uncle of the regular typewriter jockey in this corner. That one was about Indianapolis Speedway. ACR has covered a lot of ground since then and here he is to report the joys of retirement from Tampa, Fla. —TAR)

By ANTHONY RIORDAN

If I were writing a book I could entitle it, "I'm a Snow Bird", but technically since we've become permanent residents of Florida it would not apply.

Among the natives here, a Snow Bird is the name they give to fugitives from the Frozen North, who come down here to enjoy the rays of Old Sol, which gives this place the name of the Sunshine State.

After 33 years of faithful service with the Boston School Department, I figured that was enough. My wife's arthritic back plus my own gimpy right shoulder impelled us to forsake New England for something milder.

In July I flew to Tampa and went through the legal moves that made a five-room bungalow ours. Small work inside for good frau, Lou, and a 5,000 sq. foot lot meant small work outside for my department.

We put our Boston house up for sale and I started process of retirement. This involved birth certificates, service records and a multiude of details to prove that I was myself.

Finally all was in order, the house sold, and we headed south.

★

WE HAD A nationally-known mover (no name, to protect the guilty) give us an estimate on transporting our furniture. Had we known then what we knew later, we would have sold everything and bought anew upon arrival.

This particular phase of relocation still leaves a bitter taste in my mouth, and after talking to many others, they agree.

These bandits (and I use the word properly) give you an optimistic guess, which they have the nerve to call an "estimate", leaving a loophole that there might be a "slight" revision. The "slight" revision is always upward, never downward.

When The Herald quotes on a printing job, it's figured on material, labor, overhead and profit. You sharpen your pencil, so you can make a legitimate profit, but you have to keep your price down to be competitive. Otherwise you may lose out on this and future business.

These bandits figure we can only hook this sucker once so let's give him the business. Upon arrival they want a bank check (no personal checks are hondred) and if check's not forthcoming, goods are left in warehouse.

When you get up the money, you have to pay warehouse charges as well as moving to your home from said warehouse. Certified checks are not used in this state as they are classed as legal documents and require documentary stamps. More on this later.

★

WE DROVE DOWN in leisurely manner, many people have made this trip so there is little new about it. However, instead of taking the shortest route, we took the longer or so-called Ocean Highway — ha ha.

Most of this route is 15 or 20 miles inland so you see precious little of the ocean.

The high point to me was crossing the lower end of Chesapeake Bay by the newly-opened bridge and tunnel. Prior to opening of this facility it was crossed by ferry boats, trip taking a couple of hours depending upon weather conditions.

It could be a pretty hairy journey if fog closed in or if the seas kicked up, traffic is pretty heavy in and out of the ports of Norfolk and Baltimore.

Now you wheel up to toll booth where you are warmly greeted, pay your stipend and take off. Just like being out to sea, water all around you, then you dive into a well-lighted tunnel and soon you surface. Another stretch of bridge, another tunnel dive, surface again and soon you are ashore.

Building this affair presented many new problems, which the engineers proceeded to solve with their customary ingenuity.

Beautiful Tecumseh

Tecumseh is aglow with Christmas.

Lights, greenery and gaily painted figures decorate home, lawn and roof as homeowners respond to the holiday spirit.

Many of the householders — but not all those who have worked to beautify their homes — have entered Tecumseh's home decorating contest.

Recreation Director Donald Moffatt said he is "very well satisfied" with the response to the contest, being resumed this year after a three-year hiatus.

Both lighting and general decorating divisions are included in the contest, with prizes of a $25 savings bond, and $15 and $5 gift certificates. United Savings Bank is presenting the bond and downtown merchants will contribute the gift certificates.

Entries were due at the office of the Parks and Recreation Department in City Hall by Dec. 21.

Judging was done from 6:30 to 10 p.m. that night, and entrants were asked to leave their lights on during those hours.

The decision of the judges will be based on originality, effectiveness and general composition, and not on the expense involved. Results will appear in Thursday's issue.

More than a score of entries had been received by Saturday.

Vocal, Instrumental Music Is 'Exceptional'

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Exceptionally fine Christmas music, both vocal and instrumental, set the scene for the Christmas Portraits, completing a program presented this year by the Tecumseh Music Makers.

The cooperation of the young people with their counselors, Mrs. Orrie Gilbert and Mrs. James E. Danforth, was evident as the Christmas story unfolded.

Narration by Linda Gilbert and John Hayden was well done, interspersed with hymns by a choir of Music Makers.

Those in the cast were:

Mary—Linda Oberlin

Joseph — David Bush

Shepherd — Daniel Bush

Wise man — Cathy Beevers

Organist — Dexter Bailey

Chorus — Wayne Brooks, Brad Hatch, Jamie McWilliams, Michael Bush, Linda Sinkey, Debbie Miller, Cindy Caterina, Jackie Sinkey, Patsy Cook, Marcia Gilbert, Jeannette Mannino, Stephanie Brooks and Marge Parrett.

★

SOLOISTS during the portrayal of the Nativity scenes were Linda Sinkey and Jamie Danforth.

Linda sang "O Holy Night" and Jamie, "Come Unto Me", both with fine tone quality.

Mothers of the characters made the beautifully-colored costumes which added much to the pictures.

In an appropriate dress of Christmas green velvet, blonde Stephanie Brooks opened the program singing, "Star of the East".

A piano solo, "March of the Toys", was presented with much verve by Linda Oberlin in a pretty red outfit.

Poise and confidence beyond their years were shown by all of the musicians. The accompanists did excellent work.

The traditional "What Child is This?" was sung by Marcia Gilbert and Patsy Cook, followed by flute duets by Debbie Miller and David Bush.

★

THE SPARKLING voice of Debbie Earling was heard in the greeting, "Merry Christmas To You".

Trills and a music box coda highlighted the "Christmas Rhapsody" piano solo by Linda Gilbert.

Jamie McWilliams sang the inspiring "Ave Maria" in clear soprano tones.

Cindy Caterina sang the sacred "Jesu Bambino" followed by two organ selections by Dexter Bailey.

Debbie Miller concluded the program leading to the Christmas portraits by singing "The Birthday of A King".

The young people quite captivated their audience as they so refreshingly performed with a deep appreciation for the efforts of their co-workers.

★

THE PRESENTATION was given Sunday for the public and again Wednesday evening for members of the Men and Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church.

John Hayden, in the inimitable Hayden fashion, concluded the program with a meaningful prayer and "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year".

This Marks Last Issue on Monday

This is the last Monday issue of The Herald in the current series.

The editors wish to thank all who made comments — both favorable and unfavorable — about the early-week papers.

Much information has been gathered about the value and the complications of publishing semi-weekly.

For now, The Herald will return to concentrating on one large, all-inclusive issue each week.

Indians Run Streak To 3 in Red Defeat

Tecumseh Indians ran their winning streak to three Friday night when they easily defeated Milan, 74-56, on the Big Reds' floor.

Only for a brief rally in the fourth period did Milan even come close to the undefeated Indians, and even then, the result of the game was beyond any doubt.

Trailing by 20 points shortly after the final quarter started, Milan began to connect on practically everything thrown at the bucket, while the Indians couldn't even hit on the bunnies.

With less than two minutes remaining, the lead had narrowed to eight points, 63-55. Tecumseh then scored 11 points to Milan's one.

Coach Vic Lawson's team played a deliberate game early and then started running against the Big Reds after Milan switched from a zone to a man-for-man defense to start the second period.

★

TRAILING by only six points at the end of the first period, Milan soon found itself down 10 at the half — and lucky to be that close.

The Indians hit only seven of 15 free throws in the first half and lost opportunities to cash in one-and-one situations. In the second half, Tecumseh hit 15 of 21.

A full court press in the final minutes of the game cost Milan three players — two via the foul route and one who was ejected by the officials after running Jim Lawson into the wall after the senior guard had driven for a two-pointer.

Lawson, held scoreless the first quarter, came back to lead all scorers with 21. Gregg Allen hit for 13, and Terry Alcock, 12.

Rex Plasters paced the losers with 16, while Ken Head connected for 14.

Particularly impressive in the game was Tecumseh's attack against Milan's zone. The Indians scored their first two points on the prettiest play of the game when Allen flipped the ball over his head to Alcock, who had faked his man out of position for an easy layup.

Tecumseh is apt to run up against more zone defenses, and the Indians showed Milan they can score against it.

Tecumseh To Open Tourney

Tecumseh's undefeated Indians open the annual ABHT Holiday Tournament at Adrian Tuesday night, and the opener could be pitting the tourney's two best teams together.

Game time is 7:30 on the Maples' floor.

Neither Blissfield nor Adrian is expected to challenge the Indians, who were the class of the four-team tourney just a year ago, when it was played at Blissfield.

While Tecumseh is rated the top team in the county, Hudson could be second best. Adrian is winless in four games and Blissfield lost a veteran team by graduation in June.

The Royals play the Maples at 9 and should be able to handle the county seaters, who will have trouble battling the taller Blissfield players on the boards.

The tournament will continue after Christmas with Tecumseh scheduled against Blissfield at 7:30 on Dec. 29, and then against Adrian at 9 on Dec. 30.

Next league game for Coach Vic Lawson's team is here on Jan. 8 against Grosse Ile.

Santa Awaits Kiddies' Calls

Don't forget to call Santa, kiddies. The Jaycees and Auxiliary made arrangements for a direct line to the North Pole. The number is 423-7444.

Santa suggests that children adhere to hours arranged for Tecumseh children by Douglas Osworth, chairman, and Mrs. Osworth.

Mr. Claus doesn't want anyone to receive a tricycle with only two wheels because of interruptions.

Calls may be made Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 21, 22 and 23 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Santa Claus, Mr. T. Coming

Tecumseh area youngsters will be treated to a yuletide party with two celebrities Tuesday.

Santa Claus will be joined by Mr. T. of television fame for the annual party presented by the Parks and Recreation Department at Community Center.

The party is financed by contributions from the Community Fund Foundation. Members of Jaycees and the Jaycee Auxiliary lend a helping hand.

The party starts at 6:30 p.m. Cartoons and a short movie begin at 7, with Mr. T and his friends arriving at 8. Santa will arrive last to complete the festivities.

Long and Short

They dredged out a deep trench in the bottom, into which they lowered oversized sewer pipes which had to be lined up exactly.

When this was completed the mud was put back into the trench and the sewer pipes became the tunnel, with shiny tile lining, roadways and ventilating equipment.

In foggy weather a ride across might be interesting, but we crossed early in the morning, meeting only a convention of sea gulls and few cars.

★

NOW BACK to the furniture, which arrived and was I shocked when driver demanded an additional sum representing 35.8% over the original guessimate. I could have seen 10% perhaps, but this extra bite raised my blood pressure.

They were off in their weights by 15.8%, they were off in crates, cartons and barrels by 73.6% and they were off in their rates by 11% and in all cases it was revised upwards.

They had me over the proverbial barrel, I paid under protest, then fired off a letter asking for an explanation. A feeble reply came back that it had not been intentional, and the rate increase had passed into being since my original estimate.

Talking things over with other victims of this long-distance moving racket I've reached the conclusion that they purposely bid low, then they tack on the extras.

Protests are to no avail. You get up the scratch then curse the day you ever had dealings with that type of a bandit, and the whole trade gets a big black eye.

In fairness to me add that there were only two cases I heard of who came out OK. One man hired a Florida mover who was heading south after moving a load North, his estimate and final price were the same.

Another man had a load South by a big moving firm and he paid original estimate. But these were the exceptions, seeming to prove the rule.

★

ONE OF OUR next moves was to vote by absentee ballot in the November elections. We hadn't lived here long enough to be eligible and an arbitrary ruling by Boston Election Commission had disenfranchised us.

Upon appeal to the Secretary of State of Massachusetts, we received our ballots, cast our votes and had them notarized — that said notary had seen our blank ballots, that he saw us mark them and to that he took oath, then off they went in the mail.

Come election day when we saw the long lines in polling places at the end of our street, people waiting in line from two to three hours, we were thankful for absentee ballots and the short wait.

So, you see, there is an advantage of starting retirement in a presidential election year.

Dean Hebb Scores 14 in JV Win

Coach Jim Hoffman's Jayvees won their third straight game at Milan, 54-39, Friday evening.

Dean Hebb topped all scorers with 14 points as eight Tecumseh players broke into the scoring column.

All Jayvees played in the tilt which the Junior Indians dominated, once leading by 25 points.

'Yuletide Magic' Attracts 200

Nearly 200 attended the "Yuletide Magic" demonstration sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Clubs at the Tecumseh Community Center Dec. 7.

Approximately $150 was grossed from the project. Plans are to use the profit for needed equipment at the Lenawee Institute.

Mrs. Harold Pickard made centerpieces, mantle arrangements and decorations for the home with both fresh and polyethylene flowers and greens.

She was assisted by Mrs. Donna Elliott, Mrs. John Pobuda, Mrs. Laine Holden and Mrs. Robert King, Jr., as pages.

Those attending lingered in the Glass Room to view the arrangements after the presentation.

Christmas cookies and coffee were served from a table covered with a silver cloth draped with red balls and centered with lighted candelabra.

Mrs. Holden was in charge of the tea table and Mrs. Cecile Smith was general chairman.

Mrs. Albert Todd was ticket chairman.

TO THE EDITORS:

We would like to add our comments to others which have been sent to you concerning your two weekly editions of The Herald.

We would prefer only one. We do not think it necessary to split a good paper just in order to make two mailings. As far as news was concerned it seemed pretty well covered in one and also the ads.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Foster Hardesty,

TO THE EDITORS:

One hundred and twenty-five handicapped employees at Goodwill Industries send you a very special wish for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

You helped to provide jobs and training for these unfortunate people through telling the Goodwill story and by reminding your readers of the need for repairable household articles. Also, many deserving people learned of the possibility of self help through the publicity in the newspapers.

1965 holds an even greater challenge and opportunity for major expansion as we move into larger quarters. Many more physically and mentally handicapped individuals will be given a chance to learn a skill and earn wages.

Thank you for helping to give independence and self-respect to so many deserving people.

Sincerely yours,

Brother Acts as St. Nick

The North Franklin Maidens 4-H Club held a Christmas party Thursday at the home of Cheryl and Patti Aebersold.

Games were played and a gift exchange held, with six-year-old Carl Aebersold distributing the gifts.

The group presented a pair of gloves to each of their leaders, Mrs. Roger Williams and Mrs. Lawrence Young.

Members brought fruit and all-occasion greeting cards to make up baskets for the Moody Nursing Home.

Cookies and punch were served to about 20 present.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

"I rented it before the ink got dry," was the comment made by a satisfied classified advertiser, who asked that her name be withheld. But she couldn't withhold the joy over renting an apartment just hours after last week's paper came out.

Mrs. Santa Claus in the person of Mrs. William Schooley sent all the little elves in The Herald workshop a package of the most delicious fruit cookies this week. She really has a way with cookies and presents competition for Anna Grigg, who makes huge ones. Mrs. Grigg, however, should lay claim to the title of "Grape-nut bread Queen". She has made 24 loaves this year for friends and family.

Whoever made the meringue cookies for the Tecumseh Players Christmas program is missing a lot of compliments, because no one seems to know who she is. The anonymous donor left the cookies at Odd Fellows Hall sometime in the early afternoon. The cookies were the talk of the hostesses, who helped clean up every crumb of the delicious treat.

Sun, Unmarked Half - Track Result in Injury to Pistoles

Sun on the windshield and failure to erect an advance warning sign contributed to an accident Tuesday morning which sent a father and two children to Herrick Hospital.

Injured were:
Edgar G. Pistole, Jr., 29, of 412 E. Shawnee St.
Sharon, his daughter, age 7.
Donald, son, age six.

Both youngsters were treated and released, but the father is still being held under observation. His chest crushed the steering wheel on impact.

The accident happened about 9 a.m. on Herrick Park Dr., at Parkway Court, when Mr. Pistole rammed into the city's half-track digger, operated by Samuel L. Lawrence, 51, of 709 N. Evans.

Mrs. Pistole said her husband had a difficult time seeing, due to the morning sun, and never saw the half-track. A warning sign for motorists was put up after the accident.

No citations resulted from the accident.

Holloway Families Keep Busy Before the Holidays

Serving punch, coffee and cake were grandchildren Terrie, Candy and Gregg McEnroe and Deborah and Dawn Merriman.

Mrs. Richard Mitchell Friday entertained the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Raisin Center Friends Church. They tied a comforter, had their business meeting and refreshments were served.

There were four tables beautifully decorated with large candles in the center of the tables. Each member had a red doilie for a place mat.

The orange juice was sent by Mr. and Mrs. Ruford Anderson, members of the class, who live in Florida. Miss Haviland read the traditional Christmas story to the class.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lowery and family Sunday visited her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dunham and family, of Burr Oak. Mrs. Lowery's mother, Mrs. Merle Dunham, and her sisters, Mr. and Mrs. John Hardy and family of Burr Oak and Mrs. Larry Weitting and family of Sturgis.

EASY FINANCING — The Robert Kings of Clinton check out a Christmas tree on the Clinton Jaycee's lot as daughters, Linda and Ruth wonder if the folks will really have to finance through FHA. Actually, the sign the girls eye has nothing to do with the lot, which just happened to be set up in the vicinity of ads for a subdivision near George Underwood's Fordland.

Lights Guide Santa, Scouts

By FERNE HARDESTY

Was Rudolph in town Wednesday night?

Some motorists may have thought so, but it was really the red flasher on Officer Allen Jones' police car leading Santa and 160 Brownie and Junior Girl Scouts on a caroling tour.

Many residents came to their doors to greet the sound of old favorite songs and shouts of "Merry Christmas".

Santa rode in one of the hay wagons. The passengers provided his illumination with their flashlights. He is now safely back in Gamble's window.

Don Partridge, Ed Solarski, John Marks and Donald Escott drove the wagons all around town and back to the Scout cabin. There was a cheery fire, hot chocolate and cookies to complete the traditional customs.

Holly and Tinsel Breakfast Brings Guests

Officers of the Monday Club each hosted a table of nine guests Dec. 7 for the Holly and Tinsel Breakfast at the Methodist Church.

All of the tables were decorated differently in Christmas appointments, many with touches of holly and tinsel.

Each place setting was marked with a transparent wrapped piece of fudge topped with red ribbon, holly and tinsel.

The speakers' table was decorated in gold featuring a nativity scene.

Other tables were centered with a home-made cookie tree, a Santa's sleigh with reindeer on a mirror lake, traditional red candles inside a red glass encircled with greens and a candy-filled jar topped with a snowman.

Articles around the room represented the theme of the year, "Today, Tomorrow and Yesterday".

Mrs. H. L. Crance of Adrian, seated in a rocker wearing a shawl and holding an open Bible beside an old fashioned table, presented an inspiring scene.

Mrs. W. P. Rogers of Palmyra narrated Christmas reveries, interspersed with unaccompanied sacred solos by Mrs. Marcella Crossley. Mrs. Crossley is the daughter of Mrs. Crance and the president of the Progressive Women's Club of Adrian.

Several officers of the Lenawee County Federation of Women's Club were also guests. They were Mrs. W. Van Orden, president; Mrs. Walter Prill of Britton, second vice president; Mrs. Clifford Knudson, treasurer; Mrs. Howard Meyers, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Perry Hall of Blissfield, recording secretary.

Army Offers Flight School Opportunity

The Army's new Warrant Officer Flight Training Program offers an excellent opportunity to young men.

The present Flight Program, although long and grueling, is a rewarding experience.

The course starts with the Pre-Flight Training of four weeks at Fort Wolters, Texas. The first two weeks are devoted to physical training and academics on aviation, the second two weeks the students start flight training and spend one-half of this time learning to fly an H23 Helicopter, and the other half flying it.

★

UPON COMPLETION of the Pre-Flight Training the students may be sent to Fort Rucker, Ala., for training as a Warrant Officer Fixed Wing Aviator for a 34-week course, or they may remain at Fort Wolters for the Warrant Officer Rotary Wing Aviator course for 12 weeks' training on the H19 and the HU-1 (Iriquois Jet) helicopters.

Upon completion of this phase of training, the students are sent to Fort Rucker for additional training on the H-19 for eight weeks of transition and instrument flying.

Then one week of cross-country type flying and one week gunnery, and then graduation as Warrant Officer Aviator, either Fixed or Rotary Wing.

The students upon arrival at their first Flight duty station, will receive the base pay of $145.24 per month.

Complete details can be obtained from M/Sgt. Elwyn R. Bailey, Lenawee Hotel, Adrian, or by phoning Adrian 265-2913 or Tecumseh 423-4590.

Post Commander Being Replaced

Sgt. Thornton D. Stratton, commander of the Blissfield post of Michigan State Police, will retire in January after more than 25 years of service.

He will be replaced by Kenneth O. Winberg of the Brighton post, who is promoted from detective to sergeant.

Rainsberger Serves Aboard USS Springfield

USS SPRINGFIELD — Fire Control Technician Third Class David B. Rainsberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theron R. Rainsberger of Tipton recently reported aboard the guided missile light cruiser USS Springfield, operating out of Villefranche, France, as a unit of the Sixth Fleet.

Armed with missiles and conventional weapons the Springfield is capable of handling a large variety of assignments.

The Springfield is presently serving as the flagship for the Commander of the Sixth Fleet and along with other ships of the fleet acts as the Navy's first line of defense in Southern Europe and North Africa area against surprise attacks against the United States.

Sixth Grade Gets Tasty Lessons

TIPTON — While the inhabitants of Tecumsehland were suffering an especially cold snap, the students of the Tipton Sixth Grade were baking. The group decided they would produce the cookies which will supply the Christmas party.

In preparation for the activity, the class was divided into groups of about five each. The cookie receipe was put on the board and each child made a contribution to it. They also brought some of the cooking equipment as well as the decorations they desired. As problems arose, they were referred to the group leaders, Robert Sellers, Steven Church, Kim Hardy, Tom LaFerriere, Linda Stevens, Claudia Vollmer and Irene Dauber.

*

MONDAY, three groups at a time went into the kitchen to bake. It must be noted that they showed amazing self control in not tasting their wares. All cookies have now been placed in home freezers for future consumption.

While the activity provided a great deal of fun, Mrs. Irving Shaw believes it was also educational. Not only did the children have an exercise in measurement and fractions, but one in hygiene. The children realized the value of their TB tests when food handling is involved and the value of cleanliness.

*

IT WAS a combined unit lesson in reading, math, science, health and social studies.

Here is the recipe used by the children for their sugar cookies:

Sugar Cookies

1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup (1 stick) margarine
1 egg, well beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
Dash of salt.

Cream margarine and sugar. Add egg and vanilla and beat well. Stir in flour sifted with salt.

Bake in 350 degree oven for 10 minutes.

SMORGASBORD

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

"I'd rather take a beating than go Christmas shopping." I have heard several men make that remark this holiday season and it always amuses me, for it seems to be such a universal lament.

The first time this reluctance was brought to my attention, I was but a youngster with a father who invariably shopped for my mother on Christmas Eve.

For weeks he had attempted to brainwash her into accepting cash and buying her own present — but she was adamant.

Adrian stores in the 20's had little to offer by the time Santa was packing up for his annual journey and Dad usually ended up with something Mother couldn't use — but it was something HE had chosen and so a welcome gift.

★

MY OWN husband took me shopping last week and fulfilled my long-cherished hope for a watch. I didn't blame him for wanting me to pick it out for a watch is such a personal thing —and he was wise. The one I chose was $50 less than the one he had expected to buy!

I've long wanted some cranberry glass goblets and a fine wood salad set. We made the rounds of the stores at his insistance — "help me pick them out" he begged.

But nothing doing. If I'm going to "pick them out" I'll buy them for myself.

Did you ever notice a man in a store crowded with Christmas shoppers? Chances are he's three or four steps behind his wife, with a harried look on his face and his arms full of bundles.

He blushes as she tells the clerk "It's not worth the money." He groans as she pushes past other determined women and elbows other reluctant men. He knows she's likely to be back when she finds the store down the street — which offered the gloves at a 10-cent-lower price — is all sold out.

★

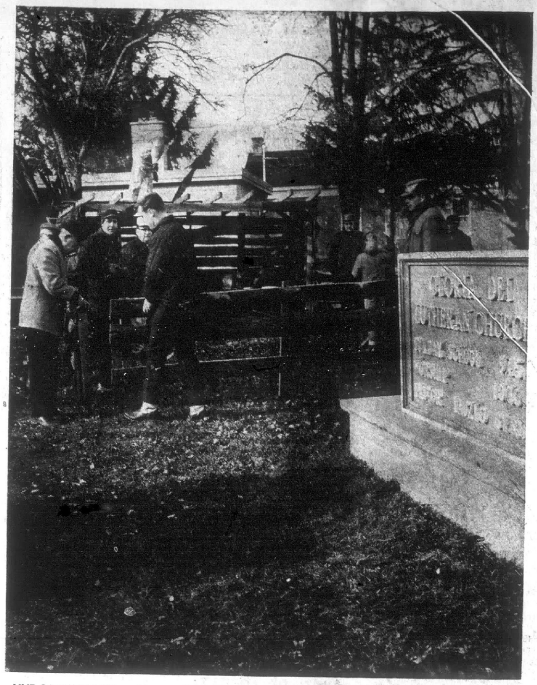
HE MUTTERS as she chats with her friends—he knows the meter needs another nickle and his feet are hurting.

"Whatever you say," is his stock reply when she chooses to ask his opinion on toys for the kids. "You know more about that than I do."

He will probably kick up an argument about the $35 trike with the four forward gears and the Vero000000om "motor", but he'll simmer down when the sales clerk assures him it comes assembled.

He still has nightmares of the previous Christmas Eve when he stayed up until 3:30 a.m. assembling the farm set — complete with barn, silo, fence and 67 fowl and animals. He fell exhausted into bed.

The kids were up at 4 a.m.



LIVE SCENE SET UP — The corral for the live animals in the nativity scene at the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church was put in place Saturday. A donkey and some sheep make the figures of the Christ Child, Mary and Joseph and others all th e more real for the motorists and passers-by the church located on W. Brown and N. Evans Sts. Albert Tonneberger brought the animals after a crew of church laymen got the scene and cor ral in place. Church chimes play carols.

In Comes the Cash, Then Out It Goes

A lot of Michigan farmers take in more than $25,000 each year.

But only about one-sixth of that figure can be labeled "net income".

A recent survey of 103 farmers participating in Michigan State University's Farm Credit Panel showed that they handle an average of $28,563 annually.

Yet only $4,537 of that total is considered "net income" after labor, machinery, feed costs, interest, etc., have been deducted.

Myron Wirth and John Brake, USDA agricultural economists working out of MSU, surveyed the predominantly dairy group to find out how this money was earned and how it was being spent. And the results were quite revealing.

★

FOR EXAMPLE, Messrs Wirth and Brake reported that 69% of the average surveyed farmer's income came from the sale of farm products. Six cents of every dollar came from off-the-farm sources, including the income gained from working off the farm. Twenty-five cents came from loans.

What did the farmer do with the cash he earned? Forty-seven cents out of every dollar went for operating expenses, 19 cents for farm investments and 20 cents for family consumer and durable goods.

The payments on debt amounted to 13 cents. The remaining cent represented an increase in cash balances over the beginning of the year.

The economists found that whenever the average panel member spent money to buy land or make investments on land and buildings, he borrowed 90 cents of every dollar. Of course, most of this was covered by other collateral.

Over $1,000 was borrowed to buy machinery and equipment—43% of the purchase price.

★

WHEN HE BOUGHT livestock during the year his livestock loans added up to nearly half of the purchase price.

At the beginning of the year, the average farmer's total assets were $70,600 and his liabilities were $18,200 — a total net worth of $52,400.

By the end of the year, total assets increased to $76,000 with liabilities of $21,800 — an increase in net worth of nearly $2,400.

Part of the increase in farmers' debts was attributed to land purchases as the average farmer sought to increase the size of his operation. At the time of the survey, the average farmer operated 244 acres with 196 tillable. Of this total, 187 acres were owned and 57 were rented.

CHRISTMAS THOUGHTS

The Christmas Holiday is wild, hectic fun. It is a season of presents and parties. It is also a warm and sentimental season. It is a time for reminiscing and a time for thinking.

Perhaps because I was once a holiday traffic statistic I feel strongly about taking a few moments now and then to fashion a creed for living—and what better time for it than now. So if some very personal thoughts are of interest, please read over my shoulder.

Every day I look out on the wonderful world here along the edge of Evans Creek and have no trouble at all believing, to borrow a phrase, in a "Power greater than myself". His miracles are there and are ours for the looking.

A SCARLET CARDINAL sitting in fresh-fallen snow, the breath-taking beauty of a winter sunrise, the yellow explosion of spring blooming forsythia bushes, the loud serenading of tiny wrens, a jewel-like humming bird hovering over a red flower, the brilliance of the fall color spectacular, the gray days when we receive much-needed rain and the yearly cycle again returns to winter.

Truly, each season, each day, each hour His handiwork gladdens our window pictures.

Why then, does such a wise Creator, who can be so lavish with love and beauty, allow "things" to happen — tragic, cruel, seemingly senseless things? Well, about 18 years ago, I decided that perhaps it was not meant for us to know all of the answers, all of the why's. There is no logical explanation, but things do happen for a purpose — although who can always see what that purpose is? Our faith in Him whose birthday we are celebrating must be part of the answer.

I BELIEVE that it was the well-known Presbyterian minister, Peter Marshall, who said, "God never closes one door without opening another". Actually I am not sure about the exact wording but it is the thought which is important. At this holy time of year it would seem fitting to rededicate ourselves to finding that door.

Another phase of the Christmas season is the special nearness one feels towards family and friends. I am especially blessed by having a marvelous family and many good friends. They have worked unselfishly to make my life full and rich. I can only hope they know how appreciative I am.

There are also numerous friends whom I know only by notes or the telephone. You readers of these "Through My Window" articles have been most gracious in letting me know that you enjoy my out-door friends. Thank you all so very, very much.

And now, as the wondrous 25th draws near, may I wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

It only seems like yesterday, not 20 years ago.

Two flickering candles on the altar of the tiny German hospital chapel provided meager illumination.

To the north, the Battle of the Bulge raged as Hitler's armor knifed through the Ardennes and the Allied forces bled.

But here, 200 miles down the Western Front, there was calm. The only sound of war was the occasional belch of the 155mm batteries, with their muzzle blasts lighting the area for fleeting seconds and making the chapel's stained glass windows shiver.

★

"IN NOMINE Patris, et Filii, et Spiritus Sancti. Amen," the GI chaplain said as he stood at the foot of the altar to begin this unique Midnight Mass.

In the hearts of every soldier attending was the joy at being alive.

Without warning, like a battery of kleig lights flashing on, feminine voices from the balcony flooded the chapel:

Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht!
Alles schlaft, einsam wacht.
Nur das trate, hochheilige
Paar,
Holder Knabe im lackigen
Haar.
Schlafe in susester Ruh!
Schlafe in susester Ruh!

Even in German, there was no mistaking the sheer majesty of these words.

Each GI seemed frozen in place as the most beautiful of all Christmas hymns spun him out of that strife-torn land, across a vast ocean and back into the living room of his home in America.

The moment was electric.

As the Mass continued, the patients and ward attendants realized that the balcony was occupied by the nursing nuns who normally operated the hospital, now taken over by the Americans.

★

LATER THAT morning, a Christmas celebration had been scheduled. But a decorated tree and gifts could never come close to topping the breathtaking Midnight Mass.

Red Cross ladies had arranged to give each patient a small present. The count of noses was made earlier in the week and a handful of newcomers had checked in afterwards.

There weren't enough gaily-wrapped tubes of shaving cream, razor blades, tooth brushes or bars of sweet-smelling soap to go around.

So some had to go without.

To at least one patient, this hardly mattered. For the first time he had really lived December 25 as the birthday of the Infant — with love and an inner thanksgiving for the gift of life itself.

Christmas 1944 will live forever as my most memorable.

The Age-Old Christmas Story

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria. And all went to be taxed, everyone into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, into the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, to be taxed with Mary, his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone around about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, "Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying:

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

THEY WORSHIP THE KING — This Nativity scene climaxed the hour-long Christmas program presented Dec. 13 in St. Elizabeth Catholic School. The auditorium was filled with relatives and friends of the pupils, all of whom took part. Portraying those who watched over the Baby Jesus were (left to right) Thomas Rohrer and Donald Dziachan, shepherds; Sue Allen, Mary; William Earle, angel; Michael Jacobs, Joseph; and Paul Velandra, shepherd.

60 Families Get Service Club Gifts

Some 125 children will be made happier this Christmas through the efforts of the Tecumseh Service Club.

Throughout the year the club coordinates the efforts of Tecumseh organizations and individuals desiring to help the unfortunate.

Baskets and gifts were delivered Wednesday to 60 families, all of whom had been checked by club members. Small baskets, given as tokens of esteem, went to pensioners in the city.

Parents were questioned to learn their greatest need and as a result children from babies to teen agers will receive an appropriate new game, toy and clothing as well as other gifts contributed by residents and business places.

The baskets were assembled Wednesday morning in the Tecumseh Community Center under the direction of the Club president, Mrs. A. J. Geisenhaver.

Mrs. Earl Roe, vice president, said a drop in unemployment cut their case load this Christmas.

Other officers are Mrs. Phillip Colgrove, treasurer, and Mrs. Frederick Dickinson, secretary.

Worshipers Pay Homage

Worshipers from Tecumsehland will pay homage to the Infant Jesus in a variety of services at churches in the area, some Christmas Eve and others Friday morning.

Episcopalians Have Packed Schedule

The late Christmas Eve service at St. Peter's Episcopal Church will begin at 11:15 p.m. with lessons and carols followed by the Festival Eucharist. Music will be provided by St. Peter's Choir with Mrs. Donald Bush at the organ.

The Rev. Frank Hawthorne will be the celebrant and the preacher. The Rev. Donald Heacock will be the deacon and Russell Cooper the sub-deacon.

Terry Haughn, Philip Browne and David French will read the lessons at the carol service.

A children's service and blessing of the creche will be held at 4 p.m. Christmas Eve in the church. Children will receive a blessing at the altar rail and then go into the parish hall for a piece of the Christ Child's "birthday cake". Each child will bring a "white gift" of canned and staple goods for needy families and for St. Gregory's Priory, Three Rivers.

The Rev. Hawthorne will be celebrant at the Christmas Eve communion service at 9:30 p.m. in St. John's Episcopal Church at Clinton. He will be assisted by the Rev. Donald Heacock, deacon, vicar of St. John's Church.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. Christmas Day in St. Peter's. Following the 10 a.m. parish communion Sunday, Dec. 27, an open house will be held at St. Peter's rectory.

Yule Service 10 Years Old

Traditional hymns and scripture, prayer and the sacrament of communion will make up a meaningful candlelight service at the Presbyterian Church Christmas eve.

Beautiful in its simplicity and familiarity, the worship has been a continuation of the past 10 years, states the Rev. Julian Gresham.

The St. Andrews and the Chapel Choirs will sing during the hour long service.

'Courage of Christ' Is Topic

A Christmas Eve candlelight service and cantata at the Grace Lutheran Church Christmas Eve will begin at 7:30 p.m.

"The workshop will be of an informal nature," said the pastor, the Rev. K. F. Koeplin, "with participation of the congregation in song."

Especially geared to the thinking of the young people the cantata will be a series of carols interwoven with the Christmas story.

Both the senior choir and the "King's Chorus" will sing, separate and combined selections.

Richard Teske, though presently hospitalized, is expected to be the reader.

A Christmas Day service will be held Dec. 25, at 10 a.m. with the senior choir singing.

The pastor's sermon will be in the subject, "The Courage of Christ".

Tiptonaires Give Gifts for Needy

TIPTON — The Chit and Chat Tiptonaires met Dec. 17 at the home of Mrs. William Bale. A Christmas party and potluck supper was enjoyed by 17 members.

Instead of an exchange of gifts the members contributed a gift to a needy family. The gifts were then taken to the Tecumseh Service Club by Mrs. William Every to be distributed to the families.

During the business meeting it was decided to change the meeting date to the first Thursday of the month. The members also decided to take their part in entertaining at Maple Lane Manor at the monthly birthday parties.

Five special program chairmen were appointed. They are:

Safety — Mrs. Jerry Emery
Health — Mrs. William Every Family Life — Mrs. Chester Baker
Citizenship — Mrs. William Murphy
International — Mrs. Norman Ries

The next meeting will be January 7 at the home of Mrs. Every. Mrs. William Vollmer will demonstrate cake decorating. The co-hostesses will be Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Lee Griffin.

They Will Eat Beef, Then Dance

The Shawnee Squares are planning a special New Year's Eve dance at the Community Center Dec. 31.

Don's Beef Buffet will serve a buffet dinner and Jack May of Toledo will be the caller.

Some decorations for New Year's will be added to the already resplendent rooms of the Community Center.

Mrs. Bill Clausen, publicity chairman, remarked about the traditional greens with red ribbons and other decorating placed there by Don Moffat.

She said the Squares really appreciate it.

Library Staff Feted at Days'

Nine members of the Tecumseh Public Library staff were entertained at a Christmas party Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Day.

Games were played, gifts exchanged and refreshments served.

Cantata To Be Sung Thursday at Baptist Church

"Festival of Christmas" is the name of the cantata written by Roger C. Wilson that will be sung by the senior choir of the First Baptist Church during the candlelight service and communion Christmas eve.

Professor Blaine Ballard will direct the cantata with Mrs. Katharine Hunt at the organ.

Soloists are Mrs. Lee Prettyman, Mrs. John Westgate, Mrs. James E. Danforth and Harold Black.

Colored Candles Featured

A Christmas Eve service at the Methodist Church will begin at 9 p.m. in order that more families can worship together, says the Rev. Donald Porteous.

"Christmas Candles" is the theme of the meditation and the use of the various colored candles during the Christmas season will be revealed.

Special music has been prepared by Miles Cowdrey, choir director, and Mrs. James Hood, organist.

Robert Wood, Jr., and Bruce Smith will be acolytes for the worship service.

Fellowship Packs Boxes for Needy

TIPTON — The Women's Fellowship of the Tipton Community Church met at the home of Mrs. Raymond Platt. It was voted to pack Christmas dinners for four families and Mrs. Raymond Platt and Mrs. Lee Griffin are in charge of the project.

Devotions were by Mrs. Dean Cook and Mrs. Lee Griffin. A Christmas program was enjoyed with Rev. Rustin and Mrs. Grover Swarts participating. Mrs. Raymond Platt presented Christmas music. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

$450,000 Bond Issue Coming Up

Another step was taken Monday night by Council to place a proposed expansion of the city's wastewater plant on the April ballot.

Councilmen approved employing the engineering firm of McNamee, Porter and Seeley of Ann Arbor for detailed plans and specifications for the expansion.

Initial estimate of the cost is $450,000, part of which GM will pay. Sale of bonds will finance a major portion of the cost, if voters approve in April.

According to an agreement with the State Health Department, the city is supposed to start construction by July 1, 1965.

Choir Members Are Given Pins at Yule Affair

Mrs. Cal Dixon Jr., entertained the Missionary Baptist Youth Choir at her home for a Christmas party Tuesday evening following caroling around the city.

The Rev. and Mrs. Seal Janeway were guests. Mrs. Lyle Hayford assisted Mrs. Dixon as cohostess.

The Choir presented a candlelight service Sunday evening. They entered the darkened room carrying lighted candles and singing, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing."

450 Pupils Take Part

Each class participated in a song.

Spreeman Home Wins Decorating Contest

A life-size manger scene in front of the Elmer Spreeman home at 9631 Murphy Hwy., captured first place in the 1964 Tecumsehland Christmas Decoration contest, bringing a $25 Savings bond to Mr. and Mrs. Spreeman.

Almost every window in their home had a lighted candle and the long fence to the road was completely lighted and read "Merry Christmas".

Even the Spreeman mailbox was in Yule dress.

Second place and a $15 merchants gift certificate went to the home of Victor L. Urbah, 106 Pine St., for a front window Nativity scene, miniature church on the front porch and attractive lighting across the front of the home.

In third place was Santa's Workshop, including elves, candy canes and multiple lighting in front of the Marsh Coulter residence, 118 Park St.

The Coulters received a $5 merchants gift certificate.

★

SPECIAL PRAISE was given by judges Worthy Chandler, Mrs. Clara Miller, Mr. and Mrs. William Hotrum, all members of the Tecumseh Senior Citizens, to two displays.

This recognition went to the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church "live" manger scene and to The Herald's original Nativity Scene painting done by Shirley Hunt, a former Herald employee, now working at Woolworth's.

"The entire downtown Tecumseh area was the most striking it has been in many years," the judges agreed.

All told, 22 entries were received by the City Parks and Recreation Department, sponsor of the competition, states Don Moffatt, superintendent.

As the judging team made its rounds Monday evening, another half dozen places, which hadn't sent in entry forms, were deemed of potential prize-winning caliber. However, only home officially entered could be considered in the contest.

Benefit Breakfast Planned at Church

CLINTON — Plans for a benefit breakfast were made Friday by Mrs. Edgar Randall and Mrs. Gladys Bihlmeyer.

The breakfast will be Dec. 29, starting at 9 a.m. in the Randall home, north of Clinton on the Manchester Rd.

Proceeds from the project will be contributed to the general fund of the United Church of Christ.

The THS grad chipped in 19 points after getting into action with five minutes to go before the half. Apparently Jerry is right in the midst of them.

Doctor: "H-mmmm."

Patient: "That's right, doctor, you should do what your mother says."

Doctor: "H-mmmm."

What are teenagers doing these days for amusement? At the suggestion of a reader, The Herald is going to do some checking right after the holiday rush. Already in the works is one article, this by a 17-year-old lad.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus — and we will be turning our attention from engineers to thoughts of Yule. Thanks for your post card.

What's that Prof. Harold Hill is none other than Heinze, the Time Study Man? But can he top those fabulous "Pajama Game" performances with his newest role in "The Music Man?" 500 Children Greet Santa in Clinton

CLINTON — Five-hundred children were in town Saturday evening to greet Santa Claus when he arrived behind the post office.

As usual, he had a sack full of candy, fruit and nuts for all the boys and girls in the community.

The local firemen were on hand to help Santa distribute the treats.

The cost of the project, which until now had been handled by the firemen and businessmen, is being covered by the Community Chest.

REV. AND MRS. ROBERT HOWDER

Howders Head for Japan Base

Rev. and Mrs. Robert Howder and their nine-months-old son, Scott Jonathan, left Monday from Metropolitan Airport for Japan. The Howders are embarking on the first four-year term of their lifetime mission under the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism.

They just completed a year of deputation work, informing various churches of conditions and requirements on the field and enlisting partners in prayer and support.

More than 40 members and friends of the Britton Baptist Church held a farewell service at the airport for the couple and their little son.

★

THE REV. DUANE McNeil, pastor of the church, read scripture, and led in prayer. Group singing was accompanied by Mrs. Alva Clark with her accordian.

Mrs. Howder, the daughter of Mrs. Walter Stutesman, 113 S. Maumee St., is a graduate of Tecumseh High School and a former student at Cedarville College in Ohio. She received her BA in Education from Calvin College, Grand Rapids.

Nazarenes Have Holiday Program

Children and youth of the Tecumseh Church of the Nazarene presented a Christmas program Sunday evening in the church. It included songs and recitations.

Mrs. Carlyle Kehoe and Mrs. Dan Jannuzzi were in charge. Gifts and treats were distributed.

Macon Resident Must Provide Water Facility

Paul Hover, next door neighbor of the Macon school, was given a deadline of Jan. 1 by the Tecumseh School Board to secure a letter of intent to dig from a well digger.

The Macon resident has used the school well for the past year and has been urged to drill his own well. A lease at one time allowed Hover's property to use the school facilities.

Hover purchased the property about a year ago.

Present well and pump facilities are in the old Macon school building, which is doomed to be torn down. Plans are to consolidate all of the facilities in the newer building.

Indians Open Tourney with 74-49 Victory

Tecumseh trounced previously undefeated Hudson, 74-49, in the opening game of the annual ABHT Tournament at Adrian Tuesday night.

The Indians played their first basketball of the season against what may have been as good a team as they've met this year in regular season play.

Hudson handled the ball well, but simply couldn't hit after a torrid first quarter.

★

COACH VIC LAWSON used all 12 varsity players with nine breaking into the scoring column, four in double figures.

After a see-saw first period in which the score was tied four times, Tecumseh shot in front immediately after the second quarter started, burying the Tigers in a 21-point burst, while holding Hudson to just four points.

The Indians continued the rout in the third quarter with Coach Lawson mixing his reserves with first stringers. Starting the final quarter, Tecumseh held a 60-37 lead, a 23-point margin which could have been doubled.

Jim Lawson topped the Tecumseh scorers with 16 points, two more than netted by Greg Allen. Terry Alcock tallied 12 before he fouled out, and Jeff Osburn 11.

Only Dave Tilton with eight points was the sole starter out of the double-figure column.

★

HUDSON'S BRUCE LEWIS grabbed the game's scoring honors with 17 markers.

Failure of the Tigers' big players, 6'4" Jim Distler and 6'9" Al Eady, to score and control the boards proved fatal. Both were completely outplayed by Tecumseh's 6'4" Allen and 6'8" Alcock.

Big Royals, Indian Five, Will Meet

Tecumseh tangles with Huron League rival Blissfield Tuesday night in the second round of the ABHT Tournament at Adrian.

Both the Indians and the Royals are undefeated for the season. Game time is 7:30.

Although the tilt will not count in the league standings, winning will certainly rate the victor as the class of the tournament teams.

The Royals have the biggest crew in the field, averaging 6'3" with no starter under six-foot. Bill McDowell, 6'7½", and Jim Gibbons at 6'4" have controlled the boards against every opponent.

The second game of the tourney's second round next Tuesday night pits Hudson against an inept Adrian five. The Tigers, losers only to Tecumseh, should have little trouble mauling the Maples for their sixth straight.

OBITUARIES

Mary Lou Hall Becomes Bride of Robert Hill

BRITTON — With the altar enhanced by Christmas firs and set off with white poinsettias, Mary Lou Hall and Robert Ole Hill were united in a double ring candlelight ceremony Saturday evening in the Ridgeway Nazarene Church.

The Rev. Wade Roberts officiated.

A prelude of nuptial music was played by Mrs. Merle Baker, who also accompanied Ronald Hathaway as he sang "Because" and Douglas Hall as he sang "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hall of Britton, approached the altar on the arm of her father. Her floor-length gown was made of Chantilly lace and tulle.

It was designed with a fitted basque bodice, a round neckline embroidered with iridescent sequins, and long tapering sleeves.

★

THE BOUFFANT skirt of alternating tiers of Chantilly and tulle was spattered with iridescent sequins and accented to the back with an all-lace overskirt.

Her only jewelry was a tiny gold cross. Her veil of French illusion was gathered by a white cabbage rose scattered with pearl sequins. She carried a cascade arrangements of red and white sweetheart roses.

The bride was preceded to the altar by the Carol Hill, sister of the groom, Brenda Hall, sister of the bride, and Mrs. James Pack, matron of honor.

They were gowned alike in dark green velvet street length dresses. Each wore a white fur pillbox hat and carried a white fur muff spattered with twigs of holly.

Carolyn Hall, sister of the bride, served as the junior bridesmaid and wore a dress and accessories similar to the other attendants.

Curtis Crunkilton of Deerfield and Robert Steffis of Monroe seated the guests and James Pack of Walbridge, O., was chosen as best man by the groom.

★

APPROXIMATELY 250 guests toured out to congratulate the young couple at a reception held at the IOOF Hall in Britton following the wedding, with Mr. and Mrs. William Bearinger acting as host and hostess.

After a short wedding trip in northern Michigan, the couple will be at home at Rankin Rd., in Britton.

The bridegroom is employed by Mueller's, Inc., of Britton and the bride will graduate from Britton High in June.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, Friday evening.

Council OKs Sewer Pact

By JIM LINCOLN

Unless there's an unexpected change in the attitudes of the Raisin Township Board, Tecumseh's sewer squabble with the township was solved Monday night when Council approved a slightly-altered township board proposal.

Approval of the proposal, which gives the Raisin Township Board control of the sewer, was made reluctantly.

It is basically the same proposal rejected by Council at a special meeting on Dec. 4.

Only change involves the number of years that GM will be the sole user. The original proposal called for 25 years, the new proposal 12 years.

★

OTHER principal parts are:

In consideration of township consent to build the sewer to Tecumseh's Fisher Body Plant, the city will not allow any resident of Raisin Township to use the sewer.

At the end of 25 years, the township will have the option of buying the sewer at its depreciated value.

All factors in the proposal are subject to township approval.

If the agreement is now accepted by the Raisin Township Board, differences between Tecumseh and Raisin may not be aired in Circuit Court at Adrian.

A pre-trial date of Dec. 29 and a trial date of Jan. 12 were set at a hearing by Judge Rex Martin on Dec. 9. At the hearing, Judge Martin ruled against an injunction to halt construction.

★

SELDERS Excavating is nearing the end of installing the eight-inch pressure line, from the intersection of Russell Rd. and S. Evans St.

Construction along N. Raisin Center Hwy. and east on Ives Rd. is completed. About one-quarter mile remains on Occidental Rd., south to the plant site.

Child Poet Tells True Meaning of Christmas

Dennis Schoonover has captured the meaning of Christmas in his original poem printed below. Dennis is the 11-year-old son of Mrs. W. Raper of Adrian. He and his two brothers attend classes in the orthopedic room at Michener School in Adrian.

WHAT CHRISTMAS MEANS TO ME

To some it means a tree of light,
With presents, but that isn't right.
Everyone should know the story.
Of Baby Jesus and His glory,
To me on Christmas, I think of the star
That the wise men followed near and far.

New System for Absentee Announced

CLINTON — Principal Richard Steudle has announced a new method of handling absentees from school.

If the parents call the school with an excuse before 2 p.m. on the day of absence, the pupil's name will be placed on an approved absentee list, which will be circulated among the teachers.

Pupils whose names are on the list will not have to bring a signed excuse from parents, nor will they need an admit-slip from the office.

Pupils will then be able to go directly to their classes and the teacher will check off their names from the approved list.

Mr. Steudle stresses the importance of calling in the excuses by the parents.

We wish to thank our customers for their patronage during the past year. We wish you a joyous holiday season.

CLINTON — The local Rotary Club relived the 1963 Clinton 125th anniversary celebration Wednesday evening when Everett Philo showed pictures he had taken.

Grade Enrollment Jumping 94; To Require 3 More Classrooms

Need for additional elementary classrooms was again discussed by the Tecumseh School Board Monday night.

Officials were told that an increase of 92 pupils was certain for the 1964-65 term.

Present elementary classrooms are full, with some teachers having an overload of pupils.

Three classrooms would take care of the increased lower grade enrollment, known to be attending the Tecumseh schools next year. But any other increase, due to new families moving into the district, would necessitate even more rooms.

School officials have investigated using portable classrooms to handle the increase.

No action for more rooms was taken.

★

IN OTHER business, the board:

► Extended the retirement date for Mrs. Doris Tonneberger at the Tipton school for another year.

► Discussed band facilities and grading of band members with Lloyd Stites, president of the Band Boosters.

► Approved changing liability insurance to a new type policy on Jan. 8.

► Heard a report from Mrs. Evelyn LeFeve regarding the number of kindergarten sections in one room.

► Discussed need of six new school busses for 1964-65, instead of three.

► Discussed increasing pay allowance for outside experience for Tecumseh teachers.

SMORGASBORD

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

This is the story of a little boy's first Christmas Eve in the North Country. He had moved with his family from Southern Illinois. They were 600 miles from their old home and lonesome, although two families of cousins had moved north with them.

But now all thoughts of distant grandparents and friends were laid aside as the family, bundled in mufflers, greatcoats and long wool stockings and covered with horse blankets, rode in hay-filled bobs over the hard-packed snow en route to the village church and its annual Christmas program.

The little building was crowded and already overheated from the Round Oak stove set up in one corner. The little boy and his older sister found their friends and sat with them, short legs dangling as they awaited their turns to recite their "Christmas pieces".

The littlest brothers clung close to their mother, awed by the candle-lighted Christmas tree which reached to the roof.

★

MORE AND MORE folks crowded in, but always there seemed to be room as fathers put children on their laps and mothers pulled their voluminous skirts closer.

The murmur of voices quieted as the minister mounted the platform and the organist sat down at the little reed organ. A dozen young persons took their places in the choir.

The young preacher read "For unto you is born this day in the City of David a Savior which is Christ the Lord".

The centuries-old, but ever-new story fell on worshipping ears and voices filled with faith and love were raised in the old Christmas carols.

The youngsters, singing and reciting, sought their parents' faces looking for approval.

★

THE PROGRAM OVER, it was time for the big event of the evening — the appearance of Santa Claus. Beneath the towering tree were gaily-wrapped gifts, for each parent had brought a present for each of his children.

There was a loud "Whoa" outside the church, much stomping of feet in the vestibule and HE was there, his bag crowded with goodies. He rubbed the cold from his hands and greeted the children and their elders.

"How," the little boy asked his mother, "Could Santa know his name and remember what he wanted most in all the world?"

And mother squeezed his hand and said, "He knows."

Santa, amid much excitement, passed out the mysterious packages. Longed-for games, dolls and tin soldiers were unwrapped. The big pile dwindled and still the little boy's name hadn't been called.

★

AT LAST THERE was but one package left and the little boy heard his voice called loud and clear.

He ran to the platform, took the parcel and tore the wrappings from it. There it was — a beautiful toy horn. A bright smile erased the worried expression from his face and he blew a big blast.

It was late as the family pulled out of town and jingled off toward home. The stars were so bright that Mother said, "You can almost see the Wise Men coming out of the East".

And the little boy, cuddled in the hay under the heavy blanket, smiled as he fell asleep. Christmas had truly come for him.

Mail Peak Touches 24,000 in One Day

Postmaster Jack Metcalf this week credited cooperation of patrons as being the biggest factor in the rapid movement of Christmas mail. "Early mailing, bundling in separate packages of out-of-town and local mail, and sorting by patrons into lobby pouches mail going to nearby communities did much to help," he said. "All of us in the postoffice appreciate it."

Gone are the early days when rural and city carriers completed their rounds exhausted after dark on Christmas Eve.

"There's no question but what it will be cleaned up early on Thursday," Mr. Metcalf said.

★

TWO EXTRA CLERKS and three extra city carriers lightened the work load in Tecumseh. Rural carriers were helped when the mail was the heaviest by their regular substitutes.

About 24,000 pieces of first-class mail were dispatched locally on the "biggest" day in the Tecumseh office. The average out-going first-class mail load was 18,000 pieces during the holiday season. The average dispatch throughout the year is some 7,000 pieces, Mr. Metcalf said.

Only special delivery and rural route mail will be delivered Saturday, under a directive issued this week by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski.

The move will give most of the nation's 590,000 postal employees a 3-day Christmas weekend and save the government an estimated $3 to $4 million, Mr. Gronouski said.

★

ORDINARILY those regular employees who work Saturdays would be due a compensatory day off the following week. By granting them relief from work on Dec. 26, the necessity to pay substitute employees to replace them during their compensatory leave day is eliminated, Mr. Metcalf pointed out.

All special delivery mail will be delivered in the city Christmas Day, Saturday and Sunday, he said.

There will be no window service Saturday, Dec. 28, but mail deposited by 4 p.m. each day in the two boxes in the business district and the two in front of the post office, will be dispatched as usual, he said.

The Tipton Coffee Shop will be closed December 24, 25 and 26. Open as usual on Sunday, December 27.

We are taking reservations for New Year's Day. Serving from 1 through 5 p. m.

Children To Offer Original Portrayals

BRITTON — Children's original portrayals of the Nativity, a midnight candlelight service, and a Festival Service on Christmas Day make up the worship services at Emmanuel Lutheran Church this week.

The children of Emmanuel will present the story of Christmas in their own words and with original illustrations of the Nativity at a program beginning at 7:30 on Christmas Eve.

The program will be held at the church on Ridge Hwy. and the public is invited.

Also on Christmas Eve at Emmanuel Church, a candlelight service will be held at 11 p.m.

The bell will toll the ancient announcement once again, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear". The community is invited to join the congregation in hearing God's word this night.

The sermon for the Festival Service on Christmas Day, held at 10:30 a.m., will be "God Dwells Among Us Today As He Did In Mary."

12 Candles Adorn Cake for Infant

BRITTON — "The Birthday of Our King" was presented in the Britton Methodist Church by the Sunday School members Dec. 20.

This annual Christmas program was directed by Mrs. Robert Mitchinson and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield.

The program told the story of the celebration of the birth of Christ through the generations.

The manger scene began the program and was followed by the Christmas the Huron Indians knew, the Christmas of a family in the 1800's, and a modern family.

A birthday cake for Jesus concluded the program.

As the 12 candles, each representing a month, were lighted, persons born in that month placed their offering on the alter.

He is accepting a position with the Shell Chemical Ammonia Division in San Francisco, Calif.

He will leave Dec. 26 for the Rose Bowl game and will begin work after the first of the year.

Larry graduated from the Britton-Macon High School in 1960.

Britton Hustling in Anticipation

BRITTON — Christmas spirit is displayed throughout the community, with homes, churches and places of business decorated.

Children count the days until Santa comes.

Adults rush around trying to remember everything they will need over the Christmas Holiday.

The Post Office has been busy, handling hundreds of Christmas cards and filling Britton residents' mailboxes with cards and packages.

At the top of the Walper elevator, one can see a bright glowing star, so bright it is visible for miles around.

Most families have decorated inside and many are busy working outside putting up Christmas lights and figures.

At the home of Lowell Dunbar, three kings, made of white material, are displayed on a black background. At the top of the door a wreath has been placed.

Folks haven't forgotten the real reason for Christmas. Churches are being made festive for the services that will herald the birth of Christ.

In front of the Methodist Church a cross has been placed, lit every night with blue Christmas bulbs.

Korican Gets 15, But Tory Five Loses

BRITTON — The final buzzer rang out and the Britton Tories had once again tasted defeat on the hardwood. This time it was to the Deerfield Minutemen, 48-43.

The Tories did, however, show prowess and coolness on the court through much of the game, holding the lead often.

Heavy fouling by Britton gave Deerfield an advantage that the Tories could not overcome as inexperience cannot beat experience.

High scorer for the Tories was once again Walt Korican with 15 points. Close behind was center Tom Smetka with 12.

The Britton JV team also suffered defeat as they lost to the Minutemen, 53-46.

Britton's Keith Crutchfield was high scorer for the game with 16 points.

Members' Children Honored

BRITTON—Children of the Tecumseh Mother's Club members were honored guests at the Dec. 14 meeting.

After playing a few games, a gift exchange took place.

A dinner was served Dec. 16 by Mrs. William Dale of Tipton with the assistance of her cohostess Mrs. Russell Johnston of Tecumseh, a highlight of the annual Christmas meeting.

Games were played and gifts exchanged.

The January Mother's Club meeting will be Jan. 13 at the home of Mrs. Richard Scarbrough.

From Tory Corridors

In excited anticipation of Christmas vacation, Britton High has been buzzing with activity.

Science Club members held their regular meeting on Dec. 14, ordered their pins and the secretary, Mary Anne Komon, sent a letter to the Salt Mines in Detroit for a date on which the club can take a trip.

The BEC Club bowled at the Tecumseh Airport on Dec. 16.

Music teacher George Berryman tossed the highest series, 469, and best game, 175.

Students of Britton High had a little vacation before Christmas on Dec. 18, getting out at noon. This half-day vacation was time for the various committees to work on the Evaluation Study.

The Varsity Club sponsored a dance after the Deerfield basketball game, earning $26 from the venture.

Old Tories Shine

ADRIAN — This year's Adrian College basketball teams certainly have a Tory flavor.

Bulldog varsity and Jayvee squads boast a raft of former Britton hoopsters, including several who helped bring the school two consecutive Class D state championships in 1963 and '64.

Big Man on Campus, of course, is Dick Seagert, the 6-7 and 225-pound senior, who ranked as Adrian's best performer last winter.

Just a few feet away from Dick along the tipoff circle is Chuck Koman, 6-2 and 165-pound sophomore, who transferred into Bulldog uniform after attending University of Detroit.

Chuck's "baby" brother, Tom, 6-4 and 185, is battling for work as a soph forward.

With the Jayvees are three of last winter's Tories, Pepper Griewahn, Ron Mastie and Verl Sanch.

★

IN THE BULLDOG press book for this season, there's some interesting reading on the talented Seagert.

As a freshman he made the varsity and scored 134 points, then rose to 234 as a second-year man, netted 332 while a junior.

Rebounding has always been one of Dick's top talents and he snagged 336 last season to set an all-time Adrian record. Another mark established by Dick is less enjoyable, most fouls in one year, 88.

Dick's top individual scoring performance was 31.

Next home performance is Jan. 9 against Albion.

Driver Dozes, Car Runs Off Road, Hits Rails

Glenn L. Green, 18, of Tecumseh, escaped injury at 1:15 a.m. Monday when his car ran off Occidental Hwy., south of Dinius Rd. and struck a series of guard rails.

Glenn told State Police he fell asleep.

Recent overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Cheek were Mr. and Mrs. John Kralic of St. Johns.

"Jingle, Bells" Sings of Snow and Sleigh

Although it says not a word about Christmas, the song, "Jingle, Bells," is now a familiar part of the holiday season. The spirited description of "Dashing thro' the snow, in a one-horse open sleigh" conjures up visions of the old-fashioned Yuletide nearly everyone remembers — or likes to think he remembers.

Usually it is thought of as "Jingle Bells," but early copies of the song show that the title was really meant to be "Jingle, Bells" — with a comma added to make it a command to the bells to go into action.

Both the melody and lyrics were written by James Pierpont, who was the son of a minister and who ran away to sea at the age of 14.

Pierpont wrote the song in the late 1850's, according to Encyclopedia Americana. He was then living in the Boston suburb of Medford where, at the time, the only piano in the entire village was loceted in the parlor of Simpson's Tavern. It was there Pierpont picked out the melody.

'Christian Science' Is Church Topic

Christian healing will be the theme of a Bible Lesson to be presented in all Christian Science churches this Sunday. The subject is "Christian Science".

Included in the Scriptural readings are the words of Jesus: "But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you" (John 14:26).

Related readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include these lines (p. 271): "Christ's Christianity is the chain of scientific being reappearing in all ages, maintaining its obvious correspondence with the Scriptures and uniting all periods in the design of God".

140 Blind Persons Thrilled

This Christmas season is a happier one for 140 blind persons who, in 1964, became masters of leader dogs. These handicapped persons, once dependent on friends and relatives for mobility, now travel independently accompanied only by their dog trained by Leader Dogs for The Blind at Rochester.

The school, a member agency of Michigan United Fund, is supported entirely by contributions from the public, Lions Clubs, sororities, kennel clubs and other groups and individuals.

★

DOGS ARE contributed by persons interested in giving the blind a purposeful, happy life. The animals, usually German Shepherds, Labradors and Golden Retrievers, must be from one to two years old, in good condition and willing to accept responsibility. They must be positively friendly even to strangers. Dogs are trained for four months before they are assigned to their master.

Eligible for the four-week training with the dogs are persons who are totally blind or have only slight light perception, are over 16 years of age, in good health, emotionally stable and of good moral character.

Students live under constant supervision of competent instructors during a minimum four weeks training period. An instructor and a housemother are on duty at all times. Training is conceived as a re-education emotionally and physically to a new way of effective living.

AFTER A PERIOD of "getting acquainted" with his Leader Dog, the student is taken to the small, quiet town of Rochester where actual pedestrian training is begun. In progressive stages adjustment to more hazardous traffic conditions is accomplished through training on the busy streets, in the heavy traffic and hurrying crowds of Pontiac.

At the end of four weeks' training with a Leader Dog, the hesitant blind student is changed to an erect confident person who has challenged and conquered one of life's severest handicaps.

There is no charge for a Leader Dog or for any part of the four-week training program, although it costs the school approximately $1,750 for each team.

Malcolm X Was Mason Boy

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story was written for his paper by Dick Brown, co-publisher of the Ingham County News in Mason. He was in school with Malcolm X, a controversial leader of the Black Muslim group in the civil rights struggle.)

What is the true story of Malcolm X during the time he spent in Mason?

The controversial Muslim figure triggered off phone calls, letters to the News and a searching of memories by many Mason people after his article appeared in the Saturday Evening Post in which he recounted his life in Mason and its schools and his acceptance by Mason youngsters.

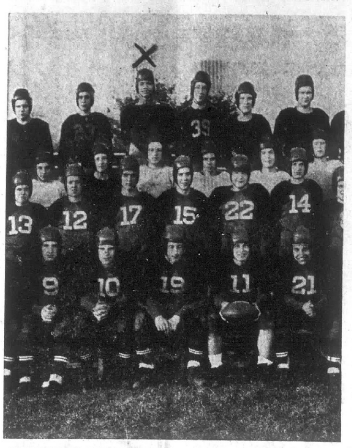
Actual details are sketchy. So were some of the statements made by Malcolm X in the Post and in other news and magazine stories since he has been in the Black Muslim movement.

★

MALCOLM X was known back in the late 30's and early 40's as Malcolm Little. He came from a large family which moved to Lansing, where his father was a part-time preacher.

Malcolm X's father was killed when he was run down by a Lansing street car. Malcolm X claims that his father was beaten to death and thrown under the street car. Ingham county vital statistics and police records do not indicate that this was the case.

After a vain attempt by the mother to hold the family together the children became wards of Probate Court. As such Malcolm X was sent to the Mason detention home. In his accounts he maintains that only those youths awaiting assignment to vocational school were at the home. Such was not the case.



LEADER THEN AND NOW — The X marks Malcolm X, a leader of the new Black Muslim movement in America. Known as Malcolm Little, he attended school in Mason and Lansing as a boy, and was known as a leader in grade school.

AT THAT time almost all the children at the county facility were wards of the court from broken homes. Many of Mason's outstanding youngsters and leaders were housed there before the days of the foster home plan.

Malcolm Little attended the seventh and eighth grade at Mason. He was a fair student, as Clifford Walcott, then principal, recalls. He classified him as a leader, a fact which was substantiated by his eighth grade classmates when they elected him class president.

In his articles the Negro leader makes much of the fact that he was the only one of his race and as he put it, "as unique as a pink poodle". This was not the case.

★

LATE in his eighth grade year he was placed in the Harold Lyons home. The Lyons family were, and still are, respected members of the community and had their children in school at this same time as were the children of the Henry Willis family.

In recalling the period when Malcolm X lived with him, Harold Lyons said that he was a quiet boy and easy to get along with. He was industrious and asked permission to work at Mathews' restaurant in his spare time. The restaurant and high school hang-out was located in what is now the shoe department of Dancer's.

That's when a good situation became hard to get along with, according to Lyons. A deadline for getting home was established but soon it was being broken regularly. At the same time there was a difference in attitude as far as school was concerned, according to both Lyons and Walcott.

★

IN THE NINTH grade a request was made by school authorities to return Malcolm X to Lansing. He left during the middle of the school year.

From there he went to live with a sister in Boston. Since his prominence developed as a Muslim leader he has been back to the Lansing area several times where some of his family, including his mother, still live.

Last year he was invited to speak at MSU by a student group. While in the area he and his brother stopped by to visit with Lyons.

School Stack Explosion at Tipton

TIPTON — Minor damage resulted Saturday morning when faulty combustion caused gases in the smokestack of the Tipton School to explode.

Safety doors on the chimney and stack and safety windows in the boiler room were blown open. They were repaired by noon.

The accident occurred between 4 and 7 a.m. Saturday. The damage, was discovered by Kenneth Frost, custodian. Insurance will cover the loss, estimated at between $300 and $400, according to Norval Bovee, business manager of the Tecumseh Public Schools. There were no reports of anyone hearing the blast, he said.

Drugs Endanger Drivers' Senses

"The driver who starts out on the road after taking drugs or tranquilizers is running the risk of a serious accident," warns R. W. Weber, Regional Manager of the Allstate Motor Club.

"The drunk driver is a menace, but so is the driver who relies on pills to keep him alert," he said. "The drinking driver may know he is in no condition to drive and may stay off the road. But the motorist who takes 'pep pills' is convinced they make him a better driver."

Certain drugs contained in "pep pills" can be habit-forming. Such a drug is amphetamine which affects the heart and nervous system. Gradually the user develops a reliance on the drug without realizing it.

★

ON THE ROAD this causes hallucinations. Motorists using the drug have reported imaginary objects looming up in front of them or have thought they saw insects crawling across their windshield.

Weber points out that "while conclusive tests on the effect tranquilizers have on drivers have not been completed, it is pretty well agreed that amphetamine, while alleviating sleepiness and fatigue can dull a person's reflexes, bring on personality changes and even become habit forming."

★

OTHER DANGEROUS drugs are chlorphomazine and reserpine, which are used to treat nervousness and high blood pressure. They can cause drowsiness and must be used with great caution while driving.

Persons who utilize antihistamines to combat motion sickness should not drive following consumption of this drug unless they have learned from previous experience that they will not undergo sleepiness or dizzy spells.

"While some highly-nervous persons might actually improve their driving slightly by using tranquilizers, these cases are rare and the driver who wants to make his holiday trip safe will not attempt to substitute a tranquilizer for adequate rest and sleep," warns Weber.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By MARTIN WHITAKER

The Boysville Fighting Knights fell prey to the Irish of Adrian Catholic Central Friday evening, 66-54. This was Boysville's second loss of the season.

The Irish leaped to an early lead and finished the first quarter leading the Knights, 24-19.

During the second period Boysville matched Adrian point for point, but was unable to narrow the margin. At halftime, Adrian held a four-point edge, 36-32.

In the third quarter the Irish gradually began to strengthen their lead and finally went on to win.

Moe Jacobs, high scorer for the Knights, found the hoop for 21 points, followed by Richard Williams with 14.

The Knights now have posted a 2-2 record, but still have hopes for some River Raisin League honors. Presently the Knights are tied with Sand Creek for fourth place going into the Christmas vacation.

►

Boysville now has a new chaplain in the person of the Rev. Fr. James J. Murphy. Replacing reassigned Rev. Fr. Gabriel Des-Harnais, Father Murphy is now residing in the chaplain's quarters in the chapel building.

Father's position as chaplain is only temporary, as he expects to be reassigned by Jan. 14.

►

This past Monday the students and faculty members of Boysville attended the annual Candlelight Banquet. Dinner was served buffet style.

The menu consisted of turkey and ham, mashed potatoes, gravy, assorted vegetables, and French and Danish pastries. The banquet is the traditional sendoff for Christmas vacation.

Default notices were issued this past week. They are issued to boys who are presently performing unsatisfactorily in their classes.

The purpose of such notices is to warn the recipient of the possibility of his receiving a failing grade unless he works harder.

Boys who receive two or more default notices must attend a special 8 p.m. study hall.

►

The Junior Class of Boysville has been occupied the past few weeks making soap Christmas trees. The boys have traveled to various Knights of Columbus councils and business establishments to show these trees and to take orders.

This class project is expected to net the boys approximately $200.

►

Brother Peter Michelin, CSC, who has resided at Boysville for the past year, while studying mathematics at the University of Michigan, has received his master's degree.

On Jan. 20, Brother Peter will set sail for the Brothers' school in Ghana, West Africa, where he will teach and do missionary work.

►

Residents of St. Joseph Dormitory held a Christmas party Dec. 19 with sandwiches, pop, potato chips, popcorn and candy. Television followed the refreshments.

Sue Klappich, George Heeman Jr. Exchange Marriage Vows

Colors of the holiday season brightened Holloway Presbyterian Church Saturday evening for the wedding of Sue Klappich and George Heeman, Jr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Klappich of 3512 Rogers Hwy., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Heeman of 735 N. Union St., Tecumseh.

As the Rev. Keith Morrow performed the candlelight ceremony, the chancel was lighted by a circular, 15-branch candelabrum, faced with white mums. On either side were seven-branch candelabra outlined with greens and flanked with palms.

MRS. GEORGE HEEMAN, JR.

The white-carpeted center aisle was outlined with white satin bows and emerald foliage.

Mrs. Roger Richards of Adrian played nuptial music, and Terri Clark sang the "Lord's Prayer" and "Because".

The bride's gown of peau de soie and Alencon lace was designed with a rounded neckline and long sleeves. Lace appliques outlined the neckline and high waist and bordered the floor-length skirt.

The lace-trimmed, three-panel chapel train was detachable.

A matching pillbox hat secured her veil.

The bride carried a lace-covered Bible topped with a crescent arrangement of white phalanopsis orchids and miniature ivy.

The attendants' gowns were alike, made of green velveteen and matched by head bands.

Honor maid was Miss Letty Ringman of Tecumseh, who carried a cascade of white fugi mums with clusters of green grapes interspersed with loops of red velvet ribbon.

Mrs. Gary Crawford of Lansing, a sister of the groom, and Miss Carolyn Duncan of Adrian, a cousin of the bride, were the bridesmaids. They carried similar arrangements of green fugi mums with red grapes and green velvet ribbon.

Flower girl Amy Montague carried a basket of white flowers and miniature red grapes.

Ralph Helzerman, Jr., of Tecumseh was best man. Seating the guests were Gary Crawford of Lansing, Rodney Fairbanks of Ridgeway, a cousin of the groom, and Bradley Bruce of Tecumseh.

Christmas colors were carried throughout the room for a reception in Deerfield Legion Hall. The cake table was flounced with white satin and net and fronted with a large cluster of holly tied with a green bow.

Holly and bows were repeated on lighted tapers both on the table and throughout the hall.

The new Mrs. Heeman was graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1964 and is attending Eastern Michigan University. Her husband attended Jackson Junior College after graduation from THS in 1961, and is employed by Ford Motor Co. at the Rawsonville plant.

The newlyweds will live in Ypsilanti.

The senior George Heemans hosted a rehearsal dinner Friday night at Don's Beef Buffet.

Star of Bethlehem Retains Its Mystery

ANN ARBOR — The Star of Bethlehem still remains an astronomical mystery.

With Christmas symbols everywhere, the popular interest in astronomy reaches its peak in December. But, says University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh:

"One must remember that the narrative about the Christmas Star is too incomplete, the date of its appearance too uncertain, the early calendar too unreliable to lead us to any definite conclusions.

"One explanation advanced, and perhaps the best, is that the 'star' reported to have guided the shepherds may have been a conjunction, or close passing, of bright planets.

"Some bright planets are visible now, and they are always promising and alluring. A conjunction occurred in the year 7 B. C., with the planets Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn, meeting in the constellation of Pices (The Fishes), which could have had some significance in the early church.

"Such an arresting figure would most certainly have drawn the attention of the astrologers, who would have been looking for a sign, and who would have attached mystical meaning to the appearance."

Professor Losh says that the date of Christmas is believed to bean a real relation to the sun and the winter solstice. "The Christmas celebration most likely was set to agree with the early pagan festival, attendant upon the rejoicing in the turning northward of the sun at the winter solstice, and the promise of the return from the cold, bleak temperatures to warmer weather".

———o———

Mrs. LaVern Mull was hostess to the Main St. Extension Club on Tuesday night. Mrs. Sarah Lowery showed pictures on her trip to France. Visitors were Zora Kerr, Mrs. Grandstaff, Mrs. Lyle Marine, Mrs. Ralph McGuire. There was a gift exchange.

Dutch Elm Disease Proved Controllable

Effective sanitation and spray programs can reduce a community's elm tree losses to as low as one percent, but total loss of elm tres from Dutch elm disease is inevitable in communities where there are no programs or programs that are poorly carried out.

This was brought out at a recent meeting conducted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Plant Industry Division and Michigan State University for city foresters, Park superintendents, and others.

Last year good results were obtained in most of the 84 communities in the state which cooperated with the Plant Industry Division in joint programs. Under such agreements the division conducts Dutch elm disease surveys, confirms survey findings by laboratory analysis, and issues condemnation orders on the removal and destruction of diseased or dead trees and piles of elm wood.

★

DUTCH ELM disease is carried from a diseased tree to a healthy one by a type of bark beetle. There is no known cure once a tree has the disease, says C. A. Boyer, who explains that intensive research in the past 30 years has been unable to find a cure.

Preservation of elms depends on sanitation, which means the removal and burning or deep burial of dead or diseased trees, and also upon a proper spraying program. The secret of this is thorough coverage of an elm tree with the proper strength spray at the proper time. The recommended sprays for this are DDT of methoxychlor.

A review of 1964 programs in the state disclosed that among municipalities that achieved effective control of Dutch elm disease were Detroit, Huntington Woods, East Lansing, Monroe, Lapeer, Greenville, and East Grand Rapids.

County Falls Short for TB Seals

Christmas Seal giving in Lenawee County is $4,602 short of reaching the 1964 campaign goal for the area, it was reported today.

Dr. Howard R. Eddy of Adrian, a member of the board of trustees of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, said that thus far residents of the county have contributed $6,898.

"Throughout the state, there has been an increase in Christmas Seal giving and for this all of us dedicated to continue the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases are grateful," Dr. Eddy said.

"We are looking forward to intensifying the battle against TB and to helping to stem the increasing toll of such diseases as emphysema, bronchitis and asthma. To thus help protect the breath of life will require increased funds. I am sure local residents are aware that Christmas Seal dollars are expended judiciously to accomplish this end.

"Although Christmas Seal giving in the county is ahead of last year's pace, many residents who have received Seals have not yet made a contribution and their gifts will be necessary in order to make the county's Christmas Seal goal."

A report that a 35-year-old mother and her seven children in Beaverton (in Gladwin County) were hospitalized early this month with tuberculosis is clear indication that tuberculosis remains a threat to life and to health in every sector of the state, he said.

Families of the Lions Club met Tuesday night at Holloway Presbyterian Church for Christmas dinner with 78 present. The children all saw Santa Claus.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

If you ever happen to be stranded around northern Indiana, the fellow to get hold of is Jack Clark, who operates a farm outside Angola.

Jack popped into a small gift shop in the Hotel Hendry on Christmas Eve to get a couple of last-minute items when he learned from the clerk a heart-rending story.

A young couple, on their way from the Chicago area to Tecumseh, Mich., had a run of bad luck. They were in the shop to do some phoning in hopes of reaching a solution to their problem.

It seemed their car had broken down on the Indiana Tollroad, was hauled into Angola and found to be in need of major surgery. To continue their junket seemed nearly hopeless.

So Jack Clark stepped up, introduced himself and said he'd like to help out. Jack and his wife, Rose, drove the other couple to the bus station, only to learn the next east-bound Greyhound wouldn't run until late Christmas afternoon.

Jack looked at Rose, she nodded and in a few moments the Clarks had come up with a solution. Call Tecumseh, get the hosts there to come down to Exit 3 on the Ohio Turnpike and the Clarks would drive them that far, a distance of about 75 miles.

So in a matter of minutes, Jack's Chevy station wagon was on the Tollroad, heading east.

"They wouldn't even let us pay for the Tollroad or buy petrol," said one of the victims, who happens to be slightly British in case you didn't dig that petrol bit.

Jenny and Mike Lucas were heading for our place and the mishap turned into a fascinating story — a twist on this whole Christmas business of "good will towards men."

It turned out, that when the Indiana farmer discovered the stranded folks were English, he knew he could repay a debt of kindness over 20 years old.

Jack had been wounded in Europe during World War II, convalesced in Devon, which is located in southern Britain. He told Jenny and Mike the folks there were so kind to him, he was delighted for the chance to do something nice for two of their fellow countrymen.

In a world of so much strife, character assassination, fights to gain material things, it's wonderful to know there are folks around like Jack and Rose Clark.

18,000-Mile Junket by 'Bike'

Tipton Man Leaves New Year's for Swing Through South America

While most fellows settle down for a dozen hours of television football New Year's afternoon, Hollis Bourns of rural Tipton will be waving goobye to his family.

That's the day he'll start his 18,000 mile junket through South America aboard a motorcycle.

This isn't a lark for the 41-year-old Tecumseh Products Co. employee, who already has logged 75,000 miles aboard two-wheel "bikes."

En route, he hopes to visit Products' licensees, locally-owned plants where Tecumseh compressors are manufactured for sale in Latin American countries.

★

THE WIREY Mr. Bourns will wind up his trip at Sao Paulo, Brazil, where he will be a guest in the home of a jeweler, whose daughter was in Michigan last summer and spent two weeks with Sanda Smith, a niece of Mr. Bourns and who lives next door to the Bourns family.

Making a motorcycle swing through South America has long been a dream of the Products man and meeting a Brazilian helped propel the project into reality.

On the first leg of the journey, Mr. Bourns will drive his trusty 1950 Mercury, pulling a trailer on which will be his 1964 B&W 38-horsepower, two-cylinder "bike."

Although he has cycled on wintery roads, he decided to avoid any complications and go by car to the Mexican border. He'll park the car and trailer there and continue on the B&W.

His fuel capacity will total seven gallons, 2½ in an auxiliary tank. For spare parts, there'll be four extra spark plugs and an inner tube.

He made arrangements with B&W that in case of serious needs, he could wire to New York for a part and it would be flown to him.

★

HIS SLEEPING bag, pup tent and air mattress will provide for camping along the way. One complete change of clothes and a pair of good slacks will complete the trip wardrobe.

To record impressions of the country, Mr. Bourns will use his 8mm, turret lens motion picture camera. Forty rolls of color film are in a storage case on his bike. He may also take the family box camera for some still photography.

Waving goodbye will be his wife, Mary and their three children, Gary, who is married and lives in Tecumseh, Janet, 19 and Dennis 16.

Mr. Bourns is no stranger to travel. In 1953 he and his wife, with another couple, visited Alaska — by car. They drove to Mexico City in 1955 and were in Cuba in 1958.

Three times he cycled to Daytona, Fla., a jaunt of 3,000 miles, to catch the National Motorcycle Races. His companion on these was Ron Roe of Tipton.

Mr. Bourns usually goes to work at the Products on his "bike" and in 1960 he didn't miss a day, even when the temperature dipped to 10 degrees. For the real cold ones, he has a heated and insulated Air Force flight suit.

On good roads, Mr. Bourns can scoot along at an average speed of 70 and gets about 50 miles to the gallon.

His route on this newest adventure will run through Mexico, down Panama, into Columbia, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Argentina, Uruguay and then Brazil. He plans to return the same way.

The amazing thing about this is that Mr. Bourns didn't become a motorcycle fan until he was 36.

As a 17-year-old, he thought he might enjoy the sport and accepted a ride with a lad, who opened up the "bike" to about 50, ran over a railroad crossing and so frightened Mr. Bourns he wasn't interested anymore.

Nearly 20 years went by before he decided it might be fun — if a fellow uses care and good sense.

And now South America.

Coming up — 18,000 miles on a motorcycle for Hollis Bourns, a Tecumseh Products White Room regular. He'll leave New Year's Day, saying goodbye to wife and family for two months while he junkets through South America.

Ice Skaters Are Wailing

The department will have an attendant on duty at the warming house each afternoon and early evening with the opening day, he said.

Hours he will be on duty the remainder of the school vacation

When school is in session weekday hours will be from 3:30 p.m. to dark.

Osburn Paces 53-49 Victory

Tecumseh won its second straight ABHT Tournament game Tuesday night with a squeaky 53-49 victory over previously undefeated Blissfield.

Jeff Osburn carried his teammates to the come-from-behind win with 22 points, seven in the fourth period.

Trailing 48-42 with about five minutes left in the game, Osburn hit a jumper from the circle to narrow the gap. After a free throw by Gregg Allen and a bunny by Jim Lawson, Osburn cashed in on another jumper to give Tecumseh a 49-48 lead with 3:34 left on the clock.

The senior guard hit again to boost the margin to three points and later added a free throw to cinch the thriller played before an SRO crowd in Adrian High's gym.

Cold shooting was largely responsible for Tecumseh's close call, along with poor ball handling and team work. A full court press late in the game overcame the Indians lack of finesse and resulted in a couple of steals from Blissfield.

Allen came up with 15 points in the victory, Lawson had 12, and Terry Alcock 4.

Final game in the tourney Wednesday night had Tecumseh against Adrian with the Indians rated a lopsided favorite.

The Indians will then have over a week's rest before meeting Grosse Ile here on Jan. 8 in a Huron League tilt. The big game coming up is on Jan. 15 when the Indians travel to Airport and meet the highly rated, undefeated Jets.

Another Blissfield performance against Airport is apt to end Tecumseh's winning streak.

Motorists Are Hurt in Crashes

Two motorists barely escaped death here last Thursday in a collision on N. Evans St. at Macon Rd.

Injured and confined at University Medical Center, Ann Arbor, is Douglas Michling, 19, of 301 E. Logan St. He suffered severe facial and mouth injuries, fractured jaw and possible internal injuries. His condition is not considered serious.

Taken to Herrick Hospital was Dena I. Sowa, 20, Dearborn.

She sustained lacerations of the mouth and face and was terated and released.

Michling was headed west on Macon Rd. and apparently pulled into the path of the Sowa car which was headed north.

Both cars were extensively damaged and towed away by wreckers.

The accident is still under investigation.

Raisin Rejects Own Proposal

By JIM LINCOLN

Raisin Township Board's proposal, regulating usage of an eight-inch pressure sewer to Tecumseh's Fisher Body Plant, hit another snag last week when township officials rejected their own proposal, after city Council had approved it.

Raisin officials, who have repeatedly changed their requests and demands from the city — in return for township approval of the sewer's construction — apparently object to Council's cutting the number of years in which GM will be the sole user of the sewer.

The original proposal set a 25-year period, Council cut it to 12 years.

★

AT A BRIEF pre-trial Tuesday morning, Judge Rex Martin set Jan. 12 at 9:30 a.m. for a trial in Circuit Court.

If settlement between Tecumseh and the township board is reached prior to the trial, it is clear that the city will have to accept the original proposal.

Acceptance by both parties of the proposal could lead to a situation where a sewer inside the city limits could be controlled by the Raisin Township Board.

★

FEAR of annexation to township property has been publicly stated as the basis for Raisin refusing Tecumseh permission to build the sewer, which is now less than 1,000 feet from the plant site on Occidental Rd.

Council will undoubtedly review the proposal and other related factors at Monday night's meeting on Jan. 14.

Christmas Trees Burn January 6

The Christmas tree which looked so glamorous on Christmas Eve is beginning to shed its needles and impatient mothers are tiring of the clutter.

To make it easier to dispose of the green and to end formally the holiday season the Department of Parks and Recreation is arranging a Twelfth Night ceremonial to be held at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 6 at the Athletic Field on N. Evans St.

Don Moffatt, department superintendent, requests that householders bring trees to the field prior to 4 p.m. on that day and asks that no unburnable trees or stands containing nails be placed on the pile.

Osteopath Opens New Office Here

Dr. D. E. Miller, DO, has moved from Barbeau in the Upper Peninsula to Tecumseh where he will open an office Monday at 900 W. Chicago Blvd. He has been practicing for the past five years in Pickford, a community near Sault Ste. Marie.

"My wife and I are tired of the long northern winters," Dr. Miller said. "We have looked for months for an ideal community in the southern part of the state. When we saw Tecumseh we knew we had found the right town."

Dr. Miller and his wife, Mabel, are living temporarily at 1847 Russell Rd., the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Willmott.

The osteopathic physician is a graduate of the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery at Kirksville, Mo. and in 1937 began his practice in Traverse City. Five years ago they moved to Pickford.

They have two sons, Brenton Textor, a student at the Kirksville College, and Duane Textor, serving with the U.S. Navy.

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

Perhaps it was the "green Christmas" which turned my thoughts to the great flu-epidemic of 1919. The disease which swept the world during World War II took millions of lives.

My only personal memory of it is how my father saved the lives of my mother, my sister and me by packing our beds with ears of corn he had heated in a wash boiler. His quiet devotion to his family was probably repeated tens of thousands of times across the country.

My husband has a more vivid memory of the epidemic, which almost claimed the lives of his father and his only sister. This little end-of-the-year column is dedicated to his loving mother who passed away in August.

The Sheltons lived near the little town of Harlen in Northern Michigan. There were four families related by blood and marriage and in every household there was sickness.

The doctor made his rounds in his old buggy, almost helpless to offer anything but advice, encouragement and solace.

★

MY HUSBAND'S family included his parents, the sister and three younger brothers. He was 16 years old.

The father augmented the income from the farm by working on the Ann Arbor railroad and each day as he ate his breakfast and dressed in the heavy clothing which protected him from the cold, sometimes registering as low as 40 below zero, his oldest sons hitched up his horses and had them ready as he left the house.

Then the boys fed the other animals, milked the cows and filled the woodbox. Because they cooperated they prospered and their home was a happy one.

But now, in the late winter of 1919, the dreaded flu epidemic found its way to the little community. One by one adults and children took to their beds.

It was that way in the Shelton family. Within a week after one of the youngsters took sick the whole family was ill.

★

MRS. SHELTON was the last to be stricken, but the doctor told her bluntly, "You will have to keep going. There isn't a well person in the town who can be spared to nurse you and the children. You'll have to do the best you can for your own family."

A brother-in-law moved all the beds into a single downstairs room and added the chores to the others he was doing for stricken families up and down the street. Neighbors sent in chicken broth and custards and the other light foods which helped to fight the illness.

Everywhere there was sickness and death, but in this little house with six persons bedfast the mother determined that with the aid of God she would bring her family through.

She made the rounds of beds, applying hot packs, soothing fevered heads, rubbing backs and changing bedding. And everytime she gave a round of medicine she took a dose herself.

Occasionally she dropped exhausted into a chair, knowing that before she could doze off a fretful child would demand her services.

★

ONE LATE afternoon, when the doctor came, he looked at the father and the daughter and warned, "Tonight is the crisis. If they live through the night they will be out of danger."

And so she redoubled her efforts and her prayers and in the night their fevers broke and she knew they would recover.

One by one they began to get well and one bright morning when the doctor opened the kitchen door he saw a remarkable thing. Six invalids, weak but smiling, sat up in their beds.

"It's the happiest sight I've seen in years," he said to the grateful mother. He patted her shoulder as he hurried out of the house to another home that needed him more.

PATTERSON SCHOOL PATTER

By SHERRIE LEE HART

Christmas Open House at Patterson was a huge success this year. All those yummy cookies that the Mothers made had a lot to do with it.

And while we're remembering those who contributed let's not forget Miles Cowdrey and the sixth grade band, which played Christmas music throughout the evening.

√

Just inside the front door of the school building there was a revolving stand telling of "Christmas Around the World," Art work from various children depicts Christmas customs from different countries, while music was playing.

A banner bearing "Season's Greetings" was made out of velvet lettering. Taped Christmas carols were played during the Open House.

Here are some of the things guests saw.

KINDERGARTEN

Mrs. William Powell's group hung stockings and the children made gifts for their parents. Decorations included bells and candy canes.

FIRST GRADES

Miss Ilah Heckert's first grade group made Santas out of apples and gum drops.

Mrs. R. C. Osburn's students fashioned red and green candles. They made one big fat one out of an oatmeal box and made an angel tree. Each child made their own.

SECOND GRADES

In her room, Mrs. Ray Puffer's group made Christmas tree mobiles and a sparkly poinsettas.

Mrs. A. L. VanWinkle's second graders did a Christmas tree out of a Swedish chain and made ornaments to put on it as well as a Santa Claus of paper.

THIRD GRADES

Mrs. Frank Lasky's room had a nativity scene, done by using liquid soap bottles. Santa came from Clorox bottles.

Mrs. James Lincoln's group memorized the poem "Twas the Night Before Christmas." Several books about Christmas were displayed.

FOURTH GRADES

Mrs. Lillian Buttolph's students made foil Christmas trees, paper weight Yule scenes and an animal Christmas party. They also decorated candles and bars of soap.

Mrs. Oleg Michajlenko's children made two trees, one of cotton. A picture of Rudolph, the red-nosed reindeer, and star snowflakes were other decorations along with mobiles.

FIFTH GRADES

Mrs. Keith Swain's youngsters made movable paper Santas.

Choir boys were done from magazines and cut paper, arranged in groups with a stained glass window behind them.

Mrs. Russell Raymond's room theme was "Santa's Journey From the North Pole." Santa rode in a tin lizzie i na chalk drawing, slides down the chimnew and is then included in the scene. Each student hung a red felt stocking that had been made and decorated by them.

SIXTH GRADE

Earl Greene's room featured religious chalk drawings. In the front of the room, three containing scenes of the first Christmas with "Merry Christmas" in various languages around the world.

An angel on an oiled sheet of white paper was placed on their door.

The sixth graders of Mrs. Chet Baker's room made a felt Christmas tree decorated with ornaments. They also made a gold newspaper tree and a paper model of a village.

TEEN TALK

By DEBBIE EARLING and RICK SKINNER

Tecumseh High School was a buzzing beehive of activity the week before vacation. Last-minute assignments, preparation for programs, and plans for the Christmas dance were entwined with regular daily activities.

Tuesday and Wednesday mornings the sophomores took aptitude tests. They were divided into two groups and each took the tests in one four-hour stretch with a break after the second hour. This prevented a complicated schedule and enabled the students who were present to complete all phases of the testing.

√

The seniors were busy all day Wednesday decorating the gymnasium for the Christmas dance. The party was held from 9 to 12 p.m. Wednesday night. The theme "Santa's Workshop" was represented by colorful paper elves stationed around the converted gym and paper toys strung among red and white streamers which formed a dropped ceiling.

Cookies, baked and iced by the senior girls, and punch were served. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gross led the Grand March to the tune of "Babes In Toyland." Music was provided by the Quartertones from a bandstand which looked suspiciously like Santa's big red sleigh. The spectacle of the evening was a visit from old St. Nick himself who distributed candy canes to the 200 or more attendents.

√

Members of the THS chorus and senior band assembled Dec. 21 in the THS gymnasium for their annual Christmas concerts.

The band came on with a brilliant "Christmas Party" which was an impressive combination of several Christmas favorites.

A mellow combination of "Christmas Eve" and "I Heard the Bells on Christmas" was provided by the chorus.

The theme of an Old Fashioned Christmas, was carried out by the program held in the colorfully decorated gym. A massive Christmas tree was donated by J. C. Beardsley.

The Girls' Ensemble, in mid-19th century costumes sang the theme. The Madrigals presented the "Birthday of a King."

Debbi Crawford, Diane Ries, Linda Easton and Kay Becker entertained with a skit portraying toys in Santa's workshop.

People concerned with the presentation of the program include Donald Johnson, Miles Cowdrey and Frances Moran, directors of the band and chorus; Dexter Bailey, accompanist, and Barb Clark who directed the decoration of the gym and the "all over affair."

A brief condensation of the program was presented to the student body the following day during the sixth hour assembly.

DOLLAR and SENSE FARMING.

BEEF CATTLE NEEDS FOR VITAMIN A depend on ration fed and length of time on feed. Cattle on otherwise adequate rations often show a lack of vitamin A. Cattle wintered on corn silage should receive 10,000 units per head per day; on full feed in winter, 20,000 units. Cattle fed ground ear corn or corn silage over 100 days should get 15,000 to 30,000 units per day. Cattle on a similar program but getting 3 pounds of hay daily won't need over 5,000 units.

HIGH INCOME DAIRY FARMS depend upon a high level of efficiency in all phases of the farm business. A Vermont dairy farm business analysis revealed this is primary in achieving and maintaining a large number of high producing cows. A poor job in one phase of the business is enough to reduce income substantially. Feeding, breeding, cropping, mechanization and attention to every detail are important.

CONTROL RATS AND MICE. Poisons vary in effectiveness and safety of use. Your best all-around choice is an anticoagulant. It is effective against Norway rats, roof rats and house mice with only a slight degree of hazard in use. Most other control chemicals available are more selective in the rats or mice they will control. They are also generally more hazardous to use.

CHEMICALLY-TREATED HAY. If you buy hay this winter make sure the crop wasn't sprayed with heptachlor or dieldrin. If these residues show up in the milk it can be refused. If in doubt have hay tested.

Scudder's car was towed to a garage.

★

A REAR-END accident occurred Saturday on W. Chicago Blvd. when Grant L. Baughey, 19, of 409 Russell Rd., failed to stop in time to avoid hitting Karin W. Bruce, 22, of 122 N. Ottawa.

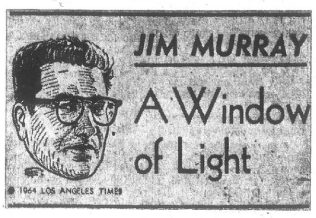
An Orchid for Marda Gene

Editor's Note — Serviceman Tom Velandra, based in Lemmore, Calif., spied a familiar name while reading the Los Angeles Times Christmas edition. He quickly clipped the article, hustled it back to his hometown. It was a moving column by famed sports writer Jim Murray, who is married to the former Geraldine Brown of Tecumseh. Mr. Murray, who is visits our town and has long been a fan of Marda Gene Duncan, about whom he devoted his Dec. 25 column. Marda Gene, veteran Herald columnist, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duncan.



I don't know whether bird-watching is a sport. But I do know it's not a business and that's the next best thing, because I don't feel like spending Christmas Day helping out somebody else's hustle.

I think I'd like to bring you a Christmas story.

Marda Gene Duncan is a girl you never heard of. She lives in a little town in Michigan you never heard of, either.

She is very pretty, with gray eyes, a nice laugh, beautiful complexion. It's not till you get down to the legs that you know Marda Gene isn't going to be Miss America. They just don't work.

It's an old story: a pretty girl at a dance, laughing and doing the jitterbug one minute, running away from a boy to tease him. And the next minute, there's a crash on the highway and the belle of the ball is sitting under a pile of twisted metal moaning, "My legs. I can't move them." A life and a car wrecked on one swerve of the wheel.

Marda Gene was an only child, and an only child who leaves the house in a ball gown with her cheeks rosy and eyes dancing at 8 o'clock and comes home in a wheelchair months later is the kind of thing that makes parents of only children wake up nights and peek through the curtains to see if they can hear a car coming.

A BED, SOME BOOKS — AND A WINDOW

At the age of 16, Marda Gene's life had narrowed down to a bedroom, a bed with an orthopedic bar across it, some books, a magnifying glass so you could read lying down — and a window.

Some people would have hated what they saw through that window — kids playing in the snow, sleighs tumbling down hills, boys going to school dances, girls on their way to the old gravel pit swimming hole.

But Marda Gene found something else through that window — 9 billion friends. They don't look at her awkwardly, groping for something to say. They were themselves. They were as cheerful as a sunrise. They let nothing them dismay. There were thrushes and tree swallows, killdeer and horned lark, scarlet tanagers and rose-breasted grosbeak. There were villainous red squirrels omniscient old owls whose idea of a delicacy is breast of live skunk au jus.

There were birds that can fly 18 m.p.h., birds which couldn't fly at all, birds whose hearts beat 615 times a minute (the hummingbird), birds whose normal body temperature is 115 degrees.

The greatest show on earth was going on in a rectangle of glass only slightly bigger than a TV set. It was the Colgate Comedy Hour, East Lynn, John's Other Wife, Combat, Survival and the Perils of Pauline all rolled into one.

PATHETIC, MAGNIFICENT AND HOPEFUL

Marda Gene began to watch in fascination. If there is something pathetically ironic in a pretty young girl not only earth-bound but bed-bound watching pretty little things soaring off to romantic places, there is something thrilling magnificent and hopeful about it, too. Marda Gene began to write of her fine, feathered frends. And the local paper, The Tecumseh (Mich.) Herald, began to pick up her words and run them.

They are almost my favorite reading when I feel myself giving in to an unreasoning despair or self-pity. Marda Gene has written movingly of a mother robin coaxing her three spotted babies into the invisible fastness of a flowering bush at the approach of a human being. She has protested charmingly the naming of a beautiful gray family of birds as "catbirds." The only animal Marda Gene does not like in her window is a cat.

Marda Gene's column "Through My Window" can be as inspiring as a chapel bell. But the prose is quiet, underplayed. She does not embarrass her bird friends with sensationalism. She is as careful with feathered facts as Audubon.

SHE EVEN LIKES BLUE JAYS

She defends her friends as loyally as if they cared. She squirmed uncomfortably when I asked her once if blue jays weren't really Mafia characters in the bird world who preyed on robins' eggs and in general should be kept in cages or electric chairs. "Oh, shucks, they're not a bad sort. And they are so pretty, they add beauty to the world just being in it."

So does Marda Gene. Her eye is on the sparrow, too. And on the redheaded woodpecker, the yellow warbler, the nonmigrating chickadee, the purple martin, brown thrasher.

It's winter now. Her forest in Evans Creek glade is white and silent now save for an occasional lost snow bunting. But soon the creek will melt, the trees will leaf and Marda Gene will awake one morning and hear the first pure call of the mating thrush through her window and know that company has come to spend the summer. Even though they don't wear scarves and stocking caps and carry lanterns in the snow, what finer caroling could you have under your window even at Christmas?

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

"Merry Christmas and Happy New Year," how often we say the words but don't know the true meaning.

My husband and I just returned from a trip to Watertown, Wis. to the Bethseda Lutheran Home for over 600 mentally retarded, epileptic and physically handicapped people.

Everyone from babies to grown men and women. We delivered a load of toys donated by members of Emmanuel Lutheran Church of Britton and are very glad we made the trip because we saw with our own eyes how many more people we have right here at home so forgotten and who could be helped at Christmas time and through the year and really would appreciate the things.

As we drove up the winding road in front of the buildings an older fellow was loading a group of about 12 boys ranging in age from 12 years to 20. They were marching along singing and happy carrying the Christmas trees to be set up and decorated.

As we drove closer to ask directions they shouted "Merry Christmas, Happy New Year" but they were sad to look at, many had disfigured and twisted faces or bodies.

When we entered the quonset hut where they directed us, again we heard a voice say, "Merry Christmas" and saw a fellow in his twenties helping a woman employee sort and wrap Christmas gifts. He became excited and tried to say somethine else but it could not be understood.

The lady apologized for him and said, "This is Lucifer, he's my right hand man and is the best helper." With this we got a big smile from his twisted face and back to work he went lifting the big boxes.

We were told they only had half as much donated as they had a year ago. Many folk are like ourselves and never knew the things they can use there so we brought home a list.

People wishing to donate used clothing, dolls or toys to be repaired, do so now so we have the year to work on them and get them ready. As you put away your Christmas decorations, any that you won't use another year pack in a box, this goes for display things from the stores too.

Either give us a call to pick them up or drop them off at the following address. We have a whole barn to store things in.

We plan to make the trip back next year and would like to go earlier and have a bigger load.

Thank you and Merry Christmas

THROUGH MY WINDOW

1964 IN REVIEW

January and February can be lumped together and labeled a great big fat nothing. The weather, for the most part, was unseasonably warm, there was practically no lasting snow to pretty things up and the birds were simply not interested in feeding-station eating.

That most of the cats in town started slinking our way did not help matters any. Our biggest bird day was the Sunday which saw three blue jays, one male and one female cardinal, two titmice, two nuthatches and one chick-a-dee at the feeders.

Not good winter watching as far as I am concerned.

March was a bit better. It came in like a lamb, but soon near tornadic winds blew the warm weather away and returned us to winter.

Before this happened, however, we had on March 6 spotted our first robin and grackle. This was also about the time that Gertie's two Mallard ducks discovered the creek — Oh, joy! About the middle of the month one of the worst blizzards remember belted us and from then on March roared like a lion.

★

APRIL RAN true to form. New birds and old friends started appearing. A little dash of spring greened things up and sent the cardinals into a flurry of nest building.

On April 12, two kingfishers rattled by April 13, two yellow bellied-sapsuckers were spied.

A phoebe gobbled insects and kept the field glasses busy April 15. And happy Friday, April 17 found the catbirds back, a squirrel going into the hole in the tree where last year a family was raised and the temperature soared to a wonderful 85 degrees.

A towhee, a white-throated sparrow and more catbirds made April 19 busy and the last of the month found the flickers drumming on the feeding station roof, wrens investigating the little house and the gold-finch flock numbered six.

Running true to form, the magnolia trees were at the peak of their beautiful blossoming period when a bad wind and rainstorm hit.

★

OUR FIFTH month was busy —good bird looking from inside and then as warm weather arrived, Ida and I spent many afternoons outside. On May 1, we celebrated by entertaining our once-a-year visitor, the handsome black, white and red rose-breasted grosbeak. Actually, this was a colorful day, Mr. Baltimore Oriole and a small flock of goldfinches appeared. Another once-a-year sighting was made Monday, May 4, when a little gem of an indigo bunting lit in the side yard.

This also was the day of many flickers, goldfinches, white-throated sparrows and catbirds.

After much tumbling through bird books, a wood thrush and an olived back thrush were identified.

Six blue jays at one time and a red-winged blackbird made the next day noteworthy. Warblers always give us trouble and 64's crop seemed even worse than usual.

Everyday the trees would be full of the tiny birds, but how to sort out who was whom! We did have a good look at a blue-winged warbler and several times saw the prothonotarys.

Verries appeared the first full week in May, making this our best thrush year ever. White crown sparrows, chipping sparrows and the mystery bird with three black dots on his breast quickly became regulars.

★

MAY 10 was almost THE day of the year. Mom and I were flower hunting in the side yard and just looked up in time to see four or five martins investigating the martin house.

Unfortunately they didn't sign a lease — no martins moved in, but at least we saw them once! Yellow-bellied sapsuckers, brown thrashers, a pair of Baltimore orioles and a baby squirrel made up the last of the month's looking.

Hummingbirds arrived about May 6 and by May 20 they were numerous enough so that we saw three at once. We wound up a busy May by hosting a flock of goldfinches, which must have exceeded 30, even 35 birds.

So it is that next week we shall sum up the last half of 1964.
